For Health Insurance That's A Cut Above The Rest

Consider the 24 Karat Major Medical Plan from Time Insurance. Time's plan outshines the competition because more value has been built into every benefit you receive. Values like:

- Freedom to choose your doctor and hospital
- 15% non-smoker's discount
- Prescription drugs, ambulance, and x-ray coverage
- 100% coverage for pre-admission testing, second surgical opinions, home health care and more.

Group Insurance Available

In addition, because the 24 Karat is a hospital pre-certification plan, it uses a system of managed health care to ensure that every hospital treatment and service you receive is medically appropriate for you. For more information contact:

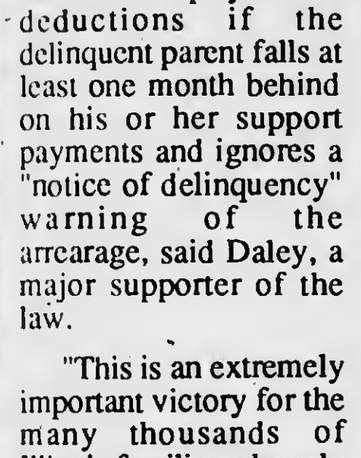
Automatic withholding law passed



A ruling by the Illinois Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the state law allowing automatic withholding from the paychecks of parents who become delinquent in making their court-ordered child support payments, according to Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley.

The law, which went into effect in 1984, allows state officials to activate paycheck deductions if the delinquent parent falls at least one month behind on his or her support payments and ignores a "notice of delinquency" warning of the arrearage, said Daley, a major supporter of the law.

"This is an extremely important victory for the many thousands of Illinois families who rely on regular and reliable child support payments for the necessities of life," Daley said.

This week's high court ruling was the second major victory on child support matters achieved by Daley's office this year.

Common Stocks Historically Keep Up With Inflation

It's difficult to predict how much income will be needed in the future to maintain today's standard of living. It's reasonable to say, however, that it will be more than you now need.

Too many investors ignore this when planning for retirement. They focus only on preserving capital and finding the highest current interest. Such tunnel vision could be disastrous during a period of rising prices and uncertain interest rates.

At the beginning of 1985, $10,000 in a two-year certificate of deposit earned about 10 percent or $1,000 a year. When reinvested in 1987, interest rates had fallen to about 6 percent or $600 per year. That amounts to a 40 percent pay cut, a cut most of us would find hard to handle.

One problem with savings accounts and certificates of deposit is that you're always at the mercy of interest rates. When they drop, you may not be in a position to grin and bear it.

Another risk you run by only preserving capital is inflation. The nest egg you safely tucked away in 1967 may still look the same, but the cost of living has tripled, so it will only buy one-third as much.

What's the answer? Although they offer no guarantees, quality-oriented common stocks have historically produced rising income through increased dividends while the original capital grew with inflation.

A recent study by Capital Research and Management, an international money manager, illustrated this by hypothetically investing in a portfolio of U.S. stocks as represented by the unmanaged Standard & Poor's 500 Composite Index. They took all dividends in cash and allowed the principal to grow.

Chart 1 shows the steady growth of income, rising in 17 out of 19 years. By 1986, the income was nearly three times what it had been in 1967. Income kept up with the ever-increasing cost of living.

At the same time, Chart 2 illustrates how the original capital more than tripled, again keeping pace with inflation.

As companies whose stocks represented in the S&P Index became more profitable, they not only grew in value but also paid shareholders more income through larger dividends.

How much income will you need in the future? No one can say for certain, but common stocks have shown they can produce the rising income demanded by the rising cost of living.

Common stocks, like other investments, should be only a part of your total plan. While there is much to be said about preservation of capital, history shows that to grow with inflation you must have some assets in equities — ownership that lets you take part in the economy.

McCarthy holds contest

Joe McCarthy, Republican candidate for the Illinois third Congressional district, recently announced a "NO NEW TAXES" contest. McCarthy said the purpose of the contest is to focus the Congressional race on one of the major differences between McCarthy and his opponent.

McCarthy has signed a pledge promising to hold the line on taxes. "There is no issue," said McCarthy, "That is more critical for the economic survival of the hard working families that make up the Illinois 3rd Congressional district.

The contest is open only to registered voters of the Illinois 3rd Congressional district.

McCarthy also announced a telephone campaign. Any registered voter of the 3rd district who answers their telephone "McCarthy for Congress" when an authorized McCarthy volunteer calls, will win $25 instantly and will have their name placed in the contest for grand prizes.

The grand prize drawing will take place at McCarthy's victory celebration party on November 8.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

On November 8th you can vote "YES" for yourself. It is your government and your constitution. By voting "YES" for a Constitutional Convention only you the people can make a difference.

For fifty years or more we have listened to people gathered at family reunions, picnics, weddings, cocktail parties, bar mitzvahs, at the dinner table and with casual acquaintances we have met in public and the talk invariably centered around excessive taxes and crooked politicians.

If we take the time to reflect on the above discussions and having voiced our displeasures and frustrations about the wrongs in government. Now action can speak louder than words.

The people are fed up with the chicanery, the mouthing of piety and pius pretense of politicians and bureaucrats at election time. It boils down to one simple fact, the people versus the vested special interests.

These special interest groups have enjoyed and benefitted from the perks and clout of their own lobbyists, trade associations and political action committees.

For instance, the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce is the major tool of big business. And big business has a great deal at stake because they have unlimited moneys to maintain the status quo. Of course they are on the gravy train since time immemorial so why make it easy for we the people.

With the cut-back amendment reducing the legislators from 179 to 118 it was proven that we the people can fight city hall.

What do we the people want!

We not only want but we should and must have a greater voice as how our lives are governed. The priorities among them are: The Taxpayers Bill of Rights. (1) Accountability is a must at all levels and departments of government. (2) We the people should receive clear cut financial statements. (3) A simple property tax system that everyone understands. (4) The power of recall to give voters the power to remove incompetent public officials from office. (5) The power of initiative to give voters the power to enact laws by citizen petition and binding referendum. (6) Abolish double dipping that permits bureaucrats to be on more than one payroll and get a pension.

Now all people under age 40 can make a better life for themselves for the next twenty years by voting "YES" for a Constitution Convention to overcome the extra special privileges the special interest groups have enjoyed that has been aided and abetted by their friendly lobbyists and politicians.

For those over 40 who have been ripped off in the past they can now vote "YES" to correct the shortcomings of the present Constitution. It's their only opportunity not to just get mad but to get even.

Vote "YES" for yourself. November 8 for a Constitutional Convention.

VOTE NOVEMBER 8th

Publisher's Pen

a weekly column

By Annette Dixon

Tuesday, November 8th is not far away, and yet, many have not made up their mind as to which person to vote for, for the presidency.

In the primary the Illinois Pro Life Group gave an endorsement to Robert Dole and Jack Kemp by giving them a #1 and George Bush received a #2. Now does it mean that George Bush is less conservative than Dole or Kemp, but more conservative than Dukakis. Yes, that is what it means. The National Pro Life Group endorsed George Bush and has a touching picture of his adopted granddaughter. Well, I guess that could win my heart! The question I have asked myself several times is will I select a President who will appoint four liberal Judges to the Supreme Court. The answer is no, therefore, I must cast a vote for the best conservative candidate we have at this time.

Now for Congress! Joseph McCarthy, 3rd Congressional Candidate for Congress is running strong against Congressman Russo. McCarthy's stand on No Increase in Taxes, Child Care Issues and support for small businesses indicate he is for the 3rd Congressional District.

State Representative race for Oak Lawn. Do you know that we have three representatives running for office, representing Oak Lawn? The incumbents are State Representatives John O'Connell (47th); John McNamara (27th); James Keane (38th). Their challengers are Anne Zichus, (47th); William Powell (27th); Gary Boldman (38th).

The last message regarding the election is the disappointment in the Republican Party. In our 3rd Congressional District we do not have any women to vote in for office. This has disappointed me because previously the Republican Party has supported more women in the State Senate and House than our Democratic counter parts. Are women taking a step backwards because of the name recognition that former democrats have in the Republican Party.

This year, the Democrats picked up the idea and ran Aurelia Pucinski for Clerk of the Circuit Court and Carol Mosley Braun for Recorder of Deeds. Let's see what happens after the election. Will Republicans continue to support only men for office?

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

May I recommend, on the basis of my 46 years of practice as an attorney; the following votes for Judges on November 8, 1988.

Election Ballot: John Gustafson, Stuart Nudelman.

Relention Ballot: Michael F. Czaja, Paul F. Elward, Alan A. Freeman, James C. Murray, Romie J. Palmer, Gerald L. Sbarbaro and Anthony J. Scotillo.

In my humble opinion these persons have proven their worth and should be kept on the bench.

s/s Carl L. Klein former Assistant Secretary of the Interior

Metropolitan Sanitary District Candidates

● Joseph E. Gardner, 42, of Chicago. Gardner is a political veteran from the late Mayor Harold Washington's administration whose most recent government stint was as deputy director of the Chicago Housing Authority. He also worked for the city as a neighborhoods commissioner and ran Washington's political office.

Gardner has advocated the creation of a regional waste treatment agency to address garbage disposal problems and the declining availability of landfill space.

● Terrence J. O'Brien, 32, of Chicago. O'Brien is a technical sales representative for Mr. Frank Industrial Disposal in South Holland.

O'Brien cites his background and experience in environmental issues. He worked two years with the MSD in departments regulating industry and said he now advises businesses on matters related to waste treatment, disposal and transportation.

O'Brien said the MSD must establish better relations with constituents, and he advocates public hearings in communities affected by imminent projects or new facilities.

● Harry "Bus" Yourell, 69, of Oak Lawn. Yourell is the Cook County recorder of deeds. The county party slated Yourell for the MSD after picking Carol Moseley Braun for the recorder's race.

Yourell counts nine terms as a state representative among his qualifications for office, saying the background has prepared him for the legislative-style work a commissioner performs.

Continuing the push for federal funding of the Deep Tunnel project and finding new ways of treating sludge are among the top priorities the MSD faces in coming years, Yourell said.

Republican candidates are:

● Thomas E. Corcoran, 39, of Chicago. Corcoran is a financial analyst for the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. He was formerly an assistant treasurer with the Chicago Park District. Then a Democrat, Corcoran switched to the Republican side last year.

Corcoran said he would perform as an "independent professional" on the board. He said he supports single-member districts in which the county would be divided into districts electing one board member instead of the current system in which nine at-large representatives are elected countywide.

● Ray Kay, 47, of Hickory Hills. Kay is mayor of Hickory Hills, where he has also been the chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals, a fire commissioner and an alderman.

Kay said he would apply to the MSD the practical experience he's gained as a mayor, developing flood control projects in Hickory Hills. He supports MSD development of an incinerator for burning sludge.

Kay, who switched to the Republican Party last fall, said the board needs more representation from Republicans and suburbanites.

● Thomas J. Walsh, 28, of La Grange Park. He is a public relations manager with Binks Manufacturing Co. in Franklin Park.

Walsh said the MSD should develop a regional plan for flood control in which the agency would establish better relationships with suburban communities.

He also said the MSD should check closer for possible fraud in set-aside contracts for minorities and women, and examine administrative costs for potential reductions.

47th District (southwest suburban)—Republican Anne Zickus, a real estate broker and Palos Hills alderman, is running to improve education and the Illinois business climate. She lost to incumbent John O'Connell two years ago by some 200 votes and is strongly endorsed over the Democrat, who votes to please his boss, House Speaker Michael Madigan, not his district. A third candidate, Robert Marshall, a radiologist, is running as an independent.

JANE BARNES SUPPORTS POWELL

BILL POWELL, candidate for State Representative in the 27th District, is pictured with State Representative Jane Barnes. Powell and Barnes will work together to bring equal pay for equal work. Having four daughters, aged 19 to 25, Powell is well aware of the inequality in pay that exists in the work place.

"Equal pay for equal work is an important issue in my campaign," Powell said. "Any time discrimination is confronted and resolved, it makes working conditions favorable for all employees."

Powell and Barnes will also focus on halting an increase in the state income tax.

"I will recommend a freeze on homeowner property taxes," Powell said.

"If taxes have to be raised by local government bodies, the raise must be limited to the rate of inflation. Any increase above the rate of inflation, must be taken to the voters for their approval, by way of a voters referendum."

"The taxpayers are the people that count." said Powell.

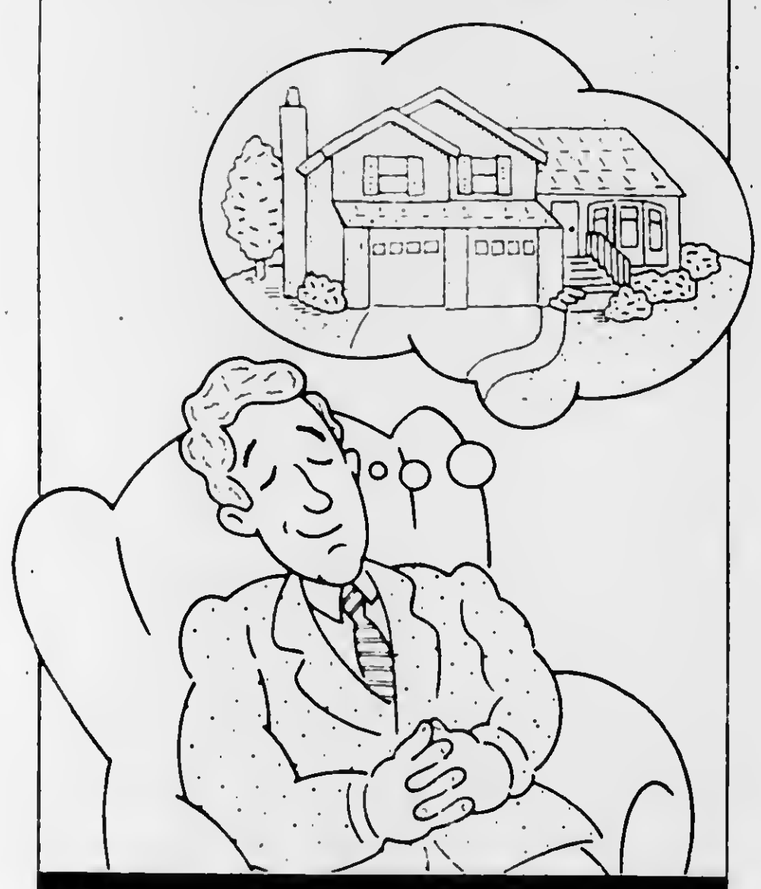
THE LIBRARY BOOK DROP WILL BE CLOSED during regular library hours beginning Nov. 1. Patrons who are returning materials can bring the materials to the book drops at the circulation desk or the audiovisual desk. The book drop will be open after hours. According to library staff, the book drops have been abused by many people who dispose of waste materials including food and liquids as they pass by. Because of this, many books have been damaged beyond repair. The offenses occur during the times the library is open; therefore, the decision to close the book drop.

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY, the library's active support group, has an ongoing used book sale established near the magazine desk, first floor. Several shelves of hard cover and paperbacks are displayed for purchase--25 cents for paperbacks and 35 cents for hard cover. New selections are added weekly. The Friends still will hold an annual sale next summer. In the meantime, those who like to look over used books can do so any day during regular library hours.

THE LIBRARY WILL BE CLOSED ALL DAY, FRIDAY, NOV. 4, for the annual staff inservice meeting.

THE REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING OF THE LIBRARY BOARD has been rescheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22. Meetings are open to the public. They are held in the Oak Lawn Rotary Room, lower level.

ATTENTION, ARTISTS! The library is renewing its offer to display art work of local artists. Before the most recent remodeling, art work was displayed in a galleria on the second floor. Although that spot no longer exists, the library now has ten display cases on the lower level which can be used. Appropriate forms for scheduling art showings are available from the reception desk, lower level. Questions can be directed to Mary Nelson, public relations officer, 422-4990.



THE GREAT BOOKS DISCUSSION GROUP meets on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. Membership is open to anyone who is interested in meeting with others to talk about great books of the past 2,500 years. Contact Dr. Ernest Jaski for more information, 735-3000 (days) and 636-1997 (evenings). The group is sponsored by the library with Dr. Jaski serving as coordinator.

WATCH FOR ANNOUNCEMENTS OF ADULT PROGRAMS cosponsored by the Oak Lawn Public Library and Americana-Monticello Health Care Center. Plans are to initiate the project with two offerings in January and February.

The home of your dreams

According to the latest ERA National Real Estate Poll, the average American dreams of owning a home with

Basic features		Special features
Two bathrooms	(79%)	Fireplace	(37%)
Two-car garage	(76%)	Special kitchen	(28%)
Three bedrooms	(72%)	Room to entertain	(25%)
Two stories	(54%)	Hot tub, Jacuzzi	(17%)

About 400 real estate brokers participated in the Poll, conducted for ERA Real Estate by Strategic Research of St. Louis. One-fourth of the brokers (27%) said the typical homebuyer would prefer four bedrooms. In the South and West, a majority of brokers said the dream home would be one story. What special feature do most buyers look for? At least one fireplace. (Responses total more than 100% because brokers could name more than one feature.)

Moraine Valley Football profiled

This season, opposing teams will play a very different Moraine Valley Community College football team from the one they faced in 1987. This year's team and the 1987 squad differ in almost every aspect.

Those differences pose problems for opposing teams, particularly in the early part of the season, but it also challenges Moraine Valley's coaching staff. "I think this team has potential. I also think that because this team is very different from 1987's, it may take a few games before we realize how good we can be," said Head Coach Dennis Wierzal, who enters his sixth season as head coach at Moraine Valley with a record of 35-16.

Part of this year's new look, sophomore running backs Rory Richardson and Mike Tisza, emerged last year with nothing less than brilliance. They're the core of the offense and hailed as the most explosive set of running backs to play for Moraine Valley.

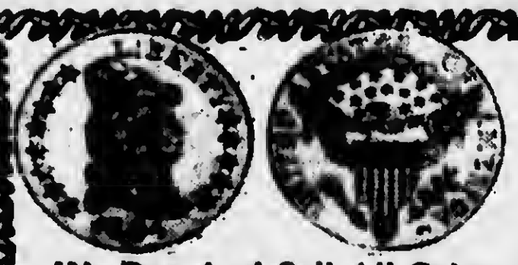
Last year Richardson smashed the record book. In one season, he set new standards for career rushing (726 yards), most yards in one game (191), most touchdowns in one game (3), best average per carry (8.4) and longest run from scrimmage (77 yards).

He can change a game in an instant. "He's phenomenal, definitely the best back we've had. Rory has blinding speed and enormous strength. I think he may be the best back in Illinois at any level. Other teams will have to stop him if they want to stop us," said Wierzal.

Tisza, who gained 431 yards while averaging six yards a carry in 1987, gets raves as well. "Mike's a complete running back. He's fast, strong and really blocks well--he does it all. Mike was one of our off-season co-captains and should have a great season for us," says Wierzal.

Unlike last year, many players will compete to start at quarterback. Sophomores Rob Hattar, Rob Lind, Rob Pratl and Phil Seagroves each have a shot at the job. "Obviously, the starting quarterback plays an important role in the success of a football team. If our quarterback plays well, and we minimize our turnovers, our offense could generate a lot of points," said Wierzal.

Sophomore wide receiver Jim Brookins and freshman tight end Rob Gee should fuel the passing game. Both are sure-handed receivers and run well with the ball after the catch.



Offensive tackle Tim Russ anchors a rebuilt offensive line. "We expect great things from Tim. He's worked hard and will be a leader this season. For us to have a good season, we'll need a good performance from the offensive line," said Wierzal. Sophomore Jim Lindsey health hints

Every year, about one out of every six Americans has to go to the hospital. Fortunately there are non-profit hospitals and medical centers throughout the U.S. and Canada to help them.

Give To Life

By giving to your local non-profit hospital, suggest the experts at the National Association for Hospital Development, you ensure it will be there when you need it.

Every day, hospitals deliver babies, restore sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, movement to the paralyzed, joy to the depressed and health to the sick. Every day, hospitals save lives. Your helping your hospital now may mean a gift of life to your friends, your family and yourself.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

Making Presenters Look Good, For Less

The nation's business professionals spend as much as $6 billion a year making a total of 6 to 10 million presentations. Most of the money goes to expensive, time-consuming slide production companies. Now, one company can cut these costs and deliver instant results.

The new Bravo! Slide Maker from Polaroid can help professionals look good—for less.

The Bravo! Slide Maker, from Polaroid, produces studio-quality instant color or black-and-white slides and instant full-color overhead transparencies quickly, easily and inexpensively—all in-house and away from prying eyes.

It makes instant slides and overheads from any flat document, including computer printouts, illustrations, brochures and photographs.

Because it looks and functions like a conventional office copier, with all exposure calculations built in, the Bravo! Slide Maker requires no photographic training or experience. And unlike the office copier, it uses no chemicals—making it essentially maintenance-free.

Production cost for instant slides or overheads is less than a dollar each—a fraction of the $50-100 fee outside production services customarily charge per slide. And the Slide Maker offers maximum flexibility, allowing presenters to create new slides or overheads right up to presentation time.

For more information on Polaroid Presentation Products, call 1-800-225-1618.

Managing Your Paperwork Problems

Reducing the amount of paperwork may increase your chance of business success. Consider this: an estimated 1.3 trillion documents are currently stored in offices throughout the U.S. Amazingly, 95 percent of that information is on paper.

In American business today 95 percent of information is paper-based, four percent is stored on microfilm, and only one percent is in data processing format.

Experts report one way to fight the paper blitz is by imaging technology. It works like this, from the moment a document comes into a company, images are captured by optical scanners, which look and operate much like photocopiers. However, rather than copying documents on paper, the system stores the images on optical disks. One optical disk can store 40,000 paper documents.

Imaging products, such as Wang Integrated Image Systems, manage and move documents electronically just as text and data processing are handled. For the first time, paper-based information is integrated into computer operations, not just stored in file cabinets.

When one considers close to one billion new pieces of paper are produced each day by American business, it is clear why information managers see imaging as providing a strategic advantage for leading companies into the 1990s.

JAMES O'GRADY SUPPORTS POWELL

BILL POWELL, candidate for State Representative in the 27th District, is pictured with James O'Grady (former Democrat Sheriff). Powell and O'Grady both believe that the rights of victims have long been overlooked.

Powell feels, "Victims and their families have been abandoned. Little, if any, consideration has been given to their physical and emotional needs, as well as, their rights as victims."

"Criminals, including murderers, drug dealers, and child molesters after being convicted and sentenced, are given furloughs. This allows them back on the streets to perpetrate more crimes, deal more drugs, and victimize more innocent victims. They deserve severe sentences that fit the crime."

"Victims don't get a vacation from crime; neither should the criminals," Powell concluded.

Corporations Hope Summer Internships Will Lead To Successful Business Careers

For decades, talented minority students aimed for careers in the medical or legal professions, sports or entertainment. Few considered business. Fewer still entered the ranks of management.

INROADS, a career development organization, is changing that pattern. And Union Carbide Corporation is one of a thousand companies participating nationwide.

The company's executives believe INROADS provides an excellent opportunity to identify, hire and develop minority managerial talent for its future employment needs. And for students, INROADS represents a chance to learn about business, engineering and science careers in a "hands on" professional setting.

INROADS is a privately funded, non-profit educational organization supported through corporate sponsorship fees, foundation grants and contributions. With 34 affiliates around the U.S., INROADS serves more than 3,000 high school and college students. It places the students in four-year summer internships with planned and coordinated career development plans and educational support programs that help the students deal successfully with the business environment.

More than 1,100 of the organization's alumni are now pursuing professional and managerial careers throughout the United States.

Internship programs have led to successful careers in business for many talented college students.

The INROADS organization demands excellence of its students. Outstanding Black, Hispanic and Native American college-bound high school students are selected for the paid internships based on how their qualifications match a company's needs. The program requires a four-year commitment from both students and participating companies. A permanent professional position upon college graduation is the final goal.

Union Carbide was a charter member of the first INROADS affiliate in Chicago in 1970. Each year, additional company sites have joined the organization and sponsored internships for outstanding minority students majoring in engineering, science or business. Minority students who are interested in an internship with INROADS can receive a free brochure by writing: INROADS, Inc., 1221 Locust, Suite 410, St. Louis, MO 63103.

Pointers For Parents

Parents can help their youngsters learn to love reading. One way is to start reading to them at an early age and make reading an enjoyable experience.

Knowing that today's busy parents can't always find the time to read to their children, Golden Books has found a solution—Two-Minute Stories. These books feature six or more quality-time creating tales in each book.

Aimed at pre-schoolers, the books include Disney stories, fairy tales, Peanuts stories and bedtime stories. Two-Minute Stories are sold at local bookstores, toy and department stores.

Stroke: Know the Signals

There is a lot of talk these days about body language. Not only do you have to be careful about what you say, but you also have to be aware of messages or signals you may send through a variety of bodily movements and gestures.

But how much time do you spend recognizing the signals your body is sending you? If you were experiencing, for example, a stroke, would you know how to interpret the signals and warning signs?

According to the American Heart Association, more than 500,000 Americans will experience a stroke this year. In many cases, quick action can prevent more serious problems from occurring as the result of a stroke.

A stroke happens when oxygen-rich blood is cut off on its way to the brain. This can be caused by a clot in an artery that supplies blood to the brain, or by an aneurysm, the bursting of a blood vessel in the brain. How a person is affected by a stroke depends largely on what part of the brain is robbed of the needed oxygen.

There are several ways your body may warn you of a major stroke:

- a sudden, temporary weakness or numbness of the face, arm or leg;

- temporary difficulty or loss of speech, or trouble understanding speech;
- sudden, temporary dimness or loss of vision, usually in one eye;
- temporary dizziness or unsteadiness, especially when associated with the conditions listed above.

Scientific advancements in the area of stroke treatment have included drugs, surgical procedures and improved diagnostic techniques unheard of a few short years ago.

But the most important weapon against stroke is early detection. If you notice one or more of these signals, see your doctor as soon as possible. Your body might be trying to tell you something.

Newspapers carry a higher percentage of the advertising done in America than does any other medium.

For Health Insurance That's A Cut Above The Rest

Consider the 24 Karat Major Medical Plan from Time Insurance. Time's plan outshines the competition because more value has been built into every benefit you receive. Values like:

- Freedom to choose your doctor and hospital
- 15% non-smoker's discount
- Prescription drugs, ambulance, and x-ray coverage
- 100% coverage for pre-admission testing, second surgical opinions, home health care and more.

Group Insurance Available

In addition, because the 24 Karat is a hospital pre-certification plan, it uses a system of managed health care to ensure that every hospital treatment and service you receive is medically appropriate for you. For more information contact:

Holiday Help

A special program for people who don't feel like it is a Merry Christmas.

The holidays are especially difficult after a death in the family. Usually a joyous time full of memories, the recently bereaved often feel the season makes their loss more painful.

That's why we are sponsoring this special program with practical ways to "get through the holidays" while coping with mixed emotions. An expert speaker from Accord, Inc., a national grief counseling service, will present valuable insight into how others have coped with the stress of the holidays. Different ways to commemorate a loved one will be shown as well.

Make plans to attend this session to help you in renewing your spirit and honoring your loved one.

should start, and freshman Brian Gallagher and Donald Marchbank may start as well.

Last year's defense bent, then broke, too often. Big plays, most notable against Triton and the playoff game at Harper, broke open close games and eventually decided them. This year's defensive unit appears much improved.

Joe Dockweiler, Tony Hosey and Leonard Kimble all started in 1987 and, as a group, form the point of attack for the defense this season. Their ability to disrupt opposing offenses will impact heavily on the fortunes of this team.

"They're all quality players. Dockweiler and Hosey can be as good as they want, and Kimble has really worked hard with the weights. As a group they're going to be tough to handle," said Wierzal.

Transfer student Spencer Byrd heads a strong group of linebackers that includes returning starter Eric Nuss. One of the team's best athletes, Byrd's size and speed spell trouble for opponents. "He could be a real force for us. We've got some good freshmen this year, too, so I think our linebackers could be a real strength for us," said Wierzal.

Strong safety Pat Strocchia will quarterback the defense. "He was our other off-season co-captain. Pat started last year. I think he's ready for a great 1988," said Wierzal.

"I think we're going to find out what kind of season this will be right away," said Wierzal, referring to the first three games against perennial powers College of DuPage, Illinois Valley and Grand Rapids. "The schedule really works

Pucinski announces manager

Pucinski recently announced a new campaign manager. Judge Seymour Simon accepted with honor.

Simon was first elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1974. Previously, he had served 14 years as alderman of Chicago's 40th ward, as well as President of the Cook County Board of Commissioners from 1962 until 1966.

He holds B.S. and J.D. degrees from Northwestern University and is a partner in the law firm of Rudnick and Wolfe.

chaired by former Illinois Supreme Court Justice Seymour Simon.

"I am honored that Seymour Simon, a distinguished legal scholar and expert on the court system, will serve in this key role in our campaign," Pucinski said.

Simon was elected to the Illinois Supreme Court in 1980 and held that position until he retired in February of this year.

Hartigan files criminal indictment

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan recently announced a 30 count criminal indictment against Navin Patel, operator of a Zion, Illinois metal polishing business, charging him with illegally dumping hazardous chemicals.

The business, Reliable Metal Finishing, 3204 16th St. is located near farmlands and tests are now underway by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to determine the extent of the contamination.

Neil F. Hartigan, Attorney General

In addition to the criminal charges, Hartigan filed a six count civil complaint against Patel and his company.

It is reported that Patel, also known as Mike Hyde, is a native of India who has an expired student visa.

Under the civil suit filed today, Hartigan asked the court to impose civil penalties and to require Patel to clean up existing hazardous wastes.

Orland Park welcomes Evergreen bankers

Rich DeBoer, Village of Evergreen Park Admin-istrative Assistant, and John J. McGivern, Village of Evergreen Park Trustee, were on hand at the recent ribbon-cutting ceremony when the forty-year-old First National Bank of Evergreen Park opened its Orland Facility, 15330 Harlem.

Bank President Kenneth Ozinga commented, "We are proud to continue the Evergreen tradition of fine banking services in Evergreen Park, and now extend that service to Orland Park and surrounding communities."

The Evergreen Banks recently celebrated a milestone in their banking history when the combined assets of the three Evergreen Banks reached $1 Billion in assets, a reflection of the trust and confidence placed in the banks by their customers.

Russo discusses death benefits for families

The House of Representatives has passed a measure that will increase the amount of the death benefit for eligible survivors of public safety officers and will make parents of such officers eligible beneficiaries.

Congressman Marty Russo, a co-sponsor of the legislation, said the bill does honor to the nation's public safety officers and their families.

"We needed to increase the death benefit if it were to continue to make a difference to survivors," Russo said. "The Public Safety Officers' Death Benefit bill we enacted in 1976 provided a $50,000 lump sum death benefit to the survivors of public safety officer killed in the line of duty."

The bill increases the survivor benefit to $100,000. It also removes the financial need requirement, making parents of such officers eligible beneficiaries without having to establish financial dependency at the time of the officer's death.

"By restoring the full value of the Public Safety Officers' Death Benefit Act, we do honor to those who have courageously served us all." Russo said.

College Student Updates

Millikin University sophomore student Traci Jendrzejak of Oak Lawn is a member of the flag squad which performs at home football games.

Traci is the daughter of Thomas and Tina Jendrzejak, of Alexander Place, and a 1987 graduate of Oak Lawn High School.

Millikin University junior Laura Sullivan of Oak Lawn is a member of Vocal Jazz Ensemble I. The 8-voice group is chosen by audition and performs regulary on the campus and before off-campus groups.

Laura is the daughter of Dennis and Marietta Sullivan of Washinton Ave., Oak Lawn and is a 1986 graduate of H. L. Richards High School.

Illinois Wesleyan University announced freshman student Otto Tomes, son of Donald and Joyce Tomes of Kenton, Oak Lawn, has pledged Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity.

Tau Kappa Epsilon is one of six social fraternities on campus and has had a chapter at IWU since 1899.

Moraine Valley Community College running back Rory Richardson was named North Central Community College Conference (N4C) Offensive Player of the Week for his performance on Saturday, October 29 against Rock Valley College.

"He's exceptionally fast and strong, so anytime he gets a good block or two he has a chance to score," said Moraine Valley Head Coach Dennis Wierzal. "He had a great game."

McCaffrey speaks to O.L. Rotary

John McCaffrey, Senior Assistant Attorney General on the Staff of Illinois Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan, will be the guest speaker at a 12:30 luncheon meeting on Monday, November 14, for the Oak Lawn Rotary.

Dr. Joseph J. McCarthy, program chairman, has announced the meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn, 4140 W. 95th Street, Oak Lawn.

Publisher's Pen

a weekly column

By Annette Dixon

It was nice to see qualified women elected to office, especially in a County election.

A vivid phone call on Monday, November 7, asked a representative from Village View Newspaper if we endorsed Aurelia Pucinski. The reply was that we did not make any endorsements.

My personal column stated that I will vote for George Bush, even though I do not see him as a Conservative. We stated that Joe McCarthy candidate for the 3rd Congressional District ran a good campaign with issues. All of the State Representatives were mentioned who served Oak Lawn, along with their opposing candidates.

The winners, of course, were Bush and Quayle for President and Vice President. Congressman Marty Russo for 3rd Congressional District was elected for the 7th term. And the surprise for Oak Lawn is that Anne Zickus, Republican in the new State Representative for the 47th District, encompassing west of Ridgeland from 87th to 95th and south of 95th near Oak Park Avenue.

Also mentioned was that the Republican Party was counting on a victory with male democrats who have recently turned Republican. The democrats were supporting two women for county offices, Aurelia Pucinski and Carol Mosley Braun.

In the past five years, Village View Newspaper, presented coverage for Aurelia Pucinski. When Aurelia persisted on an interview with us while campaigning for Metropoliton Sanitary District, I knew then she was a professional. In 1986 after she lost the primary for Secretary of State to LaRoche Candidate, she still tried to encourage this publisher to run for Metropolitan Sanitary District on the Democratic Ticket. When I was a board member, it was Aurelia Pucinski who volunteered to chair the 10th year celebration of Southwest Women Working Together. It was also Aurelia Pucinski who brought it to her former campaign manager about neglecting to communicate with us. Do I feel that a woman with Aurelia's capabilities and persistance deserve the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court. I say yes! I personally supported Aurelia for five years, because of her knowledge in government, astuteness as a politician, and brilliancy as a professional attorney She is truly a person who is not afraid of being a woman. Aurelia Pucinski conducted an issue oriented campaign and conducted herself as a classy person who acknowledges the press and indicated her fondness for us.

COST OF NURSING HOME CARE CALLED THREAT TO ELDERLY

WASHINGTON—Millions of elderly Americans face eventual poverty from the devastating cost of long-term nursing home care, but most are not even aware they have a problem, an administration task force was told.

They innocently—and wrongly—believe they're already covered for nursing home care through the Federal Medicare system.*

Unfortunately, MEDICARE offers NO solution!

How Nursing Home Costs Are Paid

Through a group plan, the Association of Retired Americans (ARA) is addressing this problem. As a member of ARA, you may qualify for special long-term nursing home protection . . . coverage that will insure that you have important protection.

For more information on this outstanding program as well as many other ARA member benefits, mail the coupon below. This special insurance program (form GHC-9041) is underwritten by Pioneer Life Insurance Company of Illinois, Rockford, IL.

Holiday Help

A special program for people who don't feel like it is a Merry Christmas.

You Are Invited
Monday, November 14th
7:00 P.M.
Hilton Inn of Oak Lawn
Cicero Ave. at 94th Street

Refreshments will be served.
Open to the public with no cost or obligation.

The holidays are especially difficult after a death in the family. Usually a joyous time full of memories, the recently bereaved often feel the season makes their loss more painful.

That's why we are sponsoring this special program with practical ways to "get through the holidays" while coping with mixed emotions. An expert speaker from Accord, Inc., a national grief counseling service, will present valuable insight into how others have coped with the stress of the holidays. Different ways to commemorate a loved one will be shown as well.

Make plans to attend this session to help you in renewing your spirit and honoring your loved one.

VETERANS MEMORIAL PARK AND ETERNAL FLAME MONUMENT
WORTH, ILLINOIS

Veterans Memorial

By Michelle Dixon

Al Grajek, Commander of the Illinois Disabled American Veterans, has led a valiant effort in the development of Veteran's Memorial Park in Worth. With the strong support of State Representative Jane Barnes, they were able to purchase the land at 111th and Harlem for $1.00 from the State of Illinois.

The Operating Engineers' Local 150 are donating their services free of charge. The iron workers donated the iron for the Eternal Flame, while marble mechanics and tile layers also offered their services.

Grajek attributes the remarkableness of the operation to the help of the people in the community. There are no corporate sponsors at this time, but certainly very welcome.

The project is still about $100,000 short of completion, but Grajek is still anticipating an official opening ceremony by Memorial Day, 1989.

An account was set up in 1986 at Worth Bank and Trust, 6825 W. 111th St., and the campaign was on its way. Any and all help is still very welcome.

South West Women's Club held fundraiser

Approximately 500 guests enjoyed the annual fund raising Dinner/ Fashion Show of the South West Woman's Club at the Lexington House on Wednesday, November 2.

Starting at 6:00 P.M., party goers browsed along the tables of wonderfully crafted decorations, (Fall, Christmas and year-rounds) as well as tables of homemade loaf-breads, cookies, candies, preserves and more.

The delicious dinner was followed by a beautiful fashion show given by the Cinderella Shop in Palos Heights.

Proceeds from the Dinner will be donated to the Sertoma Career Center in Alsip.

The South West Woman's Club is affiliated with the Illinois Federation of Womens Clubs and the International General Fed-eration of Womens Clubs.

For Health Insurance That's A Cut Above The Rest

Consider the 24 Karat Major Medical Plan from Time Insurance. Time's plan outshines the competition because more value has been built into every benefit you receive. Values like:

- Freedom to choose your doctor and hospital
- 15% non-smoker's discount
- Prescription drugs, ambulance, and x-ray coverage
- 100% coverage for pre-admission testing, second surgical opinions, home health care and more.

Group Insurance Available

In addition, because the 24 Karat is a hospital pre-certification plan, it uses a system of managed health care to ensure that every hospital treatment and service you receive is medically appropriate for you. For more information contact:

Don't Miss The Good Times Ahead

A question money managers are frequently asked is, "What have you done for me lately?" Although it may appear callous, it makes a lot of sense.

Most serious investing is done for the future. Erratic spurts of genius generally are not as important as long-term results, yet investors are still tempted to look at the hot performers — the No. 1 fund for the year.

Jim Weddle, a mutual fund specialist with a major New York Stock Exchange member firm, recently gathered some eye-opening information on investing in the best-performing fund of the previous year. What would happen if you carefully followed more than 2,000 mutual funds and each year invested in the top-performing fund of the previous year? After all, since no one can predict the future, going with the best fund now seems to make sense.

On Jan. 1, 1975, Weddle hypothetically invested $10,000 in the best performing fund of 1974. On Jan. 1 of each of the next 12 years he moved the investment to the best performing fund of the previous year. All dividends and capital gains were reinvested, and all purchases were made without a sales charge. Table 1 shows a year-by-year value that would have accumulated by switching to each year's No. 1 account. As you see, by always following the previous year's top fund, by Dec. 31, 1987, $10,000 grew into $52,680 — not a bad return on your investment.

Since results are more meaningful when compared with other results, though, Weddle selected three conservative mutual funds with long-term performance records as running mates.

What if you had made a one-time $10,000 investment on Jan. 1, 1975, and let it compound, undisturbed, for the same 12-year period? As Table 2 shows, Fund A grew to $76,757, Fund B to $70,519 and Fund C to $68,602. All outperformed the investor who chose to follow last year's hottest number.

An important thing to understand about this illustration is that none of the funds Weddle selected was ever recognized as the year's top-performing fund. In fact, they seldom, if ever, made the top performance lists of financial publications that annually rate mutual funds. The secret of their success was to aim for reasonable investment results, total return or a combination of growth and income, and to do it consistently.

The table shows that consistent results, with no devastating surprises, puts you well ahead over the long haul — up to 46 percent ahead in the case of Fund A.

Investing offers few guarantees, but experience shows that money managers who aim for consistent, reasonable results by investing in quality securities generally outperform both the overall market and the speculator chasing the hottest fund around.

American Legion looking for volunteers for the Gift to the Yanks program

Thomas Rogers, Chairman of Cook County Voitures 220 of the 40 et 8 is actively pursuing volunteers. La Societe des Quarante Hommes et Huit Chevaux is an independent fraternity known as 40/8, which is also a honor society of American Legionnaires. Tom's recognition in the 40/8 is for service to the American Legions and/or its programs.

Gift to the Yanks program is Tom's pet project. The money raised by canisters placed in businesses and by standing on the corner of State and Madison will enable every veteran to receive a Christmas gift this Christmas. All Illinois hospitals will be visited and every veteran will receive a gift. "Fund were low last year, but we hope to recruit volunteers to stand on the corner and shake those cans."

If you cannot stand in the cold, help us find volunteers in Worth, Bridgeview, Burbank, Oak Lawn, Evergreen Park, anywhere that you think a business person will keep a collection can at their place of business.

Donations are accepted by sending them to Gifts to The Yanks Program, c/o Tom Rogers, 8202 S. Newland Ave., Burbank, Ill. 60459, or call 599-2026.

Collections started for coat program

Thomas "Bud" Gavin, Trustee of the Township of Worth, and Helen Malevitis, Township of Worth Youth Commission Director together with Dennis and JoAnne Waicosky and Pearl Miller, owners of Christie's Cleaners in Oak Lawn, invite all to join them in the "Coat Sharing Is Caring" Project.

You can help by donating no longer needed childrens coats and jackets, in good condition. The project is already in progress and we ask that all donated clothing be dropped off at the Township of Worth Offices only, located at 11601 S. Pulaski in Alsip.

Christie's Cleaners is generously donating their time and services to see that all donated clothing is dry cleaned before we will distribute them to local schools, churches, and social service agencies, who will see to it that children in need receive something so many of us take for granted...a decent warm winter coat.

For further information please call, 371-2900, Ext. 51.

Veterans honored at Worth memorial

The American Legion, VFW, DAV, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Community leaders all participated in honoring veterans both living and dead.

At 111th and Harlem Ave., Al Grajch participated at the Worth Veterans War Memorial along with the 1st Burbank Post 1986 and the Auxiliary Unit of the American Legion. There were approximately 200 in attendance including Mayor Daniel Kumingo, Mayor of Worth who held a fellowship with coffee and sweets in the firehouse next to the memorial.

Also on Sunday, November 13th at St. John of God Church in Chicago, the Burbank Post 1986 American Legion appeared with a full Color Team. The laying of the wreaths, taps, the firing squad and prayers, all concluded the memorial for all veterans both living and dead.

Rotary hosts Soviets

Two Rotarians from the Oak Lawn Rotary Club will be host families when a group of Soviet leaders visit Chicago, November 29-30. Brian A. Anderson and Edwin Johnson will be among the hosts meeting the Soviet delegation when it arrives from Moscow November 29. It will be the first time in 14 years that an Aerflot plane has landed at O'Hare.

The visit is sponsored by Rotary International as part of the US-USSR Emerging Leaders Summit sponsored by the American Center for International Leadership.

The American Center for International Leadership was created in 1984 to respond to the need for leadership development in an international context and for young adult leaders to meet their counterparts around the world.

The US-USSR Emerging Leaders Summit has been officially endorsed by both nations and will be held in Philadelphia.

A later conference in the Soviet Union is set for 1989 and will be arranged by the Committee of Youth Organizations of the USSR.

Southwest Federal Savings holds drawing

As part of Southwest Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago 105th Anniversary Celebration a special 105 prize drawing was held at all of their locations.

The drawing was recently held to determine the 105 winners. The grand prize was an 18 inch, 14 karat gold necklace which was won by M. Kinney, a resident of Oak Lawn.

"Southwest Federal Savings is not only among the oldest financial institutions in the United States - but also among the strongest with reserves far in excess of regulatory requirements," stated Richard E. Webber, President of Southwest Federal Savings. "As we enter our 106th year of serving the southwest communities, assets are also at an all time record high $239.4 million," stated Webber.

Now that two of our State Representatives have been re-elected, and the third one being a Republican, could we possibly receive new industry or manufacturing on the Southwest side of Chicago? United Parcel Service rejected a southwest side location, although may be interested in Willow Springs. Either place will bring in a few new jobs.

New jobs will be in the forecast with a plan pressing ahead for a Garfield/Marquette Indus-trial Park, which will be located between 55 and 77 Street from Hoyne to Bell Avenue. The message will continue to be, we need jobs on the southside.

Yuletide Fashion Forecast

While you're decking the halls, don't neglect to deck yourself out in the latest lovely fashions arriving at local stores just in time for holiday partying.

Holiday fashions include tuxedo looks with pants or skirt and a plethora of pants, from tapered trousers to soft pajamas to pleated, wide leg versions. The emphasis is definitely on what's on top—the feminine blouse. One company, Lady Manhattan, has a beautiful collection of chic and quietly elegant blouses that are not only party-perfect, but go easily from the office to an evening on the town.

The blouses are soft and fluid with clean lines that drape gently—nothing restrained or up-tight. Shoulders are small and round with gentle shirring. Necklines frame the face or are simple jewel necks to fill-in with pearls, crystal or geometric jewelry. As varied as the styles are the colors, from classic white to hot red and passionate purple—the 1988 must-have brights. All blouses are priced under twenty-five dollars—good news for holiday gift-givers.

Holiday dressing: The soft sensuality of a beautiful blouse romanced by a rose.

HOLIDAY LEFTOVERS? TRY TURKEY POT PIE

When asked the characteristics of a good cook, three top New York chefs gave the same reply: he or she should be able to chop an onion, roast a chicken and creatively use up leftovers from the refrigerator.

Thanksgiving dinner, and its subsequent leftovers, gives many cooks an opportunity to test their skills.

To make the test easier, here's a recipe for Vegetable Turkey Pot Pie that uses the well-seasoned stock and the abundant garden vegetables in Campbell's Home Cookin' vegetable soup to help make the most of leftover turkey.

Vegetable Turkey Pot Pie blends chopped onion, marjoram, cooked turkey, spinach, pepper and condensed cream of potato soup with Home Cookin' vegetable soup and pie pastry. This main dish recipe is easy to prepare and could earn a nod of approval for its creativity from any New York chef.

VEGETABLE TURKEY POT PIE

- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram leaves, crushed
- 1 can (19 ounces) Home Cookin' Vegetable Soup
- 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Cream of Potato Soup
- 3 cups cubed cooked turkey, chicken or beef
- 1/3 cup cooked spinach or greens
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- Pastry for 1-crust pie

1. In 2-quart saucepan over medium heat, in hot butter, cook onion with marjoram until tender. Add soups, turkey, spinach and pepper. Heat through.
2. Preheat oven to 400°F. On floured surface, roll pastry 1 inch larger all around than 1 1/2-quart casserole and cut into strips of equal width.
3. Pour hot soup mixture into casserole. Crisscross pastry strips over filling to form a lattice top. Fasten ends to edge of casserole. Crimp edge. Bake 25 minutes or until crust is golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

COST OF NURSING HOME CARE CALLED THREAT TO ELDERLY

WASHINGTON—Millions of elderly Americans face eventual poverty from the devastating cost of long-term nursing home care, but most are not even aware they have a problem, an administration task force was told.

They innocently—and wrongly—believe they're already covered for nursing home care through the Federal Medicare system.*

Unfortunately, MEDICARE offers NO solution!

How Nursing Home Costs Are Paid

Through a group plan, the Association of Retired Americans (ARA) is addressing this problem. As a member of ARA, you may qualify for special long-term nursing home protection . . . coverage that will insure that you have important protection.

For more information on this outstanding program as well as many other ARA member benefits, mail the coupon below. This special insurance program (form GHC-9041) is underwritten by Pioneer Life Insurance Company of Illinois, Rockford, IL.

Homemaking Trends

Today, discriminating homeowners want more than efficiency from their appliances... they want versatility, too.

"That's why a built-in oven that offers a convection cooking capability in addition to regular thermal cooking helps meet this demand," say home economists from KitchenAid, Inc.

"It's a smart decision," they advise, "after all it takes the same amount of space as a regular oven, yet offers so much more." Along with excellent thermal baking and broiling, the KitchenAid KEBS177 also provides convection cooking convenience.

In the convection cooking mode, heated air is fan-driven over, under, and around foods for fast, even cooking and browning. This results in perfect pastries, souffles and other delicate foods that need gentle treatment. And, it helps save time, too. For example, its uniform heat lets you use all three oven racks at one time, so instead of baking one tray of cookies for the prescribed time...you can bake all three trays at once.

If you're thinking of replacing your oven, shop carefully and wisely to choose a model that can do the most for you today, and in years to come.

How To Make Your Best First Impression Because "You Never Get A Second Chance"

As the fall and winter seasons arrive this year, there will be many occasions on which you'll want to make a winning first impression. Whether it's meeting new people or getting together with family and friends at holiday gatherings, everyone agrees that first impressions are all-important.

According to a recent Head & Shoulders survey of beauty editors at the country's leading beauty and fashion magazines, you should be especially on guard during the first few minutes of a first introduction. The editors polled fell within 3 groups in their responses: 33% said they form their first impressions of someone immediately; 33% said they form it within the first five minutes; and, 33% said they form it within the first ten minutes. And 90% of the editors polled claimed that their first impressions are generally accurate.

What, in particular, do they notice first? Sixty percent of the editors agreed that a person's face and hair are crucial in establishing a first impression. Knowing this, it's easy to focus on certain important elements of grooming to ensure that you always project a good image. For example, make sure you wash your face daily with a mild, effective cleanser. Cleansing is a crucial step in ensuring a healthy and clear complexion.

Men, if you wear a beard, keep it well trimmed and neat; if not, choose good razors to ensure a close shave free of nicks and cuts. If your face becomes irritated occasionally, use an astringent to soothe the skin and avoid infection. Also, keep unruly eyebrows under control with a monthly trim.

Women, choose makeup that won't irritate your skin, run or smudge. Avoid using heavy foundations that tend to block pores and cause breakouts. In addition, shape your eyebrows according to your natural brow line and keep them looking well-manicured by plucking the stray ones growing outside of the brow curve. Use a moisturizer and when blemishes appear, use a gentle astringent.

Hair—the other major first impression factor—should be shampooed daily. Use a wide-toothed comb to detangle and shape wet hair; this prevents breakage and split ends.

Be sure to choose an up-to-date style. Seventy percent of the editors surveyed said that hair style influences their first impressions. Seek the advice of your hairstylist or barber, or refer to your favorite beauty and fashion magazine. You can find all the newest looks within these pages.

No matter what the style, hair should be kept dandruff free. Eighty percent of the editors agreed that they would take note of whether someone had dandruff and that dandruff would negatively affect their first impression.

Regular use of an effective dandruff shampoo, such as Head & Shoulders, is the best way to prevent embarrassing dandruff. Used every time you shampoo, it helps prevent flaking and itching, plus it gives you the same full, manageable, fresh-smelling hair that comes with all fine beauty shampoos.

Other ways to lessen the effects of embarrassing dandruff flakes include the following:

- Wear loose-fitting hats in the wintertime. Something tight, like a stocking hat, keeps the scalp moist and can accelerate dandruff.
- Avoid frequent blow drying. Although it will not worsen the dandruff condition, it can dry the scalp and increase flaking.

Although dandruff is a year-round problem for many people, be especially on guard during the winter months when you tend to wear darker clothing. Dandruff shows up more clearly on shoulders sporting colored clothes such as black, brown, dark green and dark blue.

Most telling, though, was the beauty editors' response to the question, "Would you arrange a date for your best friend with someone who has dandruff?" The majority responded with a firm "no." Therefore, make that all-important meeting a positive one: Avoid first impressions that don't impress by using an effective dandruff shampoo like Head & Shoulders.

NEWS

FOR VETERANS

The VFW: Helping Veterans Receive Their Benefits

The following article is excerpted from a speech made by Larry W. Rivers, the commander-in-chief of Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW), a group with more than 2.1 million members nationwide.

Rivers

History teaches us that the best intentions of government often fade as the guns of war are silenced. Good intentions have been too often torpedoed by apathy and indifference. Veterans will never accept apathy and indifference as the reward for honorable service. We have earned our special place.

Our theme, for this our 90th year, is a simple one—"We Remember." We have learned from history. We have learned from past experience that the preservation of earned entitlements requires constant vigilance. Our task for 90 years has been to perpetuate "good intentions," to transform indifference into concern and concern into appropriate veterans' legislation.

Like a clown with many faces, indifference has the uncanny ability to appear in many disguises. It shows its destructive potential when the defenses of this country are allowed to deteriorate. Indifference is clearly in control when our Veterans Administration provides substandard medical care to deserving and needy veterans. This indifference overpowers "good intentions" when the Department of Veterans Benefits is understaffed and inadequately trained and therefore unable to properly and fairly handle veterans' claims.

From payment of burial benefits to determination of service connection for a wound, injury or disease, it seems that everything moves through the present system at a snail's pace. We accept no excuse for what is clearly needless delay. Using all resources at our disposal, we will increase the watchdog responsibilities of our department service officers and our national veterans service staff. Our employees and volunteers will train harder, will look closer and dig deeper during future inspections at VA facilities. We will demand better quality control and improved quality of care from the Department of Veterans Benefits and from all other departments within the VA.

If the VA cannot or will not satisfy our concerns, we will take those concerns to the American people, to the Congress and to the President. We remember and we will not allow others to easily forget.

For free brochures about becoming a member of VFW, write: Veterans of Foreign Wars, National Headquarters, Broadway at 34th Street, Kansas City, MO 64111.

National Family Week

Family composition has undergone dramatic changes in recent years, and a whole new vocabulary is developing to describe it.

Demographers have coined acronyms to identify population subgroups like DINKS (dual income couples with no kids) and POSSLQ (persons of the opposite sex sharing living quarters) Sociologists discuss the special stresses of the "Sandwich Generation," middle-aged work-ing adults who try to meet the needs of both their children and their aging parents. And therapists discuss the phenomenon of "boomerangs," young adult children who return home to live with their parents.

The American family of the 1980's no longer fits the Norman Rockwell image of a father returning home from work to be greeted by a homemaker mother and two school-age children. Estimates now place that type of family at just 4% of all U.S. families.

Recognizing the changing needs of families and their importance for all ages, Family Service America (FSA) has chosen "Families: for every stage of life" as the theme for National Family Week, proclaimed by the White House for November 20-26. Oak Lawn Family Service joins FSA and all Americans in celebrating the importance of families during this special week.

Oak Lawn Family Service, the counseling department of the Village, will be holding an Open House Sunday, November 20, from 2 to 4 PM at their new building, 94th and 53rd Court. Everyone is invited. For more information, call 423-3361.

Tips For Finding A Nursing Home

Demand for long-term health care is rising sharply, confronting millions of Americans with questions about how to choose a nursing home.

Sharon Oswald, R.N., has some suggestions. Ms. Oswald is Corporate Director of Quality Assurance at Beverly Enterprises, the nation's largest long-term care provider. She urges prospective nursing home residents and their families to visit facilities in their area to determine if their needs can be met.

Carry a checklist on the visit, she says, and see how you might answer these and similar questions:

- Is the home clean? Are there any unpleasant odors? Are residents neatly dressed and well groomed?
- What kinds of activities are offered? Do you see activities being performed?
- Does the home have a quality assurance program with regular visits by company officials?
- Does the home emphasize employee training at regular intervals by health care professionals?
- How does the staff interact with the residents? Is there a friendly atmosphere of care and concern? Is the staff open and attentive to your questions?

With this list as a starting point, you can begin to make comparisons between different care providers. Ms. Oswald acknowledges, however, that it can be difficult for people under the stress of choosing a home to put all their impressions into perspective. The task may be made a little easier, she says, by asking nursing home administrators and directors of nursing how they maintain quality care, and how often they tour their facilities to ensure that level of care.

Clearly, an open discussion with health care professionals is the best way to gather the information needed to make what is often a difficult decision. For more information on what to look for in choosing a home, call toll-free 1-800-572-9981. If you live in California, call 1-800-572-5675.

St. Laurence football players receive honors

St. Laurence Head Football Coach Bob Fabrizio is pleased to announce that the following players from this year's squad have been named to the "All-Catholic League" South squad as a consequence of their "consistent and outstanding performances this season." Unanimous league selections include seniors Joel Dziedzic, Sean Mele, John Macis, Mike Egan, and junior Kevin Bracken.

Honorable mention recognition was bestowed upon seniors Bill Pabst, Kevin Quirk, and Bob Kurszy. Juniors: Curt Ringhofer, Ed Lynch, and Mike Birsa.

The Beautiful Gift for the Person who has everything

Oak Lawn Student to bow at cotillion

Oak Lawn resident Lisa Kamholz, daughter of Robert and Janet Kamholz, will bow at the 30th annual Christmas Cotillion, sponsored by the Auxiliary of Christ Hospital.

A junior at Oak Lawn High School, Lisa served in student council, the junior class advisory board, Key Club and Pep Club. She also is the stat keeper for the basketball team. Lisa is planning a career in business.

The Cotillion, one of the several events sponsored by the Auxiliary each year, will be held on Friday, December 30, at Georgios d La Parco in Orland Park. Tickets are $50 each and are available by calling 857-5250.

Illinois Home Energy Program returns

PLOWS Council on Aging is once again taking appointments for applications for the 1988-89 Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program.

IHEAP (Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program) assists persons with winter heating costs. Renters and homeowners who pay heating bills, as well as persons who rent but do not pay a separate heating bill, may be eligible for assistance.

To qualify for this program, an individual or family must meet the financial eligibility guidelines set by federal regulations. Eligibility is based on income for the 30 days prior to the application date.

IHEAP is administered for Suburban Cook County by the Community Economic Development Association (CEDA).

For more information, and to schedule an appointment, contact PLOWS Council on Aging at 422-6722. An appointment is necessary.

Like Boston, New Jersey had a "tea party" during the mounting friction between the colonies and Great Britain. At Greenwich, near Delaware Bay, young men in Indian costumes burned a shipload of tea from England in 1774.

Thanksgiving Dessert

This tasty Fudge Pecan Pie can be easy as, well, pie, even for busy homemakers.

What's cooking in America's kitchens? Not as much as there used to be, it seems. Lots of people would love to enjoy a freshly baked pie or cake for dessert—but few can afford to spend hours in the kitchen these days. What's a dessert lover to do?

To the rescue: a scrumptious recipe from the people at PET Kitchens that's extra-easy and quick to prepare. Working mothers, busy homemakers and even those less than gifted with culinary talents will appreciate this recipe for Fudge Pecan Pie. The rich fudge filling makes it a chocolate lover's delight:

Fudge Pecan Pie

- 1 PET-RITZ Deep Dish Pie Crust Shell
- 1/2 cup butter
- 3 Tablespoons cocoa
- 3/4 cup hot water
- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 small can (5.33 oz.) PET Evaporated Milk
- 1 cup pecan halves
- 1 cup LA CREME Whipped Topping with Real Cream, thawed

Preheat oven and cookie sheet to 350°F. In medium sauce pan, melt butter. Add cocoa and stir until dissolved. Add hot water and stir again. With wire whisk blend in sugar, flour, salt, extract and evaporated milk. Stir until batter is smooth. Mix in pecans and pour into pie crust. Bake on preheated cookie sheet for 50 minutes or until custard sets. Remove from oven and allow to cool for at least 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Garnish with whipped topping.

Handmade items selling at Passtimes

Crafty handmades will find a year-round showcase in PASSTIMES, an innovative talent sales outlet previewed its stock for buyers during a grand opening HARVEST HOMECOMING sale at the Washington and Jane Smith Home, 2340 W. 113th Place, last Saturday.

Replacing the one-day annual fall bazaars, successfully supported by community customers since 1946, the new shop venture will merchandise unusual and many one-of-a-kind gift-giving items all year long during scheduled week day business hours.

Traditional bazaar selections in stitchery, wood crafted pieces, loomed rugs and place mats, knitted wearables, kid stuff for babies and tots, dolls, stuffed animals, and other toys, holiday trims and decorative treasures and a colorful collection of ceramic table toppers will also be available in PASSTIMES.

Home recipes, will be packaged for sale on the Country Cupboard pantry shelf.

Call the Home at 779-8010 for more information.

Heat Pumps: What They Offer the Homeowner

Does your energy bill cool your patience while heating up your temper? Here are interesting facts on heat pumps that may save you money on your gas and electric bills.

Unlike a furnace that converts fossil fuel or electricity into heat, a heat pump collects heat that already exists in the outdoor air.

What's In A Name?

Surprisingly, despite its name, a heat pump provides summer cooling as well as winter heating. A heat pump replaces both furnace and central air conditioner with a single heating-cooling system, "pumping" heat into buildings in winter and out of buildings in summer.

Heat pumps operate like regular air conditioners during warm weather. However, it's the heating cycle that accounts for their significant savings. Unlike a furnace that converts fossil fuel or electricity into heat, the heat pump collects heat that already exists in the outdoor air. This means that the heat pump can supply from 1.5 to 2.5 times more heat than the energy it uses. On electric heating bills, heat pumps can mean savings of 30 to 60 percent because they use 30 to 60 percent less energy to supply the same heat as an electric furnace.

How to Choose a Heat Pump

When buying a new heating and cooling system, or replacing an old one, consumers should consider how a heat pump works, location, initial cost, operating cost savings, payback, service, and maintenance.

Heat pumps are the most cost-effective in temperatures above freezing. For colder days, supplemental heat may be necessary, either by a booster electrical resistance heater installed with the heat pump, or by fossil fuel heating.

Free Pamphlet

The latest information about heat pumps, including money saving tips and an easy-to-understand drawing is featured in the Air-Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute pamphlet, "Heat, Cool, Save Energy with a Heat Pump." For a free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: ARI, Dept. U-101, P.O. Box 37700, Washington, D.C. 20013.

YOUTH SERVICES DEPARTMENT IS SPONSORING a holiday program, Christmas Crafts and Films. Children who participate will create new decorations for their Christmas trees and then watch an exciting film. For those from three years of age through kindergarten, the time is 10-11:30 a.m. Wednesday, Dec 21. The movie will be Cricket in Times Square. A responsible person must accompany each youngster for this program. For children in grades one through three, the time is 10-11:30 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 22.. The movie will be The Foundling. For grades four through eight, the time is 2-3:30 p.m. Friday, Dec 23. The movie is The Revenge of the Nerd. Registration begins at 9 a.m. Monday, Dec. 5, for all sessions.

REMINDERS:

Friends of the Library sponsor the ongoing book sale shelf located across from the magazine desk, first floor. Paperbacks are 25¢ and hard cover books are 35¢. New selections of books are added several times each week. All books have been donated by people in the community. The Friends still plan to have a major book sale in June, 1989.

A WONDERFUL RESOURCE IS AVAILABLE for those who are considering a career change or those who are starting their first careers. The Library's Career Center, which is located on the second floor, contains information about job opportunities, job availability, job descriptions and much more. Job seekers, start at the Oak Lawn Public Library, 9427 Raymond, before you go anywhere else.

DO YOU HAVE A LIBRARY CARD? If you do not, stop in at the Oak Lawn Public Library today. There is something for everyone at the library. There are thousands of books on virtually every subject. Titles and subjects which are not available can be quickly obtained through an interlibrary loan system. There is information that widens horizons, stimulates ideas or awakens new ambitions and ideals. There are books for everyone--young readers with big pictures and easy to read type--older readers who are more comfortable with large print books--and all others. There are books on photography, gardening, child care, science, business, hobbies and countless other subjects. There is almost no end to the amount of information the library can supply. The same local library card entitles the owner to borrow framed art prints, sculpture, cameras, records, audio cassette tapes and videotapes. A library card is a priceless key to information, education, relaxation, peace of mind and even increased earnings. If it's used often it pays big dividends.

THE NEXT MEETING of the Oak Lawn Library board of trustees is set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22. Meetings are open to the public. They are held in the Oak Lawn Rotary Room, lower level.

WORLD CLASS SUCCESSES

String Of Winners

Many Americans are surprised to learn that the same company which developed racket strings known for power, control and lasting performance also helped 100,000 American women with breast cancer last year to live longer and with a better quality of life. That company, ICI Pharma, a division of ICI Americas Inc., markets a product considered a major breakthrough in breast cancer therapy. It's the leading oral medication used to treat advanced breast cancer.

For Health Insurance That's A Cut Above The Rest

Consider the 24 Karat Major Medical Plan from Time Insurance. Time's plan outshines the competition because more value has been built into every benefit you receive. Values like:

- Freedom to choose your doctor and hospital
- 15% non-smoker's discount
- Prescription drugs, ambulance, and x-ray coverage
- 100% coverage for pre-admission testing, second surgical opinions, home health care and more.

Group Insurance Available

In addition, because the 24 Karat is a hospital pre-certification plan, it uses a system of managed health care to ensure that every hospital treatment and service you receive is medically appropriate for you. For more information contact:

WHY NOT DO BUSINESS WITH A USED CAR SALES FORCE THAT YOU CAN RELATE TO!
Jack Thompson

TO: Manager of Sales,
Jack Thompson Oldsmobile
FROM: Randall H. Coe
RE: Purchase of Used Car
DATE: October 17, 1988

Recently, I purchased a 1983 Delta 88 from your dealership and was so pleased with the manner in which the sale was handled that I just had to write this note.

I can't find enough praise for the sales representative who sold us our car, CHUCK BOERST. Chuck was friendly, courteous, and respectful. Perhaps most importantly, however, was the fact that he put no pressure on us to purchase a car from your dealership. Chuck listened to what we were looking for in a used car and what our price range was and then patiently showed us what was available in the lot. The quality of your used cars then spoke for themselves. Chuck was very knowledgeable about the automobiles and answered intelligently any questions that we had. I thought the V.I.P. treatment was reserved for new car buyers but Chuck treated us with equal dignity and more.

If ever I'm in the market for a new or used car again, I will definitely come back to Jack Thompson Oldsmobile again, and I will certainly recommend to all of my friends that they do the same.

I just once again want to say thank you, not only to Chuck, but to all of the personnel at Jack Thompson Oldsmobile who made buying a used car such a pleasurable experience.

Sincerely, Randall H. Coe

Discipline and a Few Principles Can Spell Success

The best teacher is experience — if not our experience, then someone else's.

The National Association of Investors Corporation (NAIC), an organization that fosters and promotes investment clubs, offers investors valuable information through its publication, Better Investing.

Recently this publication focused on one of NAIC's oldest members, the Mutual Investment Club of Detroit. The club was formed in February 1940 when Hitler's war in Europe was accelerating and the United States was poised for world conflict. Although this was hardly an ideal time to invest, this club is still going strong 48 years later. The success of this group was used as a Harvard Business School case study, and a wealth of investment experience resulted.

The club's objective, as recommended by the NAIC, is to double their investment every five years. They have accomplished this in as few as three years and in as many as 13.

Beginning with deposits of $800, they earned only $12 the first year. Five years later, though, they had doubled their original investment. It took six years for it to double again, but only three years, 1952-1955, to double the third time. By 1969, they were worth more than $500,000. It took the next 13 years to pass $1 million. In 1987, they doubled that.

Those are the results. How did they get there?

The club established three principles for safety and a method of analysis. After 10 years they found the best way for individual investors to judge investment performance was from high point to high point in the bull markets.

The declines between high points were unimportant other than the fact that bear markets offer a great opportunity to buy growth stocks. Prices are cheaper from panic selling by speculators and those not disciplined to carry out investment programs.

Buying growth stocks is one of the club's key principles. The other two are regular investments to avoid trying to outguess the market and reinvesting all dividends to benefit from compounding.

The club uses the volatility of growth stocks to its advantage. Although growth stocks fall faster, they recover further as bear markets turn bullish. During these bear markets, not only do they reinvest dividends to buy cheaper stocks, they also make additional deposits.

The Mutual Investment Club understands and loves bear markets. If a stock falls from 20 to 10, the loss is 50 percent; if it goes from 10 to 20, the gain is 100 percent.

You may not agree with the club's philosophy, but you can't deny its success. Its major strength is dedication to planning and the discipline to carry it out.

If you want to benefit from the experience of others, you can write the NAIC at 1515 E. Eleven Mile Road, Royal Oak, MI 48067.

Zickus attends legislative veto session

State Representative-elect Anne Ziekus (R-47) reeently spent several days in the State Capitol during the fall legislative veto session to get a step ahead on 1989's legislative agenda and meet with her colleagues on the House floor.

While in Springfield, Ziekus also met with Sen. Robert Raica (R-24) to dis-cuss issues of particular interest to the 47th Distriet and work on plans to open a joint distriet offiee to serve area residents. Until the formal opening of her distriet offices, Representative-eleet Zickus can be reached at 974-3000.

Crisis Center holds benefit

When the Board of Directors of the Crisis Center for South Suburbia met reeently, the main topie of diseussion was the new shelter. The eurrent facility is 65 years old and has three bedrooms and one bathroom shared by upwards of 19 women and children who seek shelter overnight. It has been determined that $1M must be raised to purchase a newer, larger shelter, which would be aecessible to the handieapped.

On Friday, December 2, the Crisis Center will take "THE NEXT STEP" toward purchasing a new facility when it sponsors a dinner dance at Georgios d'la Parco in Orland Park.

On hand to greet guests when they arrive and to give the kiek-off toast will be Ms. Janet Davies, Entertainment Reporter at WLS-Ch. 7. Music after dinner for dancing by "Moonlighting."

Trisha Goldberg, chairman of the benefit, invites all SW suburbanites interested in helping deal with the problem of domestie violenee to support the Center by attending the benefit. Tickets are $35 per person and may be reserved by calling (312) 974-1091.

Local youth wins Sheriff's Medal of Honor

Elizabeth Mick and Dana Wulff of Oak Lawn were awarded the Cook County Sheriff's Youth Service Medal of Honor for their volunteer activities at a ceremony at the Daley Center. Sheriff James E. O'Grady presented the awards to 250 youths who had completed the requirements for the Medal of Honor, which included at least 80 hours of volunteer service in their community.

"It is an honor and an opportunity for me to recognize these youth as valuable contributors to the quality of life in our com-munities," said Sheriff O'Grady. "Each of these teenagers has provided an important service to Cook County. Together they represent today's youth in a positive light."

If you are under 21 years of age and volunteer, you can receive an application for the Sheriff's Youth Service Medal of Honor by writing to the Cook County Sheriff's Youth Services Department at 1401 S. Maybrook Drive, Maywood, IL 60153 or by calling the Youth Services Department at 865-2900.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Friends in the 47th District,

Two and a half years ago we started out with a goal - to elect a new Representative to the 47th District. We were all disappointed when the vote totals showed us losing by little more than 200 votes. This deterred no one, however, and the theme quickly became "Just wait until '88".

With unending support from a growing group of supporters, I personally promised them that they would not be disappointed this time, that their energy would keep me going and working harder. As the election neared their numbers grew as did their help and confidence. This spirit swept right through to election day when WE scored a resounding victory!

My heartfelt "thanks" to everyone who played a part in making this election a reality.

From relatives to friends to volunteers, and most importantly, to the people who voted for me. Let me say aloud that without your unending support OUR victory would not have been possible. Your kind words of encouragement will never be forgotten, especially when I am in Springfield with the honor of representing the 47th District. My best wishes to all of you and once again - THANK YOU.

Sincerely,
Anne Zickus
State Representative-Elect
47th District

To the Editor,

I take this opportunity to thank all of the volunteers and staff who helped make this 61% victory such a rewarding one.

Our achievement of endorsements from all the papers was most gratifying.

I also thank all those who voted and supported me and pledge to continue working hard for our District in Springfield.

My family and I are grateful for your continued support.

Sincerely,
John J. McNamara
State Representative

"The Heart of Oak Lawn" will it still throb

By Michelle M. Dixon

The Heart of Oak Lawn is an endangered species right now. This area is 95th Street from 51st Ave. to 54th Ave. Maurice Glens, chairman of the Heart of Oak Lawn Committee, called this district a "potential blight area" if steps toward re-development aren't taken.

The committee is calling for the alley south of 95th St. to be developed into a pedestrian mall, with landscaping, special lighting, and shops along the walkway.

One of the main reasons this project is under study is that, most of the business district involves service oriented businesses that do not generate the tax revenue that a retail mall would or could. This district is responsible for only 15% of the tax revenues that make up Oak Lawns $17 million dollar budget. This mall could also be seen as a way to keep Oak Lawn residents property taxes down in the future, if this mall brings in the revenue as planned.

In addition to the basic mall proposal, there were a number of other suggestions made by the committee:

1. A Senior housing development with 60 to 100 units be constructed on a 1 1/2 acre parcel of land owned by the village located north of the new Public Safety Building.

2. The businesses put into the new mall would be permitted under a new C-4 zoning classification, and that a weekly column

Publisher's Pen

By Annette Dixon

May the departed rest in Peace! Sister Denise Adams had peace on earth and now in heaven. Sister Denise, founder of Loretto Federation, was a peaceful woman. As a nun she was interested in a humanitarian lifestyle long before the I.B.V.M. community followed the traditions of Vatican II. Sister Denise was the aunt of the departed Raymond and Carol Adams of Oak Lawn. The funeral mass was held in Wheaton, Tuesday, November 22, 1988.

This publisher extends deep sympathy to the family of John DeMunnick, resident of Bridgeview, John was from Visitation parish originally and the brother of my dear friend, Pat Letts.

This column will be somewhat difficult to write without any research, but I will try to write clearly.

At a very early age I knew I was able to predict certain events before they occurred What I would do is blurt the idea or event out and wait for someone to respond. Before I knew what I was doing I was reacting to a situation before it occurred. Of course, I was frightened as a child, and confused, so I tried to suppress my feelings and hope all my thoughts would vanish. Thoughts within the immediate family would not vanish, therefore I began to think I caused the situation, event, accident, etc. As I became an adolescent, I became more religious, and began to believe only God could direct our destiny. Therefore, I retreated to "normal teenage years Somehow, during those years I used my insights or power because I walked away from situations or events that could have been harmful to me.

As time went on, my life changed also. There were periods within my life when I would not accept this power, and somehow it was during this period I became quite accident prone.

Now I accept what I feel. I deal with it in a direct and sometimes indirect manner. My family heeds my advise, my friends understand me and listen carefully, my acquaintances no longer shrug off my warnings and my enemies are bewildered.

Sunday, November 13th, I stated to my mother, "That my 17 year old nephew totaled his 1978 Oldsmobile". Mother said "Impossible, where could you have heard that." November 21st my brother said, "Tony totaled his car Sat., Nov. 12th and he is fine."

WELCOME WAGON WANTS TO VISIT YOU

Just engaged? New parent? Moved? I'd like to visit you with useful gifts and information. I'll also bring cards you can redeem for more gifts at local businesses. It's a friendly visit to help you get answers about town, goods and services. All free to you.

The Beautiful Gift for the Person who has everything

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE WEEK

Aries/Scorpio

You might be saying, "lets make a deal"...there are things to rid yourself of, or make a compromise of. This is also a week to make plans to travel...to deal with housing matters, and especially to tell someone where you stand...with them.

Taurus/Libra

If you have been letting yourself "go", now is the time to make a firm resolution about putting yourself in shape, both mentally and physically...don't wait for New Years...begin now!

Gemini/Virgo

When you have a purpose...you get in there and make it work! When you have an idea, you must protect it...it's yours, do not let anyone take this away from you. This message comes clear this week. Stick with your plans for travel...you need the rest!

Cancer

Look at all sides of the story before you make up your mind about someone...you could be wrong! Also, there is money for you, but you are going to have to decide where to put it so that it will make life easier for you. Don't take unnecessary bills into the New Year!

Leo

This is be "kind to all Leo people", including yourself! There has been much on your shoulders, and you have come through it, now is the time to relax and have fun. Make it your business to talk over career matters with co-workers, and put all of your cards on the table.

Sagittarius

There is no reason to hide behind someone else's decision...you might be more right about a plan than they are. Speak up! You will have some wonderful holidays this year, depend on it. But, there is a warning, "don't overspend just to impress someone!"

Capricorn

A very important person wants to talk real business sense to you, and could make an offer that you cannot pass up. Be open to relocation if necessary...opportunities like this don't come up very often. Be aware of small print however...in any signing of any kind of contract.

Aquarius

A week to look at your financial status...make plans to increase your income...offer your ideas to bosses, etc. Also, you could be in for a big winning! There is not time to be shy...and you shall receive!

Pisces

Someone makes you an offer, and you want to sell...so, don't haggle over a few dollars...take the offer! There can be some heavy discussions about your work area, making new plans to use new equipment, or buying them. You can make a success out of an idea that seems obtuse once. Scorpio helps if you ask!

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE, BY PHONE OR MAIL...CALL FOR INFORMATION OR TO MAKE AN APPOINTMENT. 636-4578. My books and tapes are available at the Pyramid Book Mart, 3580 W. 95th St. in Evergreen Park, IL. 60642. They can be mailed to you. Interested in healing yourself and new methods? Ask about my book, "Your Quartz Crystal and How To Use It". $6.95 postage paid with a free crystal.

deteriorated com-mercial buildings in this area be repaired.

3. The construction of a Veterans Memorial plaza on Cook Avenue between 95th St. and Dumke Drive, as part of a major civic plaza.

4. The 83 year old Cook Avenue School be "preserved and studied for conversion into either residential, commercial, or civic use."

5. The train depot building be converted into a restaurant.

Costs for the project are still undetermined, as not all of the various aspects of the project have been decided.

NEWS FOR WOMEN

Tips For Mothers Re-entering The Workforce

Last year, 20 million American mothers re-entered the workforce. In fact, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, two-thirds of all working mothers have children under the age of 18.

But if you're like many workers-to-be, you may have developed "back-to-work phobia." Barbara Ambrosio, vice president of human resources at Adia Personnel Services, a leading temporary and permanent placement firm, suggests some steps for a smooth transition, whether you've been out of the workforce for one year or ten:

- Take an honest look at your personal skills bank. Is it adequate for today's job requirements? Are you computer-savvy? Glancing through classified advertisements will give you a rough idea of what skills are in demand and where you stand.
- Consider taking an adult education course to learn a new skill or brush up on an old one. Many high schools offer introductory evening classes in a broad range of fields.
- Locate the career development centers at area colleges, where advisors can suggest possible career directions. They may also refer you to vocational tests that help identify appropriate avenues based on your strengths.
- Talk with employment services—ideally, those that place applicants in both temporary and permanent jobs. They'll help steer you in the right direction and you'll start re-developing your interviewing skills. Also consider temporary work as a means to ease back into your career, improve on old skills, or even investigate a new industry.

Consider temporary work as a means to ease back into the workforce.

- Look into volunteer work opportunities in your former career, or in a new one. It can be a rewarding way to re-immerse yourself into the working world.
- Subscribe to a newsletter or trade journal in your field of interest, to catch up on the newest development and employment opportunities.

Says Ambrosio: "Re-entering the workforce can seem intimidating at first. But today there are more resources available than ever before, to help make the transition a smooth and rewarding one."

GOD'S VOICE!

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

Most people do not believe the stories in the scandal sheets, such as the Enquirer, The News, etc., puts out monthly. They make interesting articles, but what to believe is a matter of personal choice. But recently, an article was written by Ragan Dunn, November 1988, about a Soviet Probe that recorded the voice of God, and are holding that tape secret from the people. If this tape is true, then the world deserves to hear it! According to the tape, God says, "you have worlds to explore. The Universe and everything in it is yours. But, Heaven is MINE. You must stay away!" The voice is said to be "indescribable like hearing a hundred baritones and a symphony orchestra rolled into one", Dunn reports. A Mr. Kurt Bauer, internationally known for making headlines about this probe, says "the Soviet Probe flew through a rainbow-coloured tunnel and emerged over a great walled city that literally glittered under an intense golden light." He also claimed that the photos showed people entering that city as if for the first time! If again, the story is true...it would truly establish (leaving no more doubt), that God does exist, and that life does not end with death here on Earth. If Russia has this tape as reported, and will not share it with the world, they would stand guilty in the eyes of the people of all nations as being the true Anti-Christ. Such a nation would eventually fall as did Rome, long, long ago. By what right does any nation claim the right to suppress the voice of God!?

Yesterday's Children search for natural parents

By Annette Dixon

Many artieles have been published regarding abor tion vs adoption, pro life vs pro choice and readers may wonder, where do I stand on this issue. As a former eandidate for office, and publisher of this news paper, I am pro life.

Who are yesterdays children and what does the name mean, I suggest you contaet their office at 545-6900.

The story I tell is about an ineident whieh occurred months ago. During the presidential debates, Jane Doe stated she was for Dukakis beeause he was a pro ehoice eandidate. She believes a woman should have a right to make a decision to abort a fetus if she does not want a ehild. A statement so often made in an argument is why abort, adopt!

This same Jane Doe recently asked if I would attend a meeting with her. After obliging her, I found myself engulfed in con versations of adoptees who were in search of their natural parents.

Meetings of this nature are not secretive, so think of this as a research project. That is what Yesterday's Children is all about. As an adoptee you do all your own research. You have a support group to wean you, eneourage you and guide you through sorrows, joys and tribulations.

We met in a northside home where the gentleman of the house was the adoptee. He has not been successful in his search. He had stated "at the present time he was to preoeeupied with school, work, etc to renew his seareh". As leader of the group he was knowledgeable and eneouraging to those in attendanee.

Women and men, approximately 10, had different backgrounds and reasons for being there. One woman, about 38 years old, was looking for her son, who was born in July of 1968. She has been searehing for months. All of the others were searehing for their mothers.

I found that faseinating! Now I know for a faet that it is easier to find the mother because of biological reasons, but why is the need so great! Surely, the father must play a minuscule role in the wonderful event of birth. As I approached different individuals, I found out their needs and desires!

Of the 9 individuals, each one stated that they had differences or were mistreated by their adopted parents. Fact or fiction? It was a fact, because of the adoptee's perception to their problem. A 45 year old blond, teacher recently found out she was adopted. Her statement was that she never felt as though she belonged in a Polish family. Within two weeks of searching, she has found results, and realized her nationality is Italian. She said she intends not to go any further with the search.

A young man was very close to recovering his identity. After two months he now knows the identity of his mother. The en-eouragement of the group leaders is to guide him through his anxiety. At first diseovery, a person may get an impulse to barge in and say "Hello, I'm your adopted Son or Daughter." Caution must be taken warns the group leader. "You have had months of planning and preparation." "Beware!, do not pull any surprises on an individual who may not wish to share your identity," says the leader.

This group needs to be commended for expressing the guidelines of a search and helping with a reunion if one so desires a reunion.

An experienee I witnessed that evening was a reunion of a natural mother and an adoptee. Cathy from Southern Illinois was a foster child of several brothers and sisters. Her natural mother gave her eustody to the State and later signed adoption papers. The natural mother stated she regretted doing this, but, now she found Jesus and wanted to atone for her sin. She said she is a born again Christian and has prayed everyday for this reunion. When the group leader asked why (the natural mother) had not looked for her ehild, the mother replied, "I was afraid I would find her and she would never forgive me." The reunion was a happy one!

A remark made by the group leader, "Let's see what you two will be like six months from now."

(Editors note! Life does go on!)

Researchers are working on ways to save some of the over a million Americans who will have a heart attack in the next twelve months.

One phase of this life-saving effort is to try to prevent heart disease by helping people lower their cholesterol levels. Your doctor can tell you what yours is. He or she will advise you of measures that might be taken to lower your cholesterol level, if it is too high.

If cholesterol level reductions are necessary, you may be given a special diet, advised to follow an exercise regimen, or take a medication designed to lower your level.

You can get a copy of a booklet on cholesterol and your health from Citizens for Public Action on Cholesterol at P.O. Box 66408, Washington, D.C. 20006. Made possible by a grant from Merck Sharp & Dohme.

COST OF NURSING HOME CARE CALLED THREAT TO ELDERLY

WASHINGTON—Millions of elderly Americans face eventual poverty from the devastating cost of long-term nursing home care, but most are not even aware they have a problem, an administration task force was told.

They innocently—and wrongly—believe they're already covered for nursing home care through the Federal Medicare system.*

Unfortunately, MEDICARE offers NO solution!

How Nursing Home Costs Are Paid

Through a group plan, the Association of Retired Americans (ARA) is addressing this problem. As a member of ARA, you may qualify for special long-term nursing home protection . . . coverage that will insure that you have important protection.

For more information on this outstanding program as well as many other ARA member benefits, mail the coupon below. This special insurance program (form GHC-9041) is underwritten by Pioneer Life Insurance Company of Illinois, Rockford, IL.

HOLIDAY GIFTS—SURE TO PLEASE

Holiday gifts, party ideas, family get-togethers. Need something quick for that last minute party or for that special person on your list? Let these sweet loving recipes featuring California pistachios express your yuletide spirit.

With the abundance of sweets during the holidays, it is satisfying to know that these special treats prepared with California pistachios have an extra nutritional bonus too.

California pistachios are an excellent source of essential nutrients, fiber and protein. What's more, pistachios are low in saturated fat and are cholesterol free. What better gift for your neighbors and friends than a healthy supply of California pistachios for their very own? A glass jar or tin tied with a ribbon and filled with pistachios is always an appreciated gift.

Here are a few more suggestions for your holiday list.

Pistachio Brittle

1 cup shelled, natural California pistachios
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
2 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
1/8 teaspoon lemon extract or vanilla

Place pistachios on baking sheet; bake at 300 degrees F. to keep warm while preparing candy. Combine sugar, butter, water and corn syrup. Cook, without stirring, to soft crack stage (275°F.) on candy thermometer. Add lemon extract and pistachios. Pour on to foil-lined baking sheet. Cool. Break into serving-sized pieces.

Makes approximately 36 pieces.

California Pistachio Chocolate Brittle (Microwave Method *)

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 cup shelled natural California pistachios
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon brandy or vanila flavoring
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 package (6 oz.) chocolate chips

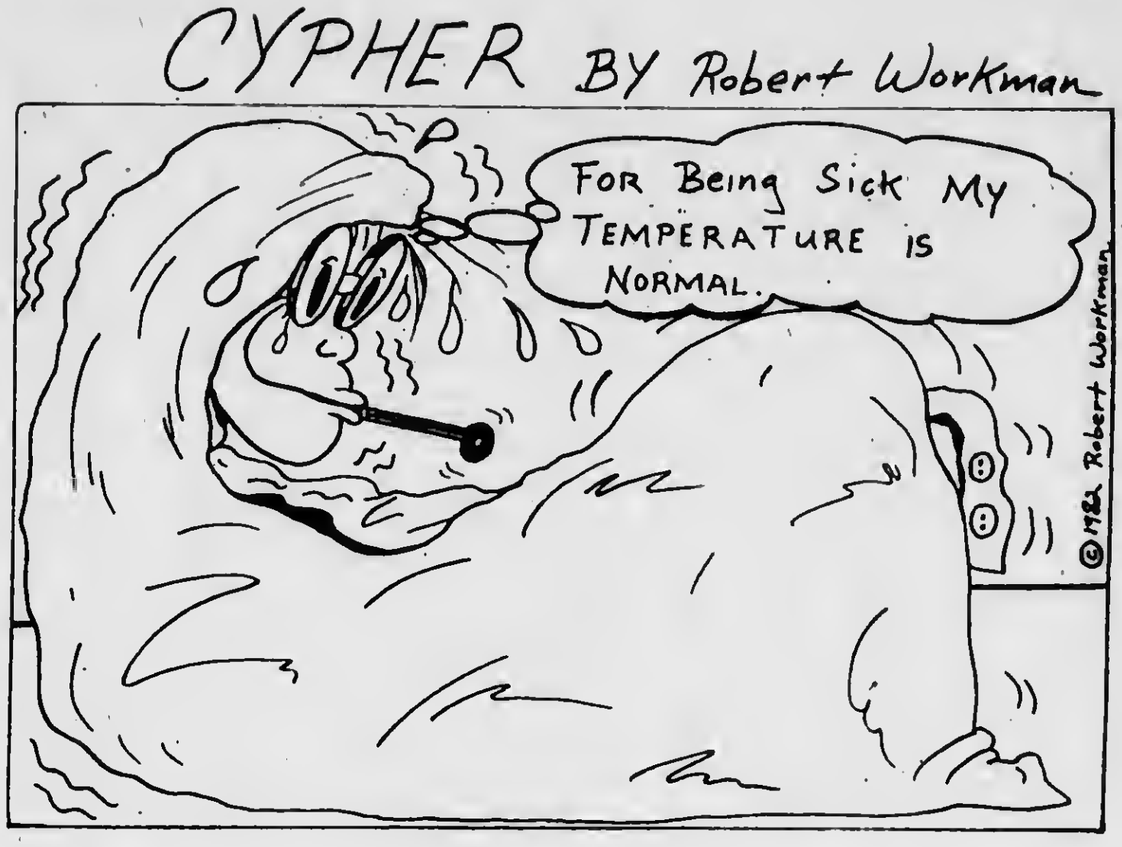
Combine sugar and corn syrup in 2-quart microwave-safe measuring cup. Microcook at HIGH 4 minutes. Stir; microcook at HIGH an additional 4 minutes. Stir in pistachios; mix in butter and brandy flavoring. Microcook at HIGH 1 minute longer; remove from microwave oven. Stir in baking soda. Spread on aluminum foil-covered cookie sheet. Sprinkle chocolate chips over hot candy and allow to stand for 3 minutes. Spread melted chocolate over candy with knife. Refrigerate until firm. Break into pieces.

Makes about 1 pound.

* Recipe developed for 600 to 700 watt microwave oven.

California Pistachio Popcorn

2 quarts popped popcorn
1/2 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 cup light corn syrup
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla
1/4 teaspoon soda
1 cup shelled natural California pistachios



Keep popcorn warm in 250 degree F. oven while preparing coating. Melt butter in large saucepan; stir in sugar, corn syrup and salt. Bring to boil; stir constantly. Reduce heat to medium; boil without stirring 5 minutes. Remove from heat; quickly stir in vanilla and soda. Place popcorn in large, heat-proof bowl; slowly pour syrup over popcorn while stirring. Add pistachios; mix thoroughly. Turn into greased 15-1/4 x 10-1/4 x 3/4-inch baking pan; bake at 250 degrees F. 1 hour, stirring every 15 minutes. Remove from oven; cool. Break into serving-size pieces. Store in tightly covered container. Makes 2 quarts.

Pistachio Pralines

2 cups sugar
1 cup each packed brown sugar and half-and-half
1 cup shelled, natural California pistachios

Combine sugars and half-and-half in heavy 3-quart saucepan. Cook over low heat until sugar is dissolved; stir constantly. Bring to boil over medium-high heat. Boil gently to 236 degrees F. or until a little mixture forms a soft ball in cold water; stir often. Remove from heat. Add pistachios. Stir just until nuts are coated and mixture becomes lighter, immediately drop from a spoon on to buttered cookie sheets into patties about 3-inches in diameter. If mixture becomes too stiff to drop, stir in 1 or 2 teaspoons hot water. Let pralines stand until firm.

Makes 20 pralines.

Free Booklet Offers Carpet Tips

Rug care needn't be rugged—even if you've got youngsters at home. Growing kids are hard on carpet. They spend a lot of time on the floor playing, watching TV, eating and drinking, and occasionally spilling things. They run in and out all day, crossing over the same pathways. Is there any hope of keeping carpet looking nice while raising children?

According to a free booklet published by Armstrong World Industries, the answer is yes, provided the carpet is manufactured properly. The booklet, "Understanding Carpet Quality," explains what to look for when shopping and how to be sure of getting good on-the-floor performance. If you are in the market for carpet, this is important reading. For a free copy, write Armstrong World Industries, Consumer Response Center, "Understanding Carpet Quality," P.O. Box 3001, Lancaster, PA 17604, or call the toll-free number, 1-800-233-3823, and ask for "Understanding Carpet Quality."

American Sampler

Creamy Lemon Mousse

3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup Argo corn starch
1/8 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/3 cup lemon juice
1 cup heavy or whipping cream

In 2-quart saucepan mix sugar, corn starch and salt. Gradually stir in milk until smooth. Stir in egg yolks and lemon peel. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice; place plastic wrap directly on surface. Refrigerate 45 minutes. In small bowl with mixer at high speed, beat cream until soft peaks form; gently fold into cooled lemon mixture. Spoon into serving bowl. Cover; refrigerate 4 hours or until firm. If desired, garnish with sliced strawberries. Makes 8 servings.

For more free American Sampler recipes, send a postcard with name, address and zip code to: American Sampler, Dept. KAS, Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238.

holiday gift ideas

by Jim de Merlier

The holidays are fast approaching. Within the next few weeks, you'll hear, almost daily, that you only have a few more shopping days until Christmas. Smart shoppers make a list, check it twice, and get their shopping out of the way well before the stores get packed with last-minute frantic shoppers.

If you're still undecided about what to get your loved one, there's one gift that is practical, can be used immediately, and will keep memories alive for years to come. I'm suggesting one of today's easy to use, 35mm compact cameras.

There are dozens of cameras from which you can choose. One of my favorites is the new Minolta Freedom Tele. This totally automatic camera has two built-in lenses—one for group shots and one for candids and portraits. The Freedom Tele is attractively-styled and offers multi-beam autofocusing, so all you have to do is aim and shoot for perfect pictures.

If you decide on a camera as a gift, be sure to pick up at least two or three rolls of film, to capture all the day's excitement. I recommend ISO 200 print film for the first-time photographer. A camera bag or a photography book also make good add-on gifts.

Your youngsters are likely to love this luscious pie—even though it's packed with protein.

If the word dessert conjures up "visions of sugarplums" and other not-so-good-for-you sugary treats, then it's time to develop a new image of the role dessert can play in your family's diet.

Desserts can—and should—be nutritious as well as delicious. One that definitely scores high on both counts is Pumpkin Cheesecake Pie. This dessert is made with cream cheese, pumpkin, eggs and milk—all good sources of nutrition. The confection is especially nutritious when it's made with PET evaporated milk, which has Vitamin D added and only 170 calories per 12 oz. can.

Pumpkin Cheesecake Pie

1 PET-RITZ® Deep Dish Pie Crust Shell
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
1 cup canned pumpkin
1/3 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
dash salt
1 small can (5 fluid ounces) PET® Evaporated Milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Prehcat oven and baking shect to 350°F. In a small bowl, combine cream cheese, 1/4 cup sugar, vanilla and egg. Beat until smooth and creamy. Spread on unbaked pie crust. In a medium bowl, combine pumpkin, 1/3 cup sugar, spices and salt. Add milk and eggs; mix well. Pour over cream cheese mixture. Bake on preheated baking sheet for 50 to 55 minutes or until puffy and sets. Cool on a wire rack.

Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Facts From the American Veterinary Medical Association

Feline Panleukopenia: What You Should Know

A highly contagious virus, feline panleukopenia is also known as feline distemper, infectious entritis, cat fever and cat typhoid. It can affect cats of any age and in any environment. Severity can vary from mild to extreme.

The first symptoms an owner may notice include generalized depression, loss of appetite, high fever, lethargy, vomiting, dehydration and hanging over the water dish. Advanced cases may cause death within hours, though the disease may go on for three or four days after the first fever.

The disease can be controlled in several ways. Cats that get it generally must rely on their own immune systems plus tender loving care from their owners to combat it. Cats that survive usually develop an immunity. Kittens may get temporary immunity from their mothers. Vaccines offer the safest protection, as long as they're administered before the cat's exposed to the infection. The vaccine must be repeated annually.

Vaccines, early and often, can protect cats from a sometimes deadly infectious virus.

Women Of Enterprise Are Changing The World

More and more, women are finding business ownership very rewarding. Not only have they overcome the odds to achieve success and satisfaction, some are getting recognition for their accomplishments as well.

For example, six have received Women of Enterprise Awards, sponsored by Avon Products, Inc. and the U.S. Small Business Administration, to honor outstanding self-employed women. This look at these remarkable women entrepreneurs and their philosophies for success may be inspirational to many:

Women who run their own businesss are winning recognition for their achievements.

• Terry Engebretson, a divorced mother of two, worked full-time as a clerk in a law firm while selling Avon products part-time. In 1983, she left the law firm to sell Avon full-time at customers' homes and workplaces. When asked how she overcame some of the obstacles of her early business days, she explained: "I decided to compete with myself, setting my own goals and achieving them." Terry is one of Avon's top sales representatives and was chosen to receive an honorary award.

• Mary G. Winston won for her Winston Janitorial Service company. The daughter of an Alabama sharecropper, Mary was forced to leave school at age 11 when, following her mother's death, she was needed at home to care for her younger siblings. Today, at age 64, she heads a three million dollar company. "I've always tried to be a living example for the youngsters," she says.

• M. Charito Kruvant is president of Creative Associates International, a management consulting firm. Educating minority children, however, is her first priority. When she was eight, her family fled to Argentina from their native Bolivia. As an outsider—and with a learning disability—she says: "I learned early that if I worked harder than everybody else, I could be part of the group."

• Sydney A. Stoeppelwerth heads Stoeppelwerth Enterprises/Tandem Routes: "One need not see to see," she says, and she should know. She's blind and a former English teacher turned motivational speaker. She also owns an oil production company.

• Laura Balverde-Sanchez, president of the New El Rey Sausage Company, hopes to make gourmet Mexican sausage—called "chorizo"—standard American breakfast fare. She purchased the company from bankruptcy in 1983, and worked hard to make it profitable. "Women can have it all," she says, "but for a very high price!"

• Susan K. Terry "realized that building a house is like baking a cake only with different ingredients" and prospered in the construction business. She started SKT Construction with a $5,000 loan when she was a 23-year-old secretary at a plumbing company. Six years ago, Susan's first husband was killed in an accident while she was pregnant with their second child. Despite her loss, she was determined to succeed in her business. Last year her gross income was $1 million. Her five-year income goal: $10 million. Says Susan, "You have to aim high!"

Pointers For Parents

Create Santa's Workshop At Home

Here's news of a unique craftbook with delightfully creative projects for children ages five to twelve to make all by themselves or with help. Other projects are made to involve the entire family in evenings of fireside fun.

Here's how to start your Santa's workshop at home.

- Look for the craftbook, Christmas is Coming, 1988, published by Oxmoor House, in local bookstores.
- Encourage your "elves" to make gifts to exchange with friends and teachers. The book contains projects designed to both educate and entertain.

- A mini-cookbook chapter is filled with simple, yet delicious recipes especially for children to prepare.
- The book features projects parents can make for their children for year-round surprises too.
- Instructions are full color, numbered and presented step-by-step. Most patterns are full-size and ready to trace.
- Most of the projects are easy enough for children to do by themselves. However, don't forget that preparing for the holiday season is a delightful way for families to spend quality time together at this joyous time of year.

P.S./WASHINGTON

a weekly column by
U.S. Senator Paul Simon of Illinois

MEMORIES OF THAT DAY IN DALLAS

The assassination of President Kennedy left its indelible mark on our nation. Nearly everyone 35 years of age or older remembers exactly where they were and what they were doing when they heard the horrible news a quarter century ago.

I was having lunch with a then-state legislator, Tony Scariano, who is now an appellate court judge. We were attending a meeting of the School Problems Commission in Chicago. Someone came over to our table and said, "Did you hear the President's been shot?"

We both thought it was a joke. But we quickly found out it was serious. We went over and watched television for a short time and we knew the meeting would not be renewed. I got in my car and drove home to Southern Illinois. While I was driving along I learned the President was dead.

The news stunned the nation. I remember coming home from church that Sunday and my wife told me Lee Harvey Oswald had been shot and I thought the whole world was going crazy. On Monday, I attended the funeral of a friend. I drove over to Alton from our home in Troy to attend the service and I remember there was virtually no traffic, everyone was at home watching the funeral on television.

I did not know John Kennedy well. I remember the first time I met him I was standing in front of the old Morrison Hotel at the 1956 Democratic Convention. He was waiting for someone to pick him up and we chatted for a while. I saw him a couple of times during that convention when he almost became the vice presidential nominee and then I saw him a few times after that.

I remember particularly meeting him in Decatur during the 1960 campaign. We talked about some of the politicians in Southern Illinois. I always remember he knew which ones were crooks and which ones weren't.

On a personal note, I collect presidential autographs. I asked the President's brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, to have the President sign a picture from the Christian Science Monitor for me. The day after the funeral, in the mail, that picture arrived. Mrs. Lincoln, the President's secretary, told me it was one of the last ones he signed.

In terms of legislative accomplishments, John Kennedy did not have a great impact. But he set a tone for advances in civil rights and other domestic issues. Lyndon Johnson followed that direction. John Kennedy also inspired a great many people to get into politics.

He made a big difference in one other area. He was the first Roman Catholic president. I was assigned to debate that issue. The question was: "Can the United States survive as a democracy with a Catholic president?" And there were good, sincere people who questioned that.

I remember the dentist who lived across the street from me, a Baptist and a very fine man, believed if John Kennedy became president, the Pope would dictate American policy. At one of his first press conferences, President Kennedy was asked about the Catholic bishops' support of aid to parochial schools. He said, "I disagree with the bishops," and my neighbor across the street was astonished. That particular barrier was permanently demolished in this country.

John Kennedy's tenure as president was far too short. But his impact is still felt.

I am most grateful to Mayor Ernie Kolb and the Coalition party for slating me as a candidate for Trustee of the Fourth District in Oak Lawn.

A happy and blessed Thanksgiving to you and yours.

Beth A. McElroy

baby facts & fancies

Here are some delightful facts about babies you may enjoy cuddling up with:

Before cloth and disposable diapers, newborn babies were wrapped in swaddling clothes, which were designed to restrict their movement. Babies are still swaddled in some parts of the world, including the Soviet Union.

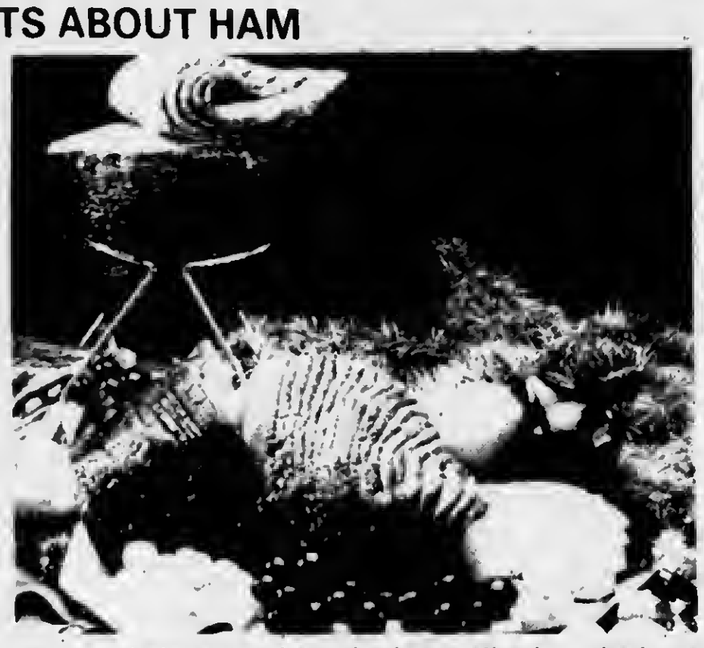
Parents say the biggest problem with diapers is overnight leakage. Since the introduction of thin diapers, some disposable diapers cut overnight leakage by up to 50 percent. One of these is new Luv's Deluxe for boys and girls. This is partly because these come in different versions for boys and girls. Both diapers have a unique "leak guard" absorbency zone. However, the difference is in its location. The light blue diapers for boys have the zone in the front, where they wet most, and the pink girl's diaper has the extra protection in the middle!

Disposable diapers were invented by a grandfather and engineer who got tired of laundering.

Crazy T-shirt night

"The New Generation" of the Evergreen Park Chaptor #20, Parents Without Partners will host a CRAZY T-SHIRT NIGHT dance on Friday, December 2, at the Johnson-Phelps V.F.W. Hall, 9514 S. 52nd Ave., Oak Lawn. $4.00 cover charge and guests over 21 years are invited.



LITTLE KNOWN FACTS ABOUT HAM

These little known facts about ham may surprise and delight you. Did you know pigs were first domesticated over 5,000 years ago by the Chinese? In this country, ham goes back to 1542 when the Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto brought thirteen pigs with him to what is now Tampa Florida.

Today, at holidays, family gatherings, or any special occasion, hams are seen in kitchens and dining rooms all across the country. One popular ham from Carando, is especially appreciated by today's busy hostesses. Using a special method, this high quality ham is sliced into and around the natural ham bone. Using a swirling, twirling motion, the slicing spirals magically around and down the full length of the bone, creating perfectly formed even slices that are a caterer's dream and every cook's delight. The bone remains in place to retain the traditional flavors and the slices release perfectly with a fork.

To prepare this Carando Spiral Sliced Ham, remove it from the outside wrapper and place it in a pan face down. This seals the moisture between slices and keeps the slices from separating during heating.

Place in a warm oven (350 degrees) for about an hour. Increase temperature to 450 degrees, remove ham, glaze, then return to hot oven for about five minutes. Remove ham from oven, let stand ten minutes and serve.

Easy and elegant: a ham that's pre-sliced on the bone.

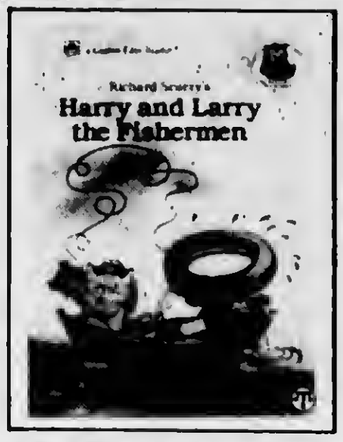
NEWS OF EDUCATION



Making Reading Easy And Fun

Your child: future successful student? It's all up to you. More and more educators agree that a child's first schoolroom should be in the home. Children who are familiar with letters, words, and books before they attend school have a distinct advantage over their peers.

The single most important activity that builds the knowledge and skills necessary for success in reading is reading aloud to children, say educators. When parents read to children, they are not only helping their children recognize letters and words, but they encourage children to ask and answer questions, which helps to build basic thinking and reasoning skills.

To assist parents in helping their children learn to read, Western Publishing Company, Inc., publisher of Golden Books, has introduced a new line of easy readers to introduce beginning readers to the joy of books and for parents to read aloud to preschoolers.

The Golden Easy Reader series features 18 titles that include favorite Disney characters, Mercer Mayer's hilarious Little Critter and his family, fairy tales, and Richard Scarry's whimsical animal characters. Aimed at children aged five to seven, the books sell for under four dollars at local bookstores, toy and department stores.

Reading aloud to children is one way parents can help their youngsters learn to read.

Installment Investing Reduces Danger of Volatility

The only certainty in the stock market is uncertainty. No one has yet been able to accurately predict market movement, direction or timing consistently.

The idea, of course, is to buy stocks at bargain prices. As some put it, buying stocks this way is like "buying your straw hat in winter." Since not everyone can do this, most are satisfied with reasonable prices.

One way to increase your chances of buying at a reasonable price is to invest in regular installments over the next year or two. Then, once you complete your planned investment, leave it where it is for at least five years before you begin withdrawals. By planning both payments and withdrawals over an extended period, you reduce your chances of major market surprises.

One mutual fund that aims for long-term growth and income illustrated this technique by using its investment experience over the past 38 years. You might ask your fund, or any fund you plan to buy, to do the same through a simple computer illustration.

This mutual fund took $100,000 and invested it over an 18-month period beginning January 1973; the top of a bull market. Five years after beginning the first installment, the account had grown to more than $148,000.

At this point, the shareholders began regular withdrawals of 8 percent a year. That first year withdrawals amounted to $11,877. The following year the principal had grown so that the same 8 percent withdrawal was now $12,392. Last year the annual withdrawal was $29,310. By the end of 1987, 15 years after the program started, all withdrawals plus the remaining balance totaled $545,000, more than five times the amount invested.

The fund made calculations for each of the 22 other 15-year periods since it began in 1950. Some results were better than others, but even in the worst case, 1960-1974, there was still $94,000 left after withdrawing $120,015.

The fund is quick to point out these are not guarantees, but "a disciplined program of regular investments and withdrawals can provide the growing income most people will need in the future."

Dollar cost averaging is nothing new. The difference is that most dollar cost averaging is done with small regular amounts over many years. Here, a lump sum is dedicated to invest.

The dilemma is when to invest. For anyone afraid to jump into a volatile stock market with one lump sum, the advantages of spreading the investment over regular installments makes sense. Once the decision is made, however, it's important to adhere to that schedule. Otherwise you again risk the impulse to try to predict the market.

With installment investing you may not always buy your straw hat in winter, but you stand a good chance of getting a reasonable price. More importantly, your money will probably be there when you need it.

Soviet leaders arrive in Chicago

By: Michelle M. Dixon

The 185 member Soviet delegation arrived in Chicago on the evening of November 29. Among the group, there was 116 young adult leaders, as well as translators, and media people.

The Chicago visit was sponsored by Rotary International as part of the US - USSR Emerging Leaders Summit sponsored by the American Center for International Leadership. The American Center for International Leadership was created in 1984 to respond to the need for leadership development in an international context and for young adult leaders to meet their counterparts around the world. The summit was officially endorsed by both nations and will be held in Philadelphia.

The Soviet guests spent the day in Chicago tasting the rich culture of the city. They went to the Art Institute, had lunch at the Chicago Athletic Club, and had a chance to visit companies relating to their respective careers, among other things Their busy day came to a close with a reception and dinner at the Marriot Hotel where this reporter was very fortunate to have an interview with four of the guests.

Sergei Kuznetsov is a member of the Council for Religious Affairs in Moscow. He is an intermediary between the state and all of the Catholic and Armenian Churches all over Russia, which number over 20,000. Kuznetsov said that "a lot was lost" by not allowing a great deal of religious freedom in Russia. Religion is now being restored in Russia, which, in turn officials are hoping, that the human factor will be restored as well. "Religion can contribute to society," in a very positive way.

Olga Krasikova, a female delegate, represented the Soviet Union as a translator, assisting her colleagues in conversation with Americans. She teaches English and French at the Academy of Sciences of USSR in Moscow. She is an assistant professor in the department of Foreign Languages. Olga spent many years doing research in foreign languages and earned her PhD in that field. She sees the Summit as a "freedom to express opinions," that they never had an opportunity for before.

Igor Yaroshchuk is a Physicist from Vladivostok Sea Port in far east Siberia. He works at the Pacifica Oceanological Institute, studying propagating waves in stakastic media. Yaroshchuk views the summit as a "forum of US and Soviet leaders to discuss various problems in science," facing the world today and in the future.

Yaroshchuk spent his day at Waste Installation, and was very impressed by the scale of it, and it's capacity to provide clean water to the entire city. He also was able to visit many laboratories and talk with chemists. He hopes to meet physicists as well before leaving the country.

Alexei Davydov is the Executive Secretary for the USSR Ministry of Foreign Economic Relations, in Moscow. He deals with matters of trade policy, i.e. problems of foreign trade and economic problems. "The United States is in the sixth or

LCMH opens trauma center

Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Centers was recently designated as a Level II Trauma Center by the State of Illinois after meeting state requirements designated by Illinois legislation. There are ten trauma regions in the state and each region has Level I and Level II centers. A level 1 trauma center must provide all essential services, in-house, 24 hours a day, but the majority of services will be available within 30 minutes. Little Company of Mary Hospital will participate in Illinois Trauma Center Region 7.

By providing first rate emergency services with our new Level II Trauma Center designation, LCMH & HCC continues to play an essential role in supplying our community with quality medical services, administered in the Catholic health care tradition.

Village Board opposes sales tax law

By Brian Begy

The Oak Lawn Village Board has adopted 5 to 0 a resolution in opposition to a law set to modify Illinois' new sales tax law.

The new tax law makes the State of Illinois the collector of both state, county and municipal sales tax revenues. After being collected by the state, the revenues are then sent to the various counties and municipalities.

The creation of the state as the sales tax collector is designed to simplify filing procedures for retailers, according to the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

The law enacted last week changes the way the money is returned to the counties and municipalities. The phrase "continual appropriation" in previous versions of the bill provided the money on a continual basis while the new wording "annual appropriation", requires the General Assembly to reappropriate the money annually giving no guarantees to the municipalities.

Mayor Earnest Kolb said the change in wording was not noticed by area Representatives and Senators in the more than 300 page bill. Trustee Jay Bergamini (6th district), said that the clause in the bill "came out at the same time as the Stealth bomber came out." The Village has sent a letter to the General Assembly protesting the change.

Coalition campaign starts

By Michelle M. Dixon

On Tuesday, Nov. 29, 1988, the Village Coalition Party gathered at the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn to commence their campaign for the April 4, 1989 election. The initial phase of this process is to obtain signatures on petitions from registered voters in Oak Lawn. Though the petitions are not due into the office until January 15, 1989, the party feels that it is best to begin now before the weather becomes too difficult.

Members of the Village Coalition Party that are running are Mayor Ernie Kolb; Jayne Powers, Clerk; Ron Stancik, Trustee; Jay Bergamini, Trustee; and Beth McElroy, Trustee.

Only the 2nd, 4th, and 6th, district trustees candidates have to run during this election. The 1st, 3rd, and 5th district trustee candidates will run in 1991.

seventh position for trade into the USSR, behind Germany, Finland, Italy, Japan, and France," Davydov stated.

Alexei spent his day at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, to gain some insight into the heart of American economics. There are no stock exchanges in the USSR, and the market is strictly regulated. He commented, "It is too stable to need to know about fluctuations." Russia is having an inflationary period right now. When the people have questions and concerns, they write letters to the media and government officials for explanations. Economists/ analysts in Russia publish reports every six months to provide the public with their findings.

Brian Andersen and Edwin Johnson are both Oak Lawn Rotarians that hosted some of the delegation. Four members of Soviet group spent two nights in their homes.

From December 1 to December 10, the actual Emerging Leaders Summit will take place in Philadelphia. Before leaving the country, there will be a stop in Washington D.C. to meet with President-elect George Bush.

As a city and a country, this reporter feels that we all share a common mission in the quest for world peace. Perhaps we're on our way.

New recycling contract approved

By Brian Begy

All residents in the Village of Oak Lawn will soon become involved in the Village's recycling program, according to Trustee Jay Bergamini (6th district).

Bergamini, who is Chairman of the Public Works committee, announced the change as part of the Village's new contract with Meyer Brothers Scavenger Service for refuse collection.

The new contract will last until 1992 and provide for garbage and will cause no garbage removal cost increase for 1989. The contract does, however, provide for cost increases due to variable costs such as inflation, recycling costs and landfill costs.

The increases will never be more the $3 per household even if all costs increase, according to Trustee William Hefka (1st district).

The recycling program will act as a safety net to cover other cost increases according to Bergamini. Under the contract, the Village must provide 30 lbs of recyclable materials every four weeks per household.

Congratulations to one of Oak Lawn's High Schools. Oak Lawn still has two high schools and Richards, School District 218, should be congratulated on their State Championship Class 4A Football Team.

Richards Bulldogs, 1988 out scored the opposition by a 540-66 margin in 1988. Congratulations to Gary Korhonen, head coach for 17 years, for his hard work and dedication.

For those who are wondering who the new person is in the office it's Michelle Dixon, acting editor of Village View Newspaper. She will be with us until she decides which career path to follow. One of the advantages of being self-employed is the opportunity to create jobs!

Michelle's help will enable one to develop the flyer delivery service a little better.

In May we started a flyer delivery service in Oak Lawn traveling through 8 zones at 2500 per zone. We recently started a flyer delivery service in Burbank with a 10,000 flyers on a weekly basis. Hopefully we can extend our service to other communities, of course with the proper help.

Right now I am in need of able bodies willing to deliver 4 or 6 hours, 2 days a week at $3.35 per hour. This will not only build a cash reserve, but help one to stay fit and trim all winter.

Please contact me personally at 10933 S. Central between 9:00 - 5:00 Monday through Friday or call 423-8756.

Struggle to save historical church

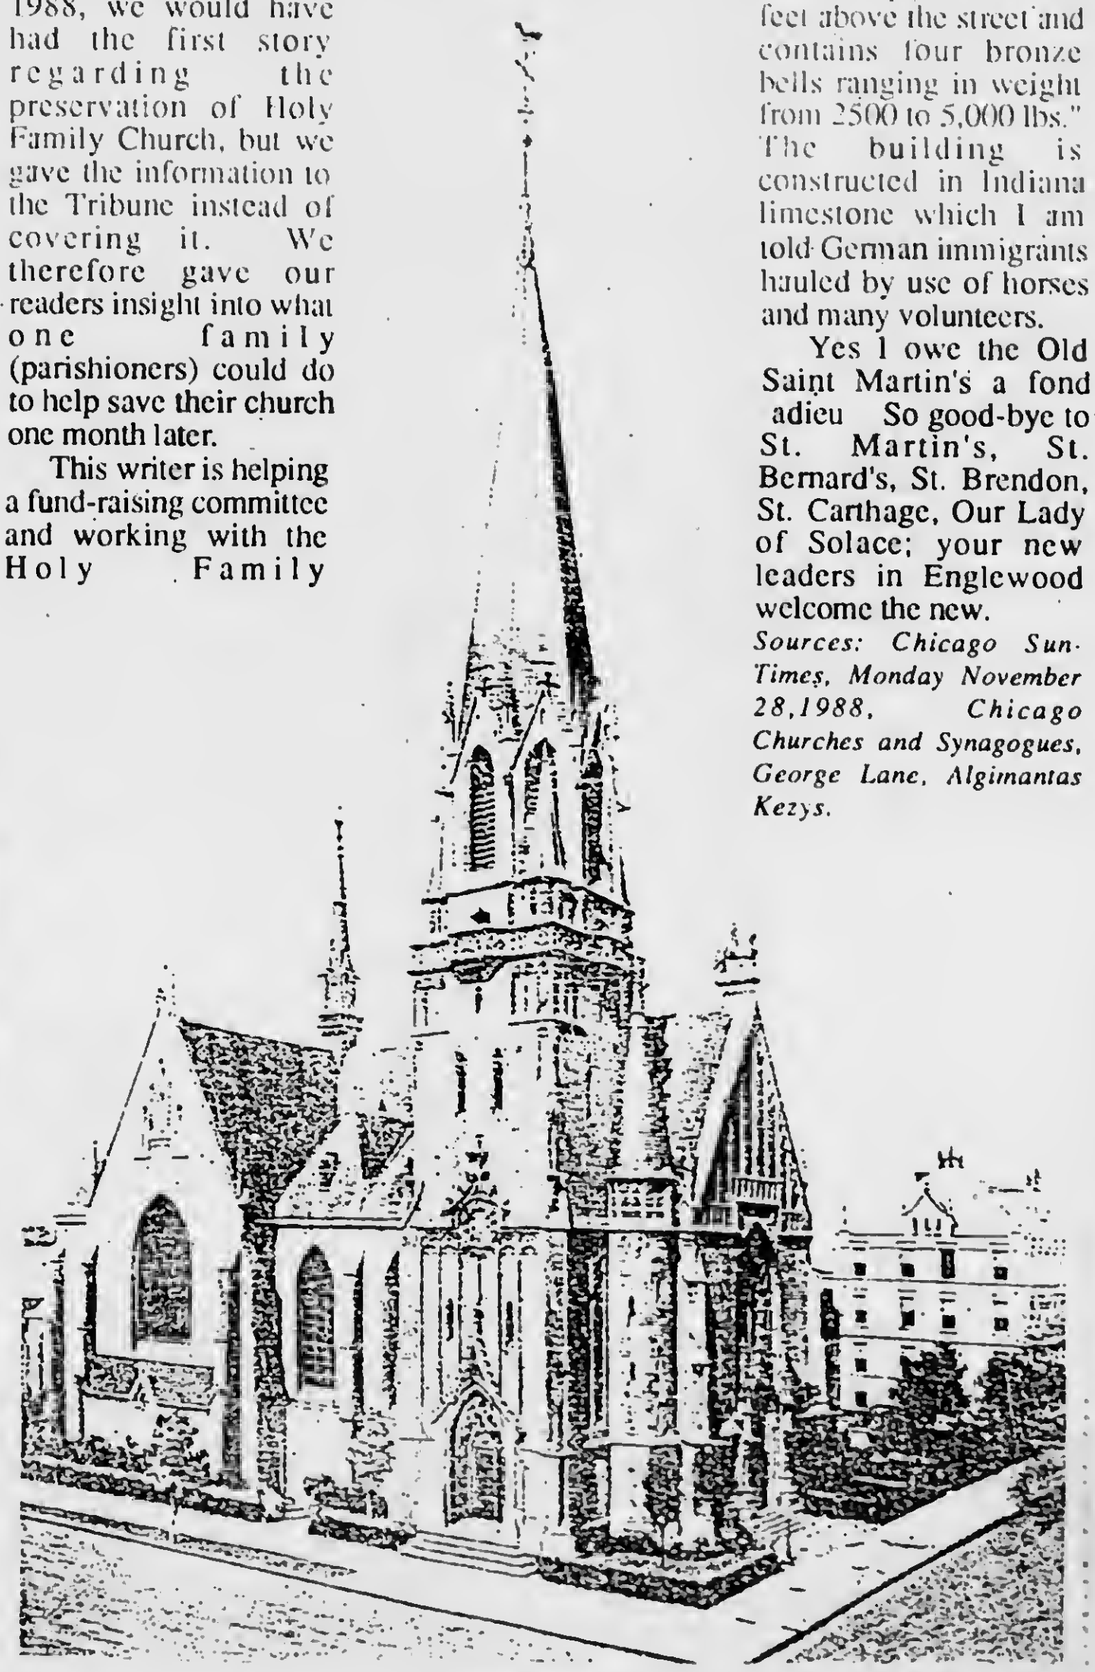
By Annette Dixon

Church, a family tradition, a place of worship, a building or could it be an obsolete structure utilized for the questions which community administrators have asked within the Catholic Archdiocese. In some instances individuals such as Irene Miranda, vice president of the Holy Family Preservation Society, have loudly spoken for "Save Our Church" syndrome. Others have clearly stated, "tear down the old and unite us with the new," says Arthur Eiland of the Catholic Community of Englewood Pastoral Council. What makes the difference is that it becomes a reality!

Holy Family Church, 1857-60 at 1080 West Roosevelt Road is the first Jesuit parish in Chicago. It is also the second oldest church building in the city of Chicago, and it survived the Chicago Fire of 1871.

It was back in April 1988, we would have had the first story regarding the preservation of Holy Family Church, but we gave the information to the Tribune instead of covering it. We therefore gave our readers insight into what one family (parishioners) could do to help save their church one month later.

This writer is helping a fund-raising committee and working with the Holy Family Preservation Society. A fund-raising campaign of $4 million is expected to be raised in order to make needed repairs. Those wishing to help by making contributions, can send them to Holy Family Preservation Society, 1019 S. May, Chicago, Il 60607.



Now my heart is saddened by hearing that my alma mater, grammar and commercial school will be demolished.

St. Martin Church, 5848 S. Princeton Ave., was one of the finest examples of German Gothic architecture in the United States. It is pictured in the Chicago Churches and Synagogues and it stated "as much of the hand carved wood and stained glass is the work of German artisans." "The organ, a 3,000 pipe organ built in 1880 by Johnson and Son stood in Central Music Hall which is now, Orchestra Hall. When Marshall Field. Co. acquired the Music Hall site for its State Street store, Mrs. Marshall Field Jr. donated the organ to St. Martin Church."

"The church rests on a massive foundation of concrete, steel beams and dimension stones. The steeple rises 228 feet above the street and contains four bronze bells ranging in weight from 2500 to 5,000 lbs." The building is constructed in Indiana limestone which I am told German immigrants hauled by use of horses and many volunteers.

Yes I owe the Old Saint Martin's a fond adieu So good-bye to St. Martin's, St. Bernard's, St. Brendon, St. Carthage, Our Lady of Solace; your new leaders in Englewood welcome the new.

RESTAURANT GUIDE

FESTIVE, ELEGANT HOLIDAY FOOD GIFTS

The holidays are a special time for letting good friends and neighbors know you care. This year, make them one of these festive yuletide food gifts.

Summer's fresh fruit might be long gone but it's never too late to make Autumn Jam. Ready-to-use pumpkin pie mix makes this jam convenient to prepare. Another attractive food gift is Nut and Pumpkin Poundcake. This scrumptious dessert loaf features a festive edible "ribbon."

Rich Chocolate Pumpkin Truffles and Holiday Almond Treats are scrumptious little sweets, perfect for yuletide indulgences. Both are easy to make and should be prepared ahead to allow the flavors to blend to the fullest.

What would the holidays be without fruitcakes? Make unique Holiday Pumpkin Mincemeat Fruitcakes by preparing them in mini-bundt pans and dusting with powdered sugar.

Holiday Pumpkin Mincemeat Fruitcakes
(Makes 18 mini-bundts)

- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- 3 1/4 cups (30-ounce can) LIBBY'S Pumpkin Pie Mix
- 2 packages (17 ounces each) date bread mix
- 3 cups candied cherries, halved
- 2 cups walnuts or pecans, coarsely chopped
- 1 cup mincemeat
- 1 cup golden raisins

In large bowl, beat eggs and pumpkin pie mix together. Blend in date bread mix. Stir in cherries, walnuts, mincemeat, and raisins. Spoon into generously greased mini-bundts, filling 3/4 full. Bake in preheated 325°F. oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until toothpick comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan to cooling rack.

Nut And Pumpkin Poundcake
(Makes 1 large loaf)

- 1 3/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup pecans, finely chopped or ground
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground mace
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 cup butter, softened
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup LIBBY'S Solid Pack Pumpkin
- Marzipan Bow

In medium bowl, combine flour, pecans, cinnamon, baking soda, salt, mace, and nutmeg; set aside. In large mixer bowl, cream butter, granulated and brown sugars. Add eggs; beat until light and fluffy. Mix in pumpkin and dry ingredients; beat well. Pour into greased and floured 5 x 9-inch loaf dish. Bake in preheated 325°F. oven for approximately 1 hour 15 minutes, or until toothpick comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes; turn onto wire rack to cool completely.

Marzipan Bow: On board lightly dusted with powdered sugar, roll out one 7-ounce package marzipan or almond paste into rectangle 4-inches wide, 20-inches long, and 1/16-inch thick. Cut into four 1/2-inch wide strips. Arrange two strips over bread to create tied package effect. Create ribbon bow ends by cutting two 5-inch lengths. Attach at point where marzipan ribbons cross; press to hold. Make bow by creating two ribbon loops; pinch center. Add bow where ribbons cross; press to hold.

Autumn Jam
(Makes 6 cups)

- 3 1/4 cups (30-ounce can) LIBBY'S Pumpkin Pie Mix
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 1 package (1 3/4 ounces) dry fruit pectin
- 4 1/2 cups sugar

In large saucepan combine pie mix, lemon juice, ginger, and pectin. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Add sugar. Heat to full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Continue boiling for 1 minute, stirring frequently. Skim off foam, if necessary. Pour into prepared jars.

Rich Chocolate Pumpkin Truffles
(Makes 4 dozen)

- 2 1/2 cups crushed vanilla wafers
- 1 cup ground almonds, toasted
- 3/4 cup sifted powdered sugar, divided
- 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 cup (6 ounces) chocolate pieces, melted
- 1/2 cup LIBBY'S Solid Pack Pumpkin
- 1/3 cup coffee liqueur or apple juice

In medium bowl, combine vanilla wafer crumbs, ground almonds, 1/2 cup powdered sugar, and cinnamon. Blend in melted chocolate, pumpkin, and coffee liqueur. Form into 1-inch balls. Refrigerate. Dust with remaining 1/4 cup powdered sugar just before serving.

Holiday Almond Treats
(Makes 4 dozen)

- 2 1/2 cups crushed vanilla wafers
- 1 3/4 cups ground almonds, toasted, divided
- 1/2 cup sifted powdered sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 cup LIBBY'S Pumpkin Pie Mix
- 1/3 cup almond liqueur or apple juice

In medium bowl, blend vanilla wafer crumbs, 1 cup ground almonds, powdered sugar, add cinnamon. Stir in pumpkin pie mix and almond liqueur. Form into 1-inch balls. Roll in remaining 3/4 cup ground almonds. Refrigerate.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE WEEK AHEAD

Aries/Scorpio

You can't just sit back and let life live you! Get yourself out there and be seen and heard! You have some really great ideas that can help others, even your bosses and co-workers. Health improves and you are looking and feeling great!

Taurus/Libra

Some people just like to complain, and you know that they won't do anything to even try to improve themselves...so, don't spin your wheels or sit and listen when you have so many things of your own to do. This may sound selfish and uncaring...but, remember, you count too!

Gemini/Virgo

There is a gleam in your eyes now and it is wonderful to see! You have found something deep inside you that was always there, but suppressed by others around you. It is free now...give it fresh new life! This is a talent, perhaps your own values...etc. Money is on the way to you...and, good health and plenty of love.

Cancer

Take time to socialize...go to parties...be with people! They need you as much as you need them. Someone asks for a loan...and if you can help, do it..but if not, offer direction to that person. Buy new furnishings..,plan a get-away!

Leo

If anyone ever thought you are a "push-over", they are about to see the real you, a hill-charger, a leader, and someone who can say NO and mean it! A letter comes that needs immediate attention especially if it concerns finances. Also, another person wants your services..for nothing. Remember the word...No?

Sagittarius

Someone you know is coming into good fortune and may want to share it with you. Be happy, this is a week to make favourable gains in many areas of life. Keep your attitude focused on personal esteem and success.

Capricorn

Welcome the new opportunities that have come your way...do not be afraid that you cannot handle success...you can, and you will! This is also a time to go over your wardrobe and rid yourself of things that are outdated, you will have to look your best. Many will be looking at new housing and new cars too.

Aquarius

Some female has good ideas for you, this refers to your housing, your career, or job, and she has ideas for your own personal relationship. The time to listen is now. Become independent however when it comes to how to spend your money!

Pisces

If you won a trip overseas, no doubt you would want to go...and this is possible, or you just may pay for it yourself...someone else could pay for it...what I am saying here is to take that trip if it comes up. You are sure to be very busy next year and may not be able to travel much at all.

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE...BY PHONE OR BY MAIL. CALL 636-4578 for information, all sessions are taped for your later recall. My books and tapes are available at the Pyramid Book Mart, 3580 W. 95th Street in Evergreen Park, Il. 60642. They can be mailed to you, call 636-2233. Having love troubles? Operation Able promotion

Marge Fiscella, a resident of Oak Lawn, has been promoted to the position of Assistant Director of the Job Hotline of Operation ABLE, headquartered at 36 South Wabash in Chicago.

The announcement was made by Shirley Brussell, executive director of ABLE, now in its 12th year of creating greater job opportunities for mature workers in Chicago and the suburbs. In that time, it has helped more than 55,000 older workers find employment, Brussell said.

Fiscella joined ABLE two years ago in the Job Hotline section. The ABLE Job Hotline, 782-7700, is a telephone number used by employers to fill job openings and by job seekers.

Toastmasters hold video class

"Where else can you watch yourself perform, and be your own critic?" asks Mae Martinec, President of South Suburbia Toastmasters "Our See Yourself On Video program will be a unique chance for people to learn how they speak when they are on the spot." she adds.

See Yourself On Video, an admission free program, will let club members and guest speak impromptu on random subjects.

After the viewing, the audience will discuss the talks. Audience size will be 20 to 30 people. The program will be shown on a giant six foot projection television.

The public is invited to attend Toastmasters' See Yourself on Video on Monday, Dec. 5th at Alsip Library, 11950 S. Pulaski. Program starts at 6:45 P.M. Guest may attend admission-free; their participation is voluntary but limited. For more information call and leave a message: 423-9880.

Bethel presents "Bah Humbug"

The Better Entertainment Enterprises, Inc. are currently performing "Bah Humbug" at the Bethel Performing Arts Center at 3220 W. 98th, Evergreen Park.

"Bah Humbug" is a musical comedy based on the Charles Dickens classic "A Christmas Carol."

I attended the play and thoroughly enjoyed it. The players were of all age groups. I really felt that they enjoyed being on stage and delivering their Christmas message.

What surprised me was how well everything was sung Everyone was in key and in unison.

Two performers stood out from the rest and they were worth the price of the tickets by themselves.

The first was John Bass, who played Scrooge, he made the character totally believable. His transition from a stingy person to a generous person was superbly done.

The other performer was Matt Gilbert, an Oak Lawn resident, who played Fred, Ebenezer Scrooge's nephew. You could feel the joy of Christmas coming through the character.

Though I have mentioned only two, all the performers did a tremendous job. All their hard work and practice showed on the stage.

The costumes were all home made and appropriate. This is a must see show for the whole family. Performances will be on December 4, 5, 12, & 13 at 8:00 p.m. and on Dec. 6 & 13 at 3:00 p.m. Tickets are $6.00 for adults, $5.00 for Seniors and $4.00 for children.

Take Time to Plan Your Tax Strategy

There's still time in 1988 to plan for taxes. The mistake people most commonly make is to wait until the tax year is over to plan. Then, it's too late.

One thing many investors realized in 1987 is that lower tax brackets do not necessarily mean lower taxes. On the contrary, many taxpayers saw their taxes increase without a proportional increase in earnings.

The key to proper tax planning is to understand what income is taxed, how it is taxed, and what can be deducted from it. Once you establish your taxable income, you know your tax bracket.

Although much has been written about the lower tax rates of 15 percent and 28 percent, they don't apply to everyone. If your taxable income goes above a certain level, a 5 percent "surtax" kicks you into the 33 percent marginal bracket regardless of what the Internal Revenue Service calls it.

For example, let's say you file a joint return with a taxable income of $100,000. Your tax bill is $16,264.50 on the first $71,900 plus an additional $9,273, 33 percent, on the rest (see chart).

One surprise item that can substantially increase taxable income is capital gains. Investors often sell a long-held asset, such as common stocks or mutual funds, at a profit. At one time that long-term gain was given a reasonable benefit by being taxed only a maximum 20 percent. This is no longer true. Now it is taxed as ordinary income just as if you had gone out and earned it. That means if you fall within the upper income group, you could face a 33 percent marginal rate on this year's gains vs. the old 20 percent.

The time to calculate capital gains is before the tax year ends. For example, if capital gains have placed you in a high marginal tax bracket, look carefully for any losses to offset the gain. You may deduct those losses from your short- or long-term gains. You may also carry over any losses that you don't use in one year to future tax years.

Review all your securities before year end for tax-loss candidates. What if you own a security you feel has good potential but is currently worth less than you paid for it? Consider selling it, taking the loss and buying it back later. It's a legitimate tax strategy if you are careful to avoid a "wash sale."

Under the "wash sale" rules, you may not take a loss within a period of 30 days before you sell your security and 30 days after, 61 days total, if you've bought a "substantially identical stock or security." Understand the rules before you act.

Once the year ends, it's too late to apply sensible tax strategies that could save you hundreds of dollars. If you see taxes are taking an extra big bite out of your income, take time now to meet with a professional and to do some serious tax planning.

Holiday Hints

"Treat" Your Hair For The Holiday Hassles

As we swing into the Holiday season, we all want to look our best for family get togethers and parties, and certainly good looking hair is a high priority. But with inclement weather, crowded salons, and general seasonal hustle and bustle, taking care of your hair can pose extra problems...and you may have to—literally—take matters into your own hands. The hair care experts from Infusium 23® products have these tips to battle the holiday hair care blues:

- Schedule visits to salons well in advance. It is their busiest time of year, so don't wait until the last minute for that "special" style.
- If you color and/or perm your hair, a continuous protection, leave in conditioning product, such as Infusium 23® Pro-Vitamin Hair Treatment, will save you time and effort. It's this country's most popular such product and designed especially for permed and colored hair. Its preventive use tends to prohibit split ends, snarls and styling damage from improper hair care. And your hair will be soft, manageable and shiny for the holidays.
- With a multitude of holidny functions, you may wash your hair more than usual—

Plan your hair care strategy in advance for special holiday events.

so go for a gentle cleaning shampoo, such as Infusium 23® Pro-Vitamin Shampoo.

- To take the worry out of how your hair looks or whether it's "in place" when you're out and about, use styling gels and hair sprays—such as Infusium 23® sculpting Gel and Non-Aerosol Hair Spray.
- And during weekdays, especially, when you may be on the go from early morning until late at night, keep a small size hair spray and/or gel in the office and another in your purse...for "quicky" touch-ups.

It's holiday time, so don't forget to pamper yourself in the spirit of the season.

Crisis Center holds fundraising dinner-dance

To begin their Christmas season of sharing and caring, approximately 400 SW Suburban residents joined together December 2 at Georgios d'la Parco to help launch the Crisis Center's $1 million campaign for a new shelter. A delightful evening of delicious dining, dancing to the merry strains of "Moonlighting" and the witty repartee of WLS-TV Channel 7's Janet Davies was enjoyed by all. Co-chairmen Diane Economou and Trisha Goldberg were happy to announce that the event helped to raise $20,000.

Local officials, together with the Crisis Center Board of Directors, Associates and volunteers, know only too well the urgent need for a shelter. As President Pat Bouchard explained at "The Next Step" dinner Dance, "Everyone's support is more urgent as our time for moving from our present site grows shorter. Our building is to be torn down and we do not want the women and children, whom we might have to turn away, to be added to the 5400 each year, who are already denied a safe place to stay due to inadequate facilities."

Thus a pledge drive is now underway. The targeted sum of $1 million is needed to purchase a larger building to provide temporary shelter, accessible to the handicapped, for 35 women and children.

In addition to shelter, the Crisis Center maintains a 24-hour hotline for crisis intervention, information and referral, averaging 500 calls each month.

It also provides individual and group counseling for women and children. Last year 14,992 hours of professional counseling were provided to 1260 women and 216 children. There is also group counseling for abusive partners. Since 1982 innovative intervention and treatment is provided for men who batter in one of the first such programs nationwide. More than 290 men were involved in this program last year.

Another important facet of CCSS's work is court advocacy. Legal advocates work with abused women in the criminal court system to help facilitate a client's pursuit of legal remedies to domestic violence. Last year 1692 hours of court advocacy were provided to 385 women.

Further, CCSS provides community education through its well staffed Speakers Bureau, which offers a 45-minute audio-visual presentation about domestic violence and the work of the Center to area organizations. Over 150 organizations availed themselves of this service last year. The Center also provides professional training and internship and volunteer opportunities.

According to Evelyn Craig, CCSS Executive Director, all of these services are offered free to those who need help in their struggle to create safe lives for themselves and their children. This is made possible through funding from the United Way of Suburban Chicago and the generosity of many, many individuals. Now, Ms. Craig is calling upon the SW Suburban community to help the Center raise $1 million to continue its fine work in a new shelter.

OL plans for dry summer

By: Brian Begy

Plans have been made for uniform water conservation measures for Oak Lawn's surrounding communities to be enacted if next summer is as dry as 1988.

The package is based upon uniform conservation measures proposed by the Illinois Department of Transportation, which regulates water pumping. The measures call for restrictions on unnecessary water use from May 15 to September 15.

William Bucha, with Hancock Engineering, the firm that handles engineering plans for the water system, said that restrictions on that water use would not effect necessary water use such as car washes, florists or landscapers. The restrictions would apply to those who are using water on lawns.

The program will provide no sprinkling except three hours in the morning and two hours in the evening, every other day, based on date and house number, as this summer's restrictions were.

Each community will take a different 3 hours in the morning and two in the evening, so too much water is not drained from the system at a particular time, according to Trustee Joe Vogich (5th district).

The proposed restrictions are designed to limit the amount of water used by communities to their allocated amount by I.D.O.T.

Communities are not restricted to their allocated amount unless they routinely exceed their allocation and do not attempt to cut their consumption according to Vogich.

The plans will be discussed at a meeting planned for spring.

Library Board increases salaries

By Michelle M. Dixon

The Oak Lawn Library Board unanimously approved a 5% across the board increase effective on January 1, 1989. This is a 1.5% increase from 1988, when library employees received a 3.5% increase.

The board also approved the reinstatement of merit raises for the employees. According to Beth McElroy, board President, they haven't decided exactly how to use or distribute that 3% of the '89 budget.

A reorganization of the Technical Services Department was also approved. Their new department head is Colette Dever. This new plan provides for maintenance of current staff and a savings to the library of $13,455 per year.

There is an allotment of $20,000 in the '89 budget for professional development, which covers dues, meetings, recruiting, and seminars for employees as well as board members.

Board President McElroy expects the rest of the budget to be approved without any discrepancies.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

How thoroughly "disgusting!
"UN Censures U.S. Over Arafat."

Here we have the spectacle of grossly ungrateful international "free loaders" having the temerity to insult the nation which, in a very large measure, makes possible their lush living in this generous nation.

The U.S. pays upwards of 40% of the cost of the UN upkeep: Russia, the most recalcitrant of the world's nations and beneficiary of many of the UN's decisions, pays less than 15% (when she pays). Equally outrageous is the fact that Russia steadfastly refuses to pay its share of the peacekeeping projects of the UN -- the very reason for its existence, and made necessary by Russia's invasions.

Why, oh why do we allow this outrageous and completely unjustifiable condition to continue? Much to be preferred would be the abolition of the UN or its complete overhaul. Let the UN return to square one and begin an unrelenting campaign to demand that Russia account for its repeated violations of the world organization's basic purpose by repeated invasions of peaceful nations and the enslavement of their people.

Extreme? No, merely a long-delayed return to sanity.

Dear Editor:

Area War Dead Snubbed by Centel Cable.

On Saturday, November 5, Lansing area Veterans and Vietnam Veterans of America, Chapter 153, were given a (UH1E) huey helicopter from Congressman Jack Davis (R-4th) to be used for a Memorial to honor war dead from Lansing and surrounding areas.

Centel Cable was asked to video the presentation and stated that a film crew would be in attendance.

A week later members of the Lansing Memorial Committee called the production department to find out when this ceremony might be aired on the community interest channel.

They were told that this was not news worthy, and would not be aired.

What a slap in the face to the men and women who unselfishly gave the ultimate sacrifice - their lives.

Memorial Committee

Which are keepers, which are fads?

1989 will be the year of oat bran. That's the prediction of Martin Friedman, marketing consultant and editor of the food industry magazine New Product News.

Recent medical reports show that dietary oat bran may reduce blood cholesterol.

"Every manufacturer of a product with just an ounce of oat bran in it, is aggressively advertising its health benefit," Friedman said.

Joann Heppes, nutrition education director of Dairy Nutrition Council, said food trends are important because they reflect the health concerns of the public.

"If people are buying a product just because it contains oat bran, they must be very worried about their cholesterol levels," she said.

Heppes cautions that oat bran is not a magic food. It works best when eaten as part of a low-fat diet.

Cholesterol reduction is a food trend Friedman calls a keeper (i.e.: It's here to stay).

Merry Christmas! Retailers, economists and our media is reporting good news for the holiday season Sales are up, more people are working, but the nations employment is still bleak, That's just great!

Let's get back to our own community of Oak Lawn. Ask your retailer, how are sales this year? Likely he will say up, but so are the cost of running a business. As one knows we received a telephone increase due to being charged by a unit call, rather than proximity calls. Our gas rates went up along with the state taxes on the bill. Our electric bills went up because of the consumption rather than the actually cost per kilowatt. Isn't it great to know we have so much money to spend on the basics.

A quote from Aurelia Pucinski, newly elected Clerk of the Circuit Court during her campaign was, "If we are all doing so well financially, why do we have two income families?"

In answer to this quote, I would have to admit that we have a two income family to pay for our basic needs, i.e. food, clothing, shelter, plus utility bills!

Well Christmas is a great season to spend whatever money we don't have! Credit cards must flurish during this holiday season. Surely, it would be nice to use VISA for the phone, gas, and electric someday.

Dec. 1st I was driving in and around Oak Lawn, Evergreen Park, Burbank and Chicago, when I noticed many Christmas lights sparkling on the homes and trees. Many residents in Evergreen Park and Chicago did not have decorations up, but Oak Lawn, Burbank and Hometown residents seem to love to pay the electric bills. Personally, Dec. 1st really is extending our Christmas season. I also ask myself, am I scrooge, or do I celebrate differently? Do we have decorations for the celebration or remembrance of the birth of Christ, or is it just a great way to have an elaborate facade with enormous electric bills? Why not put that good money to use, by supporting the United Way of Oak Lawn? United Way of Oak Lawn gives back to your community.

Thank you,
Merry Christmas
Annette Dixon

A Trilogy and "The Beginning" by Matt Lamb

By: Michelle M. Dixon

Recently, Matt Lamb, Chairman of the Board of Blake-Lamb Funeral Homes, Inc., and a Trustee of Saint Xavier College, presented to the college four of his paintings, being displayed in the new Board Room. The first three paintings form a trilogy depicting man's constant struggle for immortality and justice. The fourth, titled "The Beginning" promises eternal life.

The first of the trilogy is called "The Quest." This painting shows how man is subjected to the kingdoms, dictatorships, and the state constantly. Represented also is man's fight to get out and gain freedom.

The second painting, called "The Struggle," is a dual planed canvas showing an inner controversy between the materialistic side and the spiritual side of man. On the materialistic side, there is an eventual deterioration, whereas on the spiritual side, there is the beginning of the millennium, which leads directly into the third work.

The final piece of the trilogy is called "The Millennium." This piece depicts the harmony, understanding, knowledge, peace, love and cooperation of the spirit in a non-conflicting flow. The colors have been washed with white and yellow, which is representative of love and brotherhood on the brink of eternity.

The fourth and final painting of this part of the series is "The Beginning." This is Matt Lamb's vision of eternal life and "destiny with God [in] complete harmony." In this "utopic view of life...simplicity and tranquility within themselves are ultimate goals in quest." This is the beginning of victory!

These four paintings are the basis for all of Matt Lamb's subsequent work. Mr. Lamb says that there have been three major blessings in his life, that gives him some fuel for his work. They are being born Irish Roman Catholic, his wife Rose, and his children. Matt Lamb calls his work, "the work of the spirit [which delivers] a message of tolerance and understanding."

Coupon books to aid animals

Based upon the needs for "Animal Rights and Animal Health", the staff at Red Carpet Contempo Realty, Inc., decided to do some fund raising for Tender Loving Care and PAWS Animal Shelters located in the Southwest area. These animal shelters are facing the cold bitter winter months, and need assistance with the number of strays and pets that are turned into their organization. A very practical and fun way to "fund raise" is with the Entertainment '89 Coupon Books!

Over the last several years, the staff at the Red Carpet Contempo office has purchased these books from various non-profit organizations. Most of them have purchased more than one book. The value of the book is too great to enumerate, but a single $35.00 investment can save in excess of $500! Features of this book are reduced Plitt and Cinema tickets, specials at Candlelight, the Forum, Drury Lane, Victory Gardens, Blackstone, Lincolnshire, Marriott, Holiday Star, Rialto, and many more. Other coupons in the book will appeal to sports fans, golfers, basketball fans, museum goers, and best of all, dining at some of the finest restaurants in your location at discounts of up to 50% for two dinners.

Oak Lawn celebrates Christmas

Senior's Annual Christmas Luncheon

On December 3, 750 seniors gathered at the Sabre Room for the annual Oak Lawn Senior Citizen Christmas Luncheon. After a wonderful dining experience, the Sabrettes danced across the floor to the melodies of their favorite Christmas carols. The day was most enjoyable for everyone in attendance.

Representatives from Southwest Federal Savings and Loan toasted the commencement of the Christmas season with the Oak Lawn Senior Citizens.

Members of the Golden "K" Kiwanis group celebrated at the annual Christmas luncheon with the Oak Lawn Senior Citizens.

Santa's Workshop held December 3rd in the center of town

Tom Hawkinson, of Hawkinson Ford, looks on as volunteers help the children wrap Christmas presents that they just purchased for friends and family

The Wizard was on hand at Santa's Workshop to greet the children and wish them a Merry Christmas.

Alcohol's portrayal and effect on movies

Americans have a dependency on drinking movies, but they are seldom served the truth about treatment and recovery, says University of Illinois sociologist Norman Denzin.

"Americans have an incessant, insatiable preoccupation with films about alcoholics, and those films have shaped public understanding of the phenomenon," said Denzin, the author of two acclaimed books on the alcoholic.

Unfortunately, he said, "Hollywood has shown an unrealistic picture of the alcoholic's treatment and recovery process."

In a new book on the subject, Denzin will focus on 15 movies - from the classic "The Lost Weekend" to the cop-out "The Morning After" - to examine Hollywood's changing image of "the alcoholic experience."

His research showed that drinking, drunkenness and alcoholism have played "major and minor parts" in American cinema since the beginning of the century. At least 600 films have included the subject, he said, 10 of them major money-makers in this decade alone.

But despite that volume, Denzin said, Hollywood has not adequately addressed the process of drug and alcohol addiction and treatment, which will involve more than a million people and more than $15 billion this year. Even films that have tried, such as "The Betty Ford Story" and "Clean and Sober," only "superficially touch the experience," he said.

"I don't know whether that's because Hollywood can't fit a dramatic story line to a treatment center, or because it wants to deal with life after treatment," Denzin said.

How would Denzin correct Hollywood's short-comings?

"If I had my druthers and the money, I'd turn John Berryman's book, 'Recovery,' into a film," he said. "It deals with the difficulties of submitting to a treatment center. It talks about alcoholism as a destructive form of behavior, the shattered self-esteem of the alcoholic, the fractured family relationships and unstable relationships with work.

"It's a very forward-looking statement," Denzin said, adding that the author had been in six treatment centers and died in 1972, as an alcoholic.

"Our society tends to think that if we send people off to treatment, they'll come back and eveything will be OK," Denzin said. "But Berryman says it's not that simple. He says that treatment is an excruciatingly painful process. And just the beginning."

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE WEEK AHEAD

Aries/Scorpio
You are making progress in your personal life as well as in you job or career life, believe it. But, do not stand on ceremony when it comes to expressing new ideas, or letting people know how you truly feel. This is a week for "expression."

Taurus/Libra
Be alert to an opportunity that may be coming through a person of the Martian influence, (Aries and Scorpio), as these people have some valuable information to share with you that could bring new financial gains your way.

Gemini/Virgo
You come to realize that some hidden facts were deliberately held back from you. Now is the time to dig for them and make them work in your favour, especially if dealing with 'legalese.

Cancer
A major breakthrough in your job or career...new prospects and new contacts...all favoured. You will receive news from a distance that makes you very "happy to be alive and as talented as you are."

Leo
Read the above message and add this: someone you met only briefly will come to be your chief allie, and be there to promote some project or new idea and make it pay in megabucks.

Sagittarius
Old habits are difficult to break, especially if you have been suspicious, condemning, or self-righteous about love and work matters. Be more open, change your attitude about these matters and you will experience a miracle.

Capricorn
A person in Pisces and Libra are about to help you with a decision that concerns your career opportunities. You can look forward to a lot of activity come January, lasting through October, and then you are traveling...again...

Aquarius
You can make others feel good with your very presence in their lives, especially during the Holidays. But, remember that you also have to make changes in your life that will add more happiness, bring family together, and share also your deep need to be loved, S.M.E.P., spiritually, mentally, emotionally and physically too.

Pisces
There are many ways that "wishes are granted" and some come in the form of miracles, through people who are "angels in disguise", so, remember this when your so-called "luck" changes to the better this week. Health, money, fame, winnings, all are favoured for you very lucky people.

Tips To Help You

Meal-In-One Magic

When you're under pressure, wouldn't it be great to be able to prepare an entire meal at one time, in only one pot—and in a fraction of the usual time? With a pressure cooker, you can.

Here's how pressure cooking works. When water boils, it produces steam. A tightly-sealed pressure cooker traps this steam, which then builds pressure inside the cooker. Under pressure, cooking temperatures can be raised significantly higher than possible under normal conditions. The super-heated steam created by these higher temperatures cooks foods quickly—three to ten times faster than with ordinary cooking methods—evenly and deliciously.

A pressure cooker whipped up this luscious meal in a matter of minutes.

Reduced cooking time helps conserve energy and lower fuel bills as well.

To cook the components of a whole meal at once, just use the handy cooking rack, say the people who make the popular Presto Pressure Cooker. Since the rack keeps certain foods out of the cooking liquid, each food—whether it's an entree, side dish or dessert—retains its own individual, delicious flavor.

Ideally, you should select foods which require the same cooking time when planning a pressure cooker meal-in-one. The size of the food pieces, of course, will affect the cooking time. For instance, 1/2-inch slices of potato cook in three minutes, while 3/4-inch slices take five minutes. So, you can adjust cooking times by cutting your foods into larger or smaller pieces.

Here are two pressure cooker recipes you might like to try—main course and dessert:

Chops For Two

2 pork chops, cut 3/4 inch thick
1 tablespoon olive oil
2 small to medium artichokes, washed and trimmed
1 small onion, cut in half
1/2 cup dry white wine
1/2 cup water
1/2 tablespoon salt
dash each, oregano, thyme and marjoram
1 recipe Fruit Betty

Remove cooking rack from a 6-quart pressure cooker. Heat olive oil in pressure cooker pan. Brown chops on both sides and remove from pan. Add wine, water, herbs and salt to pan. Dip cut surface of artichokes into wine mixture. Return chops to pan; add onion. Place cooking rack on top of chops; arrange and balance artichokes and Fruit Betty on cooking rack. Close pressure cooker cover securely. Place pressure regulator on vent pipe. Cook for 15 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Cool pressure cooker at once.

Fruit Betty

1 cup coconut bar cookie crumbs (16 cookies)
2-3 tablespoons orange juice
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 peach, apple or small pear, pared and sliced

Combine coconut bar cookie crumbs, orange juice and butter. Arrange 2 slices of fruit in bottom of each of 2 (6-ounce) custard cups. Layer in crumbs and peaches to fill each dish. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Cook as directed above.

Holiday Blood Drive

Due to the shortage of blood during the holidays Chapter 153, Vietnam Veterans of America is sponsoring a blood drive at their monthly meeting.

The meeting will take place Tuesday, at 8 PM, December 13, at Glen Maker American Legion Post, 10739 Ridgeland Ave., Chicago Ridge.

The public is invited. More information is available by telephoning Charlie Cornfield at 582-4293.

Moraine elects chairman

The Moraine Valley Community College Board of Trustees unanimously elected John C. Griffin as chairman of the Board for the next year at their last board meeting.

A resident of Evergreen Park and an Attorney, Griffin has served on the Board since 1985 and has been Board vice chairman for the past year. In addition, he served as chairman of the Finance and Investment Committee and chairman of the Building and Planning Committee during the past year.

Griffin is a graduate of St. Rita High School and received a BA from the University of Notre Dame in 1973. In 1976, he graduated with honors from DePaul University College of Law.

Elected as vice chairman of the Board was Patricia J. Fleming, who has served as Board chairman for the past year.

Re-elected as secretary was Lee Allen Harris, who has served as secretary for the past four months.

The officers will serve in their positions for the next year.

Ongoing book sale

Something new has been added to the Oak Lawn Library, 9427 Raymond. The Friends of the Library group has set up a used book sale which is available all year. Several shelves have been erected near the Library's magazine desk, first floor, where used books are available on a self-serve basis. Paperbacks are 25¢ and hard cover books are 35¢. A handy cash box is close at hand.

Members of the Friends replenish the shelves several times each week from the many donations which they receive. This ensures that new titles can be found by those who like to browse.

The sale will not replace the annual book sale sponsored by the Friends each year.

For additional information, contact Dee Kopf, 422-0488.

Tax Seminar

Talman Insurance Services, Inc. (TISI), a affiliate of Talman Home Federal Savings and Loan Association, will sponsor a "Tax-Deferred, Tax-Free and YOU" seminar at Talman's Oak Lawn Office, 4740 W. 95th St., on Wednesday, December 14, at 10:00 a.m.

A TISI representative will show members of the audience how to increase earnings and keep more of those earnings through tax-advantaged alternatives, after which refreshments will be served.

Reservations for this free seminar may be made by calling Marianne Seritella, (312) 434-3322, Ext. 2474.

Oak Lawn Veterans Memorial finally approved

After months of planning, The Oak Lawn Veterans Memorial Plaza is now beeoming a reality for the Planning Committee composed of VFW and American Legion members. On November 22, the Oak Lawn Board of Trustees passed a motion made by Public Works chairman, Jay Bergamini, to provide a site for a Veterans Memorial.

A seetion of the parking area at the corner of Cook Avenue, between Dumke Drive and 95th Street, has been seleeted as the future site for this 12,000 sq. ft. Veterans Memorial Plaza.

Bergamini reported the new Veterans Memorial Plaza will become the eenterpiece for the planned Heart of Oak Lawn Revitalization Program. He said, "The major objective of the Heart of Oak Lawn Plan is to ereate a viable commercial and municipal center for the Village.

The Memorial is not just confined to those veterans wounded or killed in war. It will honor all men and women that ever served in the armed forces in peaeetime or in war defending and preserving America's freedoms.

The VFW / American Legion Veterans Memorial general chairman, Gene Gallagher, a WWII South Pacific navy veteran, said the Memorial Plaza will be funetional, yet educational. "It will be a place visitors ean sit and relax in daytime, and sit under the lights and stars in the evening. It will be a plaee for high school musieians to give coneerts or orchestrations."

VFW Past Post Commander, Fred Churchill, who served in Vietnam, is chairman of the Memorial Design Planning. He is contemplating a design competition in seareh for an architectural plan offering the best in memorial concept and in originality in accordance with contest entry rules. All entries will be required to convey the sanctity of a memorial that honors all those who served, and those who perished.

Another VFW Past Post Commander, Jerry Harmon, a veteran of WWII, is chairman of the Memorial Fund Raising sub-committee Harmon announced, "Remember, not one dime for memorial construction will eome from the taxpayers Every single dollar will be raised privately from people and from organizations who care about veterans and their role in our nation's heritage". Harmon estimates the Memorial will cost well in excess of one hundred thousand dollars.

Bergamini projected the Memorial construction would commence sometime in the year of 1990; it could be completed sometime during the summer or fall in the year of 1991.

Those wishing additional information about this Veterans Memorial are asked to contact the:

Oak Lawn Veterans Memorial Committee, in care of the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post #5220, 9514 S. 52nd Avenue, Oak Lawn, Illinois 60453.

CUB consumers send powerful message to ICC reject Com Ed rate increase

Armed with petitions signed by more than 250,000 consumers who are fed up with Commonwealth Edison's high electric bills, the Citizens Utility Board (CUB) is urging state regulators to reject a plan that would boost the utility's rates by at least $2 billion over the next five years.

"The rate increase being proposed for Com Ed is illegal, unfair and excessive. Consumers in Northern Illinois already pay the highest electric bills in the nation and they cannot afford another increase," CUB Executive Director Susan Stewart said. "It is time for the ICC to stand up to Commonwealth Edison and give consumers a rate reduction that is long overdue."

Attorneys for CUB will argue that the rate hike is illegal because it would allow the company to charge consumers for three new, nuclear power plants that are not currently needed. Under Illinois law, consumers can only be charged for power plants that are needed to provide reliable service to consumers.

Stewart noted that Com Ed already is overearning as a result of lower income tax rates under the Tax Reform Act of 1986. The utility has collected approximately $440 million in tax overcharges that should be refunded to consumers, she said.

The ICC is scheduled to rule on the rate hike by the end of the year.

Taxing Phantom Income Hurts the Small Investor

One purpose of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 was to close loopholes for wealthy taxpayers. According to Kathryn Morrison, a spokeswoman for the Investment Company Institute, the Washington-based mutual-funds' trade group, mutual funds inadvertently got caught in the sweep.

The 1986 tax law limits deductions for investment-related expenses. This includes fees paid to personal investment advisors. Even though mutual funds have always been considered public professional management, Congress chose to treat fund shareholders the same as individual investors. This means mutual-fund shareholders will be taxed on their share of the fund's gross income before any expenses or management fees are subtracted. Previously, only net distributions were taxed.

Morrison says the government estimates that up to $400 million in additional revenue each year could be recognized by taxing phantom income the shareholder never sees. She is at a loss to explain how the government came up with this figure. The Wall Street Journal, quoting the Treasury's associate tax legislative counsel, Donald E. Rocap, puts the windfall at $530 million. No one seems to know for sure, but one thing's certain. Investors will pay.

Actually, each mutual fund is affected differently. If you own a young growth fund with an exceptionally high expense ratio, your tax bill on phantom income can cost as much as you receive in cash. On the other hand, a giant, established fund with a very small expense ratio would suffer minimum tax damage.

The management fee is not the only cost a mutual fund charges. There are marketing fees, registration, custodian and transfer fees, and a growing number of 12b-1 funds that allow annual deductions of up to 1.25 percent of assets. Are all of these fees under the umbrella and subject to tax? Although still in dispute, the answer is yes.

The law, originally scheduled to go into effect in 1987, was postponed for one year thanks in part to the efforts of the Investment Company Institute. In a last-minute compromise, the fund agreed to distribute to its shareholders 98 percent of all capital gains, up from the required 90 percent. This passed on additional capital gains that otherwise would have been retained by the fund and would not have been a taxable item to the shareholder until they sold their shares. If you're an investor, say "Ouch." In turn the government agreed to postpone the phantom-tax provision until 1988.

Mutual funds are not intended to serve only the wealthy. They are a proven way the small-investor can benefit from professional management at a reasonable cost. When Congress taxes income the investor never receives, it hasn't plugged a loophole, it has sunk the ship many depend on to educate their children or retire with dignity.

This is another case where universal, sweeping tax legislation throws the baby out with the bath water.

Oak Lawn Village Board blocks Christ Hospital plan

By Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn blocked an attempt at expansion by Christ Hospital on Tuesday. The Board of Trustees postponed a parking variation request for the hospital.

The measure would have granted a 35% variation of Village parking regulations. Christ Hospital has been accused of bad parking policies by allowing its employees to park in visitor lots and to cut through residential neighborhoods.

Trustee Ed Barron (4th District) charged the hospital with not keeping its employees in line with parking rules designed to preserve the neighborhood nearby.

Employees of the hospital are violating a restriction against left turns out of the hospital lot at Kilborne Ave., according to Trustee Barron.

Residents of the surrounding neighborhood have raised concerns as early as May of 1985, about this to Barron. Barron said that Christ Hospital hasn't been helpful in solving this problem over the past three years. Christ hospital constructed a curb to prevent this, but Barron said that was "woefully inadequate."

Barron said a police officer patrolled the area every day of October, and issued 52 citations in one spot alone.

Director of the Village's Office of Quality Control, Lynn Krauss said that Christ Hospital already has a 23.4% parking variation. The request postponed was for a 35% variation below Village requirements

According to Trustee Michelle Collings (3rd District), Christ Hospital is short 1400 parking places from Village code.

Joe McCarthy, an Administrator of Christ Hospital, said that those figures are deceiving because they do not demonstrate how some spaces are used more often. He said that people are unwilling to park in lots far from the hospital building. There is no shortage of spaces, according to McCarthy.

Trustee Joe Vogich, (5th District) said that problems of parking on residential areas near the hospital are caused by visitors, not by employees of the hospital.

McCarthy said that the hospital is planning to construct a parking tower on the premises to provide further parking. The tower will add 520 spaces to the hospital's parking.

The question over the variation will be postponed until the second Village Board Meeting in January.

Aurelia Pucinski swears in

Aurelia Pucinski was sworn in as the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County.

"It is a privilege and an honor to have been selected to begin the process of reform outlined during my campaign," Pucinski said.

The swearing in took place in a 20th floor ceremonial courtroom in the Richard J. Daley Center in Chicago. The oath was administered by retired Supreme Court Justice Seymour Simon using a Bible belonging to Ms. Pucinski's oldest daughter, Becky.

Ms. Pucinski is the first woman to be elected to hold the position of chief of the administrative office of the largest trial court system in the United States.

Pucinski beat Jane Bryne in the democratic primary and Ed Vrdolyak in the general election to become the first woman and the first attorney elected Clerk of the Court of Cook County.

"I campaigned on a forty point set of ideas for the Court. Now we'll get to work putting those ideas into action," said Pucinski.

My top priorties are 1.) to take the steps necessary in the Clerk's office to eliminate the backlog in child abuse cases; and 2.) to take the steps necessary to effect a code of ethics for the Clerk's office," she added.

In order to facilitate the swearing in of all of the office's 2,200 employees, Pucinski also was sworn in earlier in the day by long-time family friend Judge Francis Gembala, after which she administered the oath of office to forty of her senior department heads. They, in turn, swore in their staffs, a process that is required to carry out the day to day operations of the court. On that occasion she used Bibles belonging to her 2 younger children, Annie and Jimmy.

Pucinski dedicated her successful campaign and her term of office to the memory of her late Grandmother, Lidia Pucinski, who was an early role model. "It was 'Babcia' who showed me how to be tough and ladylike at the same time!" Pucinski said.

She was accompanied by her husband, Jim Keithley, a hotel executive and their three children, Becky, 11, Annie, 9, and Jimmy, 7. The family was joined by her parents, Ald. & Mrs. Roman Pucinski.

Pucinski heads an office that hears cases in over 300 courtrooms.

The office will have a 1989 budget of almost fifty million dollars and administers cases heard by 368 full and associate Circuit Court judges.

Law to protect the Senior Citizens enacted

Legislation proposed and drafted by Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley increasing the penalties against criminals who seriously injure a senior citizen goes into effect on Jan. 1, 1989.

The new law, "Aggravated Battery to a Senior Citizen," requires a mandatory prison term for offenders who inflict serious injury or permanent disability on a victim age 60 or older, according to Daley.

Under the old law, such criminals have been eligible for probation.

In addition, the new statute increases the possible maximum sentence for this crime to seven years in prison, rather than five years, Daley said.

Daley created the law in response to crimes where the offenders specifically targeted elderly victims on whom to commit strong-arm robberies, purse snatchings, and similar crimes because the elderly are often less able to physically defend themselves.

"This law would never have been enacted without the strong, vocal support of seniors themselves, who lobbied their legislators to get behind this measure," Daley said. "This is their victory as much as anyone's," he added.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As another new year approaches, we tend to reflect on the events and special moments of the past 12 months. It is a time to be thankful for all the good happenings and to share this thanks with those who deserve it!

It is through your efforts that we have been able to inform the community about our upcoming events and the honors that Academy students and teachers have achieved. On behalf of the students, parents, faculty, alumni, trustees and friends of Morgan Park Academy, thank you for your support and coverage of the Academy's happenings during 1988.

Your service to the community is so greatly appreciated!

Sincerely,
Karen S. Ahearn

& Public Relations

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Alsip, Hazelgreen, & Oak Lawn. School District #126 PTA, I would like to say, "Thanks", for the many opportunities you've provided for us to inform our constituency throughout the last year. We realize that your business often involves "nip and tuck" decisions revolving around space and priorities, but somehow you've still managed to convey most of the items we've sent to your publication. The District #126 PTA appreciates your effort and assistance greatly.

Thanks again and have a very Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year!

Sincerely,
Joe Bailey

LCMH founder declared venerable

Pope John Paul II recently declared the foundress of the Sisters of Little Company of Mary health-care system to be "venerable," the first step toward being recognized as a saint.

Mother Mary Potter has been given the official seal of the Roman Catholic Church for her "sanctity and heroicity of virtues" during her lifetime, 1847-1913. The declaration also assures Vatican approval of the theological content of her writings and spirituality.

Now, 111 years after she began her dedication to the sick and dying, the Venerable Potter's mission lives on at Little Company of Mary's 47 health-care institutions in 12 countries. Including the facilities in Evergreen Park.

Venerable Mary Potter founded the religious congregation in 1877 in Nottingham, England. The foundress' followers arrived in the United States in 1883, settling in the Chicago region where they then undertook almost 40 years of home nursing care.

In 1930, they established their first U.S. hospital, Little Company of Mary in Evergreen Park, which today, along with their other health facilities, carries on the tradition with advanced technologies that their founder could hardly have imagined.

McElroy Elected Chairman

Beth A. McElroy, Commissioner of the Appeals Board (4th District) for the Village of Oak Lawn, was unanimously elected Chairman of the Appeals Board at their December 7th meeting.

McElroy, who is a candidate for 4th District Trustee, is also president of the Oak Lawn Public Library Board.

Publisher's Pen

a weekly column

By Annette Dixon

The Christmas season is here and yet the most topical issue facing the readers is the Mayoral election in Chicago. Can Richie really win Chicago? Then we read about the southside suburbs regarding the slating committees on the democratic and republican tickets for Township government.

Will "Bus" Yourell run for Supervisor with a slate of Joan Murphy, Village Clerk, Michael Witte, Don Bettenhausen and Thomas Gavin as Trustees? Will Joe McCarthy, or Bob Streit, run for Supervisor of Worth Township along with slate making can-didates as Maureen Murphy, Village Clerk, Burt Odelson, William Powell, Bob Tealander, etc?

Well the press will love this election! It certainly will add news to the front pages of most newspapers.

What does this have to do with Christmas? Nothing! So therefore why the topic in Village View Publisher's Pen?

The answer is because maybe Virginia there is a Santa Claus. Someone who wants to run for office and not get paid; or maybe someone who runs for office and who can help decreasc dual processes of governmental agencies.

Only Santa Claus will be able to carry those bundles of goodies and be able to distribute them without any costs to the voters!

Is there really a Santa Claus, Virginia?

O.L. Chamber reminds everyone to shop at home

A new banner being installed by the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce will remind residents that they are giving themselves a gift when they shop in their own community. "People just don't realize how much money the Oak Lawn business community generates," said Chamber of Commerce President Tom Gavin III. "They are really rewarding themselves when they do their Christmas shopping in Oak Lawn."

According to the Village of Oak Lawn's audit for 1987, over $8,127,000 in sales taxes were paid to the Village from purchases made in Oak Lawn. This represented thirty percent of the total village expenditures in 1987 according to Gavin.

The Chamber of Commerce is striving to make consumers aware that they can help keep their own property taxes lower if they support local businesses. "We hope that our citizens will try to find their needs in Oak Lawn first. We have every kind of store and service that a person could want," said Chamber Executive Director Bill Sullivan "The sales taxes generated in 1987 were 160% of the real estate tax levy that year," continued Sullivan, "It is always Christmas when you shop and save in Oak Lawn."

Collecting fines for blocked R.R.Crossings

By Annette Dixon

Mayor Anthony Vacco has been battling the railroad for years in Evergreen Park which resulted in seeking fines for the village. Recently the board passed a new ordinance which increased a fine to $100,000 if the train blocked a crossing for more than 30 minutes.

The ordinance was passed not for the fact that Evergreen Park would benefit with revenue, but The Grand Trunk would be instrumental in re-scheduling trains to less-traffieked times during the day.

The article in the Southtown Economist Editorial brought an interest for this publisher regarding the train delays in Oak Lawn. According to Richard O'Neill, Village Manager of Oak Lawn, "Oak Lawn has not received any fines for train blockings." When questioned why not, the reply was "it is too difficult to find where the engine is located. Usually the train has over 100 cars, and if the train is blocking 111th Street or 107th and Central, the engine could be located in Chicago Ridge or Alsip."

"In order to ticket the engineer, the Oak Lawn officer must travel to Chicago Ridge or Alsip, and usually their officers would ticket the engineer in their respective villages," says O'Neill. "The only way our officers can ticket is if the citizens call the police and the engineers are in the Oak Lawn boundaries."

"There also must be more than a 10 minute delay in order to be able to collect on a fine. The assumption is that the fine goes directly to the Village of Oak Lawn, but like all other tickets, the court system receives their fair share and the amounts will trickle down to the village," says Richard O'Neill.

From what I could see, there would be no problem in an emergency situation because of blockage of trains. The only problem is that, we the people, have the inconvenience of more than a 10 minute delay at least three times a day on Central Avenue and also on 111th Street.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE WEEK AHEAD

Aries/Scorpio

When it comes to being strong, purposeful, loving, and full of talented ideas, no one could deny your abilities. But, there are some things you still have to work on, and one big one is in "being able to accept compliments" graciously. You have a tendency to ignore your wonderful attributes. Someone pays you the greatest compliment in your lifetime...be ready...

Taurus/Libra

Your are about to become well informed about an opportunity in your job area, and nothing will be a mystery to you; you could be considered for a better paying job, given leadership, and could even be training someone. Don't fret the small stuff...you will come through with flying colours!

Gemini/Virgo

You are in a better position to bargain for what you really want in life. There is money, there is power given to you, and there is someone right beside you to champion your success.

Cancer

Your time has come to make all promises come true...whether you have made them, or they have been made to you. Remember, people usually do not want to be neglectful, or even deceitful, it just happens...do not hold grudges this week, or it will be you that suffers.

Leo

The mirror is reflecting good health, a better self-image, and a lot of expectation this week. You have to be proud of yourself, you have kept a check on all past disappointments, and have forgiven others. This has done wonders for you!

Sagittarius

You may decide to make a quick trip this week or next, but either way, be aware that someone will insist on coming with you. A person who deals with legal matters may also be on the agenda, either for yourself or another family member. This could be someone in the sign of Cancer...if so, they are not as steady as they should be or could be...

Capricorn

Make a list of the things you want to do...schedule things, and then get right at them. This is a week of activity of mind and body. Plan a get together with people who can aid your career. Also, you will meet influential people...look your best....!

Aquarius

Love is the most important single accomplishment anyone can claim as their success. You are a very genteel soul who needs a lot of that TLC, let your love know this, and they will respond. Some of you meet new friends and one can become a lover. This is an unusual week for most Aquarians...because...what you wish for is right there waiting to be fulfilled...ask in prayer, in meditation...

Pisces

Put the finishing touches on new ideas this week and then present them to those who can help make them possible. Someone in the sign of Taurus helps. Look for sudden news about a friend who has "made it big" who wants to share their success with you, even inviting you into it!

It's Hard to Find Santa Claus in the Stock Market

The October 1987 market meltdown led some investors to question the logic of long-term investing. After all, a market decline of almost 20 percent in one day is a good argument for short-term investing and market timing.

Wouldn't it be more profitable to anticipate market tops and withdraw before they occur? Yes, but no one has yet devised a system to accurately predict when the market will top or hit bottom. If such a crystal ball existed, investors could prudently withdraw principal and profits from the market and reinvest in the safety and higher yields of bonds or other debt instruments. When the market bottomed, they could then return to equities.

Unfortunately, this seldom happens. Many refuse to recognize this, though, and cling to the hope that somewhere there is a Santa Claus.

Look at the historical case for long-term investing vs. market timing.

Kenneth Janke, president of the NAIC, an organization of individual investors and investment clubs, recently pointed out that a market timer has to be right 80 percent of the time to match the performance of a long-term investor.

Although you might quibble with Janke's estimate, a strong case for a buy-and-hold strategy can be made by looking at the closing prices for the Dow Jones Industrial Average since 1946. The Dow has closed up in 28 of those 42 years. In order to have profited from market timing, you would have had to have been right 67 percent of the time just to match the buy-and-hold strategy. Since bull-market gains are historically greater than bear-market losses, Janke's 80 percent estimate could be correct.

That alone is a good argument for long-term investing. Add to it the cost and tax liabilities of in-and-out trading, and you have a convincing argument for even the staunchest trader.

Remember, there's a brokerage charge each time a security is bought or sold. This takes from the profit or adds to the loss. In addition, if there is a profit, taxes can claim up to 33 percent of that. All together it means you are taking the risk and sharing the profits with your broker and the Internal Revenue Service.

This does not mean it cannot be done effectively. The message is that investing should be a long-range plan of putting money to work now to benefit you later. How your investments perform over short periods is not as important as how much is there when you need it.

There are few guarantees in life, so it's important to keep the odds on your side when you plan.

Holiday Shopping Tip

My weekends are free for shopping and running errands because I do my banking weekday evenings at Oak Lawn National Bank.

Oak Lawn National's Drive-up and full-service Lobby are both open until 8:00 P.M. Monday through Friday.

Save time by banking in the evening and you'll have more time to enjoy the holidays, too.

We'd Like a Touch of Help

Veterans War Memorial Community Project

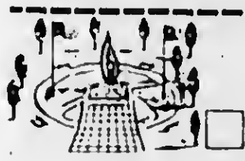
Sponsors: 'Forget Them Not'



Our American Servicemen and Women sacrificed much for their country. Many laid down their lives on the battleground for us. Yes, our Yanks fought in every part of the world.

Now we are joining together to complete the construction underway of the War Memorial "Eternal Flame" in their honor and loving memory.

Public spirited gifts are needed in the Christmas season to complete this most worthy project which immortalizes their names and loving memory. This is our tribute to America's honored dead.

Many pledges have been made, but not fulfilled at this time. We have fallen short of donations and urgently need more sponsors.

As a result of pledges not delivered, we are now $100,000 short of the goal. To complete this worthy "Eternal Flame" memorial by the scheduled goal of spring 1989, we urgently need your contributions. For your donation we offer our grateful thanks.

Why ham and cheese make a better chicken.

If the thought of chicken for dinner doesn't excite you, you have not been to Sizzler. We take a boneless breaded breast of chicken, top it with Danish-style ham and fresh hot melted Swiss cheese. Then we serve it with a tangy mustard sauce. We call it Malibu Chicken.®

It'll change the way you think about dinner, especially when you see the tender and juicy steak that comes with it. Together they are known as Steak & Malibu Chicken.® But all you need to remember is Sizzler.

OL Chamber to install president

The Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce will install Marianthe Karson as their 43rd president at their annual installation banquet. This year's banquet will be held in the Hilton Inn of Oak Lawn on Saturday, January 21st, with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30 p.m. Karson, Assistant Vice President of the Oak Lawn Trust & Savings Bank, has been active in the Park Lawn Association and was president of the Alsip Chamber of Commerce before her involvement in the Oak Lawn business community.

Other incoming officers are George Freitag (K-Mart) Treasurer, Tom Hawkinson (Hawkinson Ford) Secretary and David Groebe (Groebe Realtors) as Second Vice President. Serving as First Vice President will be Robert Kuenster (Thompson & Kuenster Funeral Home). Current President Tom Gavin (Oak Lawn Independent) will continue on the Executive Board as Immediate Past President.

OL accepts 1989 municipal budget

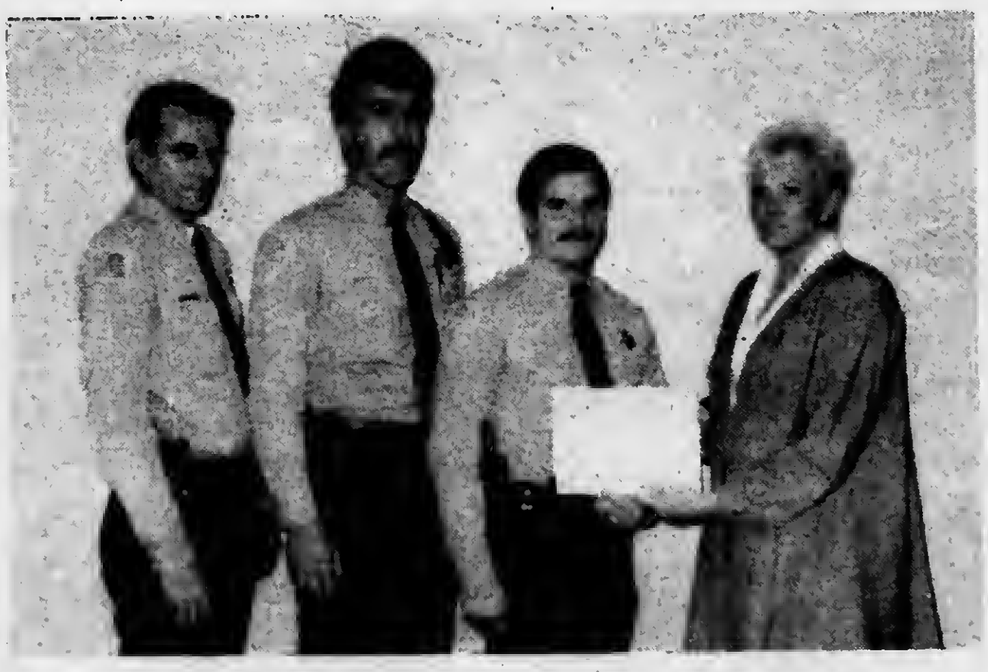
By: Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn acccptcd its 1989 municipal budget. The 1989 budget of $17 million was funded without a property tax increase for the fourth year in a row.

Mayor Ernest Kolb said the 1989 budget was balanced without more property tax increases through the efforts of Village staff.

Trustee Ed Barron opposed the budget because it contains an increase in the Real Estate Transfer Tax, a tax on the sale of homes in Oak Lawn. Barron said the increases, which are used solely for street repair, sidewalks and streetlights are not needed. Trustee Jay Bergamini (6th District) said the tax increase contains many possibilities for exemptions and exceptions to the tax. Enough increases, Bergamini said, to actually lower tax revenues below the levels of the last two years by about $150,000.

Trustee Ron Stancik (2nd District) accused Barron of being a critic of programs his district benefits from. Stancik said that the 4th district receives many of the repairs and new streetlights through Barron's efforts. Bergamini said that while Barron opposed the taxes, "You were the first one in line to get your streets repaired and some of your streetlights."



"I was not the first one in line to get my streets paved," Barron replied. He denied using what Stancik called a "double standard" to judge the taxes.

Barron said the Village's pace of street repairs is too fast. He said that the current pace of eight to ten miles per year is too much. Barron said that the Village need only repair two or three miles a year to keep up with wear on the existing streets.

Barron also opposed the taxes and funds maintained to pay for the Village's new Public Safety Building. He said that the $6.8 million facility need not be built. He said the existing Public Safety Building could be repaired and brought up to date for as little as $1 million.

The budget, complete with Real Estate Transfer Tax and Public Safety funding passed over Barron's opposition.

Volunteers needed for homeless

Southwest Women Working Together is seeking volunteers to work with homeless women and children in their new Housing Advocacy Project.

Volunteers will work with homeless or potentially homeless families in a number of ways including identifying adequate housing, negotiating with landlords, providing support, assisting with planning and budgeting, and disbursing available funds to help with rent and security deposits. Potential volunteers will be screened, trained and supervised by SWWT staff.

An information and orientation session will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 18th from 10:00-11:00am, at 3201 West 63rd Street. For more information or registration, call Marie or Alexis at 436-0550. Training will begin within a few weeks of the orientation.

Village employees honored

The Village of Oak Lawn honored its employees for their years of work recently.

Honored for 20 years of service to the Village were: Jim Cassin, Edward Evans, Wilmer Meyer, Richard Schryver, and Terrence Vorderer.

For Health Insurance That's A Cut Above The Rest

Consider the 24 Karat Major Medical Plan from Time Insurance. Time's plan outshines the competition because more value has been built into every benefit you receive. Values like:

- Freedom to choose your doctor and hospital
- 15% non-smoker's discount
- Prescription drugs, ambulance, and x-ray coverage
- 100% coverage for pre-admission testing, second surgical opinions, home health care and more.

Group Insurance Available

In addition, because the 24 Karat is a hospital pre-certification plan, it uses a system of managed health care to ensure that every hospital treatment and service you receive is medically appropriate for you. For more information contact:

'Bud' Meyer re-elected president

Emmett 'Bud' Meyer was re-elected President of the Oak Lawn Senior Council for the year 1989. The Council is composed of 40 delegates from the 20 Senior Clubs in Oak Lawn and 20 delegates at large from the other 16,000 seniors in Oak Lawn.

'Bud' Meyer

For the last 15 years the Senior Council has spearheaded the drive for programs for its graying population. Starting with a small group from the original 4 senior clubs in Oak Lawn which set up the Council as a non-profit organization in 1973, it has continued to grow to include all areas of Oak Lawn.

The Council is entirely self supporting, receiving no funding from anywhere and runs luncheons and flea markets to raise money to maintain their programs. These programs include cards, movies, dances, pot lucks, bus trips, interesting lectures, and entertainment. The Council purchases and maintains all the necessary equipment to run these programs.

'Bud' Meyer is also Coordinator of Seniors and Handicapped in Worth Township and Chairman of the Senior Commission in Oak Lawn.

Bus service for Seniors

On Monday, January 9, bus service financed by the Oak Lawn Social Service Corporation will begin service on Monday, Thursday, and Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The service is available to Oak Lawn residents who are 55 years of age or older.

The service area is limited to the Village of Oak Lawn and Chicago Ridge Mall. Service to medical facilities for a medical appointment is limited to a two mile radius of Oak Lawn.

Reservations can be made now by calling Willett Motor Coach Company at 286-7775 Residents must call Willett by noon the preceding day to schedule their trip Reservations for bus service on Monday will be accepted on the preceding Friday before noon.

General guidelines for the operation of the bus service are as follows:

1) Passengers unable to board and disembark the bus on their own must be accompanied by a companion or attendant.

2) Service is curb to curb. The driver will not leave the bus to assist a rider except to operate the wheelchair lift.

3) Passengers must be at the designated pick up point at the agreed upon time. If you are unable to meet the bus, every effort should be made to contact the bus company.

The last pick-up of the day will be made no later than 1:30 p.m. If the rider cannot schedule their return trip before this time, the rider must find an alternative source for a ride home.

SUCCESS

"To laugh often and love much; to win the respect of intelligent persons and the affection of children; to earn the approbation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to give of one's self; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to have played and laughed with enthusiasm and sung with exultation; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived--this is to have succeeded."

Learning assessment plans for OL schools

The Alsip, Hazelgreen, and Oak Lawn Elementary School District 126 received State approval of their recently submitted learning assessment plans in the areas of math and science. As part of the 1985 Reform Act school districts are required to submit learning assessment plans in the areas of language arts, math, science, social science, physical education and health, and fine arts. "The learning assessment plans outlined learning objectives to be met by the end of grades 3, 6, and 8," according to Superintendent, Dr. William Smith. In the Spring of each year the District will administer tests at grade 3, 6, and 8 to determine the degree to which these learning objectives have been mastered. "Each district is then required to file a School Improvement Plan by mid November of the following school year detailing the results of the Spring testing and any corrective actions that need to be taken," said Bill Boucek, Assistant Superintendent.

Pucinski to be guest speaker

The Bridgeview Cham-ber of Commerce & Industry is proud to announce that Aurelia Pucinski, Clerk of the Circuit Court and Jack Weimar, Court Administrator, will be the guest speakers at the Chamber's January 18th luncheon at Mama Luigi's Restaurant, 7500 S. Harlem, starting at 12:00 noon.

Ms. Pucinski and Mr. Weimar will advise the business owners in the 5th District's territory of the facilities that will be available to them with the opening of the new Courthouse at 103rd Street and 76th Avenue scheduled for March.

Reservations are necessary. Call the Chamber office at 430-2344.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE WEEK AHEAD

Aries/Scorpio

Focus your attention on the one you love...you and that person will be much happier, and, become closer than ever. You see, there is a strong emphasis on love matters this week, talk things over and plan to get away alone together.

Taurus/Libra

You may be having some trouble with back and legs, especially if you have been doing lifting and reaching...be aware that you can become tired and angry...this is not a week to over-exert that body of yours, or your mind.

Gemini/Virgo

There is an important meeting coming up where you could end up with promises in writing, this can even mean more money is coming your way...but not without some really dig-in type of work. A relative also involved in decision making for an older person.

Cancer

This week can spell trouble for you if you interfere with the plans of others. Keep to yourself and make plans for your own future...also...talk things out at work, and make sure that what you are doing is well accepted. If not, make changes that will insure your work future.

Leo

A person of great wealth or expertise is about to make you an offer that you may not want to refuse. But this can lead to relocation. The choice is always yours to make. Still, it is a good idea to talk them out with family members...they count too.

Sagittarius

You are designing your own future this week, as new ideas come on strongly and you feel an urgency to put them into action. You will find ways to budget time and money. A parent is involved or an elder relative that needs advice.

Capricorn

You get the "go-ahead" for an idea or proposal that was made sometime ago. You should have the right tools, spend whatever monies you have to for your career or job. It may be difficult however to explain this to your mate, but it has to be done.

Aquarius

Look at the brighter side of life this week. You are not alone in some of the doubts you have about what is going on in this world, and in the immediate family. The best thing to do is research and dig for facts before making judgements on others. You find an interesting new friend soon, one that shares your ideals. Wait.

Pisces

Pisces people love new challenges, and one is coming your way to express yourself "totally", talent, expertise and your ability in understanding the human intelligence. You can be called upon to help someone less fortunate, or perhaps show them the ropes at work. You ARE needed!

PERSONAL AND PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE, BY PHONE OR MAIL...CALL 636-4578. All sessions are taped for your later recalling. I have various services, ask about them. My books and tapes and the Quartz Crystals are available at the Pyramid Book Mart, 3580 W. 95th St. in Evergreen Park, Il. They can be mailed to you also. Call and talk with Arlene.

THEN / NOW!

The story of cookies in this country takes a pretty healthy bite out of history.

THEN: Back in 1865, when the first cookie was commercially baked here in the United States, it was called a cracker. It was introduced to the public in Albany, New York and sweetened with sugar.

NOW: R.W. Frookie™ has introduced the first all-natural, good-tasting, no-sugar cookie. Frookies are sweetened with fruit juices, are low in sodium, have no cholesterol or saturated fats and fewer calories. They can be found in oatmeal raisin, oat bran muffin, ginger spice and chocolate chip at local supermarkets, which is good news for cookie lovers of all ages. At long last, a good cookie that's good for you.

McElroy slated to run for trustee

Mayor Ernie Kolb of the Village of Oak Lawn and the Mayor's Coalition Party of Oak Lawn has announced that they have slated Beth A. McElroy to run for Trustee of the 4th District.

The 4th District is mainly from Pulaski to Cicero and from 93rd Street to 103rd Street.

Present at the press conference besides Mayor Kolb were Clerk Jayne Powers, who is up for re-election, Trustee Jay Bergamini of the 6th District who is up for re-election for Trustee and Ron Stancik, of the 2nd District, also a candidate for re-election. Trustee Joe Vogrich, 5th District, was also on hand.

Beth A. McElroy is 31 years of age, a graduate of St. Germaine Grammar School, Mother McAuley High School, and Illinois Benedictine College.

At 23 years of age, she became Administrative Assistant to the Supervisor of the Township of Worth and served in that capacity for six years. She is now Director of Marketing for York Furrier in Elmhurst.

In 1987, Beth was elected President of the Young Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago, and in 1988 became the Chairman of the Board.

Her first attempt to run for public office was in 1985 when she was elected Trustee of the Oak Lawn Public Library. She was third in ballot position, but when the returns came in she had defeated her opponents by more than a thousand votes. Beth became Secretary of the Board in 1986, Vice President in 1987 and then went on to her present position as President.

In March of 1988, Beth, was appointed Commissioner of the Appeals Board by Mayor Ernie Kolb and the Board of Trustees, to represent the Fourth District of Oak Lawn. In December, Beth, was unanimously elected by the other district Commissioners to be Chairman of the Appeals Board for the Village of Oak Lawn.

Beth was a member of the Board of Directors of the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce from 1982 to 1986. She is also a former member of the Citizens Cable TV Committee.

Beth is a former Vice President of the Young Democrats of Cook County and in May of 1988 was honored as the "Young Woman Democrat of the Year" by the organization.

Beth is currently a member of the Oak Lawn Kiwanis Club, Oak Lawn Business & Professional Women's Club and is a Lector and on the C.C.D. teaching staff at St. Germaine Parish.

Patrick F. Daly opens office

Patrick F. Daly, Attorney at Law/C.P.A. recently opened an office in Palos Heights for the practice of law. Mr. Daly previously practiced law in Palos Heights from 1975 to 1986. Most recently he had been Senior Vice President and General Counsel for ERA R.M. Post Realtors and President of R.M. Post

Patrick F. Daly

Mortgage Corp. Prior to entering the practice of law he was associated with Deloitte, Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants as a tax specialist.

Mr. Daly resides in Oak Lawn with his wife and five daughters. He and his wife Kay have been active members of St. Linus Parish since 1968. In years past Pat has been president of the Parish Council and Chairman of the annual "WAY OFF BROADWAY". For five years he represented the Village of Oak Lawn Civil Service Commission.

When asked to discuss his areas of practice Mr. Daly said, "There are three main areas of law in which I focus my practice. First is Real Estate Law. The second area of law is Business/Corporate Law. And the third area of law that I tend to focus on is Tax Planning, Estates, Wills and Probate."

Mr. Daly's office is located at 11950 S. Harlem, Palos Heights.

Training offered for home day care moms

Beginning in January, the Families That Work program of Southwest Women Working Together will be starting a new home day care program. The program will recruit community women who are interested in providing child care services in their homes.

A six-part training workshop will be offered to potential child care providers which will assist them in starting their own home day care businesses.

A&J Supply rehabs Chicago

A & J Supply Inc., are the southside specialists when it comes to windows, doors, and sashes. The company has been in existence for only a year, but the two owners, Rich Anigo and Bill Jacobsen, bring over 30 years of millwork and construction experience to the business. Bill Jacobsen also has a Bachelors Degree in Construction Technology from Souther Illinois University.

A & J Supply is a window dealer for Andersen, Marvin, R.O. W., and more. They do custom wood cabinets, as well as decorated wood and steel doors. They have old fashioned wood storm doors or combination doors.

They have played a major role in the redevelopment of Chicago in all of the older neighborhoods.

Their showroom is open on Monday and Thursday from 9-7, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday 9-5, and Saturday 9-1.

Bill and Rich are there to serve and educate homeowners.

No leniency for attempted murderer

In a matter of just 40 minutes, Betty Leen's daughter, Mary, was stabbed 15 times, one of which pierced her heart. Judge Roger Kiley, Jr. who presided over the trial gave the attempted murder 50 to 75 years in jail. At the sentencing, Judge Kiley stated that he would recommend the attempted murderer never be released on parole. He went on to say "You should be in jail until you are so old you will be incapable of committing the act you inflicted upon Ms. Leen."

This crime was both planned and premeditated. For over 40 minutes he held Mary Leen captive in a hotel room where she worked part time to pay for her college education.

Because of the laws that prevail, Mrs. Leen and many friends & helpers must collect 8600 names and addresses of people so that she can present them to the Illinois Prisoner Review Board in Springfield.

Beth McElroy who attended school with Mary Leen is one of those who is pushing the petitions to be signed.

To quote Mrs. Leen, "I am asking the parole board out of kindness to the Leen family to consider a 'stay' of parole for 3 years. A yearly parole is a very hard thing for Mary, who is now married and a registered nurse and her family to go thru." She concluded her statement by saying, "Please consider and decide to lighten this burden on Mary and our family."

For further information please call 636-4625 or pick up a petition at the Village Hall of Oak Lawn. Petitions will also be circulated by the Worth Township Democratic Organization.

Among officials signing the first of the petitions included: Commissioner Harry "Bus" Yourell, Mayor Ernie Kolb of Oak Lawn and Beth A. McElroy president of the Oak Lawn Public Library Board.

Asset Allocation

A new game being played by many investors is "asset allocation." If you haven't heard of it, maybe you'll recognize it as "diversification." Successful investors have been using it for years.

Don't be intimidated by a fancy name because asset allocation makes a lot of sense. It works because the formula is always changing. The young professional has a different allocation formula than his senior partner, and it changes for both through the years. The key is to divide assets so they meet needs now and still provide for later dreams. Look at a simple illustration of how asset allocation can work for you.

Be generous and give yourself $100,000 to invest for retirement in 25 years. A good stable U.S. Treasury bond compounding at 8 percent will grow to $684,850.

Not bad. Now, look at what asset allocation can do. Take the same $100,000 and divide it into five $20,000 investments. Since investments carry different risks and offer different rewards, it's fair to say that your five investments will not perform equally. In fact, some will not perform at all.

Assume one investment is a total loss, a minus $20,000. The second venture isn't much better. You keep the original deposit, but it doesn't earn a cent. Your next investment compounds at a disappointing 5 percent and grows to only $67,730. Your fourth choice does only slightly better than the single investment. It compounds at a reasonable 10 percent and is worth $216,690. The final $20,000 is your only extra base hit with a good, but not unreasonable, 15 percent annual return. That grows to $658,380, a little less than the one guaranteed investment.

Three of the five performed more poorly than the single fixed investment, yet their combined, diversified performance far exceeds the single performance (see chart). $658,380 + $216,690 + $67,630 + $20,000 − the lost $20,000 = $942,800.

Asset allocation does not work miracles, it simply divides risk. It allows you the opportunity to participate in several sectors of the economy without unnecessary exposure to any one. For that reason, most successful investors own a variety of assets — stocks, bonds, mutual funds, annuities, real estate, savings and more.

Regardless of the amount you invest, plan asset allocation. If you can't remember the fancy name, simply remember to diversify.

Getting Peak Performance From Fuel Injection

Fuel injection, a frequently mentioned concept in describing an automobile engine, is not as new as one may think, but has gained enormous popularity with engine designers in the last few years.

For the car owner, fuel injection means improved performance and fuel economy, but does not eliminate the need for preventative maintenance.

Fuel injection first appeared in the 1950s in the legendary Mercedes-Benz 300 SL, and experts at that time began forecasting that this innovation would replace the carburetor. Finally, during the 1980s, that prediction is coming true.

Most of today's fuel injection systems are regulated by small computers, which monitor such things as the amount of air entering the engine, the temperature of the engine, the manifold pressure, and vehicle speed. The computers then determine the right fuel/air mixture for these conditions.

With fuel injection, gasoline is sprayed through tiny orifices in the fuel injectors into the intake manifold. These orifices are only about the size of a human hair, according to engineers at Champion Spark Plug Company.

It is very important to keep these small injector nozzles free of accumulations of contaminants—deposits which can build up and restrict the flow of fuel.

The result: poor performance and, in advanced cases, starting difficulty.

The cure: preventative maintenance.

Engine experts at Champion Spark Plug recommend the use of a fuel injection cleaner periodically to insure that deposits will not clog fuel injectors. Fuel injection cleaner, a chemical detergent generally sold in eight ounce containers for pouring into the gasoline tank, is a popular item found on auto supply shelves.

When clogging of these fine orifices has gone past the point of chemical cure, car owners may have to seek professional help. Most auto service technicians can diagnose computer and injector problems and have the tools to take care of such malfunctions.

You and Your Car

Did You Know?

Did you know that you have, in your gas tank, the energy equivalent of around a dozen sticks of dynamite—per cupful?

Not to worry: while dynamite's designed to deliver all its energy in an instantaneous blast, gasoline doesn't explode in your engine; instead, a tightly controlled rapid burning of a fuel-air mix releases all that energy.

Today's advanced gasolines also include additives doing a variety of useful chores—like shielding your engine from gummy deposits.

Now top premium gasolines add a further one-two punch. The precise mix of detergents in Mobil Super Unleaded Plus actually cleans up fouled fuel injectors, as demonstrated by tests reported to the Society of Automotive Engineers. Another thing: premium's higher octane improves acceleration in cars equipped with electronic knock sensors. These systems—now on about 40 percent of cars rolling off production lines—can take advantage of higher octane while automatically adjusting engines to resist knocking.

Republican Township Caucus ends in division

By: Michelle Dixon

It all began at 7:20 p.m. on January 10, 1989 when the Worth Township Republican Caucus was called to order by Township Committeemen, Robert Streit. At that time he announced the judges of the caucus to be: Dave Lube, Violot Rowe, and Ralph Renquist. But what caused a stir in the members of the caucus, was the announcement of the already appointed secretary for this caucus, Hedy Komperda, the secretary for the Worth Township Republican Organization. There was an attempt by participants of the caucus to make a point of order, that the secretary be nominated from the floor. This point of order was never recognized by Committeeman Streit.

Following a bit of upheaval, Streit read a new set of rules, other than those laid down by the Clerk's office of Worth Township. Amidst much discontentedness in the room, Harry Dinaso was recognized to move to accept the new rules, followed by a second to the motion.

The rules were passed by a voice vote, without a voice meter, but by the judges' decision. The intensity of the anger felt by many of the people present was manifested in comments such as: "I thought this was America...not Russia!" and "You are violating our constitutional rights!"

Robert Streit

Joseph McCarthy

All members that wanted to participate in the caucus signed an affidavit upon entering the room so that they could vote. When the voice vote began, there was no possible way to detect who was voting and who was not voting. Though there was an attempt at dividing the room between voters and non-voters, there was no distinction made during the actual vote. Throughout this time a point of order was still tying to be recognized from the floor.

As Committeeman Streit read the slate that he was on as the candidate for Township Supervisor, the booing and jeering made him inaudible. Slated as candidates under him are: Kevin Morgan, Township Clerk; Jan Swanson, Assessor; Marvin James, Highway Commissioner; Russell Miller, Michael Davies, Kathy Spencer, and Harry Dinaso for Township Trustees.

Arthur Bliss of Evergreen Park was then recognized by Streit to present a slate. This slate consisted of: Joseph McCarthy (incumbent), Township Supervisor; Maureen Murphy (incumbent), Clerk; Robert Telander (incumbent), Highway Commissioner; Rick Ruggiero, Assessor; Herb Elzinga, David Gallagher, Joe Donahue, and George Vlasis for Township Trustees.

New resolution for property taxes

By: Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn adopted a resolution proposing a change in the way property taxes are computed in Cook County.

The proposal suggests to freeze the values of property in Cook County at the 1986 re-assessment values.

The freeze would prevent property taxes from going up without an increase in the rates that property is taxed at.

Trustee Jay Bergamini (6th District), author of the resolution said that the resolution urges State of Illinois officials to remove the high property taxes put on residents.

Bergamini said that the State should fund education through means other than the property taxes local school boards place upon their residents. Trustee Ron Stancik (2nd District), said funding for education can only be obtained from the state directly, or through local property taxes.

"Had the state legislature been doing their job the way I think they should have, we wouldn't have this problem," Stancik said.

Trustee Michele Collings said she doubted the resolution would actually freeze property taxes, but felt that the resolution would at least generate concern in the State legislature. "Its unrealistic to believe we can freeze real estate taxes at the 1986 level," she said.

In other business, plans were approved to hold Oak Lawn Fest again on July 7-9, 1989. The Fest will limit the live entertainment to evening hours. No longer will a professional entertainment organizing firm be hired, according to Dave Tebo, a member of the Special Events Commission.

The Fest will also eliminate the carnival entertainment because the lot used in previous years will not be available. The new Public Safety Building will take up space usually used for the Fest.

This year, the Village budgeted $103,000 for the costs of running the fest. Last year, much of the funds budgeted were left unspent.

The Oak Lawn Police Department has hired two new police officers, Arthur Macaitis and William Mannion who were sworn in by Village Clerk Jayne Powers.

The Board confirmed Mayor Ernest Kolb's re-appointment of John Friel to the Fire and Police Commission. Bergamini said Friel had served the commission well in past years. Friel's term lasts until Dec. 31, 1991.

Democrats slate Preference Party

By: Michelle Dixon

T.C. Mulligans during the Worth Township Democratic caucus was much more serene than the Republican Show on the same evening. The Preference Party slate was passed by the members of the caucus unanimously. Included on the slate are: Harry "Bus" Yourell, Township Supervisor; Joan P. Murphy, Assessor; Dennis A. Brennan, Collector; Robert D. Smith, Jr., Highway Commissioner, Donald Bettenhausen, Thomas "Bud" Gavin, Emmett "Bud" Meyer, and Michael H. Witt, for Township Trustees.

The Preference Party is looking very forward to an exciting Township race.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As you know, I lead the fight for credit card reform by withdrawing millions of dollars in deposits from Illinois financial institutions charging high interest rates on their credit cards.

Last year, an important piece of consumer credit legislation passed both houses and was signed into law. This law, Public Act 85-983, requires issuers of credit cards or retail charge agreements (revolving charge accounts) to disclose interest rates, fees and grace periods to card holders on all applications and solicitations, and in the case of bank credit cards, monthly billing statements.

However, the credit card industry managed to delay the effective date of the Act's disclosure provisions from July 1, 1988 to January 1, 1989. Then during the recent veto session, they introduced an amendment to House Bill 4180 which would have delayed the effective date further to Sept. 1, 1989.

Although the Illinois Senate passed this amendment, we were able to marshal enough support in the Illinois House of Representatives to avoid further delays in the implementation of this consumer protection legislation.

This issue had been complicated by passage of federal legislation (Effective Jan. 1, 1989) which carries many of the same provisions of PA 85-983. However, passage of the amendment to House Bill 4180 would have resulted in delay in the implementation of all provisions not preempted by the federal law.

With the passage of the voting deadline on the amendment, we have once again carried the day for Illinois consumers! Since the federal law goes into effect before the legislature meets again, consumers have won the right to proper disclosure of information which will not only enable them to determine which issuers are ripping them off with high credit card interest rates, but also those who are offering competitive rates.

This is a small, but very important victory for the consumer. Let me assure you that our vigilance will continue.

Jerry Cosentino
Treasurer
State of Illinois

Dear Editor:

We at Catholic Charities are grateful for the coverage given in Village View to our services, needs and events during 1988. Your assistance helps to create a greater awareness of our services among those who may need them as well as those who wish to support them, either financially or as a volunteer. We appreciate your interest in our agency and look forward to working with you in the future.

Wishing everyone at Village View continued success in 1989.

Sincerely,
Rev. Edwin M. Conway

By Annette Dixon

Every December 28 through January 4, Lance, my son and I travel to where it is warm. This year it was Acapulco Mexico.

Not only did we travel to the famous tourist sights, but also the famous night spots. After several days of sight seeing and walking all around Acapulco, we decided to tour the impoverishcd. Yes, Lance and I had to explore the unknown.

The first day we traveled public transportation in and around the mountain area. We saw many markets and the people were of average income (Mexican Pesos). The surroundings were crowded and many condominiums, apartments, and duplex dwellings were overwhelming the landscapes.

It is my belief the city and outlying area is extremely crowded, so much so it has become a pollution problem. The following day we hired a jeep driver to take us into different areas to mix and speak with the people. Our translator stated that Mexico is a 3rd World Country with an 18 year history of continuous depression

We stopped in Coyuca Beach area where there are rich and poor living side by side. A group of boys were playing on the lagoon side of Coyuca Lagoon and Umberto asked them, how much government was corrupt and negligent. But he too blamed the United States for not working closed with their North American neighbor which he said, "is a communist state" and working too closely with Nicaragua.

Acapulco was a beautiful paradise while staying at the Raddison and the Flamingo Hotel. When we went to the Flamingo, we felt at home, it was private and the landscaping had several terraced layers of tree and foliage and flowers. It is the highest point, 500 ft overlooking the Pacific. The sunset was the most beautiful sight from our terrace balcony. One night I was swimming in the well maintained pool and the sunset occurred.

People from all over the world stayed at Los Flamingos. We met the Ambassador from Milan to the United Nations. We met a woman from Henry, Illinois who knows Judy Koehler personally.

WELCOME WAGON WANTS TO VISIT YOU

Just engaged? New parent? Moved? I'd like to visit you with useful gifts and information. I'll also bring cards you can redeem for more gifts at local businesses. It's a friendly visit to help you get answers about town, goods and services. All free to you.

Heated Caucus

The point of order was finally recognized by Committeeman Streit. Mark Henry Sterk proposed two amendments to the rules. The first was that voting be done by secret ballot, not voice votes, and secondly that the meeting be recessed until Thursday when a bigger room could be found to accommodate the many people that were relegated to the hallway because of overcrowding. A voice vote, that again many thought was questionable defeated the point of order to amend the rules.

The slates were then vocally voted upon, slate one (Streit) and then slate two (McCarthy) The judges of the caucus made their decision and Committeeman Streit declared his slate the winner. Because of a seemingly very questionable voice vote, the room was in a state of shock, chaoticness, and rage. The caucus was then adjourned.

James Staniak, an attorney with the State Board of Elections, was present at the caucus with a court reporter. According to Burt Odelson, Staniak's opinion was that the voice vote carried 3 1/2 to 1, in favor of the McCarthy/Murphy slate. He also felt that the amendment to the rules carried, and the point of order should have been recognized much earlier than it was. He commented that this caucus violated every single right for people voting.

Michael Moses, Attorney and top advisor to Robert Streit, said that Streit was slated because a possibility exists that Joe McCarthy would have been thrown off the ticket, due to the fact that he is an elected officer with another party within the last 12 months. When asked for a response to that comment, McCarthy stated that he ran the Congressional race as a Republican. His intent to be a Republican was documented in December of 1987; months before the primary race. Also, when elected to the Township Supervisor's position, he ran on the "Performance Party," not the Democratic Party.

"The Committeeman (Streit) should be asked for his resignation,' Township Clerk, Maureen Murphy stated. "He violated the Robert's Rules" of the caucus procedure!

Kathy Spencer, a member of Streit's slate and a regular Republican since 1965 said, "I didn't even know what was happening. I couldn't hear and I didn't get a chance to vote. It was like a three ring circus!" Spencer replaced Edward Barron, who was originally on Streit's slate to run in this election. Barron is an incumbent running for Oak Lawn Village Trustee in the fourth district.

Robert Streit commented on the process, "It was an exercise in American politics...like a family disagreement. I do not believe this will split the party...they are all fine people."

Harry Dinaso saw the evening as, "...an exciting night! It's too bad they (members of the caucus) feel like they do..."

Joe McCarthy considered the events of the caucus to be "unbelievable!" He said, "The members of the caucus were deprived of the ability to make their will known." He also thought that the caucus was, "Chicago politics in Worth Township!"

At the close of the evening, Burt Odelson, Attorney, planned on filing suit in the morning with at least 15 plaintiffs against the procedure that took place. Part of what they will be requesting is that this caucus be considered void, a new caucus be reinstated, and a different chairman be appointed. "This was a violation of people's rights," Odelson remarked.

Open letter to the NFL

Commissioner Pete Rozelle

Dear Commissioner:

Persons of ordinary sensitivity recoil from the ruthless, premeditated savagery during which bulls are slowly put to death in the bull rings of Spain and Mexico. Pro quarterbacks, defenseless against viciously brutal attacks, suffer painful injuries and possibly loss of their capacity to participate.

We are not yet so totally uncivilized as to accept this outrageous practice as part of the sporting scene. The popularity of the sport will not suffer if extremely severe personal penalties result in the elimination of attacks upon a defenseless victim.

And one other thing Commissioner, pro football is permitting the continued deterioration of the American sense of sportsmanship. How? By allowing the fans of one club to make difficult or impossible the effective play of an opponent by preventing the quarterback's signals to be heard and understood by his teammates.

Recommended: A 15 yard penalty for the home team every time this outrage occurs, with further penalties added immediately should the disruption continue.

Yours for good sportsmanship,

Frank J. Daily

VILLAGE VIEW OF THE LIBRARY

SPECIAL AREA FOR YOUNG ADULTS has been established by the Patron Services department. The area includes shelves of hard cover books and two racks of paperbacks which have been chosen to appeal to high school students. The books are labeled YA so that they can easily be identified. Two favorite authors are Robert Cormier and M.E. Kerr, and many of their books are included in the collection. Paperbacks have subjects that range from romance to self-improvement; from classics to science fiction and horror. Interested young adults will find their area on the first floor, between the reader services desk and the typing rooms.

COOPERATIVE PROGRAMMING FOR ADULTS begins this month. The Oak Lawn Library and Americana-Monticello Health Care Center are co-sponsoring two programs geared to older adults. The first one will be held at the Monticello Center, 6300 W. 95th St. featuring Stanley and Paula Sims with their slide show Discovery of America: Then and Now. The program is open to the public. The show begins at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 18. The second program will be held at the Oak Lawn Library, 9427 Raymond Ave. at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 1, with the topic Investments for Retirees. Financial advisor Suellen Hawking will present the program and will hold a questions and answer session. This program also is open to the public. Based on public acceptance of cooperative programming, additional sessions may be offered on other topics of interest to older adults.

VCR EXPERTISE SEMINARS have been very popular. Based on requests from library users, another two-part seminar has been scheduled for 10 a.m.-noon, Saturday, Jan. 21, and Saturday, Jan 28. The first session deals with how to make the best use of a VCR. Basic operations are explained. In addition, information is given about what to do if the unexpected happens and how to produce the best possible picture. The second session includes all of the information and techniques that are related to the recording mode. Guidelines and tips are given about buying blank tapes and setting the timer to record when the owner is absent. Those who attend are asked to bring their VCR manuals so that differences in model and make can be clarified. Registration is not required for this free seminar.

A HOMEWORK CENTER HAS BEEN SET UP in the Youth Services department to provide textbooks from local schools as reference books in the library. Students who forget their books at school or are unable to take them home can use the copies at the library. Parents also may find these books helpful when assisting their children with homework assignments. Textbooks have been donated by Districts 122 and 123, St. Linus school and St. Gerald school. Subjects are math, reading, English, social studies and science for grades three through eight.

The highest price quoted for a share of stock was $38,400 for a drug company's stock in 1976.

Financial Resolutions for 1989

Make the coming months count by resolving to improve your finances. According to the Illinois CPA Society, a few wise moves now can help you make 1989 add up to a year of prosperity.

Pay off your credit cards, in 1989, you can deduct only 20% of the interest this year. Next year that figure drops to 10%, and by 1991 the deduction will disappear completely.

Learn to save, each payday, reserve a portion of your salary for savings. By putting aside just $50 every two weeks, you can accumulate $1,300 in one year.

Don't let a new car drive you into debt, instead of trading in your car, consider keeping it. Deposit the equivalent of a car loan into a savings account. As a result, your new loan will cost you a lot less in both principal and interest.

Build retirement savings, by contributing to a 401(K) or an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) now, you can begin building a nest egg that can last a lifetime.

Check your investments, no matter what form of investment you choose, keep up to date on its performance. Try to select investments that yield at least several percentage points more than the current rate of inflation.

Buying a house, is one of the best investments you can make this year. Homeownership can also go a long way in helping you preserve your standard of living after retirement. If you cannot afford to make a 10 to 20% down payment on a home this year, consider starting a "house" fund.

Update your withholding, review the number of exemptions you claim on your W-4 form, especially if you have recently purchased a home, married, or had a child.

Organize your tax records, if you sit down with a shoe box of papers to do your taxes each April, you can easily overlook deductions to which you are entitled.

The Illinois CPA Society suggests that you begin to organize your 1989 tax records immediately.

Remember, any money you save on your taxes can bring you that much closer to fulfilling your other financial goals.

Caps for Kids

Rose Marie Valencik, chairperson for the collection & distribution of "CAPS FOR KIDS" in the Chicagoland area presented Earl J. Konecki, Leading Knight, Elks Lodge #2254, 107th & Central in Oak Lawn, with one of the dozens of caps donated to the Elks for their needy family Christmas baskets.

"CAPS FOR KIDS" is sponsored by "Yarn Country" of Concord, CA. Caps are knitted or crocheted by volunteers from donated or scrap yarn with each cap taking from 4 to 6 hours to make. In 1988 local volunteers doubled last year's production and made over 1700 warm, colorful caps, all of which were donated to needy children locally. However the demand still exceeds the supply and volunteers are needed now to begin making caps for next Christmas.

Locally, Rose Marie Valencik's group produced over 800 caps which were distributed to over 25 non-profit, non-religious organizations within the Chicagoland area.

Adult volunteers needed

The Southwest YMCA is trying to give kids a positive alternative through its two teen drop-in centers, located in Tinley Park and Blue Island.

Both centers are in need of additional adult volunteers, 21 years and older, willing to make a three hour commitment one night a week.

For more information about volunteering your time at either center, please contact Robyn Kramer, Volunteer Director, at 385-6711.

For Health Insurance That's A Cut Above The Rest
Consider the 24 Karat Major Medical Plan from Time Insurance. Time's plan outshines the competition because more value has been built into every benefit you receive. Values like:
- Freedom to choose your doctor and hospital
- 15% non-smoker's discount
- Prescription drugs, ambulance, and x-ray coverage
- 100% coverage for pre-admission testing, second surgical opinions, home health care and more.

Group Insurance Available
In addition, because the 24 Karat is a hospital pre-certification plan, it uses a system of managed health care to ensure that every hospital treatment and service you receive is medically appropriate for you. For more information contact:

Bestseller raises the roof

Adding more headroom and cargo capacity is this brand new version of America's best retail-selling station wagon.

Getting this max headroom is the 1989 Subaru Touring Wagon which features all the economical and reliable features that have made Subaru Wagons the country's number one import wagon model for eight years straight.

Rear headroom is increased 2.3 inches over the standard Wagon and with the rear seat folded, cargo capacity jumps from an already impressive 70.3 cubic feet to a whopping 73.5 cubic feet.

The new Touring Wagon is available in GL or GL-10 trim with either front- or 4-wheel drive.

Extended Service Plans

By Lyn St. James—race driver and consumer adviser for Ford Motor Co.

What is an extended service plan?

An extended service plan offers protection against the high cost of future, unexpected repairs and maintenance.

Why is it important?

Today's cars and trucks are high-tech marvels. They're also more complex to work on if something does need adjustment. Consumer market analysts predict that the cost of repairs will skyrocket in the 1990s. Extended service plans will have even greater value, because they contain the cost. Ford Extended Service Plans (Plus and Total), for example, put a $25 lid on the cost of major car repairs; all you pay is the $25 deductible per repair visit.

When choosing an extended service plan what should I consider?

A wise consumer would want to know if the plan is regional or national. Where do I go for service? Is there a network of participating dealerships? Cost and coverage vary widely. is the plan comprehensive? Other key points are the company's reputation and length of time it has been in existence.

What's covered under the Ford Extended Service Plans?

Depending upon what you want and how much you spend, you are covered for unexpected repairs of some 81 (Ford ESP Base) to 113 (Ford ESP Plus) components including air conditioning, electrical, front suspension, transmission, steering and brakes: Ford ESP Total covers virtually the entire vehicle with a short list of exceptions (such as sheet metal, upholstery). This is one of the most comprehensive plans available in the industry. In addition, on covered repairs all Ford ESP contracts offer towing and car rental reimbursement. And only Ford ESP service contracts have the Ford name on them and are honored at over 6,100 participating Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers in the U.S. and Canada.

Why does an extended service plan make my vehicle more valuable when I trade it in?

According to automotive consumer experts, most vehicles covered by an extended service plan have a higher resale value as compared to the same vehicles without this coverage. The reasons are clear: when expensive repairs are covered by a plan and out-of-pocket expenses are minimized, most owners keep their vehicles in top working condition. What Ford ESP really means is peace of mind, letting you concentrate on the enjoyable part of owning your new vehicle—driving it.

Oak Lawn resident appointed to new position at Talman

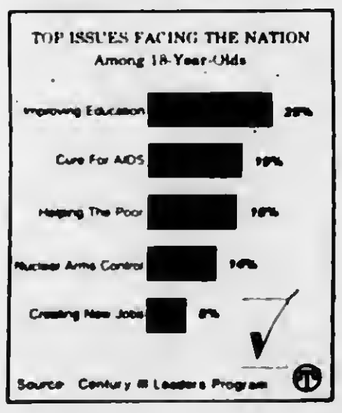
Supervisor, John A. Bliss recently was appointed assistant vice president of Talman Home Federal Savings and Loan Association, according to an announcement by Theodore H. Roberts, chairman and chief executive officer of the thrift.

Bliss began his Talman career in 1975 in equipment management/service, having gained five years experience at the Bunker-Ramo Corporation in Chicago.

He attended Ohio University in Athens, Ohio after which he acquired more than two years technical training in the electronic data processing field.

His military background includes five years of service in the United States Air Force, during which time he was stationed in Mississippi, Thailand, and the Philippines.

A native of Warren, Ohio, Bliss resides in Oak Lawn.



Meyer to address Alsip Sertoma

Emmett "Bud" Meyer, president of the Oak Lawn Senior Council, will be the guest speaker at 1:00 p.m. on Tuesday, January 17th, for the Alsip Sertoma.

Edward Fioretti, program chairman, has announced the meeting will be held at Rosewood West Rest., 131st & Cicero Ave., Crestwood. Mr. Meyer's topic will be "It's A New Life."

Meyer is also Coordinator of Seniors and Handicapped in Worth Township and Chairman of the Senior Commission in Oak Lawn.

The Bond Investor's Association

When Washington Public Power Supply System (WPPSS) defaulted on $2.25 billion of bonds in 1983, it was news. If you had bought any of these bonds, you knew your investment was in trouble because of national publicity. This is not always the case with municipal bonds that default.

Information on most municipal bonds is not readily available. The Wall Street Journal prints about 40 daily quotations out of the thousands of bonds issued. In most cases, particularly with non-registered coupon bonds, bondholders may not know a bond issue has defaulted until they try to collect their interest.

Richard Lehmann discovered this when he became involved in the WPPSS default. He joined the bondholders' committee to try to recover money for more than 30,000 investors caught with the defaulted bonds. In 1984 he independently formed the Bond Investors Association (BIA).

The BIA, a non-profit corporation located in Miami Lakes, Fla., offers information on municipal and corporate bonds and assists bondholders in the event of a default. According to their press information, a number of bond defaults were brought to a satisfactory and timely settlement without the need for prolonged litigation.

For a $25 BIA membership, you receive several worthwhile services including a newsletter, a bond-rating service and information on called bonds or bonds called for tender.

In addition, Lehmann recently started the Defaulted Bond Newsletter, which reports on defaulted municipal and corporate bonds. The monthly publication is aimed both at investors who are stuck with defaulted bonds and speculators who buy defaulted bonds at a fraction of their face value.

A recent Forbes article described a typical municipal bond default in which many bondholders take their lumps and bail out within six months for roughly 15 to 30 cents on the dollar. The bonds are then bought by speculators who sometimes hang on for years until a settlement is made, often for 50 to 70 cents on the dollar.

The Defaulted Bond Newsletter, at the cost of $195 a year, offers good information to anyone who owns municipal bonds. There's not only current information on problem bonds but also updated information on defaulted bonds. For the speculator, there's even a list of defaulted bonds with a complete description and price.

Tax-exempt municipal-bond investing can be very rewarding if properly done. Careful selection of the person and firm from whom you buy a bond goes a long way to ensure your satisfaction. You might also consider joining the more than 14,000 members of the Bond Investors Association. Their address is 15327 N.W. 60th Ave., Suite 240, Miami Lakes, FL 33014 (800-852-0444).

Internal Revenue requests correct filed forms

As the 1989 filing season approaches, the Internal Revenue Service advises you to make your taxes less taxing by getting a headstart on preparing your return. Organize your records, check your receipts, and review the instruction booklet and forms you've just received so that you'll be familiar with your tax situation and be able to file early this year.

Personal Exemptions, Tax Rates Change-Some tax changes affect everyone. For example, the personal exemption is $1,950 in 1988, up $50 from last year.

New Standard Deduction for 1988-The filing requirements have also changed slightly from last year. The standard deduction has been increased for most filers in 1988, and ranges from $2,500 to $7,400.

Social Security Numbers Required for Dependents-A taxpayer now claiming a dependent who is at least 5 years old must report the Social Security Number of the dependent on their tax return.

Consumer Interest Deductions Limited-On 1988 tax returns, those who itemize deductions may deduct 40% of consumer interest paid on outstanding loans and debts.

Home Mortgage Interest Deduction Rules Changed-In 1988, you may generally deduct all the interest on debt that is secured by your main or second home.

Business Mileage Rate Increased to 24 Cents a Mile-Those who used their cars for business purposes may use a standard mileage rate of 24 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles.

Other changes include: earned income credit liberalized in 1988, qualifying widow(er)s eligible to file Form 1040A, Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act-supplemental premiums for 1989, and electronic filing offered for the first time in 1989.

Need more Info? Consult IRS publications, or call T-A-X-N-E-W-S. IRS has over 100 free publications available on a wide variety of tax topics. All of these are available by calling IRS toll free at 1-800-424-3676, weekdays from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Your instruction booklet also has additional information on these topics.

IRS also have pre-recorded tax information on approximately 150 topics ranging from filing requirements to changes in the law. Dial T-A-X-N-E-W-S in area code 312 or 1-800-554-4477 elsewhere. The service is available 24 hours a day for those with touch-tone phones.

Judge Mackey receives award

Judge Robert G. Mackey, Law Division/ Circuit Court of Cook County, received the Phi Alpha Delta Performance Award presented to him by John K. Norris, Attorney at Law and Immediate Past Justice of the Chicago Alumni Chapter of the Phi Alpha Delta Law, Fraternity International.

The award was presented to Judge Mackey for "Outstanding Judicial Services for the Most Jury Trials Tried to Verdict in the Law Division." This is the 5th time Judge Mackey has received this award.

Conners Nominated for Worth Assessor

William E. Connors was nominated on January 10th to run for his fourth consecutive term as Worth Township Assessor. Connors will be running on the Preference Party ticket. The Preference Party is a nonpartisan slate of candidates which is headed up by Bus Yourell.

Connors told those in attendance at the nominating meeting that he could think of no greater honor than to be nominated by one's peers to run for an elected office.

Connors said that if re-elected by the people, he will continue to administer a professional office that is both efficient and frugal. Connors went on to say that over the years, he has constantly spoken out against abuses to the taxpayers. He said he knows certain taxing bodies have resented his speaking out, but when it comes to making a choice between them and the taxpayer, he will always come down on the side of the taxpayer.

Two area residents promoted

Mr. William Brouwer, President, on behalf of the Board of Directors of Oak Lawn National Bank, 9400 S. Cicero Ave., in Oak Lawn has announced two promotions of local residents.

McGugan Jr. High PTA focuses on teen suicide

5,000 or more adolescents commit suicide each year and another 500,000 attempt it. Do you know the warning signs of suicide or know the appropriate response?

The McGugan Jr. High PTA program on Wednesday, February 15, 1989 will focus on "Teen Suicide". Mrs. Nancy De Lap, Director of Oak Lawn Family Services will present a film and lead a discussion dealing with the warning signs, proper response and effective communication regarding teen suicide.

All interested persons are welcome to attend this thought provoking and interesting program on February 15th at 7:30 p.m. in the McGugan Jr. High School gym at 105th & Lockwood in Oak Lawn.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Every age has its weird hang-ups Prominent among ours involves hair styles which unquestionably will cause howls of merriment when pictured in hair style books of ages to come.

Popular women's hair styles include the mussed-up "unmade bed" type and the "hair-on-the-end" style which makes its wearers appear to be shocked out of their sox.

The men's style, popular with Washington politicians, business executives and theatrical people, is undoubtedly the most unattractive for any type. It is the round or "barrel head" style featuring a part resembling a picket fence at the very edge of the head, frequently as low as the temple! All the hair on the top of the head is then crudely mopped across the skull. Many will remember that this over-the-skull mopping was once the exclusive privilege of the bald, who draped their few strands of hair to prove that they, too, once had a head of hair.

Regretfully noted, particularly among athletes and teen agers, is the return of the unmasculine, unsanitary loading down of the back of the wearer's head with an unsightly clump of hair.

To those yearning for normalcy and attractiveness in hair styles, all this is heady stuff.

OL Doctor elected Pres. of State Association

Floyd W. Woods, O.D. was recently elected President of the Illinois Optometric Association (IOA).

Dr. Woods, an optometrist from Oak Lawn, served as an elected member of the Association's president's cabinet for the six years prior to being elected President. Four of those years Dr. Woods served as Vice President of Civic & Legal Affairs. Under his administration in this office, the Association was successful in introducing legislation beneficial to the citizens of Illinois. Through his political efforts, legislation was passed allowing optometrists to utilize diagnostic pharmaceutical agents which assists them in diagnosing eye disease.

Woods earned his Doctor of Optometry degree from Illinois College of Optometry in 1951 and returned to school to earn a Master of Education in Reading degree from Loyola University in 1973.

The Oak Lawn optometrist, who will serve a two year term as president, has a history of leadership and community service.

The IOA is a voluntary association representing over 800 Doctors of Optometry throughout the state. Doctors of Optometry, or optometrists, are health care professionals specializing in the examination, diagnosis and treatment of vision conditions or impairments.

Dr. Floyd Woods is in private practice at 5511 W. 95th Street in Oak Lawn.

OLCHS Coach elected to Hall of Fame

Oak Lawn Community High School Coach, George Dunn, was recently elected to the Illinois Track & Cross-Country Coaches Hall of Fame.

The ITCCCA Hall of Fame was established in 1977 to honor men and women who have made significant contributions to the sports of Track and Field and Cross-Country in Illinois. Currently, there are 55 members in the ITCCCA Hall of Fame. In order to receive consideration from the Hall of Fame Executive Council, the candidate must have provided at least 20 years of service to Track & Field and/or Cross-Country, and some of those years must have been in Illinois. The council may choose up to five electees per year.

Coach Dunn is currently the head Track and Field coach and co-chairperson of the OLCHS Physical Education Department and has coached 35 Conference Champions and 33 State Qualifiers in the Shot and Discus.

Coach George Dunn

In addition, five were State Champions in the Shot Put with four of Coach Dunn's athletes going on to become Big 10 Champions.

Coach Dunn is completing his 32nd year at OLCHS.

STL offers computer courses

St Laurence High School will be offering its spring schedule of courses as part of the school's Continuing Education Program. Course offerings are open to all interested adults, as well as to beginning and advanced students. Classes scheduled for February through April include: Lotus 1-2-3, Word Processing, dBASE III+, Introduction to Computers, DOS/ PRINTERS/ GRAPHICS, and an ACT Review course designed for students preparing for the spring ACT exam. The ACT Review course is not coupled with the computer study classes in any way.

Course enrollments are limited and early registration is recommended.

Registration officially closes on Monday, February 13th for the Spring classes.

Mail registration packets explaining dates, times, fees, and course descriptions can be obtained by contacting Mr. Robert Miller or Mr. Bill McLean at 594-8899 or 458-6900, Monday through Friday, between 10:30 and 4:30 p.m.

The bagpipe is an oid instrument. It is spoken of in the Oid Testament and it was used by the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans.

Talman offers Music Scholorship

Theodore H. Roberts, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Talman Home Federal Savings and Loan Association, recently announced that the institution will offer its second annual 4-year classical music scholarship.

The scholarship will be presented to a graduating high school senior who is entering a four year degree program in classical, instrumental studies. One $10,000 scholarship will be awarded each year.

"This scholarship program is another expression of Talman's commitment to the people and communities we serve and to fine music," Roberts said. "It grew out of our sponsorship of the Dame Myra Hess Concert Series where we came to know many fine performers, some of whom would not have achieved success without needed financial support," Roberts continued. "Our program is directed at recognizing and helping exceptionally promising young classical musicians."

A panel, distinguished in the classical music field, will review all applicants to determine finalists. Finalists may be required to give a live audition in Chicago at a date and time determined by the judges. The repertoire shall be exclusively selected and determined by the judges, and their decisions shall be final. The winner will be announced in the summer of 1989. Deadline for application submittals is May 1, 1989.

Interested applicants may obtain an application package by writing to:

Talks with U.S. & Laos for return of POW's

Vietnam turned over 38 more sets of remains, with possible information on 12 more. The remains are thought to be those of pilots shot down.

A radio transmission stated...700 MIA's being held against their will...SOS...SOS...SOS.. Pentagon says, "some sort of bogus transmission". The ham radio operator has been using radios since 1938. His antenna was pointed at Vietnam.

Donna Long and James Copp are home. The Laotian said to Donna, "Why are you trying to help war criminals? Why are you trying to get them out?" (note: current, not past tense.) Veterans passed the hat at a D.C. rally on Nov. 11, to raise the fine of $1500 needed to free Donna and Jim. The State Dept. would not pay, and passed on the $$$ only after begging the Veterans not to march on the Laotian Embassy.

The Supreme Court has refused to hear the "Smith McIntire" Lawsuit. (The failure of the Administration to honor the "Hostage Act", and do all short of war to get our P.O.W.'s home.) It was declined WITHOUT COMMENT.

Mrs. Anne Hart and family were awarded $382,815.00, for thc grief surrounding thc RECINDED I.D. of a set of remains the U.S.G. said was Tom Hart. Several days later, Mrs. Hart was told of a report..."Hart was alive in Laos...Hart, 2 American Captains...2 sergeants...held in E. Savannakhet..." THE GOVERNMENT TOLD HER IT COULD NOT BE TOM HART BECAUSE HIS REMAINS HAD BEEN PREVIOUSLY IDENTIFIED.

Sixteen sets of returned remains have now been placed in an "identity questionable" category.

5,500 POW's were carried as alive and in Soviet captivity in 1946, (with a large body of live sighting reports on U.S. P.O.W.'s in Soviet captivity from 1946/1947) and at the same time, 13,000 further POW's seized by the Soviets were reclassified KIA.

Documents in the National Archives show that not 389 confirmed P.O.W.'s, but 3,000 were alive and left in Korea.

A story out of the Washington Post said that "Qinghai is China's provencc with the most to hide"...a land of exile and forced labor, of lost hope for those who have been imprisoned here...the government seems intent on maintaining its secrecy...about labor camps...90% of this huge provence remains off limits to foreigners...no one knows how many prisoners havebeen shipped...observers believers...may hold tens of thousands of prisoners..."

Bill Hendon, Beth Stewart, Anne Hart, and other family members, have formed the POW Publicity Fund to publicize in Asia the 2.4 million dollar reward offered by Hendon, 21 of his former colleagues, and Red McDaniel have offered for thc re[illegible] a LIVE AMEI POW. The Publicity Fund a[illegible] is P.O. Box 6863, McLean, VA 22106. Telephone, 202-686-

[illegible]lks in December [illegible]nd January between the [illegible].S. and Laos have brought promises of more research, surveys, and excavations to resolve thc 547 missing U.S. Servicemen from the Vietnam War. Mcanwhilc, a joint excavation in Southern Laos did uncover remains, and 4 additional excavation sites were surveyed.

Talks are still ongoing with Vietnam, with more meetings scheduled for 1989.

The Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act is the topic for discussion during a program scheduled by the Oak Lawn Public Library, 9427 Raymond, 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 23. Charles A. Ferris, vice president of Dean Witter Reynolds, will be on hand to talk about the impact of this Act on Medicare participants. There will be an opportunity for questions from the audience.

The program is open to the public without charge or pre-registration. Seating will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

Call Mary Nelson, public relations officer, 422-4990, for additional information.

The Basic Great Books Leadership Training Course will be held at the Oak Lawn Library, on Wednesday, Feb. 15, and Thursday, Feb. 16 from 4 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Attendance at both sessions is required for certification. The course prepares teachers and volunteers to lead both Junior and Adult Great Books discussion groups. No home work or other preparation is required. Great Books sets the fee at $60 per person.

For registration information, contact Dr. Ernest Jaski who is coordinating the Great Books program at the Library. He can be reached at 735-3000, ext. 391, days; and at 636-1997, evenings.

Librarian participates in exchange program

Librarian Kathy O'Leary will work in the Dublin, Ireland, library for three months under a staff exchange program approved by the Oak Lawn library board. A librarian from Dublin will work in O'Leary's place at the Oak Lawn Library. The exchange will take place in July. Both librarians continue to receive their pay and benefits from their home libraries during the time involved. They are responsible for their own personal expenses, so no additional expenses will be incurred by the Oak Lawn Library.

In other board action, the library's liability insurance for 1989 was awarded to Norman Olson Insurance Agency for $22,861, the lowest quote received. The policy covers the building, its contents and its vehicles.

The board heard a report from Don Lambrigger, head of building services, relative to a new roofing material. The library roof will be replaced this year. The board had hoped to put on a new roof last fall when it was determined that extreme weather had damaged the roof beyond repair. When it became evident that it could not be done before winter set in, temporary repairs were made. The plan now is to solicit bids in February so that the board can take action at its March meeting.

Trustee William Roach, head of the director search committee, indicated that he had received seven applications to date. The board is conducting a nationwide search for a new director. The vacancy was created when the former director left Oak Lawn to take a position downstate.

The board approved payment of bills and invoices for $20,115.76 for library material; $21,559.87 for general operating expenses; and $118,483.23 for salaries.

The next regular board meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, February 21. Meetings are open to the public.

Board members are Beth McElroy, president; Dave Gallagher, vice president; Carol James, treasurer; Shirley Barrett, secretary; and trustees Evelyn Goltz, William Roach and Marian Sullivan.

The Gatlin Brothers return to the Rialto

Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers return to the Rialto Square Theatre in Joliet, for one performance at 8pm Friday, February 17.

Several top artists have recorded songs by Larry Gatlin, including Johnny Cash, Johnny Mathis, Mickey Gilley and Barbara Streisand. However, the only music the Gatlins perform, is "Gatlin."

"Nobody knows the Gatlins like the Gatlins," is their credo. "If we take care of our music, our music will take care of us. Nothing makes us happier than recording and performing our own material."

Together they achieve a relaxed atmosphere, on stage with the music they sing, and in their audience with the good time they create.

Tickets for the Gatlin Brothers are $21.50, $19, $15.75 and $8.00, available at the Rialto Ticket Office, 102 N. Chicago St., in Joliet. Call (815) 726-6600 or Ticketmaster, (312) 902-1500. Presented by Bill Jacobs, Inc.

Oak Lawn High School State Scholars named

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission recently announced the 1989-90 Illinois State Scholars. Of this year's Scholars, 21 are students at Oak Lawn Community High School. Although program participation by high schools is voluntary, nearly all of Illinois' top students elect to have test scores and high school class rank sent to ISSC for consideration in the popular program. About 10% of Illinois' high school seniors are designated State Scholars and receive Certificate of Achievement for the accomplishment.

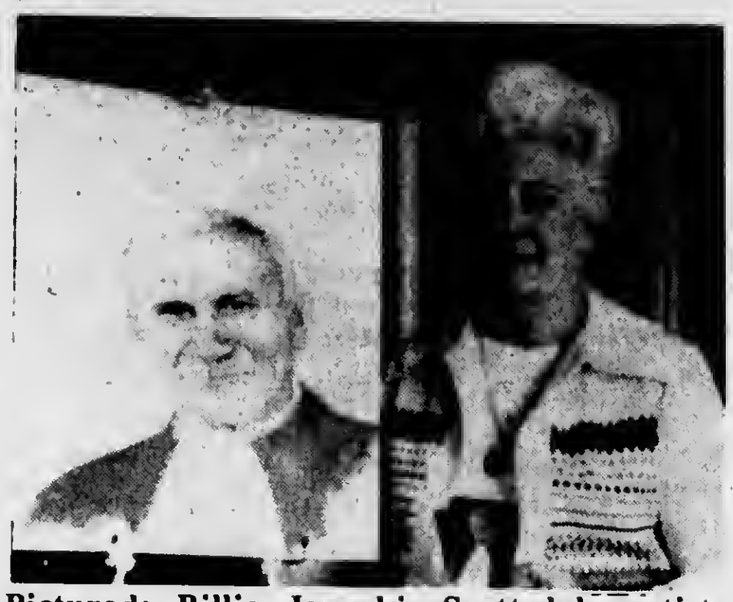
Nurses Honored

Thirty-eight Moraine Valley Community College nursing students who completed the nursing program in December were honored during a special recognition ceremony held at the college recently.

These nursing students are now eligible to sit for the state licensure examination.

Students honored were: Kathy Barry, Arlene Chear, Darlene Chear, Julie Erdmann, Nancy Glavin, Cynthia Glowicki, Patricia Kovacs, Terri McGrath, and Jeanette Simeur, all of Oak Lawn. From Evergreen Park, Regina Bracken, Catharine Doyle, Delphine Kallas, and Bonnie Noga. Bridgeview graduates were Carolyn Goodrich and Patricia Lecompte. Helen Perrin and Helen Samoska of Chicago Ridge. Also graduating were Barbara Fideli of Hometown and Kimberly Maul of Worth.

MVCC schedules Art classes



Moraine Valley Community College has scheduled two classes of "Introduction to Pastels" by Scottsdale artist Billie Janecki, who is a charter member of Midwest Pastel Society.

Pastel is the art of painting in pure pigment in stick form, requires no drying time, and can be used on many surfaces. Some of the old masters such as Degas, Renoir, Monet, Mary Cassatt and others used pastels for completed works of art as well as for sketching, which can be viewed in museums and private collections all over the word.

MVCC, through its Center for Continuing Education at off-campus sites, offers the following classes:

Ridgeland Center, 115th & Ridgeland Ave., Worth. Saturdays, 12:30-3:00 p.m., February 8 to April 1.

And/Or at Reavis' High School, 77th & Austin, Burbank. Wednesdays, 7-9 P.M., February 4 to April 5. Code PAI-210-65, Room 246. To register call 974-2110.

Brownie troop visits local nursing home

Sooner or later nearly everyone finds it necessary to visit a family member or friend in a nursing home. But some just visit to share a smile or friendly work with a resident of a nursing home.

That's what Brownie Troop #415 from St. Jane de Chantal School in Chicago did when they recently visited with residents of Americana-Monticello Healthcare Center, 6300 W. 95th St., in Oak Lawn.

The first and second graders made valentine candy treats with the residents and brought handmade sachets.

Tele-tax tips for the taxpayer

The early bird gets a quicker refund, and according to the Internal Revenue Service, people who file early usually make fewer mistakes too.

If you send in your return now, there's a good chance you'll get your refund check within four to six weeks, the IRS says. If you wait until March or April, it can often take six to eight weeks and sometimes longer.

Here are some tips that can cut down on errors and help speed your tax refund to you.

* Use the pre-addressed label that came with your tax package.
* Mail your form in the coded envelopes that came with your tax package.
* Write the full name, and if age 5 or more, the social security number, of each dependent you claim on the front of your form.
* Get a W-2 form from each employer you worked for during 1988. Most banks and businesses are required to give you a year-end statement, usually a Form 1099.
* Sign your return. If you're married and file a joint return, both husband and wife must sign. Be sure to put enough postage on the mailing envelope.

Tele-Tax has more good ideas to help you. Tape number 465, for example, focuses on common errors people make on their returns. Check your tax package for a complete list of tape numbers and subjects. You can listen to Tele-Tax messages any time of the day or night by calling toll-free 1-800-554-4477.

Displaced homemakers get help from women's advocate group

Project Impact, the employment and training program of Southwest Women Working Together is looking for displaced homemakers-women over 35 who have recently become the sole support of their households. Typically, displaced homemakers are women who have worked for years raising their families, managing households and volunteering - but may never have worked outside the home.

"The displaced homemaker is likely to be recently widowed, separated or divorced; which is stressful to begin with. The added pressures of being totally financially responsible for herself and her family, maybe for the first time, can be overwhelming," says Marjorie Sharp, Director of Project Impact.

Project Impact is designed especially for the displaced homemaker. Instructors understand the special problems and needs of women who need to boost self-confidence as well as job skills during this transitional time in their lives. Three-week, job readiness workshops are offered by the program each month. For registration and information, call Pat at 436-0550.

Red Cross opens new office

The American Red Cross opened a new office this past week in the North Palos Fire Station, 10629 S. Roberts Road, Palos Hills.

A variety of services will be offered including Standard First Aid classes, CPR and instructor updates.

There will also be numerous classes for young people such as First Aid for Little People for those in kindergarten through 2nd grade, BAT (Basic Aid Training) which is geared to 4th and 5th graders, and babysitting for 4th through 6th grades.

Office hours for the new American Red Cross center will be 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. For more information please call Joann Settle at 312-331-1075.

Pilgrim Faith Church meet

Mr. Terry Teele of the Senior Citizens Advocacy Division in the Office of Illinois Atty. General Neil F. Hartigan, will be a guest speaker at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, February 15th, at the Pilgrim Faith United Church, 9411 S. 51st Ave. in Oak Lawn.

Marie Arrigoni, program coordinator, has announced that also on the program will be Beth A. McElroy, president of the Oak Lawn Public Library Board. Ms. McElroy will speak on "The Services Provided By Your Own Public Library".

Daley's aid addresses seniors club

An aide to Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley is scheduled to address members of the Garden Senior Citizens Club on Feb. 24 at 1:45 p.m. at First United Methodist Church, 100th and Central, in Oak Lawn.

Assistant State's Attorney Terry Takash will discuss crimes against the elderly and the services available from the prosecutor's office to assist the victims of such offenses.

Takash's appearance was arranged through Daley's Speakers Bureau, which provides experts on any topic relating to the criminal justice system to groups and organizations requesting a speaker.

For information on scheduling a speaker, contact Timothy Mitchell at 443-5598.

Daley's hotline

Chicago and suburban residents who know of specific information on hate crime activity--offenses committed due to the race, color, creed, religion, national origin, or sexual orientation of the victim--are urged to report it to State's Attorney Richard M. Daley's 24-hour Hate Crimes Hotline at 443-5252.

Non- for profit agencies to apply for grants

Public, private not-for-profit and for-profit businesses are invited to register with the Suburban Area Agency on Aging (formerly the Suburban Cook County Area Agency on Aging) to receive all announcements of available funds for supportive, nutrition, senior center and case coordination services. The Suburban Area Agency on Aging (the Area Agency), which is designated to distribute federal Older Americans Act and State Aging services funds, will be issuing a Request For Proposals (RFP) for services for Fiscal Year 1990 (beginning October 1, 1989) in late February 1989. The RFP may permit multi-year funding for social services.

The Area Agency provides funds for services in suburban Cook County such as information and referral, chore, legal, congregate and home delivered meals, senior center and case coordination.

For registration information, please write to: Suburban Area Agency on Aging, 600 West Jackson, Suite 600, Chicago, Illinois 60606, ATTENTION: Carol Reagan, Field Services Supervisor, telephone (312) 559-0616.

Admission test for Morgan Park Academy

Morgan Park Academy Headmaster David A. Jones has announced that applications for admission to all grades are now available for the 1989-90 school year, and entrance examinations will be administered during March and April.

Scheduled testing dates for the various grades are as follows: March 11--2nd through 12th grades; March 18--2nd through 12th grades; April 8--1st grade only; April 22 and April 29--pre-first grade only. There is a $25 testing fee charged of all applicants. Parents interested in obtaining informational literature and an application form are encouraged to contact the Admissions Office at (312) 881-6700.

Scholarships sponsored by local club

Applications are now available for the academic scholarships sponsored by the Oak Lawn Rotary Club Forms are available at the Oak Lawn National Bank, Oak Lawn Trust and Savings Bank, Oak Lawn Heritage Bank and area high schools.

The scholarships are limited to Oak Lawn residents who are or will be high school graduates this spring. However, older residents are eligible. Scholarships may be used in college or in vocational schools.

Deadline for receipt of applications is March 1. Chair of the Rotary Scholarship Committee is Edward Kapelinski, who may be reached at Fox College, 636-7700.

Notification of awards is timed for March 27, and recipients are traditionally honored at a Rotary Club luncheon in the spring. Since 1980, the Oak Lawn Rotary Club has provided more than $100,000 in scholarships.

Lenten season starts at Evergreen Park Church

"A Climate of Caring", the focus for the Lenten Season at the First United Methodist Church, 94th & Homan Avenue, Evergreen Park, will develop an awareness of the many ways we can answer God's call to care.

Each Wednesday evening celebration, starting on February 8 with the Ash Wednesday, observance of Holy Communion, begins at 7:00 p.m. preceded by a family pot-luck supper at 6:00 p.m.

Holy Week celebrations will be held on Palm/Passion Sunday, Maundy Thursday, Good Friday, and Easter Sunday.

A Community Good Friday Service will be held on Friday, March 24th from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. Pastors from five Evergreen Park churches will participate in the service with music from a combined choir.

The church celebrations are open to all those interested in caring and growing in Christian faith. For the pot luck supper bring a covered dish to share.

For further information call Pastor John Gillham 422-8451 or 422-1059.

TIPS ON TRIPS

Smooth Sailing In Jamaica After The Storm

There could be good news for those who plan—or only dream—of cruising the Caribbean soon. Despite Hurricane Gilbert, Jamaica remains one of the leading cruise destinations in the Caribbean. Port facilities are completely functional and 24 cruise ships will either operate out of Montego Bay or Ocho Rios or feature Jamaica as a port of call.

Jamaica's major attractions, including Dunn's River Falls, a magnificent 600-foot cascading waterfall near Ocho Rios; Martha Brae River in Montego Bay; Prospect Plantation, a working plantation in Ocho Rios; and Devon House, a nineteenth century estate near Kingston were not seriously damaged by the hurricane and are open as usual. Jamaica's nine golf courses, hundreds of tennis courts and other sports facilities remain among the best in the Caribbean.

Vacationers enjoy a cruise to Jamaica.

Regency Cruises which sails from Montego Bay, Jamaica, on two seven-day itineraries, one to the Panama Canal and one to Santa Domingo, Puerto Rico, St. Barts and St. Maarten resumed its schedule immediately.

According to William Schanz, Chairman and CEO of Regency Cruises, representatives of the cruise line stationed in Montego Bay, reported that port facilities are completely functional.

For further information on Jamaica and its attractions, contact the Jamaica Tourist Board nearest you. New York (212) 688-7650; Chicago (312) 346-1546; Miami (305). 665-0557; Los Angeles (213) 384-1123; Dallas (214) 361-8778.

Science winners will advance to regional

Nine Morgan Park Academy Middle School students will advance to the Regional Science Fair to be held March 11, 18, and 19 at the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago.

Representing the Academy in the Project category at the Regional Science Fair will be Robert Schlenker of Chicago, Latania Broyls of Chicago, Nellie Yeretsian of Munster, Indiana, and Michael Mesleh of Orland Park. Entering the Papers category will be Kani Ilangovan of Palos Heights, Lucille O'Young of Oak Lawn, and competing in the Essay division will be Andrew Boyd of Evergreen Park, Deborah Aruguete of Orland Park, and Chirag Shah of Oak Lawn.

Local students receive "A" honors

Br. Arthur M. Arndt, Principal of St. Laurence High School, is pleased to announce the names of those students from the Southwest Side of Chicago, and neighboring southwestern suburbs who have achieved Superior "A" Honor Roll Status at mid-term of the 1988-89 school year.

CLOTHING CARE

Helpful Hints From The International Fabricare Institute

Saving Silk

You can be a real smoothie when it comes to keeping silk clothes clean if you remember an important point: If, when you spill something on silk your first impulse is to grab something to rub it off with, don't.

When silk fibers are wet, they're weaker and subject to chafing. If you spill on silk, gently blot the area and avoid rubbing. Take it to your dry-cleaner within a week so the stain doesn't set, and be sure to point out the stained area.

Silk garments labeled "dry clean only" should not be washed at home. Look to th.. label on the clothes for the best advice about care and cleaning. Then you can be all set to keep your silky clothes looking their best.

Lending A Hand ...In Spanish

If you are one of the more than 18 million Spanish-speaking consumers in the United States, here's some good news for you: Roche Laboratories, a division of Hoffmann-La Roche Inc., a major health care company, located in Nutley, New Jersey is now making Spanish-language product booklets available to doctors, pharmacists and health care professionals nationwide. In the last ten years, over 50 million Medication Education booklets have been distributed free of charge in the U.S. Now, Spanish versions of these product booklets will also be available—to help you understand:

- Why your doctor has prescribed your Roche medication
- What the medication does
- How long you'll have to take it
- What side effects might occur
- If you can take other medications with this one

If you or someone you know would benefit from the new Spanish-language versions of these booklets—or from the English versions—just ask your doctor or pharmacist about them.

Information From Mazola F.A.C.T.S.

(Fat And Cholesterol Tips Service)

With more than fifty percent of Americans' blood cholesterol levels in higher than desirable risk categories and thirty percent of the adult population significantly overweight, it's no wonder we're looking for easy ways to cut saturated fat and calories in our diets.

While it may be difficult to completely swear off foods like hamburgers, cheese, ice cream and butter, substituting lower-fat foods for their higher-fat counterparts is an important first step toward a healthier eating style.

For instance, in cooking, low-fat yogurt is a good substitute for sour cream. When recipes call for ground beef, ground turkey is a lower-fat option. And at the table, a light spread like new Mazola Light corn oil spread is a great tasting stand-in for butter or margarine—with half the fat and calories and no cholesterol. Only 50 calories per tablespoon—fewer than any leading light spread—Mazola Light spread is healthful and tasty on toast, muffins, pancakes and hot-from-the-oven baked potatoes.

"A low-fat, low-calorie eating pattern does not mean sacrificing good taste," says Dr. Mark Bieber of Mazola F.A.C.T.S. "Smart substitutions of lower-fat, lower-cholesterol foods can help make meals interesting and appetizing."

TALK ABOUT PRESCRIPTIONS

Your Aging Parents and Prescription Drugs

As you grow older, your parents do too. They may take more prescription medicines to stay in good health.

The fact is older people experience more adverse medicine reactions and interactions. So, if you care for an older relative, remember these tips from the National Council on Patient Information and Education:

- make sure you know the name of each medicine being taken and what it's supposed to do
- never skip a dose or stop giving a medication without checking with the doctor
- understand how and when to give the medicine
- buy all medicines from one pharmacy
- keep the doctor informed of non-prescription drugs the patient is taking
- be alert to physical and mental changes in the patient, and
- make sure the patient sees the doctor every three to six months for a check-up.

Planning helps prevent Flu and Pneumonia

Warning: The Winter Health Watch is now in effect.

By mid-January the flu will be appearing in about 28 states. According to the American Lung Association, in a flu epidemic year nearly 30 percent of the population will contract influenza. A viral infection of the bronchial tubes and lungs, influenza affects the whole body with chills, fever, loss of appetite, sore throat and aching.

Because it weakens the body's defenses against bacteria, the flu can cause further complications, the most common of which is bacterial pneumonia. When the body's defenses are weakened the pneumococcus bacteria, often present in healthy throats, start to invade the bronchial tubes and lungs. As many as 60,000 Americans can die in an epidemic year from both influenza and pneumococcal pneumonia, according to Surgeon General Koop.

Fortunately, there are vaccines available against influenza and pneumococcal pneumonia.

In 1983, Lederle Laboratories introduced PNU-IMUNE®23, a vaccine protecting against the 23 strains of pneumococci that cause nearly 90 percent of serious pneumococcal disease. It is needed only once in a lifetime and is reimbursable by Medicare. As many as 40,000 Americans died last year from pneumococcal disease according to the Centers for Disease Control. It is America's sixth leading killer. The use of pneumococcal vaccines such as PNU-IMUNE®23 can reduce that number significantly.

High Risk Categories

Who is at a high risk to contract pneumococcal pneumonia?

- Older adults, especially those over 65;

- Adults and children who have chronic illnesses such as lung or heart problems, kidney disease or diabetes requiring regular medical follow up or hospitalization.
- Residents of nursing homes or other long-term health care facilities.

According to the National Foundation for Infectious Diseases, the death rate from pneumococcal pneumonia is 2.5 times higher for people age 65 to 74 than in younger adults. Over 75, the death rate is much greater.

Since vaccines are available and have been proven effective against flu and pneumonia, they can and should be used in appropriate individuals as a Public Health measure. Prevention is the best policy since flu and pneumonia can be spread by a simple handshake or sneeze.

Population projections for the future show a continued growth of the number of people over 65. Therefore, adult immunization is important to help maintain a healthy society and assure that Americans are able to be independent, productive, and healthy as long as possible.

Think today about a healthy tomorrow.

Spend It Now...Or Save It For Retirement?

Each year millions of American workers receive lump sums of money (sometimes called cash-outs) from a pension plan, either because they leave their jobs or because their pension plans are terminated. In some cases, the lump sums are quite large. Many people spend this apparent bonanza on a vacation, a new car, or simply paying household bills.

But while the amounts of lump sum payments some people get may be high, they are not nearly as high as the amounts those same people would have gotten in benefits beginning at retirement age. This is because benefits payable at a younger age have not had time to grow to their maximum value.

Young people and women are most apt to take lump sums, and they are also most likely to spend the money. Young workers tend to put off worrying about the future, confident they will land a job with a generous pension later in life.

The traditional work patterns of women leaving jobs to assume family responsibilities have the effect of reducing their pensions and social security benefits. For this reason women would be smart to hold on to as much of their pension monies as they can.

So think before you spend that lump sum. Invested in annuities or other types of retirement accounts, it could mean the difference between poverty and financial security in the years to come.

Pointers For Parents

How to Cope With Family Stress

Being a parent has always been a demanding job, but in the 1980s it is made even more difficult by the new challenges in family life.

Some parents don't know how to handle the stress of being a parent in a positive way. In fact, they take their frustration and anger out on their children. The mishandling of stress is a leading factor in child abuse cases.

If you have ever felt overwhelmed by family problems, you are not alone. It is possible to cope with stress and minimize the pressure and anxiety that often leads to child abuse. Following are some tips for recognizing and coping with family stress:

Top Family Stressors

1. Money problems—Couples often disagree on how and when to spend money. When there is not enough money to meet family expenses or when couples disagree on ways to allocate funds, unhealthy levels of stress can build up within the family and lead to child abuse. One solution to family money problems is to visit a credit counselor at a local credit union. Often this service is free, and includes helpful advice on debt consolidation and effective family budgeting.

2. Caring for "special children"—All children are special, but some require more care and attention than others. Children with behavior problems, birth defects and handicaps require extraordinary care. The Department of Children and Family Services (found in your phone book) can refer you to counseling services and treatment programs to help ease the strain of caring for a "special" child.

3. Lack of private time for parents—Couples need private time for the intimate conversation and contact that keeps them united against life's troubles. Couples should make a date each week to spend some quiet time away from the children.

4. Unequal sharing of family responsibilities—Since the majority of couples must both work to make ends meet these days, the sharing of family responsibilities should also be evenly divided. Both parents should help with household chores, meals and caring for the children.

5. Difficulties communicating with children—Sometimes a breakdown in communication occurs because parents and children don't spend enough quality time together. Parents and children should have a private time each day, to share the problems and the joys of family life.

6. Lack of "me" time for each parent—Taking time out for yourself is important. Couples can alternate watching the children for each other; single parents can seek the help of supportive relatives and friends in order to arrange regular personal time.

7. Guilt for not accomplishing more—Guilt over not accomplishing more in the workplace or within the family can become a heavy burden. The best way to reduce this strain is to be gentle with yourself (and your partner) and give yourself praise for all of the positive contributions you make. Also, learn how to ask for help when necessary.

8. Poor spousal relationship—Every couple goes through "rough spots" within a marriage; but sometimes professional help is needed to put a couple back on track. If the relationship with your mate is causing family stress, call a clergyman or a doctor for referral to a marriage counselor. Or contact the Department of Child and Family Services.

9. Lack of family playtime—Families need time to play and enjoy the uncomplicated joy of being together.

The key to preventing child abuse is to avoid unleashing your frustrations on your children. By following the tips listed above, you can learn to cope with family stress, and provide a happier home life for your partner and your children.

If you would like more information about child abuse prevention, contact The Independent Order of Foresters, one of the world's largest fraternal benefit societies. As part of its ongoing commitment to the prevention of child abuse, the IOF distributes informational booklets and produces and distributes films to educate the public about this tragic problem. For information about booklets and films, call The Independent Order of Foresters, toll-free at 1-800-828-1540. Or, write The IOF Prevention of Child Abuse Fund, P.O. Box 848, Solana Beach, CA 92075.

Your Computer

Choosing Software Shouldn't Be A Hard Job

Choosing the best available software for your computer needn't take a big "byte" out of your time or budget. Here's information from the software experts at Berkeley Softworks, creators of GEOS® (Graphics Environment Operating System) and GEOS-based applications, aimed to help you find the best software for you and your child's needs. The most popular software applications are graphically based with a mouse or joystick interface and include: desktop publishing, word processing, education, entertainment, financial management, graphic and paint programs and networking systems.

Desktop publishing, the most sophisticated application now on the market, enables you to print typeset quality documents, as well as mix text and graphics. You can produce customized newsletters, flyers, posters, invitations, greeting cards and more.

A word processor lets you type without worrying about mistakes. You can correct and edit sentences and move blocks of information as you go or after you're done writing. Many word processors include utilities such as an outliner, spell checker, and thesaurus. A merge program lets you create letters and merge them with personalized data.

As an educational tool, a personal computer can help both children and adults. Math drills and practice, games designed to expand logic skills and touch typing lessons are a sampling of current software programs available.

Many people like to use their PC for entertainment.

New software programs available for home computers make balancing the family budget child's play.

You can have hours of fun with adventure, arcade and logic games.

Easy-to-use financial programs can calculate mortgage payments, create home budgets, manage stock portfolios and even figure income taxes.

Graphics and paint utilities are used to enhance documents or solely for creative pleasure. Several of these packages are available and they provide enough features to allow any user to create attractive images. The software helps users with unsteady hands draw perfect circles, ellipses, squares, straight and curved lines.

With a modem hook-up, you can access educational services or networks, play games, exchange information and talk to other users.

Remember that these software programs are available for all types of computers—even the inexpensive Commodore 64, 128 and Apple II series computers. If you'd like to find out more about how these and other software applications can help you get more from your computer, write for a free buyer's guide to: Berkeley Softworks, P.O. Box 1835, Berkeley, CA 94704.

Paintings on Maine at First National Bank

Forty-nine year resident of Evergreen Park, Marguerite Lucy, is proudly displaying her oil paintings in the gallery at First National Bank of Evergreen Park, 3101 W. 95th Street. As a child, Mrs. Lucy took painting lessons every Saturday at the Art Institute of Chicago Now retired, she resumed her painting lessons at the Evergreen Senior Center.

Mrs. Lucy has displayed her landscapes of Maine and Iowa at Evergreen Park High School and the Senior Center. These lovely paintings will be on display until February 24th.

POLITICAL PAMPHLET HIT BY INCUMBENTS

By Brian Begy

Members of Oak Lawn Village Board who are seeking re-election in the April 4th election lashed out at a pamphlet issued by the We The People Party supporting its candidates for Mayor, Clerk, and Trustee positions.

The pamphlet alleges that Oak Lawn is making a $4 million annual profit from the sale of water to Oak Lawn residents and to surrounding communities. The pamphlet drew its figures from a Village audit.

Village Manager Richard O'Neill denied these charges and said the alleged profits were based upon incomplete figures.

The pamphlet said the Village receives $11.2 million in revenue each year. The pamphlet also says Oak Lawn purchases that water from the City of Chicago for $7 million annually, leaving a $4 million surplus.

O'Neill said the estimates do not take into account costs other than the value of the water itself. He cited pumping cost ($.5 million), operating costs such as repair and service crews ($1.7 million), sewer costs ($.8 million) and interest on bonds used to fund construction of equipment ($1.5 million), to prove that the Village is not making an enormous profit.

O'Neill said the Village is making no profit, actually ran a $12,000 deficit last year.

Trustee Ron Stancik (2nd District), who is opposed by We The People Candidate Michael Bates, said the pamphlet "asked for complete accounting of the water fund and I think we've done just that."

Trustee Jay Bergamini,(6th District), who is opposed by We The People candidate Harold Mozwecz called the pamphlet "flat out irresponsible."

O'Neill said the pamphlet's suggestion to use water fund profits to ease the burden of property taxes is illegal.

He said state law prohibits the use of funds earmarked for special funds for General Fund purposes. We The People candidate for mayor, Edward Roche charged the Village consistently spent $300,000 for General Fund purposes out of water revenue.

Roche, said the purpose of the pamphlet was not to provide a detailed examination of the water program, but rather to show how the Village uses revenues from sources other than property taxes. We The People has consistently opposed those taxes.

OAK LAWN RECYCLING PROGRAM PART OF VILLAGE WIDE "WAR ON WASTE"

Mayor Earnest Kolb announced at the Board of Trustees meeting on January 26 that community wide curbside recyeling is now a reality in Oak Lawn. Newspapers, glass bottles and jars, and food and beverage cans are picked up once a week from all homeowners' recycling bins left at curbside. Participation rates in excess of 50% have moved Oak Lawn into a positive cash flow position in the reeyeling effort.

Mayor Kolb also noted that the pickup of recycled material from the containers by unauthorized individuals is reducing the volume of recyeled material. On one of the pickup routes, in just one day, an estimated 5,000 pounds of newspaper disappeared.

An existing ordinance prohibits any individuals from picking up paper, bottles, and cans.

Anyone who sees recycling rustlers helping themselves to the contents of recyeling containers is asked to call the Neighborhood Watch telephone number: 911. These calls will be followed up by the Village police department. Please do not attempt to enforce the ordinance yourself. For general information about the recyeling program, contact the Public Works Department at 636-4400.

By recycling bottles, paper, and cans, and by keeping eyes and ears open, Village residents can help in this War on Waste.

TUITION ON RISE

Tuition and fees in Illinois state universities have increased at nearly triple the rate as general state support during the last decade, Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported.

At the same time, General Funds spending on higher education has slipped from 12.2% of the budget in fiscal 1979 to 10.6% in fiscal 1988.

In his monthly report on state finances, Burris noted spending from General Funds for higher education increased 58.4% from $799 million in fiscal 1979 to $1,266 billion in fiscal 1988. At the same time, the average tuition and fees in the state university system increased 150% from $757 to $1,924.

Further, Burris reported scholarship grant levels have not kept paec with tuition and fee increases.

MEYER HONORED FOR SERVICE

Mayor Ernie Kolb of Oak Lawn made the first proclamation of the year in presenting the "Commendation for 15 Years of Tremendous Service and Dedication to the Oak Lawn Senior Center" to Emmett "Bud" Meyer, President of the Oak Lawn Senior Council.

Mayor Kolb had high praise for "Bud" Meyer who was the driving force in building the Senior Center.

Meyer is also Coordinator of Seniors and Handicapped in Worth Township and Chairman of the Senior Commission in Oak Lawn.

LITTLE COMPANY SEEKS VOLUNTEERS

Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Centers is currently seeking high school students to participate in its Junior Volunteer Summer Program. A special orientation for the junior volunteers will be held on Saturday, April 8, in the Little Company of Mary Hospital Education Building at 95th and Francisco Avenue, Evergreen Park, at 9:00 a.m.

Junior Volunteers at LCMH have the opportunity to interact with the hospital staff and patients, assisting in a variety of activities that will give them practical work experience. The summer program begins Monday, June 10, and runs through Friday, August 18, 1989. This is a great opportunity for high school students to donate part of their summer vacation to a worthwhile cause while gaining an enriching and rewarding experience in a professional health care setting.

For further information about the Junior Volunteer Summer Program, or to enroll in the program, call the Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Centers' Volunteer Services Office, 422-6200, extension 5280.

CALL TO INVESTIGATE STREIT

Dear Editor,

I have been a registered Republican for 39 years. At NO time have I voted for others than Republicans, as I believe in our standards and causes. While I have not been a very politically active person, I did run for Trustee in my village and have passed out literature for others of my party. I have also contributed monetarily to various local and national Republican groups. For the first time, I attended a caucus meeting for the Worth Township Republican Party on Tuesday, January 10th, 1989.

I have never been so appalled at the actions taken by the persons chairing that meeting in my life. I felt as if I were in Russia or Nazi Germany. Rules of Order were not followed or merely dismissed. Caucus Judges, in deciding voice voting, must have been completely deaf.

There were so many other things that went on at that meeting that smelled of dictatorship, they are too many to numerate or even describe.

If this is what our local Republican Party has come to, I feel sorry for us.

I really feel that an investigation should be made as to the conduct of the chairman, Mr. Bob Strait, and his "Cronies".

You may think this is the wailing of someone who was disappointed his people did not win. IT IS NOT! I had no favorites. I went to listen and learn. It was a complete waste of time and reminded me of what I heard went on in the smoke filled rooms of Chicago Democrats.

I am certainly very, very disappointed. I imagine when the local Democrats hear what went on, they will probably throw a victory party.

Sincerely yours,
Lee R. Whelan
Evergreen Park

YOURELL REFUTES ALLEGATIONS

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to the recent comments of Mr. Streit, the candidate for Worth Township Supervisor under the Republican Party label. Mr. Streit has alleged that there is a plot to undermine the Worth Township Republican Organization and that the Worth Township Regular Democratic Organization and the newly formed Township Choice Party headed by Joseph McCarthy are working together to accomplish the above.

I submit the following documents for your review, which refutes the allegations made by Mr. Streit. Enclosed you will find a list of names of the people who circulated petitions for the Township Choice Party. There is only one person who circulated those petitions, who is a member of the Worth Township Regular Democratic Organization. That person's name is George Palluck. His name is circled on the enclosed sheets. Mr. Palluck also circulated petitions for my party, the Preference Party.

If Mr. Streit is so interested in finding fault with other organizations, he should concentrate on the fraudulent signatures and the altering of documents relative to the papers submitted by the Township Choice Party. The altering of documents is a very serious problem, and should be investigated.

As you can see by the enclosed information, only 4 of the 9 candidates on the Township Choice Party took the time to circulate petitions. Nick Ruggiero, whose son is running for Township Assessor, took the time to circulate 46 petitions, which is the highest number circulated. Congratulations Nick!

Sincerely,
Harry "Bus" Yourell

DIXON ADDS FLYER DELIVERY CO.

Annette Dixon, owner of Village View Publication, Inc., recently added another facet of business to the corporation. It is Add-a-Flyer; a flyer delivery service throughout Oak Lawn and surrounding suburbs.

The creation of a service of this nature originated from a necd of local merchants to do direct advertising at a very minimal cost to their business. This 'direct advertising' can cost as little as 3 cents per household. The flyers arrive at each house neatly stuffed into plastic door knob bags via delivery boys, closely supervised. A percentage of the flyers will be delivered with the Village View Newspaper, also in the package.

Annette Dixon is a member of the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce. She is on the Board of Directors for the Illinois Small Business Men's Association, as well as the Southwest YMCA. Annette is the Vice-president of United Way of Oak Lawn.

Among her current laurels, Annette Dixon is a former candidate for State Representative in the 27th District, and long time resident of Oak Lawn. She is a former Vice-president of the American Association of University Women, and a former board member of Southwest Women Working Together.

As evidenced by her long record of service to the community in various capacities, i.e., business, politics, and volunteer organizations, Annette Dixon is committed to the goal of economic prosperity in the Oak Lawn area. Again, this is manifested in her desire to promote fellow business people and their services in the community.

For more information about Add-a-Flyer, and ways to set up direct advertising at a minimal cost, please call Village View Publications at 423-8717, and ask for Annette Dixon.

CUB CALLS FOR HEARINGS TO OPPOSE BELL INCREASE

The Citizens Utility Board (CUB) recently called on state regulators to slate public hearings throughout Illinois to give consumers a chance to voice their opposition to Illinois Bell's request for $50 million rate increase and massive restructuring of local phone rates.

CUB's request was made during the first Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) hearing held on the phone company's proposal. Bell serves about 4 million customers throughout Illinois and provides local phone service to the state's major urban areas. CUB has filed a motion asking the ICC to slate at least 11 public hearings.

"If this plan is approved, local phone service will never be the same for millions of Illinois consumers," CUB President Josh Hoyt said. "You can bet the ICC will be hearing the company's side of the story. These hearings will let the ICC hear from the consumers, as well."

Hoyt noted that the ICC is obligated by state law to consider the impact any rate hike will have on ratepayers. CUB's attorneys will be representing consumers' interests by opposing the increase, but the ICC also needs to hear directly from the people who pay the bills, he said.

Under Bell's plan, the $50 million rate hike would be borne almost exclusively by residential consumers. In addition, the company wants to convert all its customers to Local Measured Service (LMS), also known as Usage Sensitive Service or Usage Pricing.

Under that system, local phone calls would be priced in a similar manner as long distance calls, by time of day, distance and number of calls made. Outside of Chicago and Northeastern Illinois, consumers currently pay one flat rate each month.

In the coming months, CUB's experts will present evidence to the ICC showing that, in fact, Illinois Bell deserves a rate reduction, not an increase. CUB also will urge the commission to reject the company's LMS plan because it is unfair and unjustified.

--ALSIP COMPETITION--

The Alsip Progressive Action Party is jumping for joy over its recent fundraiser. Candidates, and party faithful, were overheard exclaiming that the better than expected turnout would certainly make believers out of many people. The party is trying to end the long reign of Mayor Arnold Andrews and the United Party.

--MORE ALSIP TALK--

The Progressive Action Party's fundraiser attracted some notable faces including Worth Township Republicans Robert Streit, Joseph McCarthy, Maureen Murphy, Burton Odelson, and Robert Telander.

--TOWNSHIP TAX CUT--

With Trustees voting along political lines, the three incumbent Preference Party Trustees voted to decrease the Township's Tax load by abating $60,000 from the levy. According to board members, the Preference Party controlled board actually lowered taxes over the last 4 years despite a whopping loss of revenue due to the Federal Government's cut in Federal Revenue Sharing Funds.

--PARK IN DOUBT--

With Merrionette Park Village Trustee Gerald Troglia opting not to seek re-election in April, the proposed 20 acre park at 119th and Kedzie may be in doubt. Troglia was the driving force behind the project.

--BARRON V. McELROY--

Beth McElroy, candidate for Oak Lawn Village Trustee, is running the type of campaign you would expect from the daughter of Edward McElroy, a seasoned public relations man. Everywhere you look, McElroy's ads and press releases are turning up. Her opponent, Edward Barron, President of the Worth Township Republicans is running a more low key campaign in an attempt to be re-elected to his second term.

--VETS NEED FUNDS--

The Eternal Flame War Memorial Committee is asking any and all readers to contribute to the fund. The Committee has raised about $90,000 thus far but about $95,000 is still needed. Several area businessmen and contractors have donated both money and time to make the project a possibility.

Donations may be made to the Worth Bank and Trust, 6825 W. 111th St., Worth, IL 60482. Checks should be made payable to the Veterans Memorial Foundation.

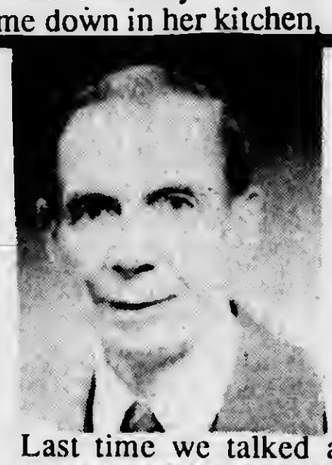
After almost six years of managing Village View Newspaper, last week was the last issue I personally managed, edited, and billed. Dennis Brennan and Michael Brennan purchased 50% of the stock and now are associate publishers. Dennis will be responsible for managing, editing, office personnel and reporting. If anyone discovers any problems with circulation, or is in need of information, contact Dennis Brennan. Michael is responsible for billing and payroll. Annette is responsible for sales. So if you are advertising, contact me.

We have a conclusive working team, and with your understanding, Village View Newspaper will flourish.

Publisher's Pen

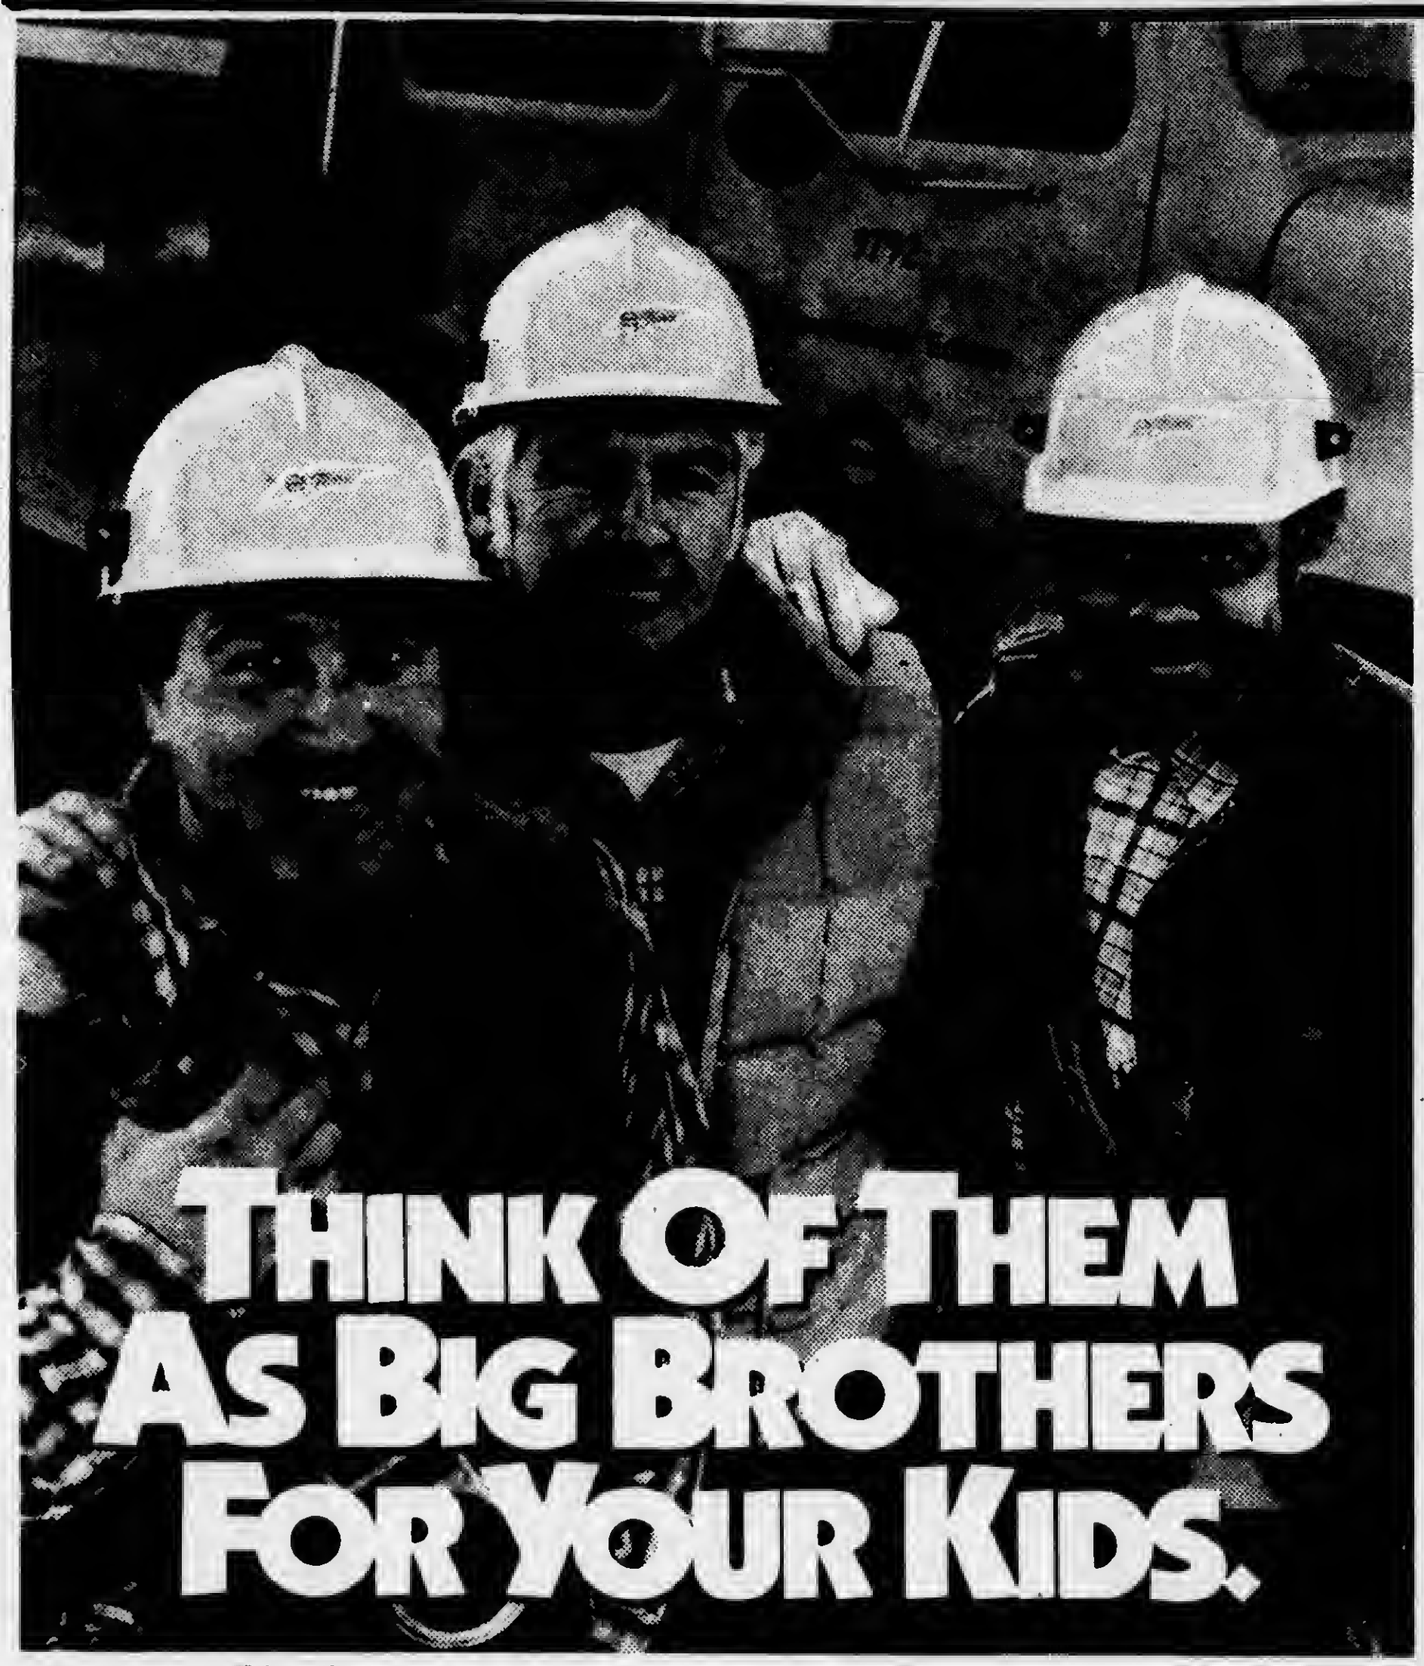
a weekly column by



Annette Dixion

Village View Newspaper was founded by Vina O'Malley, an Oak Lawn resident, who currently sits on the Village Planning and Development Board. She started the paper in November of 1973 and singularity operated, wrote, billed and circulated Village View on a monthly basis.

My first acquaintance with Vina was when I was publicity chairperson for St. Gerald Shows. I met her at a Village Board meeting and asked her about Village View. In 1974, I started working as a salesperson.



My first part time job as a mother was with Vina O'Malley. She sat me down in her kitchen, explained how to measure an ad and I took it from there.

It was Village View Newspaper that helped me through college in 1977 through 1981; and it was Village View Newspaper that helped to give me the recognition I now have in the community.

After 1983, when I became owner, I started a newspaper in Bridgeview for five years. In April of 1988, Village View Newspaper became a weekly.

From out of the kitchen to a small office, Village View is still the community newspaper of the Village of Oak Lawn.

It's sad.

We can't take it for granted anymore that our children will make it to school, or the store, or the movies, and back.

We can't be sure it's safe for them to play in the park, or the schoolyard, or even the front yard, alone.

Until we can again, until they're finally out of danger, we're turning every Edison employe into family. To give kids in trouble or lost someone to turn to, someone who cares, when there's no police officer close by.

It's not a solution to the problem by any means, but it's a start. A team effort that all of us at Commonwealth Edison take very seriously. Especially the hundreds of crews we have working out on the streets.

Your kids can spot our trucks a long way off. When they see that big e in our logo, or the e-team emblem, they'll know they're among friends.

Please, tell 'em to look for us.

Last time we talked about all the marvelous recreational facilities of Disney World in Florida. But what about the Magic Kingdom itself?

At the entrance to intriguing FANTASYLAND stands Cinderella's Castle, and awesome structure which is a replica of a 15th Century French Castle--complete with medieval towers that are 18 stories high. Many of the Disney cartoon characters come to life in FANTASYLAND. Your kids will love the Mickey Mouse Musical Review and the 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea Attraction.

In ADVENTURELAND you family can take a jungle river cruiser where you'll encounter "wild creatures" at every turn. There's also a North African Market place, a Carribean Village and Swiss Family Isle. In FRONTIERLAND you'll relive the old west. You'll also see 36 presidents "come to life" through Audio-Animatronics. The old fashioned shops, Victorian train station, steam powered trains and horse-drawn trolley cars recreate turn-of-the-century America. You'll see new scientific developments and pilot your own space ship in TOMORROWLAND.

HARTIGAN FILES MOTION WITH ICC TO HALT MA BELL'S NEW RATE INCREASES

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan recently filed a motion calling for the Illinois Commerce Commission to dismiss a major portion of Illinois Bell's rate increase request. In a separate motion also filed by Hartigan called for statewide public hearings that would give consumers the opportunity to oppose the $51 million increase and restructuring of local rates.

"Bell has structured its request before the ICC to ensure that any savings obtained by cutting costs go first to the company, without any benefits to the consumer," Hartigan said. "This is unfair to Illinois consumers and illegal under Illinois law, and therefore we feel the ICC should dismiss that portion of the request."

According to Hartigan's motion, a major portion of Bell's request id based on the principle of incentive regulation which allows the utility; not the consumer, to reap financial benefits from the company's cost saving measures. Hartigan argues that this type of regulation violates the Illinois Public Utilities Act and the Universal Telephone Services Protection Law.

In addition, Hartigan argued that if the ICC goes forward with the remaining portions of the Bell case, public hearings should be held in Springfield, Chicago, Rockford, Moline, Peoria, Granite City, Champaign and Centralia, to allow public input before any final action is taken.

O.L. CHAMBER AWARDS BONDS

Three Oak Lawn elementary school students received savings bonds from the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce at their monthly membership luncheon in February.

A $50 savings bond was awarded to Robert Ingles, of the St. Germaine School, whose poster entry will be used in next year's fire prevention program, according to Fire Officer Pat Kelly who participated in the award ceremony.

Chamber president Marianthe Karson, Vice President at the Oak Lawn Trust & Savings Bank, also presented $25 bonds to two sisters Katherine M. Sullivan and Mary Lou Sullivan for second and third place respectively. Both attend the Kolmar School and all three winners were given a framed award from the Oak Lawn Fire Department.

Each year the Chamber sponsors a coloring book contest for the Oak Lawn Fire Department. The books are distributed to all Oak Lawn schools without cost to the taxpayers as a service of the Chamber. Karson stressed that the cost of over $4,000 yearly for the education project was one way for the Chamber's members to help their home community.

THOMPSON ENDORSES WORTH TOWNSHIP REPUBLICANS

It was announced that Governor James Thompson has endorsed the Regular Republican slate of candidates for the April township election. It was also announced that the Governor will be the featured guest of honor at a fundraiser for the Regular Republican ticket on March 22.

"I'm proud to announce that Governor Thompson has officially endorsed our ticket for township office," said Worth Township Republican Committeeman Robert Streit. "The Governor also graciously agreed to be our guest of honor at a fundraiser we are hosting for the township slate at T.C. Mulligans in Oak Lawn on March 22."

Committeeman Streit, who is heading the Republican township ticket as the candidate for the office of supervisor, said he's very confident that the Republican ticket will sweep all township offices in the Spring election.

"With great Republicans like our Governor Jim Thompson on the team, I don't see how we can miss," Streit sid.

"I think Bob Streit is a fine Committeeman and will make an excellent Supervisor of Worth Township," said Governor Thompson, adding, "He has my support, and I am going to do all I can to help him and the other fine Republicans on his ticket win in April."

Streit thanked the Governor for his gracious support and pledged to run a strong and victorious campaign.

ST. RITA HIGH TO HOLD 2ND EXAM

Fr. Patrick Murphy, O.S.A, Principal of St. Rita High School, 6310 S. Claremont, announced that the school will hold a second entrance examination on Saturday, March 4th, at 8:00 A.M.

The test fee is $15 and students are required to bring two number 2 pencils with them on the test day. For more information concerning the second entrance examination, contact Mr. Edward Barrett, Director of Admissions at 925-6600, EXT. 258.

GUEST COLUMNIST

BEWARE OF SOCIAL SECURITY SCAMS

By Rosalie Thompson, Social Security District Manager in Evergreen Park.

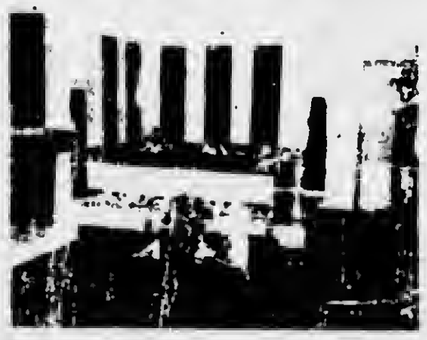
Very often we get calls from people who receive letters that appear to be connected with Social Security. The letters may offer a service for a fee, such as obtaining a Social Security card, or purport to help protect against the "threat" to Social Security, also for a fee.

To those who receive warnings of doom for Social Security, I refer to latest reports on the program which show that the Social Security trust funds are growing and that its future is brighter than ever. These include the 1988 Report of the Board Trustees, and the 1988 Annual report to the Congress. Both reports are available from the Superintendent of Documents in Washington, D. C.

To those who are considering paying for a benefit estimate, I remind them that the Social Security office provides such estimates free of charge, and they are based on the earnings credited to each person's record. Also, of course, there is no fee required to get a Social Security card.

Such direct mail solicitation is not new, but they do appear to be more common and more alarming. In fact, a law was just passed which makes it a civil offense to use the name "Social Security" in an effort to make it appear that the firm has Social Security approval or endorsement.

This type of mail plays on the fears and ignorance of the public, in this case a particularly vulnerable part of the public. The elderly are understandably concerned about any threat to Social Security. It's the sole source of income for substantial number and the primary source for most. Many would willingly pay to help prevent disaster.



The best thing you can do if you receive such a letter is to call your nearest Social Security office and get the facts. You will save yourself money and a great deal of anguish.

STATE'S ATTORNEY'S CONSUMER FRAUD UNIT WARNS OF HOME REPAIR CONS

As arctic cold settled onto the area, Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley warned homeowners to exercise caution to avoid being victimized in crooked repair schemes.

"The most common scheme is to ask the homeowner for a large down payment for tools and supplies," Daley said. "As soon as the money is in their hands, the con artists disappear as fast as the mercury in our thermometers."

Home repair complaints are the most frequent received by Daley's Consumer Fraud Unit, which last year alone filed criminal charges against 74 contractors accused of taking money for work that was never performed.

And in the first month of 1989, another 47 cases were filed by Daley's office.

Due to the volume of complaints on this type of fraud, Daley offered the following advice to consumers seeking to hire a repair contractor:

* Negotiate as low a down payment as possible.

* Avoid dealing with door-to-door solicitors.

* Check with friends, relatives, or neighbors for the names of contractors with whom they have had successful dealings.

* Call the Better Business Bureau to see if a firm has been the subject of complaints.

* Never sign a blank or incomplete contract.

* Get several written estimates, if possible.

* Check with the city or village officials to see if the contractor is properly licensed.

* If hiring a roofer, call the Illinois Department of Professional Regulation to determine if the person is registered and bonded.

* Make sure a building permit is obtained.

* Refuse to sign any waiver of lien documents or a certificate of completion until the work is completed.

* Determine if you are signing the contract under circumstances allowing unpenalized cancellation within three days, including contracts signed outside the seller's place of business.

* If the verbal negotiations for repair work are conducted in a language other than English, the consumer is entitled to a copy of the contract in that same language.

* Know that if one applies for credit to pay the repairs but the application is turned down, a full refund of any down payment is required.

Daley urged property owners who are nevertheless victimized in a home repair scheme to immediately file a complaint with his Consumer Fraud Unit at 443-4600.

SCHOOL DIST 218 REMAP PLAN PRESENTED

By: Dennis Brennan

Two distinct redistricting maps were presented to the public by attorneys Mathias Deloit and Mark Sterk, whose firm was hired at an estimated cost of about $17,000 to draw up the new voting districts.

The remap efforts were the result of the election results November 8, 1988 in which voters were asked whether they wanted School District 218 board members elected by district, rather than at large. School District 218 and the City of Springfield are the first to change the election system to districts.

State Representative John McNamara (D-Oak Lawn) had organized the redistricting efforts after residents complained about a board ordered busing plan that transferred black students from Calumet Park to Oak Lawn's Richard's High School.

Remap plan one calls for a minority district to consist of Robbins, part of Blue Island, and the eastern portion of Calumet Park. District two would be the middle of Blue Island, the western portion of Calumet Park, and a small portion of Alsip and Crestwood. District three would be the northern part of Blue Island, all of Merrionette Park, and the eastern part of Alsip. District four would be the western portion of Crestwood and Alsip. District five contains Palos Heights, Worth, and the northwestern part of Chicago Ridge. District six would be Oak Lawn south of 105th Street and the southeastern part of Chicago Ridge. District 7 contains the portion of Oak Lawn north of 105th Street and the southeastern portion of Chicago Ridge.

Under plan two, the Minority District, number one, remains. District two contains the center of Blue Island, a few blocks of Calumet Park; and the eastern part of Alsip and Crestwood. District three would be the northwestern part of Calumet Park, the northern part of Blue Island, all of Merrionette Park, and a few blocks of Alsip. District four contains Palos Heights, the western portion of Crestwood, and southwestern portion of Alsip. District five has Worth, the Western portion of Chicago Ridge and the Northwestern portion of Alsip. District six is made up of the eastern part of Chicago Ridge and the northwestern portion of Alsip. District six is made up of the eastern part of Chicago Ridge and the west half of Oak Lawn west of Lawler Avenue. District seven includes part of northern Alsip and the eastern portion of Oak Lawn.

Some Alsip and Crestwood residents voiced concerns about the lack of representation for each under the plan. However, the attorneys explained that with 11 communities in the district it is impossible for each community to have its own representative.

Board members have not decided which plan to accept. Under the plans, Blue Island Board members live in Districts 1, 2 and 3. Four Blue Island members would have to run against each other in District two.

DRUG DEALERS INDICTED

Chicago police and Cook County State's Attorney investigators arrested 59 reputed street gang members on charges of selling cocaine on the city's South Side.

The charges and arrests came as the result of a two month undercover investigation into alleged narcotics trafficking by the gang, according to Police Supt. LeRoy Martin and State's Attorney Richard M. Daley.

Some 34 of the defendants were indicted by a grand jury, while the 25 other reputed gang members were juveniles named in delinquency petitions for their alleged roles in the drug peddling operation, Daley and Martin said.

"These gang members sought to escape the notice of police by rotating the individuals selling drugs and attempting unsuccessfully to maintain a low profile on the street corners where they conducted their illegal trade," Daley said.

Most of the undercover buys were made on the street or in cars, usually in broad daylight, Martin and Daley noted.

The charges will be prosecuted by Daley's Narcotics Unit, headed by Supervisor Al Vroustouris. The work of Assistant State's Attorney Howard Pikel of that unit was also commended by Daley and Martin.

Information on drug-selling activities can be reported to Daley's Drug Hotline at 890-6600 or the Chicago Police Gang/Drug Hotline, at 939-5555.

RUSSO BECOMES DEP. WHIP

Congressman Marty Russo (3rd-IL) has been appointed to Deputy Majority Whip in the 101st Congress. The appointment will last through Dec. 31, 1990.

"We're proud that Congressman Russo will serve as a key member of the Whip Organization," said Congressman Tony Coelho, House Democratic Whip. "This appointment is symbolic of the respect in which Marty is held, and shows he understands the voting patterns of our colleagues and is going to play a role is shaping legislation and the policies put forward by House Democrats."

The House Whip Organization is designed to monitor the attendance of House Democrats, establish their positions on pending issues, and urge them to vote with the Leadership on those issues for which a Party position has been established. Key ideas for legislation often also come from House Whips.

"The confidence that my peers have expressed in me is gratifying," said Russo, and "I hope that I can continue to serve the residents of the Third District in a way that will be beneficial to them."

CELEBRATE THE WEARIN' O' THE GREEN

Deck yourself out in all your green finery and join the annual celebration of the Mayor's Coalition Party, "The Wearin' O' The Green". The fun event will happen at the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn, 4140 W. 95th Street, on Friday, March 10, 1989. Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres will be served from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m., for the wee donation of $20.00 per person. The Fabulous Murray Brothers Band will be on hand to tickle the cockles of your heart and dancing feet.

Waiting to greet you at this gala event will be Mayor Ernie Kolb, Village Clerk Jayne Powers, Trustee Jay Bergamini, candidate Beth McElroy, and Trustees Joe Vogrich and Ron Stancik.

NEW PLAY BEGINS

The Blue Island Park District Showcase Theater, 12757 S. Western, Blue Island, will cast for the adult mystery-comedy, "MURDER AMONG FRIENDS", March 3rd, 5th and 6th. The Friday, Sunday, and Monday castings are 7PM to 9PM at Showcase Theater.

Bill Arnold is directing the comedy which will run May 5th, 6th and 7th at Showcase. Producer, Dan Flynn, suggests that he selected Arnold because of his sensitivity in handling "adult" material.

Theater goers will remember Arnold on stage in the Showcase production of the comedy, "AUNTIE MAME". His behind the scenes credits include direction of "WEST SIDE STORY", "A CHRISTMAS CAROL", and the comedy delight "DO BLACK PATENT LEATHER SHOES REALLY REFLECT UP?"

"MURDER AMONG FRIENDS" is much like a Hitchcock plot. For more information on casting, call Bill Arnold at 636-6469 or Dan Flynn at 388-0482. For info on the theater, fund raisers, summer productions, rentals call Dan Flynn or the Park District at 385-3304.

CELEBRITY AUCTION SET TO BENEFIT CHARITY

Celebrities at Your Service: A Field Trip to the Fifties on Saturday, March 4. The fifties theme fundraiser for Cystic Fibrosis Foundation takes place at the Field Museum of Natural History, Roosevelt Road at Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

Catered by George Jewel Caterers, the dinner will be served by local celebrities. Among those scheduled to serve are Bob Wallace of WBBM TV, Karl-Heinz Granitza of Chicago Power, and John Howell of WCKG FM.

A silent auction for celebrity items will also take place. Among the autographed items are sports items from the L.A. Lakers' Magic Johnson, former Bear Walter Payton, Detroit Pistons' Isiah Thomas as well as team autographed items from the Bears, Bulls, and Blackhawks. Television fans can bid on a Miami Vice script signed by Don Johnson, and a Jeopardy game signed by Alex Trebec.

A live auction of unusual items such as a vacation to Frankfurt which includes airfare for two aboard American Airlines. Comedy fans can bid for a trip for two to New York to see a taping of "Late Night with David Letterman."

The round-trip journey down memory lane takes off at 7 p.m. Cocktails, dinner, music, dancing and a fifties comic book theme are all included in a $59.89 ticket price. Music will be provided by Mickey and the Memories. Guests are encouraged to wear fifties attire.

Cystic Fibrosis is the number one genetic killer of children and young adults. For more information, call Janet Johnson at the CF Foundation, (312) 236-4491.

GUEST COLUMN

BY LT. GOV. GEORGE RYAN

SENIOR HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS

This column addresses topics of concern to senior citizens and is issued by Lieutenant Governor Ryan's Senior Action Centers. The Centers' toll-free phone number is 1-800-252-6565.

Question: I was 65 this fall and understand that I am eligible for the Senior Homestead Exemption to help lower my property taxes. Can you tell me more about this program?

Answer: The Senior Homestead Exemption is a reduction in the equalized assessed valuation of a senior citizen's home, allowing an annual savings on his/her property tax bill.

To qualify, you must both reside in, and own, the property. Since this will be your first time to file, you will need to prove that you are 65 or older by providing a birth certificate or marriage license. You must also furnish a copy of your last paid tax bill. The exemption must be renewed each year with your county Supervisor of Assessments.

Incidentally, you may be interested to learn about another program called the Property Tax Deferral Program. This one is also intended for senior citizens 65 or older. It allows you defer the total amount of your taxes or a portion of your taxes until your estate is settled at the time of your death. The Property Tax Deferral is available to those who have an income under $14,000, own their own home, and have lived in it for the past three years. The property cannot be income producing nor have any liens against it for unpaid real estate taxes.

What happens when a taxpayer with the deferral dies? The surviving spouse who is heir to the property may continue the deferral if he/she is 55 years or older within six months of the taxpayer's death. A maximum of 80% of the taxpayer's equity in the property can be deferred. However, once the spouse dies, the deferred taxes plus 6% annual interest must be paid. The property cannot be sold until the taxes have been paid.

Application for this deferral must be made by March 1 of each year with your County Treasurer. It's important to remember that when applying for this program it is necessary to bring proof of insurance for your property.

PUBLISHER'S FOCUS

By Dennis Brennan

 School District 218 ReMapped

It seems strange that only 33 people showed up at a public hearing, in which 2 District 218 redistricting maps were presented. When a controversial busing plan was approved last year, 500 people showed up. Can it be that only 33 people really care about the redistricting which will cost about $17,000 in legal fees alone.

 Township Politics

Everyone was surprised that The Township Choice Party, led by Joseph McCarthy, retained its position on the ballot. Both Republicans and Democrats had objected to the fact that the candidates had participated in the Republican caucus, and that there were allegedly "illegal signatures" on the petitions. Maybe the objectors should have asked the electoral board members to recuse themselves because of their personal and professional relationship with the attorney for The Township Choice Party.

 Who's' the Spoiler?

In 1983, Edward Vrdolyak's supporters called Richie Daley a "spoiler" for running for Mayor after Harold Washington was elected. Tom Hynes was labeled the spoiler in 1987 by the Vrdolyakers. Now comes word that Vrdolyak may mount a write-in in the Republican primary and draw votes from the Democratic Primary to SPOIL Daley's chances.

 Alsip Politics

While it is rare for an incumbent Mayor to lose in Village elections, Alsip's Progressive Action Party is hopeful for an upset. In 1985, Mayor Arnold Andrews defeated his independent opponent by about 900 votes. In 1987, the independents came within 500 votes of defeating 3 incumbents. One of the three was only 150 votes shy of the upset. Now, the first organized effort to unseat the Unity Party is looking for 500 votes to pull an upset.

 Exchange Program

Two exchange students from Belfast and Dublin Ireland will be working with us at the newspapers. It is a program developed by the YMCA's in both countries.

WORTH TOWNSHIP BALLOT CONFUSION CONTINUES AS REPUBLICANS LOSE SPOT

By: Dennis Brennan

The Preferenee Party is on. The Republiean Party is now off. And The Township Choice Party is now on.

Those are the results of an intense two and half week period of objeetion hearings. The Preference Party, led by Supervisor candidate Harry "Bus" Yourell, survived a challenge against its slate. As of late Wednesday, February 22, 1989, all parties were stating that the case against The Preference Party would not bc appealed.

The speeial election board of attorneys; Michael Levinson, Daniel Madden, and Gil Berman, surprised many observers, however, by ruling that the Republican ticket could not stay on the ballot. Republican Committeeman, and Supervisor Candidate, Robert Streit, is expeeted to appeal the decision in court. The electoral board ruled that the January 10, 1989 Republican Caucus results were invalid because Streit and his supporters had not won the caucus. Joseph McCarthy, who was dumped by Streit as Supervisor, had claimed that he should have been declared the winner of the eaucus.

To make matters more confusing McCarthy then slated himself on a new party slate, The Township Choice Party, as Supervisor. Immediately, Streit objeeted and Yourell objected claiming McCarthy's party was ineligible to run as a third party after participating in the Republican Caucus. However, the electoral board disagreed stating that the term "partieipating" was unelear in the statute.

The result is that McCarthy's ticket will now faee Yourell's on April 4, 1989. Of eourse, a court may change all of that.

Rummage Sale

Salem United Church of Christ, 97th and Kostner, Oak Lawn, is having a Rummage Sale Tuesday, March 7th from 9:00 AM to noon. Nearly new jewelry, household items, clothing, books, and bric-a-brac will be for sale. All are welcome!

Since 1925, Oak Lawn Trust & Savings Bank has helped people face the future with...

SAFETY

For decades safety was simply taken for granted. That it came with the territory in banking and financial services. Today we look around our towns and see new names. We walk into familiar institutions and see unfamiliar faces. Our headlines tell us that safety can no longer be taken for granted in financial services.

At Oak Lawn Trust and Savings Bank, your safety and our continued profitable growth come first. And our solid performance enables our many customers to build for the future with peace of mind and meaningful services such as:

Tax Deferred Individual Retirement Accounts

While tax reform may have affected the tax deductibility of IRA contributions, the power of tax deferred earnings remains significant. You can choose from fixed or variable IRA plans... all with competitive yields.

So look to us for retirement planning alternatives and competitive banking services ... all with the convenience and safety you deserve.

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1989 by Alyn Richard

WHAT A TEAM!!!... The tandem of Sawyer and Bloom has orchestrated quite a show, with Bloom bowing out of a race he swore he would never abandon till the end...looks like the end came, in spite of his "better judgement." Confirmation of this "team effort", will be the appointments and political clout given to Bloom if Sawyer wins...you can bet on it.

VIOLENCE ON DEMAND... The recent re-injury to Dennis Savard, when viewed in slow motion, clearly showed the deliberate nature of what to me was a criminal act. Athletics, whether college or professional, are not what they used to be...it has become a major industry...and what about High School athletics?

A CURE IS A CURE... Lola Falana has apparently found her own cure for MS...she had all her fillings replaced with gold because she strongly suspected the fillings caused her mercury poisoning or MS. The National Multiple Sclerosis Society has rejected her self-diagnosis. I don't have the answer, but time will tell. She seems to be satisfied. I hope she's right!

S & L's... Such a tainted industry...anyone involved is certainly looked at differently today. Ch. 2 made a MAJOR blunder with its mentioning the First Savings of America in Orland Park and its insolvency ($25 million debt). BUT THEN showing a picture of the Savings of America branch office just down the street, (it is the largest S & L in the country, with a net worth of $40 billion). Within five minutes of this broadcast of misinformation, people were lined up outside of the branch. The viewers became victims, and so did one stable S & L. The only other casualty...something called responsible reporting - an endangered species?

And I am...Alyn

'Looking Ahead With Jacki Mari"

Psychic Predictions For All Signs:

Aries/Scorpio
Mars

Communication is the keyword for this week; take care of all correspondence and make it your business to meet new people who can aid your career, back you ideas, etc. Look your best! It would be good to research new ideas to make them a part of your best efforts. Profitable week! Let Leo people help you.

Taurus/Libra
Venus

Be prepared with materials that may be needed to complete a project, or for discussions that apply to your job. Be sure that you have the right tools to work with. Someone of great importance may be observing you for a better position. Aquarius people can be your best helpers and confidants.

Gemini/Virgo
Mercury

Your own intuitiveness proves to be your best helps this week and next. Someone wants to promote you in some way that adds to your income, status, and even offers you popularity. Aries and Scorpio people are your allies. Health is much improved and your lovelife is too.

Cancer
Moon

Pay attention to what is not only "said" but what is happening behind the scenes at work. There is news of a merger. You can make headway in dealings with family, especially if you will "tell it like it is." Also, pay strict attention to someone in the signs of Cancer and Leo, they have much to offer you.

Leo
Sun

A decision must be made, and you will have to stick to it. This could well mean that relocation is offered, which brings more status and money your way. But, be sure that this is what you want, because if you make a mistake and commit yourself over your head, you will wear yourself out. Sagittarius people involved and Scorpio people too.

Sagittarius
Jupiter

Love is the keyword this week, you will realize that someone does love you very much. Be there for them, and do not insist that they open the conversation first. Spiritual, mental, emotional and physical love are waiting for you to act on them. A Leo is involved ah, but so is someone in Aquarius.

Capricorn
Saturn

This is a very powerful week for you, and you can expect success at every turn "if" you will speak up and ask for what you want and/or need. An exciting person wants to work with you on ideas that perhaps are yours, or at least profitable for all concerned. Be open about it. Someone that speaks a foreign language will come into your life...cultivate that relationship! You might want to learn a new language also. Let Scorpio and Cancer help.

Aquarius
Uranus

Go with the flow and do not fight the impulses that you have to be more successful. Some of you may meet new loves, while others will renew the love they have; either way, love is the keyword this week. A very happy reunion also takes place. And, do not take "no" for an answer! You are right to pursue new ideas. A Sagittarian involved and a female Virgo.

Pisces
Neptune

It is best to go over financial matters and know what you have to spend and what you must save, especially since there is sure to be a trip coming up suddenly. Housing matters also involved, as well as dealing with career goals. No one should just be content to let life live them! It is time for you to create, plan, and make correct moves. You will be inspired psychically! Another Pisces in the picture. You are attracted to someone new.

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE, BY MAIL OR PHONE, CALL 636-4578 OR 636-2233. Learn about your 4TH DIMENSION ASTROLOGY, and receive Psychic Predictions up to 18 months ahead. OL CHAMBER PRESENTS SHOPLIFTING TAPE FOR SCHOOL USE

Oak Lawn elemcntary school students will learn of the risks of shoplifting due to the combined efforts of the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce and the Oak Lawn Police Department. Two copies of a videotape "Shoplifting: It's Not Worth It!" were presented by the Chamber to Sergeant James Spallina. The tapes are production of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association and depict the effects of shoplifting on an elementary school child. Chamber president Marianthe Karson, Vice President at the Oak Lawn Trust & Savings Bank, made the presentation on behalf of the Chamber.

BELL DONATES $5,000 TO EDCSS

The Economic Development Corporation for the Southwest Suburbs (EDCSS) recently received a $5,000 donation from Illinois Bell Telephone Company, to further its work with promoting economic development in the southwest suburbs. The presentation was made by Lyle Aulwurm, area manager for Community Relations for Illinois Bell.

"Illinois Bell is very pleased to make this donation to the EDCSS, an organization that is vital to the southwest suburbs," said Aulwurm. "Economic development is a very important goal of our company, and we are very proud to work in partnership with economic development organization like the EDCSS."

John J. Vax, president of the EDCSS, said, "We sincerely appreciate this donation from Illinois Bell.

SENIOR CITIZEN NEWS BRIEFS

RULES OF THE ROAD

Rules of the Road class will be held at the Worth Township Senior Citizens Drop-In Center, 11601 South Pulaski Road, Alsip, Illinois on Wednesday, March 1, 1989 from 10:00 AM to Noon.

Senior citizens who must renew their Driver's License can prepare for the examination by attending this class.

Please call 371-2900 Extension 19 to register.

OAK LAWN COMMUNITY NUTRITION NETWORK

We would like to invite all area senior citizens to join us at our Center for a morning of socializing, fun and activities. At 11:30 a.m. each day we serve a hot, nutritious lunch for a minimal donation. We open at 9:00 and coffee and tea are available all morning free of charge.

Our group plays cards, games and bingo, have a monthly party, take many trips , but most of all spend time with friends in a pleasant atmosphere.

Please come and join us. Call 422-5180 for more information. We are located at 9411 South 51st Avenue, Oak Lawn.

PLOWS OFFERS INCOME TAX PREPARATION

Income tax preparation appointments for seniors citizens are still being taken by PLOWS Council on Aging. This free assistance is provided by volunteers who have been educated by the Internal Revenue Service and will be available through April 14th.

Appointments are needed and can be made for one of the four sites that are staffed by the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) counselors. You may schedule an appointment by calling the following numbers: 422-6722 for Brandt School in Oak Lawn, Heritage Bremen Bank in Tinley Park, and Worth Township in Alsip; and 257-2522 for Lemont Township in Lemont.

The same income tax service will also be offered by other senior agencies in the southwest suburbs. These agencies are: Evergreen Park Senior Center at 422-8776; Oak Lawn Senior Center at 499-0240; Orland Township Senior Center at 429-3800; and Palos Township at 598-4449.

HOUSE MAY ALLOW MORE PUBLIC IMPUT ON SALARIES

House Republican Leader Lee Daniels (R-Elmhurst) said a bill introduced in the Illinois House this week would allow for more thorough debate and public input regarding increases in salaries for constitutional officers, judges and state lawmakers.

Daniels said House Bill 270 would change the current Compensation Review Act, which established the Compensation Review Board in 1984, and make proposed salary increases subject to the bill process Currently, a resolution either rejecting or approving any recommended increases must be introduced and acted upon within 30 days of the Compensation Review Board's filing of its recommendations. However, unless a resolution calling for the rejection of any increases is defeated by both chambers, pay raises automatically go into effect.

Under the proposed legislation, a bill would be introduced within 30 days of the date of the Board's filing. Any salary increases recommended would not go into effect unless the bill was passed by the General Assembly and signed into law by the governor. The increase bill would call for adopting the suggested recommendations either in full or in proportionately reduced amounts.

Daniels said HB 270 would also require the Compensation Review Board to file its report by March 1, rather than May 1, of each even-numbered year. He said this would enable any bill adopting the recommendations to go through the normal legislative process in a timely fashion.

According to Daniels, prior to creation of the Compensation Review Board, the General Assembly had to introduce legislation recommending their own salary increases. The Compensation Review Act took this action away from the legislature and gave it to an independent body.

House Bill 270 would continue to prevent legislators from setting their own salaries and provide for more input from the public on the Compensation Review Board's recommendations, Daniels said. He said the present method of adopting or rejecting a resolution regarding the Board's recommendations does not allow for adequate debate and public comment.

OAK LAWN DEALS WITH "JUNKERS"

By: Brian Begy

Oak Lawn adopted an ordinance limiting the activities of junk dealers in Oak Lawn. The ordinance is designed to prevent thefts from recycling program bins that have plagued the recycling program from the beginning.

The ordinance limits the hours that "junkers" can operate. Under the ordinance, junkers will only be allowed to collect from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Trustee Ron Stancik suggested that limitations in order to keep a high level of public involvement, as well as maintain Oak Lawn recycling program. Stancik said he feared the program was being sapped by thefts. Oak Lawn produced 184 tons of recycling materials in January according to Village Manager Richard O'Neill.

Stancik said he received comments from residents about the junk dealers. He said that some residents were refusing to participate because their recycling was being stolen.

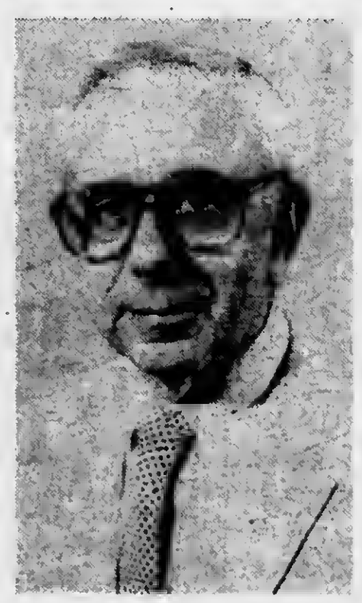
The ordinance that was passed may only be kept in place for a short time, according to Stancik. Trustee Bill Hefka (1st District) said the ordinance may be obsolete in as little as one month, but suggested a monitoring progress before taking radical action such as banning junking entirely.

Trustee Jay Bergamini, (6th District), said the police should patrol sidestreets more in order to discourage junkers from taking from recycling bins. Bergamini hopes the ordinance would "get the police out on the sidestreets, not just to look for junkers, but for burglars as well." Bergamini said that if the Police Department needs more manpower to accomplish effective sidestreet patrols, then the Village Board will have to consider that separately. "If we don't have enough police...then the Police Department had better tell us." he said.

Oak Lawn currently has a system for licensing junkers in order to prevent thefts. Currently 13 licenses have been issued, according to Bergamini.

In other business the Fire Department swore in a new firefighter, Michael S. Boman. Three Firefighters received state certification certificates as Firefighter III Status. They are Scott Allen, Michael Jensen, and Gary Patrick.

MEYER AND MCELROY SPONSOR LOCAL INCOME TAX PANEL



Beth A. McElroy, president of the Oak Lawn Public Library Board, and Emmett "Bud" Meyer, president of the Worth Township Seniors, have announced that they will sponsor an Income Tax Panel at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, March 9th. The tax panel, which will be open to the public will be held in the Sheridan Room.

McElroy and Meyer have stated that 3 tax experts from the Independent Accountants Association of Illinois will participate in this most interesting panel. Joan C. LeValley, Immediate Past State President/ I.A.A.I., Earl D. Levit, Past State Pres. of the I.A.A.I., and Richard Johnson, President of the Chicago Chapter of the I.A.A.I will be the panelists.

Some of the subjects to be discussed are: "Medicare Tax on the Elderly", "Estate Planning", "Probate and Wills", "Catastrophic Health Bill", "Unravelling the Mystery of the Federal Income Tax Return", and many others. Each panelist will speak for 7 minutes and then there will be a question and answer program with audience participation.

The panel will be moderated by Ed McElroy, who has been on Chicago radio and TV for over 40 years and is Past National Commander of the Catholic War Veterans U.S.A.

Admission is free and refreshments will be served.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED FOR HOME DELIVERED MEALS

People helping people. That's what Palos Community Hospital's Home Delivered Meals Program is all about.

This program would not survive, however, without the invaluable assistance of volunteers. And right now, additional volunteer drivers are needed to deliver nutritious, prepared meals to the homes of area homebound individuals.

The Home Delivered Meals Program provides two nutritious meals on a daily basis. Some of the homebound individuals who receive these meals may be recovering from illness or surgery. Others may be restricted by a long-term illness and are unable to shop for or prepare food.

Prospective volunteers should have their own cars and should be able to work between the hours of 11:15 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. at least one day a week, Monday through Friday, ore every other week. Substitute drivers are also needed.

LIBRARY TO REPLACE ROOF

Specifications are being prepared so that bids can be submitted to replace the roof on the Oak Lawn Library. The board of trustees approved the bid process at its regular meeting on Feb. 21. Bid opening was set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 18. The board had planned to replace the roof last fall after examination determined that it was in disasterous
However, there was not ample time to undertake the project before winter, so temporary repairs were made with plans to initiate the process ass soon as possible this spring.

Trustee William Roach, chairman of the committee seeking a new library director, indicated that 17 applications for the position had been received.

The board accepted a proposal from Traveler's Insurance for employee health insurance at a cost of $7,218.52 per month. This coverage replaces the current hospitalization plan which expires March 31.

The board reviewed and approved without any changes the following policies: bylaws of the trustees, use of meeting rooms, community use of bulletin boards and display cases, delinquent patrons, Youth Services outreach.

The Illinois State Library Annual report was reviewed and the board president was authorized to sign.

In regular board business, bills and invoices were approved for payment including $13,450.80 for library materials; $16,788.58 for general operating expenses; and $121,242.89 for personnel payroll.

The next regular board meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 21, in the Oak Lawn Rotary Room, lower level of the library, 9427 Raymond Avenue. Meetings are open to the public.

LOCAL EARNS DEGREE

Roger J. Epich, Oak Lawn, is congratulated by Suzanne Knock of Chicago Ridge at a reception for January graduates at Saint Xavier College, 3700 W. 103rd Street. A graduate of Marist High School, Mr. Epich received his bachelor's degree from Bradley University and his master's degree in business administration (MBA) from Saint Xavier College. He is a fleet recruiter for American President Trucking Co., Ltd.

MCELROY PRESENTS CHECK

Beth A. McElroy, Chairman of the Board of the Young Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago (right) presents a $1,000.00 check on behalf of the Y.I.F.C. to the Park Lawn School of Oak Lawn.

McElroy, president of the Oak Lawn Public Library Board, made the presentation at the Park Lawn School, 10833 S. LaPorte, to Jane Lowell, Director of Development and former Mayor of Oak Lawn Fred Dumke, member of the Park Lawn School Business Advisory Council.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1989 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

Aries/Scorpio
Mars

You should have some very happy times with family and friends coming up. Pay attention to all housing needs, and you might be looking at some buying of things for the home. If you are planning a trip, be sure to check all details. A possible delay is involved. A Libra will be available to help.

Taurus/Libra
Venus

A very unusual happening takes place, and this should tell you that you are adaptable to most anything. Money is favoured for you, and you should speak up at work if needed. You may find things that were misplaced or thought lost. Pisces helps.

Gemini/Virgo
Mercury

Do not look for things to go wrong or they will. Your own power of seeing into the realities of life will surprise you. An insight is meant especially for you, to urge you on to success. Believe in yourself! A Scorpio helps you and someone suggests a better home environment for you. Listen!

Cancer
Moon

There could be a mix-up, and you may be waiting for some article that is not coming. Best to go and buy what you need locally. Family member has something to tell you that will require that you keep their confidence. Money however, looks good. Another Cancer involved and possibly someone who sells real estate.

Leo
Sun

You can feel free as a bird because things have finally settled out for you. You know where you are going, and how to get there. This is a wonderful thing, enjoy it and do not take it for granted, keep believing in yourself and your talents. A Scorpio and a Gemini involved.

Sagittarius
Jupiter

This is not a week to "assume anything", know the facts, and be prepared to use them. There could be some upheavals at work that are not your problem but those of people "not doing their job." A friend needs to talk...listen, but do not give advice. This could be an Aquarius person.

Capricorn
Saturn

Be happy that others see the worth of your ideas. It seems that someone you thought of or something you designed, will be utilized and become profitable. Stay with a project and see it through to completion. A person in Pisces has another good idea that could spell money for all concerned.

Aquarius
Uranus

It is not a good time to sign for big ticket items. If moving, try to get help and not be doing it yourself. Pay attention to car repairs, (some of you will get a new auto), and if traveling, be sure of the scheduling. A Gemini involved.

Pisces
Neptune

Many people will want to work with you on a new project or idea. Choose them carefully. Check the data of new proposals. You have much going for you this week to make money, and new contacts that will also make money for you. A new side-line business is suggested for the enterprizing Pisces people. Other Pisces people and Aries/Scorpio are compatible to your plans.

ON SUNDAY, APRIL 9, SOME OF MY SELF-HELP TAPES AND BOOKS WILL BE ON SALE AT THE PYRAMID BOOK MART, 3580 W. 95TH ST. IN EVERGREEN PARK, IL. 60642 (636-2233). UP TO 50% off Quartz Crystals and Books are also featured.

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE (Evergreen Park), BY PHONE OR MAIL. CALL 636-4578 FOR INFORMATION OR TO MAKE AN APPOINTMENT. ALL SESSIONS ARE TAPED FOR YOUR LATER RECALL. 4TH DIMENSION ASTROLOGY IS USED, HANDWRITING, NUMEROLOGY, KARMA OR LESSONS OF LIFE ARE GIVEN, GEMSTONE FOR HEALING, AND PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS. QUESTIONS ALSO ANSWERED. PSYCHIC COUNSELING AND ALPHA-STATE HYPNOSIS FOR WEIGHT LOSS OR ANY TROUBLE AREA.

Till next week,

Jacki Mari

OL REPUBLICANS ENDORSE BARRON

Upon the unanimous recommendation of the endorsement committee, Oak Lawn Fourth District Trustee Edward Barron was endorsed for re-election by the Oak Lawn Regular Republican Organization.

Barron, seeking his second term, was praised for his interest and responsiveness to the people of Oak Lawn. Among the factors leading to his endorsement were: his opposition to the new public safety building in Oak Lawn being built at a cost of nearly $7 million dollars, his measured response to neighborhood problems in the Christ Hospital area, and his personal qualifications as a practicing attorney.

Mr. Barron is the President of The Worth Township Regular Republican Organization.

ALSIP' BATTLE

Despite denials by some party members, the Alsip Progressive Party will probably hire local attorney Burton Odelson as Alsip's Village attorney if its candidates can sweep the election.

EXTORTION?

According to several sources, a Cook County Grand Jury Investigation into the Republican Slatemaking sessions is very likely. The investigation is the result of an allegation by current Township Clerk, Maureen Murphy, that Republican Committeeman Robert Streit ordered Maureen Murphy to pay $11,000 to the party if she wanted to be slated. Streit denies the charge.

Ironically, Streit and the Regular Republican ticket is now off the ballot and Murphy is on the ballot with other renegade Republicans running as the Township Choice Party.

MERRIONETTE REMAINS QUIET

Unlike the 1987 election, this year's village election in Merrionette Park is very quiet. Only Madeleon Rogowski, candidate for Village President, has circulated any literature. The quietness may be due in part to the fact that 5 of the 6 candidates have been involved in previous campaigns at one level or another.

ART INSTITUTE DISGRACED AGAIN

Once again, a student at Chicago's Art Institute provided headlines for papers and exciting stories for television stations. The young artist placed an American Flag on the ground, forcing people to step on it while preceding to other "works of art".

It seems amazing that several Chicago Alderman created such a fuss when another aspiring artist painted a tasteless picture of the Late Mayor Harold Washington but none of these protectors of good taste made a peep about this latest controversy.

The "artist" in the latest case has labeled himself a revolutionary in an obvious attempt to create some public relations for his future career. It seems that the Art Institute should begin flooding the market with more tasteful public relations releases.

Maybe that would encourage a few brighter students to become artists.

WHISPER CAMPAIGNING

As in all village elections, campaigning for the April 1989 Village elections is fast and furious in some areas.

Unfortunately, while some candidates use legitimate campaign weapons others sink into the mud in order to get a better grip to throw it.

The worst type of mud-slinging campaigning is practiced in the door to door campaigns of some. Innuendos and plain lies of an opponent's marital status, alleged criminal record, sexual preference, or mental health are the sleaziest of the whispered charges.

Likewise, total distortions of record are very common in Whispered campaigns.

For those of you who must answer the door, we pass along some advice. Whenever, a candidate makes an attack on an opponent, insist that he put it in his campaign literature.

90 percent of the time, he won't!

INVESTIGATION IS JUSTIFIED

While Worth Township Republican committeeman Robert Streit has stated that it is "unfortunate that the State's Attorney's office would waste time on a frivolous complaint...", we believe that an investigation into the allegations that Mr. Streit attempted to coerce a candidate into donating $11,000, is justified.

Township Clerk, Maureen Murphy has charged that Streit, in a January meeting, demanded that she pay $11,000 to be a candidate. Streit denies the charge.

Since we were not present at the alleged meeting, we can't determine who is lying and who is not. Either way, this is a serious charge that undermines the integrity of the political slating system. Candidates who can't afford to buy a position on a political slate should not be denied the opportunity to seek office.

The State's Attorney should investigate this matter immediately.

SHUT DOWN RHETORIC NOT CHICAGO

Recently black activist, Rev. Al Sampson, was quoted as saying that "If Daley gets City Hall, there will be protests in the streets. We will shut this city down". Absentee Congressman Gus Savage made similar racially divisive remarks. Richard M. Daley allegedly told a crowd that, 'You want a white Mayor...'.

In past elections, Daley has been called "a spoiler" implying that when 2 white candidates ran, one will spoil it for the other and a black will be elected.

Appellate court Judge Eugene Pincham declared, in 1987, "that anyone south of Madison Avenue voted against Harold Washington should be hanged".

"It's time to move beyond racial divisiveness in politics. Otherwise Chicago will be shut down

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

OBSERVE "HIRE THE OLDER WORKER WEEK"

Dear Editor:

During the week of March 13 we will observe Hire the Older Worker Week in the state and nation and we will salute those mature men and women who have contributed so much to the strength and stability of our communities.

Our organization, Operation ABLE, was created in 1977 as an advocate and promoter of greater employment of older workers. We serve as an umbrella for more than 40 community-based older worker employment centers in Chicago and the suburbs. Operation ABLE has field offices in Chicago, Evanston, Oak Park, Alsip, and Chicago Heights.

We have helped nearly 60,000 mature men and women, who wanted to work, to find employment. From this, we have developed a slogan, "Experience works! Put experience to work for you."

Mature men and women are not job hoppers; they are talented, disciplined, industrious, dependable and conscientious. And they are in demand! Employers now see fewer young people entering the work force and they are more than interested in hiring older workers who have the required skills.

We help bring employers together with job seekers who are mature men and women; we have seen the process work well.

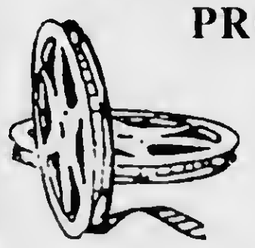
NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1989 by Alyn Richard

ARE THEY DEAD?...Radio Talk Shows are NOT dead...they are taking a great deal of credit for the rejection of the Congressional Pay Raise recently...they formed an ad hoc committee across this country, using their air time to raise their listeners' knowledge of what was really involved...and they deserve this credit. They are very much alive. Bravo!!!

CAMPUS RAPE...Watch for news of the lawsuit against Cornell University by the family of a victim of campus crime...Cornell has stated they are NOT RESPONSIBLE for campus security for its students...the sparks are going to fly on this one. I'll keep an eye on it for you! This is major...universities around the country are watching this one in the "Arena of Precedent" called the legal system.



SPEAKING OF PRECEDENT...The State of Pennsylvania has defined as law the requirement for colleges and universities to disclose their crime figures on rape...there's some real squirming going on all over now...apparently over the years the vast majority of campus rapes have never been reported in any shape, manner or form...and still don't have to be in 49 of the great 50! Let's hope the precedent in Pennsylvania snowballs. It's needed! Campuses are not the haven of security some people thought they were.

BASIC ECONOMICS...I wonder if the economic need for a war is behind Iran's attack on the book SATANIC VERSES? Or could it be severe a reaction to something means it hit too close to home or it was truly damaging when it should not have been. Why would a deeply religious people resort to violence and death?

CHURCH NEWS

MEN'S CHURCH BREAKFAST

The men of the First United Methodist Church, 94th & Homan Avenue, Evergreen Park, will meet on Saturday, March 11, starting at 8:30 a.m. for breakfast.

The vocational pursuits of the members will be presented. Robert Walton will discuss and demonstrate the manufacture of polypropolene tank and plating barrels at the 9 a.m. meeting.

The men meet the second Saturday of each month. President Gary Harvey invites men of the community to be a part of this Christian fellowship for men. Call 422-8451 for information.

UNITED METHODIST PRESENTS DRAMA

A drama, "Parables for the Present Imperfect" by Buck Kohr, will be performed at the First United Methodist Church, 94th & Homan Avenue, Evergreen Park, at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, March 8, as one of the Lenten series "A Climate of Caring".

The youth of the church are presenting this modern version of the Parable of the Good Samaritan. The cast includes Don Wallace, Becky Humble, Janis Bolton, Tabitha Tyle, Jodi Heinz, Lee Harwig, Kerri Moses, Toni Frech, and Todd Godlewski. Director is Tom Panush.

The Youth are hosting the pot luck supper at 6 p.m. Bring a covered dish to share for supper. Everyone is invited to "share the caring". For further information call 422-8451 or 422-1059.

ST. LINUS SEMINAR

St. Linus Outreach Team will be presenting an evening seminar on March 9th at 7:30 p.m. in the school library. Tom Jacobs, of the Christian Counseling Center, will speak on adult children of dysfunctional families. All are welcome to attend.

ST. LINUS OPEN MEETING

Inactive? Alienated? Retired? Dropped Out? If you have parted company with the church over new changes, old rules, a marriage situation, hurt feelings or any reason, why not join us for an open meeting Tuesday, March 14th at 7:30 p.m. at St. Linus Rectory's Friendship Room, 10300 S. Lawler, Oak Lawn. Anyone can come to the event. Call 422-2400 for additional information.

A SHORT STORY

THE SUICIDAL MAN

By: Mike Phillips

THE SUICIDAL MAN looked at his reflection in the mirror and admitted to himself with unaccustomed candor that he looked like a sideshow, circus freak with a bald, shiny head.

"I'd commit suicide if I had the guts, Doctor."

The chemotherapist sighed wearily.

"Merry Christmas," said the suicidal man on his way out.

He stepped out onto the fire escape with a view to dropping twenty-nine floors to the concrete pavement below, lost his nerve and walked down.

He came to a closed super mart, the place dark, his mind racing. He picked up a curved banana that felt like a gun in his hand.

He stood straining his ears and trying to separate from the throbbing, palpable silence surrounding him various, vague unidentifiably faint little pinpricks of sound. Finally, he heard it.

"Siren," he said, "Coming this way from the Loop."

He stood listening as the sound drew closer and in a moment he heard other sirens, a lot of them, converging on the store from all points of the compass.

"I know you're in the store, pal," said the first cop at the scene, his revolver drawn. "I can see your pointed piece. Drop the piece and come out real slow with your hands up."

"Come and get me, copper," the suicidal man said in a cruel parody of a polite society voice, "come and get me!"

It seemed to the SUICIDAL MAN as if there had been a terrific explosion of some kind; then a sledge hammer hit him a crushing blow in the chest...red-and-white lights burst up through the darkness like fireworks at the old Lake Pavilion.

KARAMAZOVS TO APPEAR AT RIALTO

Highly original, thoroughly entertaining and always inventive, the Flying Karamazov Brothers are unequaled in their juggling skills.
They'll appear at the Rialto Square Theatre in Joliet at 8pm Friday, March 10.

Internationally acclaimed as "the brightest stars of the new vaudeville," the troupe combines juggling, music and improvisational comedy. Their manipulation of flying objects include raw eggs, rubber chickens and chain saws. The audience is invited to provide other "impossible" items for a segment of their performance (smaller than a breadbox and less than 10 pounds).

Still the "Singing Rage", Miss Patti Page will appear at 5pm Sunday, March 12.

For more than four decades Page has been among a select group of artists whose names immediately call to mind a distinct and memorable sound. To date she has released more than 80 albums and 157 singles. Gold record hits include "Tennessee Waltz", "Old Cape Cod" and "Doggie in the Window".

Tickets for both performances are available at the Rialto Ticket Office, 102 N. Chicago St. in Joliet. Call (815) 726-6600 or Ticket master (312) 902-1500.

A LATE-INNING WIN ON MX

Sometimes you can win even when you lose.

In May of last year I introduced an amendment to shift some defense funding from an MX railroad garrison project to conventional armed forces, both to eventually save substantial amounts of money and to meet a real need for strengthening our conventional forces.

The plan – still legally alive – is to put 50 MX missiles with nuclear warheads in railroad garrisons (shelters), each missile containing 10 nuclear warheads. If the United States is attacked, the missiles would be brought out and placed on our civilian railroad tracks.

There are two major problems with the plan:

First, it takes four to six hours to get these missiles out of the garrisons onto railroad tracks. If the Soviets send us a posteard saying they are going to attack us, that might make the plan sensible. But it is unlikely any potential foe would do that.

It now takes a missile only 25 minutes to travel from the Soviet Union to the United States, and missiles on Soviet submarines near our coast take even less time to reach us.

The second problem is that garrison locations will be public information and the Soviets will know where our missiles are. All the Soviets will have to do to decrease our retaliation power is to send a nuclear warhead at the garrison. And the garrisons are not hardened against nuclear blast damage, like our current silos are.

But getting a flawed weapons system killed is not an easy thing in Congress. It is not only the power of the Pentagon, it is also the defense contractors involved, and all of the subcontractors, who have a financial stake in keeping the program alive.

My amendment was defeated 61-36.

But it generated some healthy debate and discussion of this issue.

And early in February of this year, a bipartisan group of members of Congress and defense experts recommended the MX railroad garrison idea be postponed until at least late in the next decade.

Among those who participated in the decision were some of the top people on the defense committees, including Sen. Sam Nunn, Rep. Les Aspin and Sen. John Warner – two Democrats and one Republican.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HARTIGAN ARGUES AGAINST BELL RATE HIKE REQUEST

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan presented the Illinois Commerce Commission with strong arguments that the proposed rate increase for Illinois Power Company is excessive and must be substantially reduced.

"The company requested a 12.5% rate increase to help pay for the cost of constructing its new Clinton nuclear plant," Hartigan said.

"On February 10, an ICC hearing officer recommended allowing a 5.1% increase. Although this reduction in the company's requested rate increase is a step in the right direction, it simply doesn't go far enough."

"it would be outrageous for consumers to face higher utility bills just because Illinois Power mismanaged construction of the nuclear plant. The Commission should take a serious look at all the facts in this case before approving any increase in rates."

In a brief filed with the ICC, Hartigan says the hearing officer's recommendation of a 5.1% rate increase was based on inaccurate information as to the impact of the Clinton nuclear plant and the amount of money the company misspent on the facility.

According to Hartigan, the proposed increase would also unfairly shift the burden of paying for the plant to residential customers. The proposal calls for a 6.6% rate increase for residential customers, while levying only a 4% increase on industrial customers.

"Clearly the Clinton plant was built in anticipation of an increase in electricity demand by industrial users," Hartigan said.

"Residential usage was not projected to increase at a similar rate. Just because the projected industrial increase has failed to occur is no justification for placing the bulk of the financial burden on residential customers."

MERRIONETTE PARK TO CRACK DOWN ON DRUGS

By: Patrick Casey

Trustee Dennis Brennan has introduced far-reaching legislation in Merrionette Park to fight the use and sales of illegal drugs.

In the form of a resolution, presented to the Village President and Board of Trustees, the legislation allows the village to collect fines for all drug offenses under a "zero tolerance law". The result is that the village rather than the state would benefit from the fines.

If the resolution is passed, a court order will be presented by the prosecutor directing that any fine be paid directly to the village. The resolution is based on a seldom used portion of the Illinois State Statutes. According to Brennan, only the City of Palos Heights uses the procedure. "My guess is that the other towns don't know that they can fight drug dealers this way," stated Brennan.

The money must be used by the Police Department in its battle against illegal narcotics. "We can use it to educate people as to the dangers of drug use or we can use it for the enforcement of the current laws," explained Brennan.

While the Merrionette Park Village Board has often been divided on issues, Brennan predicts unanimous approval of his resolution. "After I presented this resolution, Trustee (Patrick) Eggert asked me if we have a drug problem in Merrionette Park. The answer is clear that every town in this country has a problem with the abuse and sale of drugs," stated Brennan.

Brennan, an attorney, is a candidate for Worth Township Collector, on the Preference Party slate. He claimed that all villages within Worth Township should adopt similar laws in an attempt to fight drug dealers locally because the federal government has failed to do so. Brennan expressed concern that local governments in general have not been aggressive enough in educating grammar school and high school students about the dangers of drug use. "Drug abuse and the sale of illegal narcotics may never be completely ended, but we owe it to future generations to make an effort to educate our kids and grandkids of the real dangers of drugs," stated Brennan.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1989 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS;

Aries/Scorpio
Mars

Pay attention to your home, make changes that are necessary. You can find a new friendship that will come out of a business or job situation. You might be wanting to start up a little business of your own. Pisces people involved.

Taurus/Libra
Venus

A wonderful opportunity comes your way, one that could find you traveling and having some fun. People seem to like you and want to help you with your job or career. News about a baby...Be prepared to help someone deal with their financial needs. Leo people involved, and someone very important in Sagittarius.

Gemini/Virgo
Mercury

You "will" overcome someone who is jealous of you. This is not a time to get deeply involved in financial changes, but rather know what you have going for you and work with it as it is. The week starts out slow but ends up with a lot of activity. Aries helps if you ask.

Cancer
Moon

You can make some important in-roads with people that were once difficult to deal with. Work activity is speeding up and mush will be put on you to finish. Work effectively and with new zest for recognition and you will have it. Gemini or Virgo people work well with you this week.

Leo
Sun

There is no mistake, someone wants to help you get ahead. But, then there is also someone that wants something for nothing. How will you know which person to deal with? You will know by the expectations that are spelled out, for your time and effort. Choose wisely, do not crowd yourself. Capricorn helps.

Sagittarius
Jupiter

You might have to make a change of plans, or refuse to get involved in some tedious project. If there are argumentative people involved this week, speak up, say what you must and then just do what you have to do. You will understand this message by the end of this week. Money talk. Pisces person involved.

Capricorn
Saturn

Let your loving feelings show. Someone truly needs to know that you care. Health is good, opportunities come up suddenly to make more money, and someone wants to come and stay with you for a while. Gemini involved and someone who does "electrical works".

Aquarius
Uranus

It appears that everyone is most agreeable this week, and you will sail through the week on the plus side. Ask for a raise, ask for helps around the home; all that you ask for comes to you. Your health is improving, and you have a chance to win something too. Another Aquarius is your best help.

Pisces
Neptune

Miracles happen for those who believe and trust in themselves, and this week proves it. What you have been wanting has arrived. You should be prepared to meet new people, move on specific projects, and not be afraid to put your price out in front so that there are no misunderstandings later. A Leo helps you and a financial expert.

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE, BY PHONE OR MAIL. ALL SERVICES ARE TAPED FOR YOU LATER RECALL. I AM AVAILABLE TO SPEAK WITH YOUR GROUP OR ORGANIZATION. CALL 636-4578. ANNOUNCEMENT

It has come to my attention that 4TH DIMENSION ASTROLOGY is being used by unauthorized people in the field of meta-physics, i.e., astrologers, psychies, etc. The original method and material has been copyrighted since 1975, and was renamed and copyrighted in 1989 as 4TH DIMENSION ASTROLOGY. It has also been told to me that the people are charging their clients using this material. This is plagiarism, which means ("to steal and use as one's own"). Unfortunately, they may be purchasing my books and tapes as individuals, and they have a right to use it for themselves, but, there is more to using this method than to merely touch on it in part as they are doing. I have not authorized anyone, to use this material for profitting, individuals or former students. It recently eame to my attention that some former students are also using the materials in their own businesses, telling their clients that I gave them permission to use my materials; therfore, are using my name and reputation to attract their cliental. The people who have sought out those services end up coming to me and telling me how it was presented to them, and it was done incorrectly, leaving the client of that person confused and misdirected. I feel it is my responsibility to make this public. They may be using my books, Specially Me, Trinity Astrology & Sexuality, You & Me (Trinity Astrology) or the most current updated 4TH DIMENSION ASTROLOGY, again, without my permission. Such permission would be given in writing only if I were to give permission. Ask to see the written permission, if you have a service that includes Trinity Astrology or 4TH DIMENSION ASTROLOGY. Contact me at (312) 636-4578 or 636-2233. I would appreciate hearing from you. It took years of study and many hours of writing to prepare my materials, not to mention costs of producing my materials. I am sure you will understand why this announcement had to be made.

PREFERENCE PARTY BOASTS OF UNITY

"We're united, we're experienced and we're organized," stated Harry "Bus" Yourell at a recent meeting of Preference Party workers. Yourell is the candidate for Supervisor on the Preference party ticket in the Worth Township election on April 4th. Commenting on the chaos and disarray in the local Republican party, Yourell urged workers to direct their efforts to their own campaign. "Our job is to take our record of accomplishment and service to the residents of Worth Township regardless of who our opponents finally are," he said.

Three challenges were previously filed against the Preference party. All three were dismissed.

Running with Yourell on the Preference party slate are incumbents, Assessor William Connors and Trustees, Thomas Gavin, Michael Witt and Donald Bettenhausen. Former Worth Township Clerk, Joan Patricia Murphy has been slated for the office of Clerk. Emmett "Bud" Meyer, incumbent Collector and Senior Citizen Director is running for Trustee. Robert Smith, Jr. has served for the past five years as Assistant Highway Commissioner. He is now the candidate for Highway Commissioner. Dennis Brennan is the slated choice for the office of Collector.

The Regular Republican slate headed by GOP committeemen Robert Streit has been knocked off the ballot by a Board of Election Commissioner's panel. Three of the Trustee candidates on the rival Republican Choice ticket have also been removed.

Yourell warned that the voters could be distracted and confused concerning the controversy over the Republican party's disputes. "Our message must be clear-with five incumbents on our ticket we can be proud of the enviable program of achievements we have compiled. We have a solid record of outstanding service to the township. Since trustees on the Preference Party slate have held a majority on the township board for the past four years, the many programs and services of the township which benefit family health, senior citizens, youth, the unemployed and the needy are a positive result of this board's efforts," Yourell said.

The Preference party has scheduled a full calendar of events for the month of March including Campaign caravans, precinct walks, a senior breakfast, parade participation and a fundraiser.

State Representative McNamara is chosen as Chair of Veteran's Affairs Committee

State Representative John J. McNamara (D-Oak Lawn) has been selected by House Speaker Michael Madigan to serve as chairman of the House Veteran's Affairs Committee during the 86th General Assembly.

"I am very pleased with my selection as chairman of the Veteran's Affairs Committee," McNamara said. "Being a veteran myself, I have a true understanding of their special needs."

"Rep. McNamara has proved himself to be a conscientious and effective legislator and leader, " Madigan said. "I am confident that John will lead the committee to benefit Illinois veterans and their families."

According to McNamara the Veteran's Affairs Committee will focus their attention on the needs of Illinois veterans, their benefits and those of their families and survivors. In addition they will oversee the Department of Veteran's Affairs.

"I plan to use my position to make certain that Illinois veterans are not ignored and that their concerns are heard by the legislature and Governor Thompson," McNamara continued.

"This assignment will allow me to effectively serve the veterans in my district as well as veterans throughout the State of Illinois," McNamara stated. "Anyone having any ideas or suggestions should contact my office at 422-9300," he concluded.

HOSPITAL'S PEDIATRIC SUPPORT AT WORK

"When we left the hospital, we thought we were bringing home a normal baby," Maureen Fruhwirth said.

In January, 1985, Fruhwirth, a staff member in the Evergreen Park recreation department, was pregnant with her third child.

"It was during this latter part of my pregnancy that the doctor realized something was wrong," says Fruhwirth, who had worked with educably mentally handicapped children as a special education instructor at Park Lawn School and Activity Center in Oak Lawn.

Two and a half months later, Fruhwirth delivered a two weeks prematurely at Christ Hospital and Medical Center in Oak Lawn--a six pound , five ounce girl.

"She was so small, especially since one of my boys had weighed more than nine pounds. She spent some time in the special care nursery, being monitored," Fruhwirth said of her daughter Lynn.

After two weeks in the hospital, Lynn went home.

"When she left intensive care, we thought we were bringing home a normal baby," said the Evergreen Park resident. "We were so happy to have her home, and we were ready to get on with raising our family."

As they do for babies who have been in intensive care, occupational therapists at Christ Hospital followed Lynn's development in her early months.

"The occupational therapists were there from the first moments in the special care nursery, and they stayed with us to keep an eye on Lynn's progress," recalled Fruhwirth. "They noticed her developmental problems after three months." These problems included Lynn's inability to grasp objects and her slow visual tracking.

When Lynn was examined by specialists in the pediatric rehabilitation and development department at Christ Hospital, she was diagnosed as having a rare growth disorder that causes extreme short stature and lack of growth.

"We couldn't accept the diagnosis at first," said Fruhwirth. "We were experiencing the denial that so often accompanies this kind of thing."

After receiving a conformation of the existence of a growth disorder, the Fruhwirths came to accept the diagnosis and brought Lynn to Christ Hospital regularly for occupational and developmental therapy.

While the Fruhwirths' situation is rare, it is not unique to them. "I knew that the other parents whose children had similar problems had to be having the same experiences," Fruhwirth said.

With the help of staff from Christ Hospital's pediatric rehabilitation and development department, Fruhwirth organized a support group for parents, particularly mothers, of children with rare developmental disabilities. Members of this support group, SIS (Sometimes I'm Sad), get together at the hospital one Monday evening each month to discuss common experiences.

"It's so nice to have one night each month where we can go and talk, even complain if necessary, without being joined by hospital staff, spouses or children," said Fruhwirth. "We can feel free to discuss just about anything."

Not limited to a certain agenda, SIS meetings feature discussions about different problems being faced, information about resources available, and a lot of sharing.

"Considering these are parents of severely handicapped children, there's an unbelievable amount of laughter at the meetings. We share stories, share feelings and even share equipment," Fruhwirth asserted.

Has this sharing helped the parents?

"Oh, the support we receive is invaluable," said Fruhwirth. "Each of us contributes to the discussion, and when we say something, everyone else in the room is nodding her head, understanding just what we mean."

"There are still times when I say, I don't want to be special anymore, just make my child better," admitted Fruhwirth. "But then the others encourage me, and I think that if I just take one day at a time, without looking too far in the future, I'll make it."

For more information about SIS, call 857-1324.

GUEST COLUMNIST

RYAN ADDRESSES LIVING WILLS

This column addresses topics of concern to senior citizens and is issued by Lieutenant Governor Ryan's Senior Action Centers. The Centers' toll-free phone number is 1-800-252-6565. In the Springfield area, call 782-6565.

Q. I have recently heard my friends discussing the "Living Will". Can you tell me more about it and where I might get a copy?

A. The Living Will is a document you can sign at any time during your adult life (if you are of sound mind) directing that should you become terminally ill, no extraordinary "heroic" medical measures are to be taken to prolong your life.

After you sign a Living Will, there are two principal steps that can be followed to ensure that it is honored: 1. Discuss your decision with your doctor. Your physician should agree with your decision to sign the document. 2. Discuss the Living Will with your family so that they can assume the responsibility of consulting with your doctor if you as the patient are not able to do so personally.

In order for the declaration to be valid it must be signed and witnessed by two competent adults. Here in Illinois, the witnesses may not be related to the declarant by blood or marriage; stand to inherit any portion of the declarant's estate; nor have financial responsibility for the declarant's medical care. The Living Will declaration is invalid in the event the declarant is pregnant. You may elect to have it notarized, as it attests to the seriousness of your intent.

After completing the application, a copy must be given to your physician to be placed in your medical record. It is also suggested that copies be given to next of kin, friends, lawyers, religious advisors, or anyone else who may have input on making decisions about your medical treatment. It is important that a copy be kept readily available should there be a need for it.

To receive a copy the "Living Will" call the Senior Action Center toll-free at 1-800-252-6565 or in Springfield 782-6565 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

PUBLISHER'S FOCUS

By Dennis Brennan

• Braun in 1991

If Richard Daley is successful in his bid for Mayor of Chicago, expect Cook County Recorder of Deeds Carol Moseley Brawn to challenge him in 1991.

• Jesse's Hunger Strike

Jesses Jackson's hunger strike in an attempt to have Mayor Eugene Sawyer unify behind Alderman Timothy Evans in the race for Mayor proves that Jesse's candidate is, and always was, Timothy Evans.

• Republicans & Democrats United

Believe it or not, top Republicans and Democrats are uniting behind the Preference Party in Worth Township against the dissident Republican Township Choice Party.

Word is that Republican Committeeman Robert Streit is worried that a victory by the Township Choice Party, led by Joseph McCarthy, will result in Burton Odelson becoming Committeeman in 1990. Thus, Streit is better off if Harry "Bus" Yourell and his slate is successful.

WE THE PEOPLE FUNDRAISER SET

Everyone is invited to a fundraising Continental Breakfast for the "We the People" Party candidates. The candidates' breakfast will be held on Sunday, March 19, at the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn, 4140 W. 95th Street, from 10:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Tickets are $15 per person and can be purchased at the door or by calling 423-5146.

"We hope many Oak Lawn residents will show their support for our efforts to reduce their taxes," said Mayoral candidate Edward Roche. Other candidates running on the "We the People" slate are Kathleen O'Brien for Clerk, Michael Bates, Edward Barron and Harold Mozwecz for Village Trustees, Estelle Batzel for Park Commissioner, and Nancy Czerwiec and Betty Kadich for Library Trustees.

Publisher's Pen by Annette Dixon

Many prayers are requested for Elizabeth Houlihan, daughter of Jack and Peg Houlihan. Thank you!

Rich Dixon is recuperating well from his second operation, hopefully he will be back to work soon.

Mr. Swihart of Oak Lawn was remembered as the Scoutmaster of Troop 618. Our condolences to his family.

Belated birthday greetings to "Bus" Yourell and belated anniversary wishes to John and Mary Stella.

Recently fifteen young people entered a program called "Bridge of Hope" in Ireland. This program is an "interchange" which brings Irish Youth from both Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland. The pilot program is a YMCA program jointly uniting cultures from Ireland and south suburbia youths.

What is important in the program is that the YMCA of Ireland provided four months of pre-departure training and orientation, plus insurance, airfare, and a weekly stipend.

Within this issue one of the Youth workers explains why and how she became involved with the YMCA program.

Village View Newspaper and Add Flyer Delivery Service is happy to announce the arrival of two young people in time for St Patricks Day.

Eileen Kerlin is currently working at our office, so please call her to introduce yourself to her. Liam Connolly is working at my Flyer Delivery Service at 423-9754. Please call him and introduce yourself to him.

Eileen's article is not edited; for we believe it is her intention, as well as ours, to learn journalism first hand. She will accomplish this by reading various styles of journalism and covering stories within the village.

We enjoyed her sincerity in writing her feelings and thank her for her accomplishments in such a short time.

HEALTH CARE ISSUES TO BE ADDRESSED

Health care promises to be at the center of some of the most spirited public policy debates in the Senate and House again in 1989. A few of the health care issues likely to be addressed this session include:

* Mandatory Health Insurance--Introduction of a mandatory health insurance proposal that would require most Illinois employers to offer health insurance to their employees is expected this session. According to sponsors of the measure, the legislation currently being drafted would guarantee that health insurance benefits are provided to an estimated 700,000 working poor in Illinois. It is estimated there are currently 1.5 million medically indigent Illinois residents who have no health coverage.

* Women's Health Issues--Last year saw the passage of legislation calling on the Illinois Department of Public Health to adopt tougher regulations for medical laboratories in order to reduce the high rate of inaccuracy in the evaluation of Pap smears. Depending on legislators' assessment of the Department's response, additional legislation on this issue may introduced. Legislation requiring insurance firms to cover the cost of mammograms will likely be reintroduced as will legislation dealing with informed consent for hysterectomies.

* Medical Malpractice--Medical malpractice will likely surface as an issue this year because the agreement reached on this issue two years ago by the Illinois Medical Society and patients' rights advocates led by the Trial Lawyers Association expires this year. There is little doubt that caps on awards for non-economic loss and punitive damages in malpractice cases will be the focus of debate on this issue.

* Repeal of mandatory AIDS testing for marriage license--A number of proposals have already been introduced this year calling for repeal of the AIDS-testing requirement for the issuance of an Illinois marriage license. One bill introduced in the Senate calls for a repeal of the requirement, while another measure that would further require county clerks to deliver a pamphlet describing how AIDS is transmitted and how it can be prevented to each marriage license applicant. Yet another proposal introduced in the House would waive the testing requirement if the couple donates blood, which would still require AIDS screening, but not at couple's expense.

FROM IRELAND TO AMERICA

THE STORY OF ONE WHO RECENTLY ARRIVED IN THE UNITED STATES

BY: Eileen Kerlin

Northern Ireland is not as bad, and yet much worse than the media portrayal. A strange dichotomy exists there. We are not a military state-our normal day to day way of life isn't effected by "the troubles"; that is we live and work in safe areas, and remain uninvolved with political organizations. We do not live under constant threat.

Having said it is a terrible thing we live with - continual death and destruction, made all the more terrible by the fact that we can live with it, compassion fatigued, ignoring the 'elephant in our living room.'

The political situation has affected both economy and employment. Norther Ireland has the highest unemployment figures in the United Kingdom Two of our biggest industries, Shouts plane building and Marland and Wolffe's ship building lose millions every year. The employment is these industries is predominantly protestant, while employment is the construction industry, (also on the decline) is mostly catholic. The paces of employment is tense, bleak and not without discrimination. Each year, hundreds of young people leave Northern Ireland in search of work and prosperity in England, America, and Australia.

In order to try and counteract long term unemployment, both the British and Irish governments have introduced 'A action for Community employment', (ACE), Schemes and 'teamwork'. These involve the creation of one year employment contracts in community based organizations. The criteria required to qualify for an ACE scheme is one full years previous unemployment. The aim is to gently wean the unemployed back to a full time working environment. In reality however, such schemes are generally abused, poorly supervised, and simply mask a large slice of unemployment figures.

Because of our special political, economical and employment problems, The International Fund for Ireland made available 6.5 million pounds (nearly 13 million dollars), to enable Managers, Workers, and Students from Norther Ireland to travel abroad to gain experience and training. One of the 'wider horizons' schemes developed under this funding is the Y.M.C.A.'s "Bridge of Hope." Fifteen young people, aged between 18 and 25 live and work in the U.S. for six months, on a program designed to develop their social, personal and employment needs. There have always been strong ties between Ireland and the U.S. because of Irish immigrant, Chicago particularly.*

It was working on the "ACE" scheme, as a youth leader with a christian Community in West Belfast, that I first became afflilated with the Y.M.C.A., and subsequently joined the Bridge of Hope program.

From learning of my successful application in October '88 until January '89, I was swept along with the training, the residentials, the preparations, packing and farewells, and it was only at Dublin Airport on Friday, Feb. 10 that I realized I had never quite made that grand decision as to whether or not I would go through with this trip, and now I was on my way!

Having arrived at O'Hare Airport, and driving towards Justice, my first impression of Chicago was one of uncertain disillusionment. Where were all the tall buildings? The narrow shadowy alley ways with black fire escapes reaching up forever, so reminiscent of gangster movies. I couldn't believe these identically style, fast food restaurants, and sparse residential areas, were really the Chicago I had anticipated for months. No-one, had prepared me for suburbia.

When I eventually got downtown Chicago, it was everything I imagined - tall buildings and fire escapes included. We came across a film being shot. Being bundled out of the way by shivering, coffee drinking producers, it really felt like America for the first time.

Just three weeks into my six month stay, my impressions are favorable, but underdeveloped. I didn't' expect everyone to be Irish, "its your city." I thought it would be faster. I expected to see all colors and creeds living and working together - regardless of race. (American, intercultural melting pot, land of equal opportunity) But veiled prejudices are as evident as those at home.

I have still so much to se and learn and understand about this country. I don't however, think its easier to succeed in America - achievement comes about the same way in any country, any language - perseverance and hard work. But with a stronger economy and low levels of unemployment, there are simply more opportunities for the right person to work hard, persevere and then hopeful succeed.

* The "Bridge of Hope" is a joint program of the Y.M.C.A.'s of the U.S.A. and Ireland, designed to promote reconciliations between people of offering traditions in both N.I. and the Republic of Ireland. The interchange program brings Irish Youth employ by the Y.M.C.A.'s of Ireland to the United States to learn about social interaction with people whose cultural values and traditions differ, as well as to enhance their employment skill's and employability upon return to Ireland trough training with American organizations.

DALEY NAMES ANTI-DRUG POSTER WINNERS

Thirteen Cook County grade school students have been named as the 1989 winners of Stat's Attorney Richard M. Daley's annual Anti-Drug Poster Contest.

The winning posters were selected by Daley's Drug Task Force from nearly 5,000 entries submitted by sixth, seventh, and eighth-grade public and private school students.

Now in its seventh year, the competition was created by Daley to promote awareness of the dangers of drug abuse among children at an age when they face opportunities to experiment with illicit drugs.

"The quality of this year's entries was very good, and I'm proud of all the students who participated--every one of them is a winner," Daley said.

This year's winners will be honored at a public awards ceremony at the Daley Center, where the posters will be on display.

The winning entries will then tour other public facilities in the county over the next year and be used in various anti-drug educational programs.

A limited supply of 1989 calendars--featuring last year's winning posters are still available by contacting Daley's Community Unit at 443-5598.

In the eight grade competition, the first place winner is Steven Hamann of Palos Hills, a student at Conrady Junior High School in Hickory Hills.

Hamann's poster depicts a hand poised to pet a dog whose body is a hypodermic needle, with the title, "Drugs Bite You Back."

Other 8th grade winners are Sidney Wilcox of Chicago, Zuleyka Karina Rodriguez of Chicago, and Ayako Tatsuno of Northbrook.

The first place winner in the seventh grade contest is Michael Gallo of Palos Hills, also a student at Conrady Junior High.

Gallo's poster depicts a graveyard with tombstones decorated with symbols of drug abuse, with the title, "Drug Abusers Are Carving Their Own Epitaphs!"

The other 7th grade first place winner, in a tie for the top award, is David Phillips of Palos Hills, also of Conrady, whose poster shows two arms sticking out of a hole in the ice amid the title, "You're On Thin Ice With Crack."

Other 7th grade winners are Thomas Czarnecki of Chicago, Ada Acevedo of Chicago, and Mary Trojaniak of Burbank.

In the sixth grade competition, the first place winner is Michael Mucha of Oak Lawn, a student at St. Gerald's School.

Mucha's poster depicts a grim reaper dangling two drug victims on strings like marionettes surrounded with narcotics paraphernalia, with the title, "When You Use Drugs You Dance With Death."

The other 6th grade winners are Lemond Richardson, Veronica Gutirrez, and Danielle Juracka of Chicago.

The Drug Task Force, formed in 1981, is a group of volunteers from throughout the county who assist prosecutors in developing anti-drug programs and strategies.

OF THE LIBRARY

THE YOUTH SERVICES DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES several program offerings for young people. Happy Birthday Dr. Seuss is a special birthday party to help the famous author celebrate his 85th birthday. The event is designed for children in grades one through three, who are encouraged to bring any Dr. Seuss character dolls that they have. A special message will be prepared to send to Dr. Seuss. The program is scheduled for 3:45-4:45 p.m. Thursday, March 16. Call or come in to register. The Bicycle Safety Program will feature Sgt. Spallina, Oak Lawn Police Department, who will explain the rules of safe bicycle riding. A free sheet of poster board will be given to all who participate so that they can prepare an entry for the Library's Bicycle Safety Poster Contest. The program is open to all children from ages six through 14. To register call 422-4990 and ask for Youth Services.

COMING UP IN APRIL is a cooperative program with St. Xavier College students enrolled in the education program. Special storytelling sessions will be held on Saturdays. As soon as times and dates are set, flyers and announcements will be prepared for distribution at the library and to the press.

REFERENCE LIBRARIAN KATHY O'LEARY will be traveling to Ireland this summer as an exchange librarian with the Dublin Library. Since the program was approved and announced by the Board of Trustees, she has been interviewed by the press and has appeared on one cable TV show and is scheduled for another. She has been nominated and selected by her co-workers as the Library Employee of the Month.

THE GREAT BOOKS TRAINING SESSION held at the Library drew a full house of registrants from the area. This was the first time that an official training and certification program was held in the southwest suburbs. Dr. Ernest Jaski, coordinator of the Great Books Discussion Group which is sponsored by the Library, initiated the idea and spearheaded the arrangements. The Great Books group meets regularly from 6:30 p.m. to 8:45 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. New participants are welcome to come to the meetings which follow the discussion guide established by the Great Books Foundation. Dr. Jaski can be reached at his office during the day, 735-3000, ext. 391, or at his home evenings, 636-1997.

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY are planning a trip to the Garfield Park Conservatory on Wednesday, March 29. The bus will leave the Library at 10 a.m. for the Conservatory and an hour-long tour. Lunch will be at Babe's Farm House Inn, Blue Island, at approximately 1 p.m. Price for the bus is $5 for members, $6 for others. Participants will pay for their own lunches. For additional information or to make reservations, call Dee Kopf, 422-0488, or Gen Sobanski, 598-7971.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

OBSERVE "HIRE THE OLDER WORKER WEEK"

Dear Editor:

I have recently heard that police offices will be given machine guns. The reason for this is because gangs are out-gunning our police offices. If the police are given machine guns, perhaps fewer police officers will get hurt or killed.

My problem is that stray bullets from police officers' guns kill civilians. Wouldn't they kill more civilians with machine guns. If they do, wouldn't they be causing the crime in our cities.

An answer to the problem is give machine guns to the SWAT(special weapons and tactic). If the police must have machine guns, give them to the best of the police.

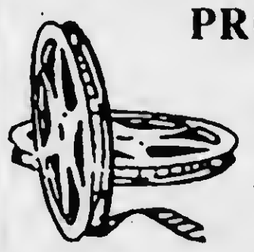
NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1989 by Alyn Richard

IT'S GETTING TO BE A HABIT... Jesse Jackson backed Dukakis, and Dukakis lost out to Bush. After Washington's death, Jesse backed Evans, and Evans lost out to Sawyer. Next Jesse endorsed Sawyer (in the recent primary), and Sawyer lost out Daley. Just an observation!



WILL LOGIC WIN OUT?... Best bet for Sawyer...endorse Daley! The Democratic Party would make sure Sawyer is well taken care of, and he deserves it. BUT logic and what is right do not always rule the day. The Catch 22 for Sawyer...if he endorses Evans, he disavows the Democratic Party, and where is he then, if Evans, as an Independent, wins or loses? I don't sense any loyalty in Evans for Sawyer.

BEST CASE SCENARIO... Daley soars...with the Democratic Party behind him...the "Machine" lives! It's DALEY vs VRDOLYAK (Republican) vs EVANS (Independent). Then comes the important political appointment of VRDOLYAK to Washington, D.C., in the BUSH administration, and the Chicago Race becomes a two-man race, and may the best campaign staff win! Think about it. The real winner...Ed Vrdolyak! Daley may have much more trouble than he'll be able to handle if he is elected to the top spot in Chicago, therefore, his management team selection will be absolutely crucial...these choices could be the most important thing he would do in office.

FOR YOUR VIEWING PLEASURE... Try "Monkey Business"...it's anything but! In a most unusual way it shows the destructive nature of Anger. The emotional range of this picture runs the gamut, so prepare yourself. It's available through video rental stores, and may be on Cable.

And I am...Alyn

Ballot Shuffle: Streit In and McCarthy Out

By: Patrick Casey

Worth Township Rep. Committeeman Robert Streit and the entire Republican Township slate has been placed back on the ballot for the April 4th election.

Judge Curtis Heaston reversed the earlier decision of the electoral board and ruled that Streit was eligible to name himself and his running mates to replace the original ticket when the electoral board ruled that Streit had lost the Republican caucus to dissident Republicans led by Joseph McCarthy and Burton Odelson.

Heaston also ruled that the new slate led by McCarthy was ineligible, with the exception of one candidate, because they had participated in the Republican caucus.

The two Republican groups have been at war for the last few months, since the Republican Party caucus at which Streit's ticket was declared the winner.

An election board then removed Streit's ticket from the ballot ruling that the McCarthy-Odelson group had won the caucus. That board also allowed McCarthy's ticket to remain on the ballot.

When Streit's ticket was removed, he then sought to replace the vacancies with the exact same slate of candidates.

The other party on the Township ticket is the Preference Party, led by Harry "Bus" Yourell, candidate for Supervisor.

Oak Lawn To Honor Veterans with Memorial

By: Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn has committed itself to developing a Veteran's Memorial to be located in the center of Oak Lawn.

The memorial will be produced as a cooperative effort by the Village, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

The memorial will be located where the Public Safety Building currently is. A new Public Safety Building is currently being constructed across the street from the existing one. The existing building will be demolished in 1991 according to Trustee Jay Bergamini (6th District).

The memorial will cover some 14,000 square feet in the center of Oak Lawn. The physical features of the monument will be unobtrusive, Bergamini says the monument will be no higher then five (5) feet so it will fit the surroundings.

The monument may be ready for dedication by July 4, 1992.

The Village will spend no money on the monument. All needed funds will be raised by the VFW and American Legion according to Gene Gallagher Chairman of the Oak Lawn Veterans Memorial Foundation.

Bergamini charges Barron with "hasty" Decisions

By: Brian Begy

Politics sparked a debate at the Village Board of Trustees meeting between trustees Jay Bergamini (6th District), and Ed Barron (4th District).

Bergamini charged that Barron has been too quick to act to meeting the requests of residents without enough study. He cited a proposal to lift a parking ban near Christ Hospital, as an example. Residents demanded strict parking laws in the past and now want those laws lifted, according to Bergamini.

Bergamini said the measure was "brought back very hastily," at the requests of residents. Bergamini said, "Barron immediately reacted using his office" to residents' complaints.

Barron prides himself on having a good rapport with the residents of his district. He holds monthly meetings at Village Hall to communicate with residents of the 4th District.

Barron denied charges that his decisions are being made hastily. He said he met with the administration of Christ Hospital, the Quality Control staff and 40 to 50 residents. "As usual Trustee Bergamini is trying to inject politics in a decision that was not hastily made."

Barron said he held four meetings with residents, again with Hospital administration and spoke to Police Chief Frank Gilbert before proposing the ordinance.

Barron charged Bergamini with previously bringing up similar issues, "two days before the election" for political reasons.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1989 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

Aries/Scorpio
Mars

A chance meeting proves beneficial to your creative talents or work area. This is a good week to relate to friend's ideas, and help them with their success. Another Aries/Scorpio person involved. The ideas you had in February now pay off.

Taurus/Libra
Venus

If in business, this is the time to advertize. Job conditions need some improving, including your attitude about your job. Be aware that you are a "role model" for someone, so live up to it, you will help others! A Virgo in your life now or soon, who will help you.

Gemini/Virgo
Mercury

Read the above message as well as this one. You are very astute this week to new opportunities. Reach out for your own shining star. Joyous news from a distance. You could be asked to head up a project at work, and you are qualified to do the job well. Let a Sagittarius back into you life.

Cancer
Moon

Love matters take this week's focus. You should be aware that someone needs to hear how much you care. Take nothing for granted in your personal love life this week. Money situation of another person may require your help or expertise. Libra involved.

Leo
Sun

A very important person will want to talk with you about your career or job opportunities. You should not say "no" to an offer that comes your way even if it means that you must "travel to it". Someone who has antiques might want to sell you something, and it would be a good investment. Libra and Leo's help you.

Sagittarius
Jupiter

You will seek "quality" as opposed to "quantity", and will come out well. There is a chance to be recognized for an idea that seemed "obtuse", but now can bring big financial gains to you. A Leo and an Aquarius to deal with this week.

Capricorn
Saturn

"No!, the grass is not greener on the other side", you will come to realize that it is where you are at now that counts. But, within weeks, this picture changes and you have another offer that is much better than the first, in dealing with financial needs. Another Capricorn and a Sagittarian can become your allie.

Aquarius
Uranus

There once was a man named John Alden...he lost out. You must speak for yourself in love matters, and in dealing with the needs of a good friend. Health also improves, but, you may require more exercise, and watch your intake of rich foods. Cancer person helps you in a special/loving way.

Pisces
Neptune

It will seem that Santa has come a little late, but, you will receive something very nice this week. Be ready to meet new people that can help you to success, especially if they are in the signs of Virgo or Libra. You could find money or something valuable this week and next. Hasty business or money decision may be regretted, so wait on this till April.

MY BOOKS AND TAPES WILL BE ON SALE AT THE PYRAMID QUARTZ CRYSTAL AND BOOK MART, APRIL 9 (SUNDAY) 10 A.M. TILL 4 P.M. ARLENE WILL ALSO BE GIVING UP TO 50% OFF ON QUARTZ CRYSTALS AND OTHER ITEMS. Pilgram Faith keeps Tradition with Services

"I guess my kettle of soup has turned into a minor tradition in our Easter preparations," says Pastor Edward Goltz of Pilgrim Faith Church in Oak Lawn. During Lent, the forty days before Easter Sunday, this church offers a weekly Wednesday supper of homemade soup, bread and fruit, followed by a Lenten Lecture. As usual the Pastor was first to volunteer as chef.

More seriously, Pastor Goltz reflects on Easter. "While Easter is our season of greatest joy, we need to remember how costly the good news of Resurrection has been." Lenten Lecturer Dr. Ronald Goetz, an editor and columnist for the Christian Century magazine and professor at Elmhurst College, is speaking on "The Suffering of God." "God's love and grace are costly; the world has many crosses."

Palm Sunday's 10 o'clock worship, with traditional music and distribution of palms, comes earlier than the usual date. Holy Week offers a Maundy Thursday drama, presented by the men of the church, and Holy Communion. On Good Friday neighbors and friends of the church are invited to join the traditional noon hour worship service of scriptures, prayers and Ecumenical Altar Communion open to all Christian believers, whatever their denomination.

Pilgrim Faith schedules two services Easter Sunday, March 26th, at 9 and 11 o'clock. A breakfast of juice, rolls, Easter eggs and coffee will be available at 8 A.M. in Colonial Hall on the lower level below the sanctuary. Children are especially invited to the 9 o'clock service where they participate by covering an large empty cross with fresh flowers, "bringing the cross to life."

For further information call Pilgrim Faith at 422-4200 or visit the church office, 9411 S. 51st Avenue, in the "Heart of Oak Lawn" area. This church, affiliated with the U.C.C., was founded in Oak Lawn in 1891 and will soon celebrate its Centennial year of service to the community.

Chamber Welcomes New Members

The Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce welcomed several area businesses to membership at a recent meeting. According to Chamber of Commerce President Marianthe Karson, Oak Lawn Trust & Savings Bank, the Chamber becomes more effective with each new member. "We are able to achieve the greatest success when we represent the entire business community," said Karson, "We will continue to work on the behalf of all business people in our area."

The Chamber recognized W.B. Herrington of Preferred Copier Services, Betsy Minor of Aaron's Office Furniture Warehouse and Mr. Richard LeMoine of Household Finance at the meeting. Also joining the Chamber were the new Auchon Hyperstore, Mr. William Billings of the Beverly Hills Weight Loss Clinic, Mr. Mike Miller of IDS American Express and Van Dahm Lincoln Mercury.

Karson remarked, "As you can see by the diversity of our new members, Oak Lawn is a very vibrant, vital place." Membership in the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce is open to any business in the greater Oak Lawn area. Information on membership may be obtained by calling the Chamber of Commerce office at 424-8300 or by visiting the Chamber office in person at 9526 S. Cook Avenue.

The Chamber through its retail committee also lauded Annie's Ltd. and Mal's Men's Shop for their first luncheon fashion show. The two stores, located side-by-side at 52nd Avenue and 95th Street, displayed clothing for work and play with members of the Chamber doing the modeling. Remarked Oak Lawn Chamber Vice President Bob Kuenster, Thompson & Kuenster Funeral Home, "There is really no need to shop for clothes anywhere but Oak Lawn. Any style, any taste, you will find it in Oak Lawn!"

United Way warns of Scam in Area

Residents in the Chicago metropolitan area should be on the alert for phony solicitors trying to collect money door-to-door in the name of the United Way.

The solicitors are not affiliated with the United Way/Crusade of Mercy, which does not raise funds by door-to-door solicitation. Inquiries about the fraudulent appeal have been received by the United Way and also reported to the police.

In the past few weeks, area residents have been approached by men, usually in their early 20's, who request cash donations in the name of the United Way. Businesses in some suburban communities have also been approached. The men, very persistent in their requests for money, show fake identification cards, issue fake receipts and request donations in cash only.

United Way officials wish the public to be alerted to this situation.

Officials of the United Way/Crusade of Mercy urge anyone who is approached by these fraudulent solicitors to contact their local police department immediately.

Ryan Promotes Illinois Trade

Lieutenant Governor George H. Ryan's first business day accompanying the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation's trade mission was spent selling Illinois coal and hardwood.

Ryan met recently with Michael Buckley, head of the European Office of the U.S. Hardwood Trade Council, and Robert Fondahn, Director of the U.S. Agriculture Trade Office. He discussed the variety and availability of Illinois hardwoods with a group of United Kingdom hardwood buyers.

Ryan met with key officials of the two divisions of the Central Electricity Generating Board -- National Power and PowerGen -- to discuss their interest in purchasing Illinois coal.

SD 218 FALLOUT

Alsip residents and officials are upset that the redistricting plans for SD 218 would not give Alsip its own representative on the board while Blue Island could elect 3 members.

OAK LAWN RACE

In the battle between Beth McElroy and Ed Barron for Trustee in Oak Lawn, McElroy is winning at least one battle: She has many more signs than Barron.

Barron, the President of the Worth Township Republicans, is receiving a little support from a couple Democratic Precinct captains. Reportedly, they support Barron because of a longtime friendship.

ALSIP'S SENIOR'S APARTMENT

Only 37 residents remain at the converted Seniors Complex on 119th Street in Alsip. Expect those 37 to be gone by June.

STREIT INVESTIGATED

Word is that the Grand Jury is looking closely at allegations that Republican Committeemen Robert Streit ordered prospective candidates to pay him money to be slated for Township office.

NEXT STATE'S ATTORNEY

Should Rich Daley be elected Mayor of Chicago, a dog fight is expected for the State's Attorney's post.

While a suburbanite should be given that post, since Chicago officials now hold all county offices, none has been mentioned.

The solution is to choose County Assessor Thomas Hynes as the State's Attorney and appoint a suburbanite as Assessor.

The Democratic party can not afford to lose the suburban vote by ignoring them when offices become available.

NEWSIGHTING
Copr. 1989 by Alyn Richard

LEGAL EAGLE... Atty. Stephen G. Baime's successful representation of his female client won a six-figure settlement in her suit against her former boyfriend for giving her genital herpes...this is the first settlement in Illinois that in fact and legal precedent acknowledges that transmission of sexual disease as a personal damage. Guess what? Homeowners insurance policy rates are going to go up - because an insurance company is paying the settlement...the insurance company with whom the defendant had his HOMEOWNER'S policy. Surprise!! Check your wallet. Watch for a run on this type of lawsuit now...and maybe it's about time. What do you think? There appears to be documentation of individuals who have AIDS...and are using it as a weapon...deliberately giving it to their sex partners. Things are changing!

THE SADNESS...that pervades a conversation with an innocent victim of AIDS...is overwhelming! I have spoken with someone who has AIDS, compliments of her husband, and she is dying...her concern for her children is all that seems to keep her going, and yet the despair that is constantly trying to destroy her seeps into her at every chance.. There are too many do-gooders trying to prevent the death penalty from being carried out for convicted criminals, as the law (of the people) dictates that is should, and yet these same do-gooders ignore the tragedy of what I am referring to here. Too many pity the AIDS victim, who has if from their sexual promiscuity or activity, but the innocent victim spoken about here is dying in a vacuum created around them by someone else - without warning! How would you feel if you were that victim?

EASY DOES IT... Looks like Mayor Sawyer will sit out the endorsement of any mayoral candidate, and it may just be the smartest thing he could do. This guy is really looking like a class act to me. He is showing calmness and dignity, even in defeat. I like what I see.

And I am...Alyn

ST. LAURENCE NHS MEMBERS

The St. Laurence High School Chapter of the National Honor Society recently held its annual induction ceremony for those students who have distinguished themselves by maintaining the highest standards of scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

At a special midyear honors convocation, society recognition awards and pins were presented by Brother Arthur M. Arndt, Principal, with the assistance of Mrs. Kathleen Morin, the Society's sponsor.

MARIST WRESTLERS SUCCEED

The Marist Wrestling team has one of its most impressive seasons in the history of the program. They captured their 10th consecutive East Suburban Catholic Conference title, 7th consecutive regional title, and their 5th consecutive sectional title finishing the season with 3rd place in the Illinois High School Association State Dual Meet Tournament.

The year was a special one for many reasons. First, the Maritst Redskins were the only ones to qualify the entire team to the sectionals, which was a state record. The team had 4 individuals to win more than 100 matches in their career at Marist: Tom Derro (Oak Lawn), Dave Neybert (Palos Heights), Bill O'Brien (Chicago 52) and Paul Andreotti (Orland Park).

Senior Paul Andreotti became Marist's first two time Individual State Champion. He also rewrote several of the books for the wrestling program, breaking the records for the most wins for individual matches in a season (50), and most points for a season (258). Andreotti is being recruited by many fine universities in the United States. Kevin Nolan, a heavyweight from Mr. Greenwood, became Marist's second Individual State Champion for 1989.

Marist also had 4 other place winners from the Individual State Tournament: Senior Tom Derro - 6th Place, senior Dave Neybert - 4th Place, senior Bill O'Brien - 4th Place, and junior Tim Houston (Palos Hills) - 4th Place. Mike Maloney (Orland Park) was injured during the football season, but worked extensively to rehabilitate from his injury. He gained a berth in the State Finals but unfortunately did not place.

The 1988-89 Wrestling Redskins finished the season with a 25-3 record and as Head Coach Mark G. Gervais said it, "probably gave the most gutsy performance at the end of the year by any team in the history of Illinois Wrestling."

College Sports

BASEBALL

The Lewis University baseball team was expected to go through back-to-back rebuilding years in 1988. But, instead the Flyers reloaded and finished a surprising third in the NCAA Division II World Series after gaining their fifth consecutive national tournament bid.

Now the Flyers begin 1989 hoping to surpass last year's accomplishments with the return of 16 lettermen, including six positional starters, and nine of last year's top 10 pitchers which helped the Flyers to their 29th consecutive winning season by compiling a 46-19 record.

Highlighting the Flyers' strength is the return of nine pitchers who helped the Flyers to 39 of 46 wins las year. Leading the way are senior pre-season All-Americans righthander Tim Pinkowski of Alsip, and lefthander Bob Russ of Chicago.

"We expect to have strong pitching," Coach Irish O'Reilly said. "The intense competition in practice as well as the availability of six lefthanders are big plusses. Last year pitching was a question mark. This year it's the complete opposite."

ChiSox look for support in Area

As spring training draws near and thoughts turn to the upcoming baseball season, the ChiSox Club with the support of the Chicago White Sox, offers White Sox fans of all ages the opportunity to show their loyalty and support, while aiding a most worthwhile cause, the ChiSox Kids Charity.

The charitable fund-raising intentions of the ChiSox Club set it apart from many similar organizations in sports. The club's contributions to ChiSox Kids Charity, designed to help prevent and treat serious illnesses in children, have helped to fund Camp One-Step-At-A-Time for seriously ill children at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, along with the ChiSox Kids Playroom at Children's Memorial Hospital, and the Bill Veeck Pediatric Cancer Research Fund established in 1985 to support priority research projects in the area of leukemia and bone marrow transplantation.

Members of the ChiSox Club receive two (2) reserved seat gift certificates to a White Sox game at Comiskey Park, a complete set of White Sox baseball cards, a membership card, a special club gift, and a subscription to the quarterly White Sox publication, Comiskey Columns.

In addition, members also receive notifications of all ChiSox Club sponsored events, including the ChiSox Luncheon series, fan trips, and the annual ChiSox Golf Classic. Also, all members are invited to an exclusive youth baseball clinic held at Comiskey Park and instructed by several White Sox players and coaches.

A portion of the proceeds from the ChiSox Club benefit ChiSox Kids Charity for which over $28,000 was raised in 1988.

To become a ChiSox Club member, send $10.00 to: ChiSox Club, 324 W. 35th St., Chicago, Illinois 60616, or call the White Sox at 924-1000 for further information.

Daley Warns Consumers of Pyramid Schemes

Illegal pyramid investment schemes are operating throughout the metropolitan Chicago area, offering the empty promise of huge profits in exchange for a large payment that will go straight into the pockets of the con artists operating these scams, Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley warned.

Daley, who is currently prosecuting over a dozen alleged pyramid scheme operators, urged the public to dismiss the slick promises of risk-free investments offered by the criminals who run such operations.

"The money-back guarantees are worthless," Daley said. "My offices's Consumer Fraud Unit has heard from scores of victims who were promised that nothing could go wrong, but who nevertheless lost all of their investments."

The schemes are known as "pyramids" because a chart of the investors's progress would resemble the triangular shape of the famous Egyptian monuments, according to Daley.

"These schemes are illegal because they just can't work," Daley said. "They require an ever-increasing number of new investors who are impossible to find."

He added: "The only players who realize profits from these 'games' are their originators. The overwhelming majority of investors are going to lose their money."

However, Daley's office - rather than prosecute innocent victims of these schemes - brings charges against the alleged operators and, in fact, seeks to get restitution for the victims.

Daley urged anyone with information on specific pyramid schemes operating in Cook County to immediately contact his Consumer Fraud Unit at 443-4600.

McNamara Satisfied with Budget, Cites Tax Issue

State Representative John McNamara said that he was basically satisfied with Governor Thompson's 1989 budget message.

"For the first time in a while it appears that the Governor is heading in the right direction with his budget," stated McNamara. "I am pleased to report that for the first time in four years the Governor is not asking for an income tax increase. Over the last four years I have worked to Prove to Mr. Thompson that the state can live within its means without a tax increase and still see revenue growth. It finally appears that the Governor has gotten the message."

Although McNamara was generally upbeat about Thompson's address, he did indicate disappointment with funding of education.

"It is getting tougher every year for students in my district to afford a college education," McNamara stated. "Yet the Governor is suggesting that we reduce money to the state scholarship commission by 9%. We must not turn our backs on kids who seek a college education but lack the sufficient funds to pay for it."

"As a member of the House Appropriations Committee, it is my intention to scrutinize the Thompson budget very closely. It is my feeling that we will find more money for education than the Governor is asking for today." McNamara concluded.

WHAT'S A KOTLARZ?...It's a brave man! Ald. Joseph Kotlarz (35th) first took a voluntary drug test, then made a proposal to the City Council that all of the Chicago city employees be subject to random drug testing. He said the city's elected officials and publicly paid employees "must set an example" in the fight against drug and alcohol abuse. BRAVO!!! That took courage. I have observed something about human nature in my years...the more someone reacts to a truth, the truer it becomes. To paraphrase Shakespeare...they protesteth too much! Too bad there isn't any leadership in Oak Lawn that could spearhead such a worthy effort.

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE...The "self-destruct" tape concept looks like it will soon find its way into the video stores...tapes will be allowed to play only a few times, and then self-destruct. Purpose: to lower tape costs to the store...but I think it will have a built in protection against copying by the renter. We'll see.

CONDO ALLEY...I'm looking for (war) stories and information on condo living. Got any gripes? Write to me...

HIS EMINENCE...Governor Thompson...all I see with Vrdolyak not getting funds from the national committee is that Vrdolyak doesn't play ball with the Gov. I told you Vrdolyak was a straight arrow. And he'll do his best. I think the Gov. is in for a surprise.

FABIANO...There will always be doubt in my mind on this case...because she would NOT go on the witness stand!

THE OSCAR AWARDS...Dustin Hoffman's acceptance speech was a disgrace to himself and the OSCAR award itself. I do believe he was ridiculing the entire Autistic community. I know of the exceptional work of organizations like Sertoma with Autistic people, and I still get angry thinking about Hoffman's speech. Rainmaker is one movie I am going to have a hard time justifying to see. What do you think?

And...I am Alyn

Give To Education by Death

Although Illinois' public universities have been desperately pleading for more money for several years, two Northern Illinois University scientists promise, "You can help us, and it won't cost you a cent."

"Simply make a bequest of your remains after death to the NIU donor program," says Marvin J. Starzyk and Christopher Hubbard.

"Your generosity will help us offset the high cost of educating professionals such as nurses, physical therapists and cardiac rehabilitation professionals," they state in a joint appeal.

For those interested in the program, it is only necessary to complete a declaration of consent form that designates Northern as the recipient. The donation may be included in a will, but the declaration is preferred as copies may be kept also by next-of-kin, a family physician or attorney and NIU's biological sciences department.

NIU will pay the mortician cost and arrange for transportation of the body from anywhere within a 100-mile radius of DeKalb, Starzyk notes.

A brochure on the donors program, declaration of consent forms and other details may be obtained by phoning 815/753-7824 or 815/753-0427. Or, write Department of Biological Sciences, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb IL 60115. All information will be held in the strictest confidence.

Wellness on Wheels is Here

Wellness On Wheels (WOW) is rolling into Palos Hills on Tuesday, April 11, 1989 from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. to offer free health check-ups. The WOW van will be parked at the Palos Hills Community & Activities Center, 8455 W. 103rd St., Palos Hills, IL. Appointments are required for those who are interested.

Wellness On Wheels is an extension of the Adult Health program of the Cook County Department of Public Health which is available to suburban Cook County residents who meet financial requirements. Wellness On Wheels is furnished with state-of-the-art equipment enabling it to provide the following services: physical exams, health counseling, tests for anemia and diabetes, blood pressure screening, vision and hearing tests, dental check, TB test, cholesterol screening, immunizations, urinalysis, pap smears and pelvic exams for women, and prostrate and testicular exams for men.

The health check-up is for people, 18 years and older, who have not had a complete physical exam within the last year. WOW check-ups can be used for employment and school physicals. For more information or for an appointment, call CCDPH at 865-6125.

The Faces of the Winners

PUBLISHER'S PEN

BY:
ANNETTE DIXON
Former Republican Candidate for State Rep. 27th District 1986

This column is written with a heavy heart. Maybe because of many reasons? Could it be because of the election returns? Or could it be that Michelle Dixon is leaving for the Navy? Who knows, except this is one confusing week.

Bob Streit, Worth Township Republican Committeeman, knew he preferred running for Supervisor of Worth Township in hopes of furthering his political career. He hasn't concerned himself of his committeeman's position in years. The comparison has often been made in the rank of the Republican Party with committeeman Herb Huskey. McCarthy, on the other hand was called a "dissident Republican" by several newspapers, including this one, because Streit's choice was not to place him on the Republican ballot.

Why then did the Republicans win two out of eight seats? The winners were Michael Davies, of Chicago Ridge, who was first on the ballot, and Kathleen Spencer the only woman on the Republican ballot. Does this mean they were lucky? No, what it means is that Bob Streit should look at his position as committeeman more carefully, and not concern himself with a top position on a slate.

Michael and Kathy have the respect from both the Republicans and "dissident" Republican group to win an election. Honesty, integrity and respect for their fellowman usually is a winning combination and in this case the Republicans voted for just those persons!

VILLAGE VIEW OF THE LIBRARY

BUTTON, BUTTON, WHO'S GETTING THE BUTTON? is the theme for the Youth Services department celebration of National Library Week, April 9-15. Students in kindergarten through eighth grade will have an opportunity to design a button and enjoy a program of films and stories. At the time of registration, participants will be given a form to use for their designs. This design is brought to the program and transformed into a button. There are two program sessions from which to choose on Saturday, April 15. The first is set for 10-11 a.m. The second is scheduled for 2-3 p.m.

NEW HOME REPAIR VIDEOS are available in the library's audiovisual section. Eleven Hometime videos from the PBS series have been added to the collection. Each tape is 40-80 minutes long, expanded from the 30 minute PBS showings. On the tapes, an expert show how to do the home repair, step by step, from beginning to end of the project. New tapes include furniture and refinishing, patios and walkways, basic landscaping, underground sprinklers, children's playsets, lighting, hand and power tools, weatherization and insulation, common home repairs, hardwood and vinyl flooring. Already in the collection are tapes of bathrooms and cabinets, ceramic tile, desks, drywall, electrical, exterior painting, fences and gates, finished carpentry, framing, interior paint and wallpaper, kitchens, plumbing, roofing, siding and windows and doors.

THE GREAT BOOKS DISCUSSION GROUP is winding up the third series of the reading discussion guide established by the Great Books Foundation. The dates and topics for the remainder of this season are as follows: April 18, James: Beast in the Jungle; May 2, Machiavelli: The Prince; May 16, Tolstoy: Death of Ivan Ilych. The group meets from 6:30 p.m. to 8:45 p.m. in meeting room B, lower level of the library, 9427 Raymond. Dr. Ernest Jaski coordinates the program for the library. He can be reached at 735-3000, ext. 391, days, and at 636-1997, evenings.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1989 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR ALL SIGNS:

Aries/Scorpio
Mars

Ask yourself what it is that you want most, and then make a plan to get them. You could take up a study or get on the job training for some new project or new methods are being introduced. A Pisees can be the most helpful person of all this week and next.

Taurus/Libra
Venus

A very mysterious person enters your life, and, in time this person can become important to your career. This could be a Leo. Pay attention to your financial expenditures, making sure that you are getting your monies worth.

Gemini/Virgo
Mercury

Sometimes you are just too generous with your money and efforts, and this is a time when you should reflect, re-evaluate and make new promises to yourself about such matters; that you will do what must be done where you benefit too. Let Sagittarians help you.

Cancer
Moon

It is not good to look back at yesterdays and cry over what might have been. You are on a new road, and many of you change jobs or careers. All is for the better and you will find this out soon. Mercurians help you, (Gemini and Virgo) as well as someone in the sign of Pisees.

Leo
Sun

Kindly person offers advice about your career or job, and even advises you concerning money. Pay attention, but, listen to your own intuition. You are quite capable of handling your affairs, and making your life work your own way. A Libra involved and someone that sells real estate.

Sagittarius
Jupiter

Read the Leo message and add this: you can become involved in someone's marital problems. Careful. There is every indication that the situation will straighten out on it's own.

Capricorn
Saturn

You hear of an opportunity that comes from outside Illinois, could be a business offer or someone wants your services. Be prepared to talk "straight talk" concerning what you want out of the promises made and the commitments you would have to give. Another Capricorn involved.

Aquarius
Uranus

There is a major shift in your life and people seem to be "backing away from promises made to you", still, all turns out well if you will speak up when the issues arise. A Pisces person involved with someone in Aries or Scorpio.

Pisces
Neptune

Don't question "lady luck", "she" has her reasons for giving you what you need...and, be open to compliments about your work effort. It appears that you have made your impression and work efforts known to the right people. Some of you will sell and profit from selling, others will buy what they need and turn a profit from this too. An excellent week. Cancer helps too.

AVAILABLE TO SPEAK FOR YOUR GROUP OR ORGANIZATION. CALL 636-4578. PRIVATE, CONFIDENTIAL CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE, BY PHONE OR MAIL. ALL SESSIONS ARE TAPED FOR YOUR LATER RECALL. 4TH DIMENSION ASTROLOGY GIVES YOU THE TOTAL OF YOU, HEALTH INFLUENCES, SEXUALITY, LESSONS OF LIFE (KARMA), BIO-RHYTHM, HEALING GEMSTONES, ETC. THIS COMES WITH THE FULL CONSULTATION. I ALSO DO THE PSYCHIC ONLY SERVICE; ALPHA-STATE HYPNOSIS FOR PROBLEM AREAS; CONSULTING THE ANCIENT RUNES TO FIND REASONS FOR WHAT IS HAPPENING IN YOUR LIFE; AND PSYCHIC COUNSELING FOR PROBLEM AREAS. I ALSO DO "COMBINED SERVICES", i.e., Full service with RUNES OR ALPHA-STATE HYPNOSIS OR COUNSELING. ASK ABOUT THIS WHEN YOU CALL 636-4578.
MY BOOKS AND SELF-HELP TAPES ARE AVAILABLE AT THE PYRAMID QUARTZ CRYSTAL AND BOOK MART, 3580 W. 95TH ST., IN EVERGREEN PARK, IL. 60642. CALL AND SPEAK WITH ARLENE. SHE MAILS OUT BOOKS, TAPES AND HEALING QUARTZ CRYSTALS.
Till next week,
Jacki Mari

Editorials, Personal Opinions of Note, Letters To the Editor, and Editorial Replies

Dear Editor:

Crime doesn't pay. Victims Do. Become a victim of violent crime, and you'll find the nightmare is just beginning. That's because victims are not always included in our system of justice. While our system surrounds the criminal with legal rights and legal aid, it often leaves the victim out in the cold. All too often, victims have only the right to remain silent. And not much else. Only four states offer constitutional guarantees to victims (not Illinois). The rest offer Victims' Bills of Rights, with the provision that the rights named are suggestions only. If they are ignored by the authorities in a particular case, victims have no recourse.

Most Americans are unaware of the pain of victims, for a variety of reasons. Movies and television show police, prosecutors, and judges who catch and put the criminal away - all within 60 minutes. In reality it doesn't work that way. A victim may suffer a complete physical, emotional, and financial breakdown from his or her experience, while the attacker is out on the streets again in a matter of hours, days or months.

Crime is not an isolated problem. In 1986 one violent crime occurred every 21 seconds in this country. Drunk driving crashes are violent crimes. In 1987, 23,632 persons died in alcohol-related traffic crashes. Estimates of the economic costs of drunk driving range from $11 billion to $24 billion. For DUI offenders sentenced to jail, the median term imposed was only five months. In Cook County only 3% of drunk drivers ever even go to jail.

This week is National Victims Rights Week. All across the nation communities are taking a stand for victims' rights and promoting the need to improve programs and services for victims of violent crime. We have a responsibility to the victims. The way we treat victims is a crime. It's a system we created, and it's a system we can change.

Chinese tour Christ Hospital

A delegation of faculty members from Beijing University, China, recently toured Christ Hospital and Medical Center, Oak Lawn, to see what American health care has to offer. The delegation, part of a faculty exchange program sponsored by the World Bank, is serving as visiting faculty during the spring semester at Moraine Valley Community College in Palos Hills.

With you, there's a WAY

...to help keep families happy, healthy and together.

With the strains of modern life, families often need a helping hand. When you give to the United Way, you make that help possible, through family counseling, emergency assistance, and programs to combat alcoholism, drug abuse and domestic violence.

To those who've given, to those who'll give, Thank You.

Sxc Announces new Program

Saint Xavier College/Chicago has announced a new program to attract women and minorities to the field of engineering.

According to Dr. Ronald Champagne, President of Saint Xavier College, the program will establish an Inter-institutional Consortium for Women and Minorities in Engineering. Five area high schools will be included in the Consortium: Morgan Park High School, Percy L. Julian High School, Academy of Our Lady,. and Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School, all of Chicago, and Dwight D. Eisenhower High School of Blue Island.

The Consortium will provide two motivational, informative programs and a Summer Enrichment Program for ninth and tenth grade science students from the five target high schools.

Saint Xavier College has received a federal grant of $56,427 to fund the program through Title II of the Education for Economic Security Act throughout the State of Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Saint Xavier College offers a 2+2 Engineering Program with the Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT).

Conveniently located on the southwest side of Chicago, Saint Xavier has an excellent reputation for providing quality education, combining a rich

School News and Events

"Israeli and Palestinian Artists' Peace Exhibit" will be held now through April 24 at the Chicago Gallery of the University of Illinois at Chicago. Eighty-four works of art by Palestinian and Israeli artists will be on display in the Chicago Gallery, third floor of Chicago Circle Center, 750 S. Halsted Street.

A wide variety of related cultural, political and educational events will take place on campus in conjunction with the exhibit, the first of its kind to tour the United States. The exhibit represents the culmination of a year of planning by Israeli and Palestinian artists and curators and was inspired by the Intifada, the Palestinian uprising in the Israeli-occupied West Bank that began in December, 1987.

"In putting together and making possible this exhibit, the artists and planners hoped to demonstrate how working together for the common good of creative endeavors can unify people in a way that promotes the constructive exchange of ideas and a variety of perspectives," said the Rev. David J. McGown, UIC campus minister and coordinator of the Chicago Committee to Support the Israeli and Palestinian Artists' Peace Exhibit, sponsors of the exhibit and related events.

Gallery hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from noon to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. For a complete schedule of auxiliary events, a listing of artists and works to be displayed, or for more information, call McGown at the Agape House, at (312) 666-2627.

SPECIAL WEIGHT LOSS PROGRAM is now available for the first time at the University of Illinois Physicians Office in downtown Chicago as well as at the University's west side campus.

The program, tailored to the individuals needs, is unique because it takes advantage of the combined skills of a physician, psychologist and dietician. Arnold Robin M.D., serves as medical director of the program; Georgia Andrianopoulos, Ph.D., provides the psychological evaluation and counseling. Roberta Clarke, R.D., offers dietary counseling.

For more information or an appointment, call the University of Illinois Physicians Office, on the second floor of the State of Illinois Center, 100 W. Randolph St., at 996-9020, or the University of Illinois Hospital, 1740 W. Taylor St., Chicago, at 996-2037.

PERSONAL GROWTH WORKSHOPS will be offered this spring through the Community Education Program at Saint Xavier College, 3700 West 103rd Street.

"Breaking Up is Hard to Do", a divorce adjustment workshop, will meet Saturday, April 15, 9 AM-12 noon. The workshop will offer practical advice on getting through a separation or divorce with self-esteem and integrity intact. The fee is $20.

"Self-Awareness, What Makes Me Tick", will meet Wednesday, May 3, 6:30-9:30 PM. Participants will learn about themselves through a series of experimental exercises and an in-depth study of values, perceptions, and effect of others on their behavior. The fee for this workshop is $22.

For more information, please call Community Education at (312) 779-3300, ext. 207.

FREE COUNSELING FOR SMALL BUSINESSES will be available for small business owners by representatives of the Service Corps Retired Executives (SCORE) from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Thursday, April 13, 10 and 27 at Moraine Valley Community College. The counseling will be held at Moraine Valley Community College, 10900 South 88th Avenue, Palos Hills. Those interested must make an appointment by calling Moraine Valley at 974-5735.

SMALL BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT CENTER (SBDC) at Moraine Valley Community College in Palos Hills is seeking volunteers to assist with small business counseling.

"We're looking for retired executives or former business owners who would be willing to donate their time to help small businesses in the areas of developing business plans, planning marketing strategies and setting up bookkeeping systems," said Mary Dankowski, coordinator of the SBDC.

A special informational session for potential volunteers will be held on Wednesday, April 12 from 9 to 11 a.m. in the college's Center for Contemporary Technology. The session will be held in the Employment Training Center.

Those who would like to volunteer or would like to attend the informational session can call the SBDC office at 974-5415.

SINGLES NETWORK of Moraine Valley Community College will meet on Friday, April 14 and have graphologist Renee E. Contento as a guest.

The meeting starts at 8 p.m. on the second floor of the College Center on the Palos Hills campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave. Admission is $3.

The Singles Network meets the second Friday of each month while classes are in session. For more information, call the Guidance and Counseling Office at 974-4300, ext. 4202.

1989 MORAINE VALLEY COMMUNITY COLLEGE STUDENT ART EXHIBITION will be held from April 14 to April 20 at the college. The exhibit will be held in the Moraine Rooms of the College Center. The exhibit will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday; and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday. There is no admission charge to the exhibit, and the public is invited to attend. For more information, call the college at 974-5702.

BLOOD DRIVE will be sponsored by the Student Senate at MVCC and the Heartland Blood Centers on Tuesday, April 11 at the college's Palos Hills campus, 10900 S. 88th Avenue. The blood drive will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. outside room L280 of the L Building. Donors must be between 17 and 75 years old, weigh at least 110 lbs. and not have donated blood in the past eight weeks. For more information, call the College Activities Office at 974-5717.

MVCC BOARD OF TRUSTEES will hold a joint meeting of the Building and Planning Committee, the Faculty/Administration/Support Staff Committee, and the Finance and Investment Committee on Monday, April 10 at 6:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Board Room, L243, on the campus, 10900 South 88th Avenue, Palos Hills.

Mvcc Who's Who

The 1989 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges" will include the names of five students from Moraine Valley Community College who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Students named this year from Moraine Valley Community College are Erin Beck, Orland Park; Janice McCray, Chicago; Edward Telow, Richton Park; Amber Valloni, Oak Lawn; and Sue Victors, Oak Lawn.

The program includes services ranging from pain assessment and treatment protocols to complete vocational services including work hardening. In addition we are proud of our newly developed program dedicated to the cognitive rehabilitation of the head injured.

We are actively seeking a dedicated physician who is Board certified in neurology, orthopedics, or related fields. Qualified candidates will currently be a team physician involved in head trauma rehabilitation, pain management, and the work hardening program.

This is an excellent opportunity to develop new skills within a growing internationally recognized pain treatment facility. Our 5 day work week means you'll have plenty of time to enjoy the diverse array of cultural and recreational activities available in the beautiful and affordable Pacific Northwest. Your significant contributions to qualify patient care will be rewarded with a fine compensation and benefit package. For prompt, confidential consideration, send a letter or resume to: Northwest Pain Center Associates, 15862 SW 72nd Avenue, Portland, OR 97224, Attn: A. F. Schmitt, Ph.D., (503) 684-7245.

Oak Lawn Adopts Water Use Restrictions

By: Brian Begy

Oak Lawn adopted official water restrictions to prepare for the coming summer. The Board of Trustees adopted an ordinance to implement the Illinois Department of Transportation, waterways department, lawn sprinkling plan.

The plan restricts lawn sprinkling to 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. every day. The restrictions will be kept in place under normal circumstances, according to Trustee Joe Vogrich (5th District), chairman of the Waterworks Committee.

Vogrich said the restrictions will remain in place until a possible draught. In the event of drought, sprinkling will alternate on even and odd numbered days based on house number during limited hours. All houses with even numbers will be allowed to sprinkle on even numbered days and vice versa.

In the event of a severe drought, lawn sprinkling will be eliminated entirely, according to Vogrich.

Oak Lawn will take the lead in restricting sprinkling. Other suburbs that purchase water from Oak Lawn are expected to follow. Sprinkling restrictions will be uniform for all suburbs in the Oak Lawn water lines.

In other water matters, Oak Lawn passed an ordinance requiring that all wells be disconnected from Oak Lawn homes water systems. It also requires that all wells in Oak Lawn be capped so the wells may not be used.

Trustee Bill Hefka (1st District), said a supply of well water may be useful to ensure adequate supplies for lawn sprinkling in the event of drought.

Vogrich said that allowing such exceptions would encourage residents to violate sprinkling restrictions. He sid if residents see neighbors sprinkling lawns outside of acceptable hours, they will violate the restrictions as well. "If you let one person do it, you have to let them all do it," Vogrich said.

Trustee Ron Stancik (2nd District) said there is already precedent for using well water along with Oak Lawn lines. He said Oak Lawn allowed Country Club Hills to use well water for irrigation exempting Country Club Hills from usual water purchase rules outlawing the practice.

Vogrich said that Country Club Hills irrigating a driving range, rather than residential homes. He felt this was an acceptable exemption because so much water is used in irrigating the driving range, while lawns use so little water.

The Village Board passed an ordinance ordering the capping of all wells in Oak Lawn, but will review special requests for exemptions.

Will Yourell Take new Post?

By: Daniel Tobinas

Newly elected Worth Township Supervisor, Harry "Bus" Yourell, will probably not be sworn in on May 1st for the Supervisor post according to legal experts in the area.

Yourell nemesis Burton Odelson, an Evergreen Park Attorney, has stated that he will file a lawsuit against Yourell, should he be sworn in, alleging that the Supervisor's job is "incompatible" with Yourell's Metropolitan Water Reclamation District seat. State law prohibits a person from holding 2 elected "incompatible" seats.

Odelson has contended that the 2 posts are in fact "incompatible."

However, attorneys for Yourell believe that the posts are not incompatible. The court has never decided this particular issue.

One election expert predicted that Yourell would not accept the post. "If he accepts the Supervisor's post and his attorneys are wrong, he will have in effect resigned from the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District," said the attorney. Others agreed that Yourell will not risk the loss of the Reclamation District seat by accepting the Supervisor's post.

Should Yourell not accept the post, the vacancy would have to be filled by the two Republican and two Democratic Trustees on the board. The Clerk, a Democrat, would break any ties. According to State statutes, anyone, as long as he or she is a registered voter, may be named to fill the vacancy.

If Yourell can find someone acceptable to the Democrats on the board, he will not have to make a deal with the Republicans. However, it is expected that each of the Democratic officeholders is interested in the spot. Whether they will accept someone who does not hold a township office is yet to be seen.

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1989 by Alyn Richard

IT'S BLATANT...the way the oil companys are gouging the public, because they created the Alaskan disaster...of course we should pay for it - we're the customer. The only comfort I have is that they acknowledge the increased awareness of the public - we know what they are doing...they don't even bother to disguise what they are doing anymore. Trouble is, they just continue to do what they have been doing all along.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION...$831,325 was the amount ticketed for the Illinois' coffers for seat belt violations in 1988 (at $25 per fine). If the Guv signs the new bill into law (doubled to $50 per fine), ANYONE not wearing a seatbelt can be ticketed...it should yield a minimum of $1.6 million (I project a minimum $2 to $3 million). What happens to that money? And yet studies like one from AAA recently in Hawaii that showed seat belt users were three times as likely to be in an accident than non-users...have disappeared...nowhere to be found! The bottom line of it all...seat belt laws are revenue for somebody - period! Public safety isn't a factor! This is the type of thing that could trigger the upcoming tax revolt! Watch it, Guv!

A LEGITIMATE action in the transportation field is the proposed stiffening of truck licensing. Secretary of State Jim Edgar's plan includes participation in a nationwide computer system that would eliminate trucker's having drivers licenses in more than one state. BRAVO Jim!

OBSERVATION... I has been known for some time that Daley lost the city of Chicago (for his faction) deliberately when he split the white vote, to prevent Jane Byrne from the office, and only Daley could regain it, and he did. But if Vrdolyak had not battled it out in the trenches with the 29, there may not have been much left for Daley to regain. As for Vrdolyak, at the very least he will make a run for governor of Illinois...but just may go to D.C.

RAINMAKER is what caused the tears (Hoffman's Oscar acceptance speech)...RAIN MAN is the movie.

And...I am Alyn

Evening of Fashion and Entertainment Slated

For the 17th year Paulius - Lipinski - Callahan Memorial Chapter of Leukemia Research Foundation will be presenting its evening of fashion and entertainment. April 25th and 26th, "Woman of the Year" will take place at the Martinique-Drury Lane, Evergreen Park, Illinois.

Area Women, chosen in a model search earlier this year, will participate, along with seasoned professionals, in a most exciting, state of the art, fashion extravaganza.

The latest in spring fashions from Bellissimo, the newest creations of Chicago designer Peggy Martin, and the creative hair styling of Michael Anthony will be featured. Also, this year, actress Elke Sommer will be presenting an award to Leukemia Research Foundation's "Woman of the Year", Geri Valentino.

Geri, a leukemia victim, overcame the disease with an unrelated bone marrow transplant. The procedure is possible because of the research of Dr. Yair Reisner, a biophysicist at the Weizmann Institute of Science. Dr. Reisner was a recipient of funds from the Leukemia Research Foundation while working on this project.

For tickets and information about "Woman of the Year" call 422-0307.

Cancer Warnings Urged

Citing an increased cancer risk from food pesticides, sponsors have reintroduced legislation in the Illinois Senate to require warnings on all food treated with substances known to cause birth defects or cancer.

Senate Bill 174 would require a product or shelf warning on all food or food products that contain chemicals known to cause cancer or birth defects. The bill, which is based on an existing California law, would make such labeling the responsibility of the producer, grower, or processor of the food product and not the retail merchant, unless the retailer is responsible for introducing a hazardous chemical to the food product.

SB 174 would require the Illinois Department of Public Health to publish each year a list of chemicals for which warning labels would be required. Failure to comply with the labeling requirements would be a Class 3 felony. In addition, a fine of $2,500 per day for each violation could also be imposed.

Another bill recently introduced in the Illinois Senate would require state and local police to request a breath screening test for all drivers involved.

Senate Bill 132 would automatically require law enforcement officers to request a preliminary breath screening test for all drivers involved in auto accidents resulting in either personal injury or death.

PUBLISHER'S FOCUS

By Dennis Brennan

- POWER OF INCUMBENTS

Once again the southwest suburban area Mayors clobbered their opponents proving that its rare to upset an incumbent. Even the much maligned Mayors, like James Malecky of Oak Forest, survived challenges. Being Mayor in these suburbs is becoming as "safe" as winning a congressional seat.

- THE WINNERS AND THE LOSERS

Whether its at the Township lever or in the local villages the winners are still celebrating and the losers are thinking of next election.

The biggest loser in all the elections may be Burton Odelson, who wasn't even on the ballot. His "Township Choice" slate was blown away so bad that its Supervisor candidate, Joseph McCarthy, has decided to retire from Politics.

In Orland Hills, where Odelson serves as Village Attorney, Mayor Michael Daum lost. In Merrionette Park, where Odelson is Village Attorney, his opposition captured two seats and he may be dumped. The Alsip Progressive Party also lost. Odelson had reportedly advised the Progressive Party as its attorney.

Hartigan Fights Release

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan renewed his five year battle last Tuesday to keep William Heirens, one of Illinois' most notorious murderers, from being released from prison.

Heirens, who terrorized Chicago during an 8 month spree in which he murdered two women and a seven-year-old-child, is asking the Illinois Prisoner Review Board to recommend executive clemency on grounds that Heirens has been trouble free in prison.

Mrs. Josephine Ross was murdered during a burglary in June 1945. Then six months later Heirens murdered Miss Frances Brown and left a message written in lipstick saying, "Catch me before I kill more".

But, before he was captured Heirens murdered seven-year-old Suzanne Degnan while she slept in her home in Rogers Park, dismembered her body and left behind a $20,000 ransom note.

Rather than face trial and a death sentence, Heirens pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment on each of the three murder indictments which were to be served consecutively.

Heirens was denied parole at a hearing during the past year and was told he could not receive another hearing for a three year period.

However, Heirens is seeking to circumvent that order by seeking a different legal approach in petitioning the governor for clemency.

Since his sentencing, Heirens has appeared before the Prisoner Review board more than 20 times seeking release. As Attorney General, Hartigan has continued to fight to keep Heirens behind bars for the rest of his natural life.

ST. LAURENCE ANNUAL AWARDS DINNER honoring all student-athletes in the St. Laurence High School wrestling program was recently held at the Custom Banquet Hall. Students at all levels in the program were awarded Major and Minor letters, or trophies in recognition of their outstanding efforts and dedication throughout the season.

Head Coach Bob Trombetta, Master of Ceremonies for the event, gave special thanks to Mr. Ray Konrath, Athletic Director; and Brother L.R. Christensen, Assistant Athletic Director; to Mr. Bob Koziel, Trainer; and to Mr. Larry Pawelski, assistant varsity coach, as well as to the many parents "who worked for, and supported the team with their tireless efforts throughout the team's successful season." Coach Trombetta then proceeded to introduce the members of the coaching staff, all of whom took the time to extol the special talents of each individual wrestler, and consequently presented each with his award(s).

At the varsity level, Coach Trombetta presented awards to: John Adaska, Mike Meuris, Kevin Bracken, Vince Cascone, Jim Czajkowski who placed 2nd in statewide competition, Mike Eierman who took a first place in sectional competition, Jason Ford, Len Jankowski, Kurt Kalchbrenner, Steve Lazzara, Scott Mladic, Brian Murphy, Joe Sanfratello, Jim Walker, Curt Ringhofer, Dan Walsh, Gary Altman, Bob Gonzales, Austin Metzler, Mike Jonites, Joe Barbaro, Mark Bucki, and Tony Composono. Receiving the "Most Valuable" trophy award at the junior level was Kevin Bracken, while the senior MVP award went to Dan Walsh.

Coach Trombetta concluded the presentations with the announcement of several "Special Awards". Senior team captain Brian Murphy was the recipient of the "Coaches Award for Dedication" while the trophy for "Most Improved Wrestler" was bestowed upon junior Steve Lazzara,. Senior Dan Walsh was presented with the varsity trophy for being the "Most Overall Valuable Wrestler".

In his closing remarks, Coach Trombetta praised all of the team members for an "Outstanding year", noting the team faces some of the "best competition in the state in wrestling such teams as Providence, Marist and Mt. Carmel to name a few", and that this tough competition was a factor in many of the Viking wrestlers being place finishers in the Catholic League, as well as eventual state qualifiers. Trombetta stressed that "in order to be the best, you must wrestle the best", and that the valuable experience gained this year will bode well for the future of the Viking wrestling program.

TEN PIECES OF THE DRUG PUZZLE

Talk to someone whose son or daughter has been destroyed by drugs, and the viciousness of this threat overwhelms you.

The United States is 5 percent of the world's population, yet we consume 50 percent of the world's illegal drugs.

The nation's capital is experiencing a wave of murders related to drugs. And while the statistics in Washington are worse than in most places, if we overnight got rid of the drug threat in every urban area of the nation, we would still face a serious blight elsewhere.

In 1988 four times as many people died of cocaine as in 1984.

What can be done?

The more you look at this problem, the more clear it is that the easy, dramatic answers will not work. We'll have to dig in and do the hard, undramatic things that count. What are they?

1. Drug education for all of us. The public education program for cigarettes is working. We're saving lives. We must do the same for drugs. Sometimes I ask high school students, "How many of you have had your parents talk to you about drugs in the last year?" Few hands are raised. Drug education in our schools, on the media, in our churches and synagogues, and in our homes must be an all-out national endeavor. Some years ago, the Kiwanis Clubs had a drug education program. A host of other organizations should follow their fine example.

2. Treatment centers must be available for addicts who want help. In many areas the wait for addicts to get treatment is six months to a year. That waiting period is dynamite. When people recognize they need help, we need to get it to them quickly. The costs of waiting are high.

3. We must recognize most drugs are not used by addicts, but by "good citizens" who want a special thrill. They must understand recreational use is a threat to them and to our society. For example, the majority of child abuse cases today are drug or alcohol-related. The casual user is like the person who lights a match at a service station: It may explode. More than two-thirds of the people now arrested for serious crimes test positive for drugs.

4. To discourage casual users, law enforcement must go after more than the trafficker. Yes, throw the full weight of the law at the person who sells drugs. But the person who buys drugs is part of the crime. With rare exceptions, law enforcement today goes after only the seller. We don't have enough jails to house people if we go after those found possessing or using drugs. But routine fines of $500 or $1,000 for all users – with fines going up with succeeding convictions – would help. And I also favor printing in newspapers the names of those convicted of possession or use.

5. Trials for those accused of drug trafficking should be set as quickly as possible so the penalty is prompt, as well as severe.

6. Once people are found guilty of selling drugs, if they wish to appeal they should stay in prison while they appeal. To permit them to post bond after conviction and walk the streets is to invite more drug use and sales.

7. High-rise public housing is often a haven for drug users. Where that is a problem, take a lesson from Vince Lane, the new Chicago Housing Authority administrator, who is firmly cracking down.

8. Some places have inaugurated a hotline where people can call with information about drug dealing but remain anonymous. We need more hotlines and then publicize their existence.

9. For other countries producing drugs we should cooperate in trying to stop production, but make it clear that lack of cooperation by them will result in economic penalties.

10. Finally, there are many "small things" all of us must do to stop the drug traffic. Recently I drove on Cicero Avenue in Chicago and across the large street was a banner: "Beepers Sold Here – No Credit Check."

I asked the young man driving what it meant. He replied that beepers are used by teens selling drugs to avoid being caught.

"Does everyone know what that sign means?" I asked.

"The people they're trying to attract sure do," he said, "and anyone under 25 knows what the sign means."

If he is correct, that store is involved in a legal business but the money they make is blood money. The media should shame them out of business.

These 10 things are among pieces of the puzzle that we have to put together. The task will not be easy, nor the battle quickly won. But win it we must.

Rice looks for Coach

A search committee has been formed to review applicants for Head Varsity Basketball Coach at Brother Rice High School. The committee consists of the following: George Sedlacek, Assistant Principal and Head Varsity Basketball Coach at Brother Rice; James Antos, Assistant Principal and Freshman Baseball Coach at Brother Rice; Thomas Mitchell, Head Varsity Football Coach and Chairman of the Business Department at Brother Rice; James Casey, Director of Admissions and Alumni at Brother Rice; Brother M. D. Lucas, Member of the Brother Rice Board of Directors and Provincial Consultor for the Congregation of Christian Brothers; The Honorable J. Martin Berry, Circuit Court Judge and Past President of the Brother Rice Alumni Association; Chuck Schwarz, Athletic Director for Loyola University and former Head Varsity Basketball Coach for Lewis University and St. Laurence High School. Both Mr. Sedlacek and Brother Lucas also have high school basketball coaching experience.

"This is a group that will cover all the bases," said Mr. Sedlacek., who organized the committee as requested by Brother Thomas J. Collins, Principal of Brother Rice. "We want to be sure that all the right questions are asked and that the very best candidates are answering them."

Child Support Hours Rescheduled

Special Saturday hours have been scheduled April 29 on the Southwest Side for clients of State's Atty. Richard M. Daley's Child Support Enforcement Division.

The weekend hours are part of Daley's ongoing program to accommodate single-parent families who find it difficult to visit the agency during its regular weekday hours.

April's outreach effort is being hosted by Daley College from 9 a.m. to noon in the school's main lobby, 7500 S. Pulaski Rd.

Clients with existing child support cases are invited to discuss the status of their court actions, Daley said.

In those instances, advance appointments are strongly encouraged so prosecutors can have the necessary case files on hand, he explained. Appointments can be made by calling 580-3257.

Single parents without pending cases, but who believe they are entitled to court-ordered child support, are also invited to attend the session to determine if a new case can be filed, Daley added.

Daley, whose office collected about $70 million in court-ordered child support during the past year, has held similar outreach programs at locations throughout the city and suburbs over the last two years.

In addition, Daley announced the installation of a new TDD number for child support clients who are hearing impaired. That phone number is 580-3212.

Callers to 580-3248 will have their cases reviewed to ensure they are receiving all available financial assistance.

Bike Trek for Charity Set

Chicago Lung Association is gearing up to take part in the third annual million dollar TransAmerica Bicycle Trek - the largest organized coast-to-coast cycling fund raising event ever held in the United States.

Four hundred cyclists representing local Lung Associations all over the country will leave Seattle, Washington, on June 5, 1989, and start pedaling on a northern route cross-country until they reach their goal - Atlantic City, New Jersey, on July 21 - by averaging 75 miles per day. The pledge-supported, seven-week trek will raise more than $2.5 million nationwide to support the Lung Association's mission to prevent and control, all lung diseases.

From Seattle, participants will pedal through the green and rugged Cascade Mountains enroute to Spokane across the panhandle of Idaho to Montana.

Heading east across the Great Plains, bicyclists will ride through Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota before stopping over for a midwest visit in Minneapolis. The trek will continue east through Wisconsin, Milwaukee, Chicago, Indiana, and Ohio. From the Pittsburgh area, participants will tackle the challenge of the Appalachian Mountains, then head east again for the finish and Atlantic City's famed Boardwalk - seven weeks and 3,368 miles from the start.

The American Lung Association, the Christmas Seal People, will furnish the participants with breakfast and dinners, accommodations, mobile bike shops, maps, transportation for personal gear and all the staff and services required for the long-distance trek.

Interested cyclists should contact Chicago Lung Association at 243-2000 for more information.

Moraine gets Chinese Gift

A Chinese tapestry depicting the Great Wall of China was presented to the Moraine Valley Community College Board of Trustees at the March Board meeting. The tapestry was presented by the visiting exchange scholars from the Beijing Machinery and Electronics College, who arrived at Moraine Valley in January for six months of research and study.

"This tapestry shows the Great Wall of China, one of the world's architectural wonders," said Mr. Chen Qiang when he presented the tapestry. "The Great Wall is also said to be one of the two human engineering projects spotted by United States astronauts from the moon. It crawls through seven provinces, municipalities and autonomous regions with a total length of over 5,000 kilometers or 3,000 miles. The Great Wall of China represents a special source of pride to the Chinese nation."

Tapestries of this nature are made entirely by hand and are famous for their excellent quality. They are thick, resilient and are made in either brilliant or subdued patterns to suit different surroundings.

Tapestries represent one of the finest products of Chinese handicraft art.

"I hope this tapestry will long remain a significant reminder of the friendship between our two colleges," said Qiang. "I believe that this friendship can be as eternal as the Great Wall of China."

"This tapestry is beautiful and represents the friendship between our two colleges," said Board Secretary Lee Allen Harris.

"Thank you for this gift to Moraine Valley," said Trustee Mary Zawaski. "It is very impressive."

PUBLISHER'S PEN

By: Annette Dixon

Belated birthday greetings to Rita McElroy who celebrated her 62nd birthday on April 9th.

Happy Birthday to Mary Rochford, April 16th; Carl Harter, April 13; Special greetings to Michelle Dixon on April 13th.

On April 9th, Matt Lamb held a reception for Bonnie and Ed Derwinski. Some of the guests included Cardinal Bernardine, State Sen. Judith Barr Topinka, Rep. Jack Kubik, Cong. Marty Russo, Sen. William Lipinsky, Supervisor Lou Viverito, Jerry Gibbons, Messenger Press. These are just a few guests from the southside of Chicago and Suburbs.

Matt and Rose Lamb's home was elegantly decorated with antiques from all countries. What made it more beautifully decorated this year, were the paintings of Matt Lamb's throughout several rooms. I certainly enjoyed seeing his studio. Color, should be Matt Lamb's middle name. His use of vibrant colors in his abstract paintings is his forte.

Recently Michelle Dixon enlisted in the Navy. It was on April 10th at 5:30 a.m. that she was to fly to Orlando, Florida. Michelle called her father at 9:10 p.m. to tell him two previous flights were cancelled. Early in the morning a flight was cancelled due to a highjacking in Miami. The second flight was cancelled due to a cargo door problem.

Had it been me, I would have asked to be discharged with an Honorable One at that!

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1989 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

Aries/Scorpio
Mars

Family and friends may be putting too much of a load on you. Speak up, let others do their share. This is not a week however, for arguing, or for procrastinating about your own plans or needs. Someone in the sign of Aquarius will stand by you.

Taurus/Libra
Venus

A quick decision is asked for...try to delay this, especially if it concerns a real estate matter. Be ready to take a trip on the spur of the moment. This is an exciting week, rushed, but exciting. Someone in Libra is read about, heard about, or, wants to talk with you personally.

Gemini/Virgo
Mercury

Money talks...we know this, and especially you! This is a week to spend for what you need, and to also deny someone asking for money if you do not have it to give. This message will explain itself before the end of the week. Let Scorpio be involved.

Cancer
Moon

Good news is on the way regarding money, and a special friend is about to include you in a project that can bring even more financial rewards. Aquarius helps if asked.

Leo
Sun

Read the above message and add this: Protect your ideas, put them in writing or copyright them. Aquarius also helps you. You are about to experience a feeling of "having been there before", so write down your thoughts as you get them.

Sagittarius
Jupiter

You may be doing business with, or just getting together with a Capricorn to develop a profitable idea. You could be entertaining a side-line business. Health is much improved as is your attitude about yourself. Good for you! Let Leo help.

Capricorn
Saturn

Sometimes we have to learn patience "is" a virtue! And, you have learned this well. It appears that the delays since last September have been a source of irritation as well as a let-down. But, people you met then are coming through with flying colours. Virgo involved and someone in publishing, media or production.

Aquarius
Uranus

You cannot explain why you feel the way you do, so why try? This is a good week for self-reflection, and putting yourself on a new road to success. Use your own ideas, others will see their value. Let Pisces people help.

Pisces
Neptune

You are born with the gift of "insight" and can help many people realize something of value to them. Aquarius people involved and Scorpio too. This is also a week to plan your housing needs, move, remodel, etc. This should be a much easier week for you.

PRIVATE PERSONAL/CONFIDENTIAL CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE, BY PHONE OR MAIL. CALL 636-4578 OR 636-2233 FOR INFORMATION ABOUT PRICES, SERVICES ETC. ALL SERVICES ARE TAPED FOR YOUR LATER RECALL. MY BOOKS AND SELF-HELP TAPES ARE AVAILABLE AT THE 'PYRAMID QUARTZ CRYSTAL AND BOOK MART' 3580 W. 95TH ST. IN EVERGREEN PARK, IL. 60642. CALL 636-2233 ASK FOR ARLENE. ASK ABOUT MY 4TH DIMENSION ASTROLOGY INDIVIDUALIZED TAPES. LEARN ABOUT YOUR SEXUALITY, COMPATIBILITIES, LESSONS OF LIFE (KARMA), BIO-RHYTHM, HEALING GEMSTONE, CAREERS, HEALTH INFLUENCES ETC.
Send your money order for $10.95 (includes postage) with your birthday, and I will send you the correct tape. P.O. Box 802, Oak Lawn, Il. 60454. Tapes are not refundable.

Mary Armstrong: Fighting Injustices in Ireland

By: Eileen Kerlin

Mary Armstrong, of Evergreen Park, is an American woman dedicated to the unification of Ireland, the land of her aneestry. Marys passion for her homeland took root, when as a child, she was enthralled and incensed by her uncles tales of the terrible injustice of Irish history. Mary feels that same zeal today, and as a retired school teacher, devotes all her free time to American-Irish organizations. Through these various involvements, she strives to alter the political situation in Ireland, boost employment there, and generally accommodate a better standard of living for both Northern and Southern Irish people.

Mary is a Founder Member and president of the Irish American Unity Conference. The aims of this organization are predominantly political. They do not agree with the 1985 Anglo-Irish treaty, regarding it as a useless agreement, which hasn't altered the political, social or economic problems. They also condemn the American - United Kingdom Supplementary extradition treaty. Prior to this treaty, America did not extradite any foreigner who fled there for political asylum.

The A.I.U.C. would like to see greater human rights for catholics in Northern Ireland, would like to reform the diplock court system, and would hope to promote a greater understanding of the true political situation, by reducing propaganda by the British press.

When asked of the progress her organization has made to date, Mary talks enthusiastically about the MeBride principals. These are a series of nine principals designed to help reduce employment discrimination in Northern Ireland, similar in many ways to the Sullivan Code for South Africa. However, these proposals do not call for disinvestment. Illinois state pension funds are invested in 24 U.S. Companies operating in Northern Ireland, giving Illinoisans leverage to help end the sort of bigoted employment practices in Northern Ireland which are illegal in the United States. These principals have already been enacted in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and are pending in approximately ten other states. Mary alleges that the British government is spending $300,000 per state to try and have them stopped.

Mary Armstrong's ultimate goal, both personally and with the organization is to see the British Army withdraw from Northern Ireland. She thinks that this could come about without economic disaster or ensuing civil war. She feels there would be greater business opportunities for a United Ireland, particularly with the European Market opening up in 1992.

Mary sees a very bleak future for Ireland if the political situation does not change, with greater unemployment, more and more immigration, and a subsequent Brain Drain.

The unemployment situation is one Mary feels particulary concerned about, and actively seeks to change. She has founded an organization called "Employable Ireland," an operation which funds employment schemes in the hardest hit areas of North and South. Concerned members of the public raise these funds by shopping on particular days each month at Dominick's or Jewel. The May dates are the 29th, the 30th, and the 31st.

Further details on "Employable Ireland," and how you can participate, may be obtained by calling Mary at 422-5447.

Illinois Becomes First State to Use Law

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan's lawsuit filed in federal court against a Posen, Illinois food company is believed to be the first legal action taken by any state official in the country under a provision of federal law involving illegal storage of hazardous chemicals.

Under Title II of the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986 (SARA), Hartigan has authority to file the civil charges against Berkshire Foods, which operates a food cold storage and distribution facility in the Cook County community of Posen. The case was investigated and referred to the Attorney General by Thomas Ortciger, Director of the Illinois Emergency Service & Disaster Agency (ESDA).

Hartigan's lawsuit charges that Berkshire stored in excess of 500 pounds of ammonia on its premises and failed to report this to the appropriate state and local authorities as require by law. Berkshire uses ammonia in its refrigeration process.

"This landmark Illinois case will have national impact," Hartigan said. "The legal provision under which we filed this case will become a potent and essential tool in fighting the hidden dangers of unreported hazardous chemicals."

The suit alleges that Berkshire has been in violation since at least June 1, 1988. If the court awards the maximum fine, the total would be in excess of $7 million.

Hartigan's office became involved in the Berkshire case after 2,000 pounds of gaseous ammonia were released into the air at the Posen facility in January. Fifty people had to be evacuated from the neighborhood, and two police officers had to be taken to the hospital as a result of the release.

This lawsuit does not deal directly with the release of gaseous ammonia. That issue remains solely under federal jurisdiction.

Push to Dump Odelson Fails

Mayor "Refuses" to Vote on Issue

By: Patrick Casey

With the newly elected Mayor, Madeleon Rogowski, "refusing to vote" a proposal by Trustee Dennis Brennan to divide the legal duties of the Village Attorney failed by a 3-3 vote.

Brennan had proposed that the Village create a "Village Prosecutor" position Currently, Village Attorney Burton Odelson handles the prosecutor's duties in addition to the duties of Village
Trustee James Granato and Joseph Stadelmann voted in favor of the proposal, while Trustee Dennis Magee, Dennis Baran, and Margaret White voted against the measure.

Rogowski, as the Mayor, is entitled to vote only in cases where there exists a tied vote among the trustees. However, Rogowski surprised the trustees and audience by stating, "the Mayor refuses to vote." When asked if she was "abstaining" she answered that she was not abstaining but rather refusing to vote.

Trustee Dennis Magee stated that he did not see the reason for changing prosecutors despite the fact that the Police Department officials had recommended that the position of Village Prosecutor be separated from the Village Attorney's position. Magee said that the village would be wasting money by creating such a position if it was not filled.

Trustee James Granato countered that he would have the ordinance prepared rather than having the village pay the village attorney to prepare such an ordinance if it was the board's belief that the measure would be wasteful. "I'll get it done and the village won't have to pay anything for it," claimed Granato.

About a year ago, then Village Prosecutor, Donald Bettenhausen, was dismissed by the Village Attorney Burton Odelson due to a political conflict. At that time, Brennan and Granato argued that only the board, and not Odelson, could dismiss the However, because the village ordinances lacked the authority for a prosecutor, Bettenhausen, was dismissed by Odelson.

Brennan denied that Bettenhausen was his choice for village prosecutor. "I never asked anyone to vote for Bettenhausen or anyone else," stated Brennan. He also stated that he had hoped that the Mayor and Trustees would have interviewed several candidates for the position.

Brennan expressed concern that the Village Attorney could now hire a village prosecutor himself. "I don't like the idea that Burt Odelson is given more power than the Trustees in this village. He will once again hire a political crony and fire that person when they inevitably have a political disagreement," claimed Brennan.

Brennan vowed to continue his fight to split the positions. He stated that based on job performance Odelson's firm would have been replaced years ago if he had the decision. "I know why Magee and his trustees voted against a prosecutor but I can not understand how the Mayor refused to vote after telling us that she supported the idea," claimed Brennan.

According to Brennan, several trustees have accepted campaign contributions from Odelson in the past. "It is a fact that Magee took contributions, he even admitted that he did," said Brennan. He stated that the fact some elected officials may have accepted contributions makes it impossible for them to fairly decide some issues.

Clinical Trials Help Cancer Victims

More People are surviving cancer than ever before. For patients with cancers such as Hodgkin's disease, testicular cancer, childhood leukemia, and many others the picture is much more hopeful than it was just a generation ago. One of the most important reasons for better cancer survival is better cancer treatment.

Because of the progress in cancer treatment, cancer patients now may have a variety of choices about their treatment.

One choice that some patients consider is to take part in studies of new cancer treatments called clinical trials. People who take part in treatment studies could help future cancer patients and may have the chance to be among the first to benefit from new treatments.

Cancer patients and their families can ask their doctors about all the treatment possibilities -- both standard treatments and new treatments under study.

When a patient considers participation in a clinical trial, there are some questions he/she should ask of the physician: Why is this study being done? What kinds of tests and treatments are involved? What are the possible side effects or risks of the new treatment? What are the possible benefits? How could the study affect my daily life? What are my other treatment choices including standard treatments? How does the treatment I would receive in this study compare with other treatment choices?

If you have questions about what clinical trials are being conducted for a particular type of cancer, or how they work, you can call the National Cancer Institute's Cancer Information Service, toll free. The number is 1-800-4-CANCER.

9.10% Annual Interest for 10 Years With Our New Monthly Income Annuity C.D.

"You earned it. Now enjoy it."

A. Robert Teresko, President
Beverly Bancorporation

"Of course we'd all like to have enough money in the bank so that we could live off the interest alone. But that's usually not possible. So if you're at the stage in life where it's time to start enjoying the fruits of your labor, we may have just the savings plan for you.

"With our Monthly Income Annuity C.D., you deposit $5000 or more and we pay you a set amount each month...part in interest and part in principal until your entire balance is paid back in full.

"Look over this chart for examples:

Assume You Invest $20,000

Interest Rate	Payment Period	Your Monthly Check
8.90%	36 Months	$633
9.00%	60 Months	$414
9.10%	120 Months	$254

Interest is calculated on a simple 365 day basis.
There is a penalty for early withdrawal.

"Of course, you could put your money in a regular savings account and withdraw some as needed. But our Annuity C.D. includes extras such as a higher rate of interest, a free checking account, and the security of knowing that your money continues to earn a fixed rate of interest and is FDIC insured.

"Stop in your nearest Beverly Bank or call and ask about the Annuity C.D. It's another new idea from the Beverly Banks."

A WINNER OR A LOSER? . . . First he endorsed Dukakis, and Dukakis lost. To fill Washington's shoes, he endorsed Evans, and Evans lost. In the special primary, he endorsed Sawyer, and Sawyer lost, and then he endorsed Evans, who ran against the Democratic Party candidate, and Evans lost. Doesn't look so good, does it? Can't help but wonder who Rev. Jackson will endorse next...will anyone want his endorsement?

AND MORE . . . this endorsement business can be risky...to my knowledge, for the first time in his political career, Marty Russo endorsed a candidate for public office...Beth McElroy...in her unsuccessful bid to take Ed Barron's 4th District Trusteeship away. Barron, the incumbent, ran a very smooth and successful campaign and won re-election.

ACCESS TO JUSTICE . . . was the theme for Law Day celebrations this year. In a nutshell, it means providing greater access to the legal system by the client, through an "HMO" concept...experts in many areas of "legalese" available to the client, as needed. Great idea...trouble is, it has little basis in reality...in an age of specialization, it's hard to find a legal firm to handle a specific problem adequately, let alone provide availability to other areas of expertise for the client within the same firm or LMO. It would be nice, though. Conclusion: look at how many of the medical "HMO's" are failing. However...

I STRONGLY RECOMMEND . . . that you contact an organization called HALT (An Organization of Americans for Legal Reform), 1319 F Street N.W., Suite 300, Washington, D. C. 20004. It'll be an eye opener for you...the group is aggressively pursuing what it claims it is after...legal reform.

And I am . . . Alyn
(Write to me, I'd like to hear from you...P.O. Box 39, Oak Lawn, IL 60454).

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI
Copr. 1989 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR ALL SIGNS

ARIES/SCORPIO
Mars
This is not a good time to question your motives, you already have done this many times. Go with the flow, and let things take their course. You may be tempted into a new vocational area, but this too should be carefully gone over before you put time and effort into it. Still, the financial outlook does look good. Let Gemini and Virgo people help you.

TAURUS/LIBRA
Venus
You can look forward to sitting down with people and coming to agreements, legal and otherwise. This is a great time to consider travel. Also, matters of the house need your attention, especially appliance repairs and the like. Children should be more agreeable to working with you to put things in order around the home. A Pisces person offers good suggestions.

GEMINI/VIRGO
Mercury
To be right about something is wonderful, but this carries responsibilities too. You are going to have to apply your knowledge and your efforts this week and next to making job changes or doing a job a different way. Health is much improved and love is exciting. A person in Leo involved too.

CANCER
Moon
You are looking at success from a vantage point that perhaps others cannot see. Stay with your own ideas and see them through to completion. A friend offers to help, could be a Leo. A matter of real estate to deal with. If legal affairs come up, they will settle out right. Let a Sagittarian help if they offer.

LEO
Sun
You are waking up to realities concerning your talents, and if this is also a part of your career, new ideas will be profitable. Speak up for what you want and it will come. Meditate on the colour Orange and see how fascinating your answers will be. This is also a week to think about travel and relocation. Scorpio, Aries and Pisces people involved.

SAGITTARIUS
Jupiter
You loved ones are not "mind-readers", so speak up and let them know what you need or want from them. You could be shutting yourself off from people who really care about you. Libra person may help even if only by listening.

CAPRICORN
Saturn
A long awaited wish is about to come true. This concerns power, prestige and money. You will know what to do with your new found position and where to spend money so that it will do the most good. A Pisces person involved and perhaps a Scorpio.

AQUARIUS
Uranus
You DO have the strength and the wisdom to overcome people who may be working against you at work...at home, too. This is not a time to sit back and let people take advantage of your offerings and your good nature. Another Aquarian in the picture. And, there is new love for many of you.

PISCES
Neptune
A secret admirer comes front and center and makes themself know to you. This may be romance or in the work area. Be aware of a new opportunity coming to you. This may come from a place you have never been to before, the pull is real, and you must follow your own intuitive powers and reasonings. A Virgo helps.

My books and self-help tapes are available at the Pyramid Quartz Crystal and Book Mart, 3580 W. 95th St., in Evergreen Park, Il. Call 636-2233 and ask for Arlene. Of special interest...my newest tape: THE MAGIC OF SILENCE. Consultations are also available which are Professionally done, Confidential and taped for your later recall. I also do Alpha-State Hypnosis for problem areas in life, i.e., weight, fear, alcoholism, drug addictions, etc. Some services can be done by mail or phone. Call 636-4578.

Women working Together Programs

WOMEN IMPROVE SELF-ESTEEM

The Counseling and Families That Work Programs of Southwest Women Working Together announce a new workshop series: "Women and Self-Esteem: Can You Get It If You Don't Already Have It?". The series begins Friday, June 2nd and will run for five consecutive weeks from 10:00 a.m.-Noon. The fee for the workshops is $5.00 per session (childcare available for $2.00) and registration by phone is required.

The series will be held at the Thomas Memorial Church, 64th Place at Homan. For more information and registration contact, Carol Coohey at Southwest Women Working Together, 436-0550.

TEENS BECOME CERTIFIED BABYSITTERS

A two-day training session for teens who wish to become Red Cross Certified Babysitters is planned for June 26th and 27th from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. each day. The training, sponsored by the Families That Work Program of Southwest Women Working Together is targeted for teens ages 11-16. Participants will receive 8 hours of Red Cross Babysitting Training.

For more information, or registration call Carol at 436-0550.

SUPPORT FOR SURVIVORS OF INCEST

Women who have been victims of sexual assault as children or teens often experience feelings of guilt, anger, fear and shame. The counselors at Southwest Women Working Together understand these feelings and others that adult survivors of incest may have. A new group to address these issues will begin on June 15th, and run for 16 weeks, it will be held at their offices (3201 W. 63rd St.) beginning at 6:30 p.m. each Thursday.

For more information and registration, call Joan at Southwest Women Working Together, 436-0550. Fees based on a sliding scale.

DISCIPLINE WORKSHOP HELPS FAMILIES

The Families That Work Program, of Southwest Women Working Together will offer their popular workshop: "How To Talk So Kids Will Listen . . . How To Listen So Kids Will Talk" on June 20 and 27, from 7-9:30 p.m.

This two session workshop is designed to assist parents in developing more effective communication and closer relationships with their children.

Registration is required for this free workshop to be held at the SWWT offices, 6308 S. Kedzie. For more information or registration, call Carol at 436-0550.

TRAVEL TIPS

Cruises have always been a great value and an incomparable vacation. Once considered a vacation only for the very wealthy, cruising was later discovered by "the masses" seeking the most for their travel dollar and are now within the price range of most travelers.

The cost of a cruise ticket includes not only your transportation and accommodations (including the ship as your hotel in port), but three king size meals, mid-morning bouillon, afternoon tea, mid-night buffet, room service (in case you get hungry in between meals), first run movies, a full program of free entertainment, a variety of sports activities, lectures, games and parties for joiners and peace and tranquility for those who desire R & R.

Can't decide between the entrees on the dinner menu? Have more than one; there's no extra charge. Want seconds? No problem; just ask your waiter. A taste of every dessert? Only your waistline will limit you. Like to dance 'til dawn? Visit the disco.

Cruising is no longer a vacation to be enjoyed only by the rocking chair set or the Rockefellers. Singles, honeymooners, young couples and families have all discovered what a tremendous value and great fun a cruise can be.

Sound tempting? Call us for information about a vacation which will make anyone feel like a Rockefeller.

Viet Nam Vets Continue Toward Memorial Goal

By: Eileen Kerlin

In 1987, Tom Luberda, Vietnam Veteran had an American dream with a difference. The dream was not to go boldly forward in business or enterprise, but to take a step backwards and remember; not to break new ground in anyway other than literally. He dreamt of erecting a memorial to all those who had fought in, lived in, died in and survived in Vietnam.

By Veteran's Day 1990, Luberda's dream will, within three short years, near a reality. A special memorial will be erected at Lansing Memorial Airport. The cost of this extensive project will be approximately $1 million, an equitable sum which has been greatly supplemented by donations of work and materials. A helicopter from the Glenview Naval Air Station will appear to hover over a desperate combat scene; some soldiers rush from ditches into battle while others try to haul a fallen comrade to the helicopter. Originally, the figures were to be made of fiberglass, but at the moment committee members are considering making the statues from ammunition castings.

A polished granite wall will have inscribed the names of all Lansing Veterans who perished in war. Luberda explained, "We pay tribute to those who fought alongside us, those who made this mighty nation, saved it and defended its honor." Thirteen Lansing servicemen lost their lives in Vietnam. The wall will also carry the poignant inscription by an unknown soldier on a bunker wall in Vietnam: "For those who fought for it, freedom has a flavor the protected will never know."

A special individual memorial will be erected at a symbolic distance from the main site. A lone black P.O.W./M.I.A. flag will fly on an island inside a water filled pool, indicating isolation. The names of the missing and imprisoned servicemen will appear in the pool area. According to Edward J. Miczac of the Lansing Veteran's Memorial Committee, the area is "set aside to show the separation of Lansing P.O.W./M.I.A.'s from the men who returned".

From conception, the project has been developing steadily. On Saturday, September 24th, 1988, an official ground breaking ceremony was held at the Airport. Luberda led the ceremony: "The ground we break today is more than just steel, concrete and granite, its foundation is built upon the courage, strength and blood of America's best." At the ceremony, Rep. Jack Davis was thanked for cutting through government red tape to obtain the HUEY helicopter. Lansing Mayor Bill Balthis was recognized for his work towards donating land at the Airport. Luberda himself received great praise for his enthusiasm, dedication and great effort in getting the memorial established.

On October 5th, 1988, the Army helicopter was officially presented to Lansing Municipal airport. It was the sound of the "Huey" helicopter in 1985 that sparked the idea. For the venture in Luberda's mind, Luberda said "that helicopter means more than death and destruction. It was the first road into combat. It was help on the way. For some, it was the first leg back to a final resting place in Arlington."

At present, work is continuing on the memorial and money is still being raised. Concrete walls and supports have been erected, however, between now and the proposed completion date in 1990, thousands of dollars are needed. Fundraisers have been ongoing, since they are a major source of income to the Memorial Fund. Contributions would be welcomed at the Lansing Veteran Memorial Fund, Lansing Veterans Memorial, Lansing Memorial Airport, Lansing, Il 60438.

For further information call 895-0307.

SCHOOL NEWS AND EVENTS

Three Oak Lawn Community High School students were granted awards by the Town and Country Art League of Palos Heights. Andra Ross won a scholarship of $500, and Jeff Martin and Nancy Wojciechowski won gift certificates for art supplies. The scholarship was open to high school seniors from the Oak Lawn schools of Richards, P.I.E., and OLCHS.

All three winners are seniors in the OLCHS Art Department and will be attending college in the Fall of 1989 with full or partial scholarships.

Oak Lawn Community High School senior, Julie Marquardt, placed 1st in Nationals in Prepared Verbal Communication II at the Business Professionals of America Competition, April 27-30. The National Leadership Conference was held in Dallas, Texas, where students from all over the United States vied for National honors. Over 55,000 Office Education students started in this competition at the Regional level where Julie won 1st Place and proceeded to State competition where she also won the top honor.

This is the second year in a row that OLCHS has had a student receive a 1st Place honor.

Mrs. Kris Ledman, of the Business Education Department, serves at the Office Education coordinator at OLCHS.

A Summer School Program will be held at the Academy of Our Lady, 1309 W. 95th Street beginning Friday, June 30, 1989, and ending Tuesday, August 8, 1989. Class times will be from 8:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Semester I will run from June 30 to July 19 and Semester II will run from July 24 to August 8.

Registration will be held on June 26, 27, and 28 from 12:00 noon to 3:00 p.m. at the school. Cost is $75 per course (one-half credit) payable at time of registration. Payment may be made in cash or money order; personal checks will not be accepted. A prospective student may sign up for either Semester I or Semester II or both at the same time of registration. However, students may enroll only in one course per semester.

For more information, contact Mrs. Joann Capra, Assistant Director of the Summer School Program at 445-2300.

Oak Lawn Community High School will sponsor its 5th Annual Tennis Tournament for 7th and 8th graders, Wednesday, May 31, 1989, at the high school tennis courts, 95th and Southwest Highway.

There will be two tournaments: Girls Tournament at the South Courts, a clinic from 3:00-3:30 p.m. and the tournament at 3:30 p.m.; and the Boys Tournament at the North Courts with a clinic from 3:00-3:30 p.m. and the tournament at 3:30 p.m.

There is no cost and trophies will be awarded for 1st and 2nd Place winners of each tournament.

Tournament directors are: Mr. C. Lawson, boys tennis coach; Mr. John Leary, boys tennis coach; and Mrs. P. Sullivan, girls tennis coach.

A basketball camp for boys and girls will be conducted at St. Laurence High School featuring five specialized sessions, that will meet Monday through Friday for two hours per day. Sessions I and II will begin on June 12th and continue through June 16th. Session I is for boys in the 3rd through 6th grade levels, while Session II is for boys in the 7th and 8th grades.

Sessions III and IV will start June 19th and conclude on June 23rd. Session three is geared toward the more proficient play of boys who are freshmen and sophomores, while Session IV is for all girls from the 6th through 12th grade levels.

The fee for the one week sessions are $40 per student. The cost includes use of the gymnasium facilities, insurance coverage, incentive awards, and a camp T-shirt. Family discounts are also available. A detailed camp brochure and any specific questions concerning its operation can be obtained by calling Head Coach Barry Shaw at 458-6900, Ext. 56. Be assured that all calls will be returned.

Drug Education Bill Passed

A measure sponsored by State Representative John McNamara (D-27) requiring all elementary schools to include drug and substance abuse instruction in their curriculum was passed overwhelmingly by the Illinois House of Representatives.

"The strong support that this bill received in the House indicates to me a definite need for this type of instruction in elementary schools throughout the state," McNamara stated.

"While it is important to teach children about what drugs do to their bodies, it is equally important to teach them methods on how to prevent drug abuse," McNamara added. "With this legislation, elementary schools will finally be able to provide their students with a comprehensive drug education program."

According to McNamara the legislation also provides local school districts with some flexibility since each school board will have a choice of how they want to implement the legislation.

Saint Xavier College To Award Honorary Degrees

Saint Xavier College/ Chicago will award honorary degrees this month to four prominent Chicagoans: Maria Tallchief Paschen, America's first prima ballerina who continues as a leader in the world of ballet; Lester Crown, industrialist, corporate executive of a variety of enterprises, and philanthropist including Henry Crown and Company; Anthony DeSantis, theatre impresario, restauranteur and business executive who founded the Drury Lane Theatres; and Monsignor John J Egan, advocate of human rights, social justice and ecumenism.

Dr. Ronald Champagne, president of Saint Xavier College, will confer the honorary degrees during Commencement ceremonies on Saturday, May 27, at the Oak Lawn Pavilion, 9401 S. Oak Park Ave. Monsignor Egan will be the Commencement speaker.

Approximately 290 men and women will receive bachelor's and master's degrees at the commencement.

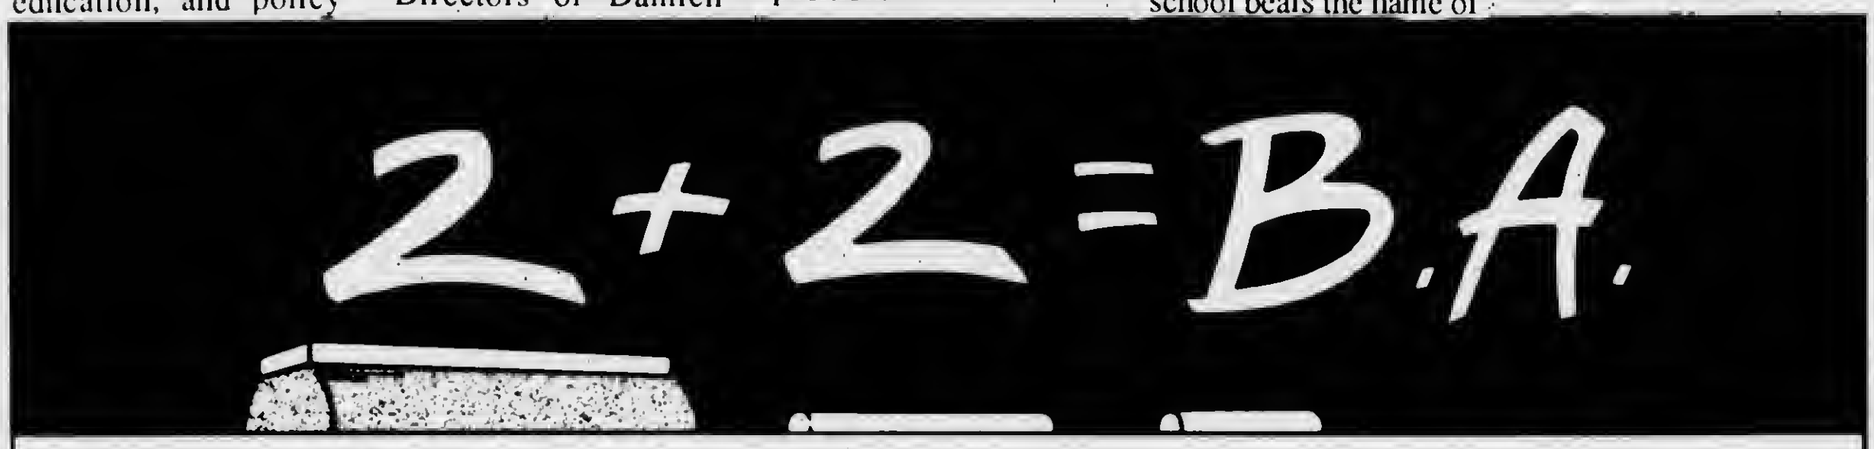
Founded in 1846 by the Sisters of Mercy, Saint Xavier College is located at 3700 W. 103rd St., on Chicago's southwest side.

Lawrence Student Receives Scholarship

Brother Arthur M. Arndt, Principal of St. Laurence High School, has received notification that senior William A. Trudo, of 5230 State Road, Burbank, has been awarded a Joseph Blazek Foundation Scholarship for the 1989-90 academic year. This scholarship award, based on consistently high academic achievement, is in the sum of $500 per year with a total value of $2,000, renewable each year for a maximum of four years of undergraduate study.

Trudo, a graduate of St. Gerald Elementary School, in Oak Lawn, has consistently been on the St. Laurence "A" Honor Roll since his freshman year, was recognized as a National Merit Corporation semi-finalist, and along with two other classmates, ranks number 1 in his graduating class of 335 students. His class rank has earned him the distinction of being one of the co-valedictorians of the 1989 senior class at St. Laurence. Bill will begin his undergraduate studies at the University of Illinois in Champaign, and will undertake course work in the school's computer engineering program.

Brother Rice Names Its New Principal



The Provincial Council of the Congregation of Christian Brothers recently announced the assignment of Brother Michael M. Segvich as the next principal of Brother Rice High School. He will assume his responsibilities at the end of this year when the term of Brother Thomas J. Collins is completed. With this announcement, the work of the Search Committee of the Brother Rice Board of Directors is now completed.

Brother Segvich was born in Chicago and educated by the Christian Brothers at St. Laurence High School. He entered the Congregation of Christian Brothers after his high school graduation and completed studies for a B.A. degree at Lewis University in Romeoville, Illinois. He completed his M.A. degree in history at Iona College in New Rochelle, New York. His first teaching assignment was at Brother Rice High School in Birmingham, Michigan.

Upon his transfer to a teaching position in California, Brother Segvich earned his Masters degree in secondary school administration at the University of San Francisco. For six years, he served as Principal of Palma Junior/Senior High School in Salinas, California. He is presently serving as Director of Development for the Brother Rice Province of the Congregation of Christian Brothers with offices in Birmingham, Michigan.

His wide background has enabled him to work in curriculum development, drug education, and policy making. He is Chairman of the Board of Brother Rice High School in Birmingham, Michigan and serves on the Board of Directors of St. Laurence High School here in Chicago. He formerly was a member of the Board of Directors of Damien Memorial High School in Honolulu, Hawaii. His experience in coaching encompasses the areas of track & field, football and ice hockey. Thus, he brings a broad background and wide experiences to his new position.

When asked how he views his new assignment, Brother Segvich replied, "I am looking forward to the challenge as principal of Brother Rice. As a Chicago native, I have always been respectful of its reputation. The school bears the name of its founder and has produced some outstanding members of the Christian Brothers community not to mention members of the community at large. The challenge, as I see it, is to build on the school's already great reputation."

Get a Four-Year Degree from Moraine Valley Community College.

Moraine Valley's 2+2 Program lets you transfer automatically as a junior to a four year-school after you graduate from Moraine Valley with an associate's degree.

You can automatically transfer to these schools:

- Eastern Illinois University
- Governors State University
- Illinois State University
- Northern Illinois University
- Sangamon State University
- Southern Illinois University at Carbondale
- Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville
- Western Illinois University

The best part is that you're guaranteed admission at full junior status. Through 2+2, you can get a bachelor's degree in one of today's high-demand programs – like business, communications or liberal arts.
So, you get the best of both worlds – a four-year degree, for less cost than a traditional four-year college.
Summer classes begin June 12. Call Moraine Valley at 974-2110 today.

Oak Lawn Lion Club Honors Two

By: Eileen Kerlin

The Oak Lawn Lion Club recently held their 19th Annual Law and Order Dinner. At the dinner each year one police officer and one fireman is honored with an award for heroism in the line of duty. This year the award was given to two outstanding men who serve each and every citizen of Oak Lawn.

Thomas Moran, who runs the Fire Prevention Bureau received the award for "his overall dedication, and the great job he does in prevention of death and disaster," says Oak Lawn Fire Chief. Moran, who has been officer of Fire Prevention for five years, has been serving with the Fire Department for 23 years.

The outstanding performance of patrol officer James Hulk of the Oak Lawn Police Department was honored, particulary throughout the last year. Hulk was praised for numerous incidents, ineluding a high number of felony arrests, his dedication to duty, and the time and patienee spent training younger officers. James Hulk has been with the force 18 years.

A speech was given by Cook County Sheriff Jim O'Grady. After congratulating the award recipients and greeting the guests from Northern Ireland and East Germany, O'Grady went on to comment on the controversial problems being caused by lack of funding to his department. He said he is still operating with the same number of staff he had in 1985, despite the backlog of cases, and much greater problems facing the court. He attributed the recent eseape attempts to an insufficient number of courtroom custodians. O'Grady stated that in order to properly facilitate the court and proteet the victims,, the County Board of Commissioners would need to pay greater attention to the problems of the court, and offer suffieient financial assistance, more courtrooms are needed.

On a more optimistic note, O'Grady told of the improvements his district has seen in the last few years. He said during his time in office he has seen better service in all areas, from civil proeess to maintenanee. In 1987 just half of the subpoenas served were proseeuted, while in 1988 the figure had risen to 90%. Despite the problems facing them, Sheriff O'Grady displayed a great sense of pride in all his departments.

The Law and Order night, held in T.C. Mulligans, 95th St., was a great success. A proud and happy Edward Kulzer was celebrating his birthday in style. Edward, an Oak Lawn Lion for 38 years, was accompanied by his two nieces from East Germany, Stephanie and Romy Hoffman were given a special visa to leave their homeland and visit America for Edwards birthday on April 9th.

Speaker to Motivate families

"Communication Between Parents and Teenagers" will be the topic of a talk by motivational speaker John Cassis at 7:00 p.m. on May 31, at the Sauk Area Career Center in Crestwood. Both parents of teenagers and teenagers themselves are encouraged to attend this free lecture, sponsored by the Southwest Service Providers Coalition.

John Cassis is the founder and president of SecondWind, a personal development company His diverse background includes three years of playing professional baseball, a Master of Divinity degree, time as director of youth counseling center, service as minister and motivator of a small congregation which grew 80 to 2,000 people in five years, and director of Special Projects for World Relief. He is a consultant for the U.S. Department of Justice and the National Institute of Corrections. In addition, he has been the pre-game inspirational speaker for the Super Bowl Champion Bears for the past five years.

The Sauk Area Center is located at 138th and Pulaski, Crestwood. This event is open to parents of teenagers and teenagers from the southwest suburbs and is free of charge. For more information on this topic contact Robyn Kramer at 385-6711.

The End Of The Line is Remarkable

"Old cabooses never die . . . they just reach the end of the line."

By: Eileen Kerlin

The "End of the Line" Vacation Station is a remarkable hotel with a difference, situated within a rural environment, just a five minute drive from Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. A stay at this unique resort is both a novel and unforgettable experience, since, among other unusual features, the guest rooms are genuine Chicago and Northwestern cabooses!

The idea for such an imaginative resort was conceived when the owner, Chicago publisher Dave Hanley, bought and converted a caboose into living quarters for his mother-in-law. The project captured a great deal of attention, and so the End of the Line began.

The perfect opportunity to develop this plan further presented itself in August 1983, when the last Chicago and Northwestern train reached its final destination at Lake Geneva. Mr. Hanley, an avid train buff, had found the ultimate train set. He acquired 1,800 feet of rail, 43 cabooses, and 3 freight cars.

The cabooses, still positioned on the original right of way, were gutted and renovated, then sandblasted, primed and painted in authentic colors. The three freight cars were positioned to form the walls of the Roundhouse. The hotel was opened in 1984. Phase two of the project was completed in 1985, with the installation of a swimming pool and playground, and the renovation of the remaining cars.

The Roundhouse, which serves as foyer, reception and lounge is the true "piece de resistance". There is a genuine turn-of-the-century atmosphere packed in with every form of railroad and late 1800's memorabilia imaginable. Working models of antique trains, an old-time saloon and the ill-fated Lady Elgin set the historic scene. Old tickets, time schedules and ticket punches, engineers lanterns and oil cans, original shoe shine kits and company signs that are long obsolete recount a genuine railroad history. Other interesting features of the Roundhouse include the chess table carved into a tree stump, the polished wooden floor stripped from a Victorian school gym, and the hand crafted oak surrounding the reception desk. One of the freight cars which forms the walls, houses a discreet souvenir shop, while the other forms a reading and morning room. It is a library of railroad history. A continental breakfast is served here.

The End of the Line has 25 cabooses plus 2 luxury Pullman suites available. The meticulously refurbished cabooses are pleasant and adequate. The luxury suites are in marked contrasts to each other, but equally impressive. The Rockefeller suite boasts a vintage art decor, while the Victorian suite is in period style, decorated in rich reds and golds and features genuine Victorian collectibles. The suites can also be rented individually ($135) or together ($250). The daily caboose rates are $60 per week night, $70 for the weekend.

The immediate surroundings of the End of the Line have successfully captured the atmosphere of a Victorian Railway station. A signal indicates vacancy or non-vacancy. The flower bed nestles on an old-fashioned baggage cart. The cabooses are steadied with original ties, pegs and spikes are linked by an authentic wooden platform. An old fire engine stands by. The tree-enclosed station is isolated, the atmosphere undisturbed.

Visitors from all countries and walks of life come to experience the Lake Geneva Vacation Station. Brenda Mann, who resides on the premises and manages all aspects of the hotel, attributes their success to everyone, at some point, "wanting to experience the fantasy of stepping back in time". About their clientele Brenda stated, "Spring and fall are more popular with couples, while the summer sees more families. The romantic hideaway atmosphere attracts a lot of honeymooners, who will often revisit on their anniversaries. About 60% of our bookings are repeat trade."

The End of the Line, just 90 minutes from Chicago, reopened April 27th. For reservations or further information, call (414) 248-RAIL.

WORTH TOWNSHIP UP FOR GRABS

Newly elected Worth Township Supervisor, Harry "Bus" Yourell, is refusing to take the oath of office for his new position after realizing that he will lose his job as Metropolitan Sanitary District Commissioner. Yourell had hoped to seat Township Trustee Donald Bettenhausen as his replacement. However, Trustee Thomas "Bud" Gavin has refused to vote for fellow Democrat Bettenhausen and instead has masterminded a deal to have himself named Supervisor with the votes of Republican Trustees Michael Davies and Kathleen Spencer. Yourell has thus far refused to compromise by naming a different Democrat than Bettenhausen.

SENATE SEAT MAY DRAW INTEREST

Should State Senator, Jeremiah Joyce, not seek re-election next year expect two veterans in the state house, James Keane and John McNamara, to be the front runners. The question is does either Keane or McNamara want to give up a safe seat in the house, where each is unbeatable, for a tougher race. As for the Republicans, four potential candidates have been listed: 19th Ward Committeeman James Tierney, former Worth Township Supervisor, Joseph McCarthy, former Township Clerk, Maureen Murphy, and Oak Lawn Trustee Edward Barron.

SCHOOL DISTRICT REMAP ACES ALSIP OUT

After seeing the School District 218 remap ordinance it is not surprising that Alsip Mayor Arnold Andrews, was objecting to it. Alsip is divided into 3 different districts, making it tough for Alsip to elect even one board member.

LOWERING THE TAX BILL

Under Senate Bill 3 of the Illinois State Senate, taxpayers would no longer have to foot the bill for vacations for state executives' bodyguards. Last year, WMAQ-TV in Chicago, reported that in the past two years taxpayers spent 1.2 Million dollars for out-of-state travel by bodyguards for five top state elected officials. Half of those trips were personal or political.

GAELIC PARK NAMES OFFICERS

Tom Boyle, a resident of Burr Ridge and Senior Vice President at State Bank of Countryside was recently elected president of Chicago Gaelic Park, the Irish Cultural and recreational center located at 6119 West 147th Street, Tinley Park. "Gaelic Park is lucky to have as fine an individual at the helm as Tom Boyle," said outgoing president, John Barrett of Chicago Ridge. "His election was unanimous."

Boyle has been a member of the board of directors of Gaelic Park for four years and has previously held the post of treasurer. He and his wife, Josephine, have four children.

Joining Boyle as officers are vice presidents, Frank Bradley of Burr Ridge, and John Lynch of Chicago. Mary Riordan of Oak Lawn was reelected Secretary and Joan Lynch of Chicago was reelected Corresponding Secretary. Cait Scanlon of Oak Lawn was elected treasurer and Con Twomey of Orland Park and Pat Murrihy of Oak Lawn were reelected assistant treasurers.

Boyle follows John Barrett, who was president for two years and Liam O'Brien of Bensenville, the first president of Gaelic Park. "I have a tough act to follow," said Boyle. "My predecessors were tireless workers who made Gaelic Park what it is today."

From a dream of an Irish Center in 1983, Gaelic Park has developed into a fifteen acre complex which is constantly vibrant with activity. The facilities include a lounge, banquet hall and locker rooms. There is a full playing field for Irish sports such as hurling and Gaelic Football. Gaelic Park is the home of the local Gaelic Athletic Association which plays its games every Sunday during the summer. Gaelic Park also sponsors numerous concerts, dances, a monthly Mass and Irish breakfast and a weekly radio show broadcast from its own studio. Its lounge is now open to the public each night.

"We are all thankful to the prior directors and officers," said Boyle. "We are dedicated to continuing their successes."

The first order of business is the annual Gaelic Park Irish Festival Memorial Day Weekend. Last year approximately 50,000 people enjoyed the festivities. Plans are already underway for this year's festival which will include over 30 acts performing on three stages, import stores, food and carnival rides.

For further information, call Gaelic Park at 687-9323.

WORTH TOWNSHIP NAMES FIRST WOMAN AS SUPERVISOR

MURPHY CHOSEN TO REPLACE YOURELL

The suspense came to an end on Thursday night, as Joan Patricia Murphy was sworn in as the Worth Township Supervisor with the support of both Democrats and Republicans.

Murphy, who was elected to her 2nd term as Township Clerk, had coveted the position prior to the election. She had appeared before the Democratic Statemaking Committee seeking the post in December.

However, in a surprise move, committeeman Harry "Bus" Yourell decided to seek the post and offered Murphy the clerk position, where she had previously served for 8 years until 1985.

When Yourell decided that he did not want to risk losing his Metropolitan Water Reclamation District seat by taking the Township post, he refused to take the oath of office.

"In the last four weeks, every Democrat including Yourell talked to the Republicans in an attempt to work out a settlement," said one highly placed source. Yourell had denied talking to the Republicans previously and was out of town on Thursday. He had promised to "purge" the party of anyone who was negotiating with the Republican party.

However, according to several sources, Yourell has endorsed a deal with the Republicans that will include contracts for key Republicans in the Township.

IRISH FEST GETS RAVE REVIEWS

BY EILEEN KERLIN

Gaelic Park's third major International Music and Cultural Festival, held Memorial Day weekend proved to be, once again, a great success. The family orientated event drew over 50,000 people from throughout Illinois, and as far as New York and Georgia.

There was an air of expectancy as the festival was officially opened on Friday night with Miss Gaelic Park, (Kathleen Keane of Norridge) cutting the Ceremonial Ribbon Also present were Newsman Mike Flannery, Sportswriter Bill Gleason, Co-ordinator of the St. Patricks Day Parade Dan Lydon and Peter Gunning, Vice Counsel General of Ireland.

A huge variety of entertainment was available and geared to suit every possible taste. Four separate stages provided something for everyone. The south stage was perhaps the most popular, featuring such Artists as Barley Bree, Tommy Makem, Paddy Reilly and Christy Moore. Christy Moore, Irelands Folk answer to Bob Dylan and just as popular there, played Friday and Saturday, building up to a crescendo on Sunday night which left his thousands of fans screaming for more.

The ever popular Comedian Brendan Grace was a great favorite on the north stage as were Chicago's hottest dance band, The Dancing Noodles, who closed the show Friday and Saturday. For those who preferred a little more comfort, entertainment, food and drink was provided on the Marquee stage.

One of the four outdoor stages was dedicated exclusively to childrens acts, including clowns, puppet shows and all kinds of magic. The red hair and freckle contest attracted a great deal of attention and many young hopefuls. The prize was carried off by Ryan Monaghan of Oak Forest.

Besides the musical entertainment, there was a variety of other attractions available, from Irish Soda Bread at one of the many food vendors, to Waterford Crystal at the Irish Import Stores.

John Griffen, Committee Member and public relations man for Gaelic Park described the festival as "fantastically successful" despite a few hiccups. After the football practice the previous Sunday on Gaelic Park grounds, the Marquee and tents were erected and stood in readiness, only to be brought crashing to the ground with Wednesday nights storm! A major operation went underway at 5:00 a.m. Thursday morning and the grounds were ready once again for the Festival to begin in earnest Friday night.

seems that the Irish festival was destined for success.

A wide spectrum of people enjoyed the festive occasion; from babe's in arms to Senior Citizens. And even though you didn't have to be Irish to have a great time....it helped.

RIALTO THEATRE ANNOUNCES NEW SEASON

The Rialto Square Theatre announces its 1989 Fall Season: "The Biggest, The Brightest, The Best" in live entertainment.

For a mixture of music and memories, several stars have teamed together. Mickey Rooney and Donald O'Connor, song and dance men from vaudeville to motion pictures, open the season with "Two For The Show," on Sept. 23 and Sept 24.

Kaye Ballard, Helen O'Connell, Kay Starr and Margaret Whiting are "4 Girls 4," presenting songs and anecdotes tracing their career from early success to popular hits on November 19.

Talented entertainers Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme combine comfortable favorites with contemporary hits, performing on October 13 and October 14.

Tony Orlando and Dawn on their acclaimed reunion tour will present their hits from the 70's on October 1.

Country favorites include Highway 101, Country Music Awards' Best Vocal Group for two consecutive years, on September 29.

The "World's Most Famous Guitar Player," Chet Atkins performs his sophisticated harmonies and techniques simply known today at the "Atkins Style" on October 29.

Roy Clark's energy and fast, furious pickin' are matched only by his fun loving nature. He returns to the Rialto stage on November 24.

Comic Relief comes in the form of Jerry Seinfeld, whose warped observations of everyday life are a favorite of both Johnny Carson and David Letterman. His casual, clean cut material is suitable for all audiences on Oct. 21.

Featured artists include Jerry Lee Lewis, a dominant music force for three generations. He'll "pound the piano" on October 20.

A holiday tradition returns to the Rialto's festive surroundings with Andy Williams' Christmas Show from Nov. 30 through Dec. 3.

Theater productions are the chilling classic, "Phantom of the Opera-The Play With Music," presented with lavish period costuming, special effects and multi faceted scenery on October 7. "Raggedy Ann and Andy," featuring the cuddly rag doll characters, are off on an exciting adventure on October 27. The touching holiday musical, "A Child's Christmas in Wales," brings back good memories of past Christmases as seen through the eyes of a child on December 6.

Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" becomes a dance spectacle as the Joliet Ballet Society co-presents this Indianapolis Ballet Theatre production November 4. The Mostly Haydn trio presents a performance of Handel, Bach and their contemporaries in the Rialto Rotunda on October 22.

Tickets for all shows are available at the Rialto Ticket Office, 102 N. Chicago Street in Joliet. To Charge, call (815) 726-6600 or Ticketmaster, (312) 902-1500. For a free season brochure call (815) 726-7257.

WHAT'S 22+45?...Loss of Prime Time! Ask John Cappas. His 45 year prison sentence certainly shows someone is getting serious about the drug problem in this country. Judge Kocoras made it very clear that congressional guidelines on the sentencing of drug distributors left him little leeway. It certainly appears that the judicial system is willing to do its part for law and order, at least in the matter of drugs. There is no doubt about it...the drug problem is serious. To quote Judge Kocoras, when talking directly to Cappas in court about the drug problem and drug distributors like Cappas... "America is at war with itself and you are part of the enemy in this country." Nice going, Judge Kocoras!

THE $99 PRODUCT... that could cost us all! High-Tech has yielded a terrific new product that should make us all more aware than ever of counterfeit money...this $99 wonder device already has the attention of McDonald's, and that's all it needs. With a simple and quick rub of the tip of a small pen, counterfeit currency can be instantly detected. It'll cost any of us who have received the bogus bill without knowing it, so beware!

WE'LL MISS YOU...Roseanne Roseannadanna. Ovarian cancer has claimed the life of Gilda Radner, of "Saturday Night Live" fame. She seemed like a class act, and her husband Gene Wilder deserves credit for his part in it all.

IS THERE A FIRE?...House Speaker Mike Madigan just lost his third staffer in recent months. The government relations staff of CNA insurance has acquired Bob Yadgir from the Madigan fold. I wonder what's really going on inside the Madigan camp? His turnabout on the tax hike could have cost anyone else their career. Funny thing is, the Guv might just have the last word.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI
Copr. 1989 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS

ARIES/SCORPIO
Mars

You can count your blessings, things are FINALLY beginning to work out for you and what seemed obtuse is materializing. This is a good week to make your views known to people that can help you in your career or at work. All is "go" and you "are" ready for success! A person in Sagittarius will help if you ask.

TAURUS/LIBRA
Venus

There are many eccentric people, and you seem to have had your share of dealing with such folks. This is another of those weeks when you will have to explain and re-explain your intentions or ideas. Be prepared! Still, a person in the sign of Scorpio can do wonders for your projects and for your financial status.

GEMINI/VIRGO
Mercury

A long-time friend may come through for you with financial help or in putting you on the right track to make more money. Either way you gain. Health is much better, attitude towards yourself has changed to the better, and...love is there for you. a wonderful week ahead. Another Mercurian, Gemini or Virgo is in the picture.

CANCER
Moon

You have a lot going for you as you reach new mental heights. It appears that you have some strong ideas for self-improvement and will put these into action. Whatever it takes to make you feel better about yourself, do it! You are worth it! Others will encourage and applaud you for your will-power and new expertise. A Leo helps if you let them.

LEO
Sun

If you are looking for explanations to things that seem obtuse, don't bother! You see, there are some things that cannot be explained and never will be, especially your own psychic powers and ability to adapt, invent, make-do (under otherwise impossible situations), and be helping yourself and others. You will see into this message soon. A Virgo does help.

SAGITTARIUS
Jupiter

Meditate on the colour blue this week for peace of mind and for seeing into your intuitive powers of reasoning. You are about to hear some very good news about your progress at work and in dealing with real estate matters. Let Leo and Cancer help.

CAPRICORN
Saturn

Check into getting new equipment for your work or buying tools that you need to perform your job better. There is a surprise money deal coming your way, and meeting someone who wants to push your career into the success mode. This could be a person in the sign of Cancer.

AQUARIUS
Uranus

Moraine Names "Teacher of the Year"

Patricia McKeague, a faculty member at Moraine Valley Community College since 1969, was recently named Professor of the Year at the college.

McKeague teaches communications and literature at Moraine Valley, and has a bachelor's and master's degrees in English from Chicago State University. She has completed additional graduate study through the University of Chicago and Illinois State University.

During the past 20 years, McKeague has served on a number of college committees and was instrumental in the development of the Honors Scholar Program at the college.

In addition, in 1984, McKeague was named Master Teacher and was selected to make a presentation at the annual conference of the National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development at the University of Texas at Austin.

McKeague has also published numerous articles and reviews on quality and excellence in education.

McKeague's philosophy of education is very student-centered "I believe that it is important to begin the learning process by treating all students with respect, thereby strengthening their self-image and developing their desire to learn," she said.

One of McKeague's students re-emphasized her philosophy by saying, "Pat is an especially effective instructor because she taught me the importance to learn and know my values, to educate myself about the world I live in, and then secure for myself the necessary resources to meet the challenges of this world."

The Professor of the Year Award was first presented in 1975. It is given annually to honor excellence in teaching. Students at the college nominate faculty members for the award. A committee comprised of representatives from each division of the college selects three finalists, and a vote of all faculty members is taken to determine the winner.

McKeague has been nominated for the Faculty of the Year Award, presented annually by the Illinois Community College Trustees Association in Springfield.

FUNDRAISER TEAMS GOLF WITH EDUCATION

National College of Education's twelfth annual Golf and Tennis Day scholarship fundraiser on Monday, July 10 offers tips from golf pros Jim Benepe and Betsy King plus the chance to be a part of something priceless--the college education of deserving men and women.

The largest student scholarship fundraiser for National College, Golf and Tennis Day has raised nearly $700,000 for student scholarships over the years. This year's event will be held at Sunset Ridge Country Club, Northbrook.

In addition to offering golfing advice throughout the afternoon, Benepe will conduct an instructional clinic with King and address the audience during dinner. Other Golf and Tennis Day highlights include a lavish buffet luncheon and a mixed doubles, round-robin tennis tournament.

Benepe, voted 1988 PGA Rookie of the Year, caught the public's attention with his win at last year's Beatrice Western Open. King, selected as Golf Magazine and Golf Illustrated 1987 Player of the Year, started this season with a win at the LPGA opener and recently won the Kemper Open.

Registration for Golf and Tennis Day is $450 per player for golf, $200 per player for tennis and $150 per person for dinner and golf clinic. All checks should be made payable to National College of Education. Reservations should be sent to David G. McCreery, National College of Education, 2840 Sheridan Road, Evanston, Ill. 60201.

For more information contact McCreery at 256-5150, ext. 2420, or Lee Wilson, ext 2425.

BURRIS OPPOSES LIMIT

Illinois Comptroller Roland W. Burris announced recently that he opposes attempts by the Congress to limit state and local governments from issuing tax exempt bonds.

Speaking at a "Financing the Future" workshop at the Hyatt-Regency O'Hare, Burris said, "Tax exempt bonds remain the only viable method to finance improvements such as power generation facilities, waste treatment facilities, roads and schools."

"If state and local governments lose their ability to finance necessary projects with tax exempt bonds, then either the projects will not be completed or the taxpayers will pay much, much more to have them completed," Comptroller Burris said.

Burris is one of approximately 150 persons who participated in the workshop sponsored by the Public Finance Network, a group of 36 public interest organizations representing state and local governments.

The group was formed las year in response to a Supreme Court ruling, South Carolina v. Baker that held state and local bonds are not protected by the Constitution from federal taxation.

"The Court last year in essence reversed 100 years of case law regarding reciprocal immunity," Burris said.

"We are telling the federal government that enough is enough."

Burris said if the laws regulated tax exempt bonds were changed, costs of projects could increase 25 to 30%.

According to the Public Securities Association, the cost of state and local borrowing in Illinois by the year 2000 could increase by $12 Billion.

Teacher Nominated for Award

Mr. Alan Wax, French teacher at McGugan Jr. High in Oak Lawn, has been nominated by the McGugan PTA for consideration as the 1989 National PTA Phoebe Apperson Hearst Outstanding Educator of the Year.

This annual award honors an outstanding educator whose achievements inspire excellence in students and other educators and who carries on the work of Phoebe Apperson Hearst, co-founder of the National PTA, on behalf of children and youth. This award is made possible by a grant from the William Randolph Hearst Foundations.

Mr. Wax was nominated on the basis of his professional accomplishments as well as personal goals. He has been applauded for his creative teaching techniques, as well as his relationships with his students, parents, the community and the PTA.

Alan Wax's name will be submitted to the National PTA, along with others nominated by PTA local units throughout the country, for consideration as Outstanding Educator of the Year.

Best wishes are extended to Mr. Alan Wax.

EDUCATION AID INCREASE SUPPORTED

House Republican Leader Lee Daniels (R-Elmhurst) said educators, students and parents from across Illinois rallied on the steps of the Capitol in support of increased education funding.

Daniels said Gov. James Thompson, Sec. of State Jim Edgar and numerous lawmakers addressed the ralliers, many of whom wore buttons emblazened with the number "44," a reference to Illinois' dismal ranking among the 50 states in school funding.

Several speakers highlighted the "Priority One Plan," a school funding proposal unveiled recently by the House GOP Task Force on Education Funding. Daniels said the plan would earmark to education 63% of net state income tax receipts and other revenue sources, including lottery profits.

The plan provides $191.5 million more for education than the Governor has proposed for fiscal 1990. Daniels said the plan will be voted on later in the legislative session.

Meanwhile, the Senate ended its stalemate reaching a compromise on committee membership and Senate rules.

FACING REALITY AND CURING OUR FISCAL CANCER

Federal government math differs from the math you learned in school.

For example, you probably have read that the deficit next year will be $99 billion in the new budget adopted by Congress. At the end of this fiscal year, the federal government will owe $2.8 trillion. So if the deficit next year is $99 billion, then the total debt at the end of the following year should be $2.9 trillion. Right?

Wrong.

The correct figure is $3.1 trillion.

What kind of arithmetic is that, you may ask. It is federal government arithmetic, where we try to make the end product look more pleasant than reality.

How do we do that?

First, we count as revenue the surpluses generated by the trust funds, the major example being Social Security. These are not real surpluses, but funds set aside so that some of us can retire some day and funds to provide essential services Americans depend on. By leaning on these trust funds today, we jeopardize their future and we substantially diminish the growth potential of our economy.

A General Accounting Office study suggests if we really do balance the budget – not like the shell game we now use – we will make retirement and other trust funds more secure, and we will be able to lower interest rates in the next decade to as low as 3 percent. What a boon that would be to our economy!

A second way to get phony figures is to put things "off budget" that should be part of the budget.

We have a savings and loan problem of major proportions. The thrift industry can provide some of the money needed, but by no means all of it – even with vigorous prosecution of violators of the law. That means the balance must come from the federal treasury (that's you and me). But since that is an unpleasant fact, we simply say that we will provide the funds but we will not include them in the budget. Yes, it will create more debt for the federal government. But including it in the budget might frighten people and make us look bad. So fiscal cosmetics are used to cover the ugly face.

Here's another example: interest.

The interest figure used ordinarily in the budget now is "net interest." Why isn't all interest used as the figure? It doesn't look good.

I was able to get the Senate budget resolution to use the "gross interest figure" – that is, the real interest figure – but its reality got buried in the midst of more dramatic stories.

Even using the unrealistic and rosy economic assumptions the administration projects, the real interest figure for this next fiscal year will be $262.5 billion – and two years from now it will be $298 billion.

That means in two years, for the first time in the history of the nation, we will probably spend more money on interest than on defense or any other item in the budget.

That incredible reality has yet to penetrate anywhere.

But it will penetrate your pocketbook.

Whether you are a Democrat or a Republican, a conservative or a liberal, it does not make sense to spend an increasing percentage of your tax dollar on interest rather than goods and services.

There is only one way to change this. Face reality. We are unwilling to do it because it is politically uncomfortable.

That is why I favor a constitutional amendment to require a balanced budget unless there is a 60 percent vote of both houses not to do so. I do not favor an amendment as rigid as Thomas Jefferson favored, but we clearly need more fiscal discipline than we now have.

Last year knowledgeable people said, "Let's not face the deficit problem this year. Next year we'll have a new president. Let's face it then."

This year Congress would be willing to face the problem but the administration says, "We can't do it this year because of the President's 'read my lips' statement." And the administration whispers to us, "Let's do it next year."

Next year Congress is up for reelection, and we may well find it is politically unacceptable to do it then.

And on and on.

The excuses are many for not facing the need to cut spending and increase revenue to get the deficit down.

But we do no service to the American people as we – Congress and the administration together – avoid facing our problems.

A patient who has cancer had better face it and act quickly.

We have fiscal cancer, and we ought to act promptly.

MURPHY GOOD CHOICE

The choice of Joan Patricia Murphy as the next Township Supervisor to replace Harry "Bus" Yourell is the best choice that could have been made.

Murphy is extremely qualified for the position, having served 8 years as Township Clerk and 4 years as Crestwood's Village Clerk. She is well regarded by Democrats and Republicans alike.

We are happy to see that everyone finally came together to name a "consensus" choice. Murphy will serve us well for the next 4 years.

CAPPAS GOT WHAT HE DESERVED

One time drug kingpin John Cappas behaved as expected at his sentencing hearing. He pleaded for leniency, he became aggravated and of course he acted like the punk he always has been.

Cappas even had the nerve to interrupt U.S. District Judge Kocoras with the bold statement that he was only a drug dealer and not a killer.

The problem with that logic is that drugs do kill. They kill our young. They kill families. They are slowly killing our country.

More amazing than the behavior of Cappas, was the testimony of neighbors and friends who asked for leniency for "John". He was praised as "a nice kid," "a good son," and "a dear friend," by many who took the time to praise the southwest side's most notorious drug dealer in the history of the area.

Obviously, none of these people has ever had a relative die from drug use. Obviously, none of these witnesses had a child who was using the poison delivered by the Cappas gang.

If they had been touched by the Cappas Enterprise, they would have had the same opinion as most of us.

Elks Elect Officers

President Marie and Exalted Ruler Earl will reign for the 1989-90 years of the Oak Lawn Elks Lodge #2254, 107th and Central Avenue, Chicago Ridge.

Brother Earl announced that at the recent Illinois Elks Convention in Peoria, the Oak Lawn Elks were honored for their Youth/Drug Abuse Programs, 1st Place and their Veterans Programs, 3rd Place. Their are 91 Lodges in Illinois:

Racetrack to Return to Form

The early morning hours of July 31, 1985, produced a $240 million impact on the economy in Northwest Cook County surrounding Arlington Heights. A fire destroyed storied and historic Arlington Park Race Track. On June 28, the new Arlington International Racecourse will open summer-long thoroughbred racing and world-class horses return to the State.

This was the topic of discussion on the 13th edition of The Ryan Report, the monthly cable television public affairs program, hosted by Lieutenant Governor George H. Ryan. It was aired Wednesday, May 31, on cable systems throughout the State.

Ryan's guest was Richard Duchossois, Chairman and owner of Arlington International. The program toured the new facility and described how it came about and its effect on the Illinois economy and horse racing industry.

Duchossois talked of the record-breaking schedule turned in by the collect trades and unions, where 900 workers put in 1.5 million man hours during the 19-month construction period. "I cannot give them enough credit for working together to make the project go," he said.

RICHARDS SENIOR AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

Colleen Houlihan, senior at Harold L. Richards High School and a 1985 graduate of Prairie Junior High School was awarded the 4th annual Clark Alford Scholarship at the Prairie Junior High Wednesday, June 7th graduation. Colleen is the daughter of James and Susanne Houlihan of Oak Lawn. Colleen was chosen by an 11 member committee over a field of 10 applicants. The major criteria for the award is considerable voluntary service. She plans to attend the University of Illinois and major in math.

The Clark Alford PJH District 126 Scholarship was established from the Clark Alford Memorial Fund. Mr. Alford of Alsip, served for 18 years (1965-83) as a School Board Member in District 126, the Alsip, Hazelgreen and Oak Lawn Elementary Schools.

He gave extra-ordinary time and effort to many voluntary activities such as the Red Cross, Alsip Fire Dept., Alsip Kiwanis, and the Palos Methodist Church. When Mr. Alford died in 1984, a Clark Alford Memorial Fund was created. It was decided to present a one year scholarship award annually to a deserving former Prairie Junior High School Graduate, now a high school senior who exemplified through action and deed, a commitment to volunteer service.

LITTLE COMPANY GIVES SUMMER EXERCISE WARNINGS FOR "OVERDOERS"

The warm weather is finally here, and with spring and summer comes warm weather sports . . . baseball, biking, hiking, lake swimming, track and field, football . . . the list is endless. As featured in the new Omnimax film, "To the Limit", at the Museum of Science and Industry, 57th St. and Lake Shore Dr., these physical activities have a definite effect on the human body.

Dr. George Miller, III, Director of the Emergency Medicine Department at Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Centers, 2800 W. 95th St., Evergreen Park, advises athletic minded individuals to be aware of your own personal limit and be careful not to go beyond it. "The film shows some spectacular athletes in action, but these athletes are careful to know their physical range and to keep in shape year-round," said Dr. Miller.

"To the Limit" combines footage of athletes in action with spectacular endoscopic photography to create an exhilarating cinematic experience. The viewer witnesses the changes that occur in the body during exertion as well as in response to stress through an endoscopic eye which traces the pathway of air through the lungs, watches as blood vessels constrict in response to cooling temperatures, and follows blood cells down an artery on their way to replenish tired muscles.

The featured athletes include mountain-climber Tony Yaniro in Yosemite National Park; Olympic-champion skier Maria Walliser; and Russian prima ballerina Nina Ananiashvili.

Dr. Miller points out that each person has a personal physical limit to be targeted. "Pushing past your limit can result in an Emergency Room visit," he said. "Here at Little Company of Mary we see many patients in the E.R. who have pushed beyond their personal limit. Often these visits to the Emergency Room can be prevented.

"A gradual increase in physical activity or conditioning is important in the prevention of injury. If you aren't comfortable in determining what your starting point should be or how quickly you should advance your level of activity, consult your physician for expert advice," Dr. Miller said.

For more information on how to monitor your personal limit, names of physicians who can advise you on physical conditioning and your own personal limit can be obtained by calling Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Centers' Physician Finder service at 423-3070 or 423-3430.

For more information about the new Omnimax Film, "To the Limit", call the Museum of Science and Industry at 684-1414.

MORAINE VALLEY NAMES INNOVATORS

Robert Dugan, professor and department chairman of Mechanical Design / Drafting Technology, and J. C. Malitzke, assistant professor of Design / Drafting and Computer - Aided Design, were recently named the 1989 Innovators of the Year for Moraine Valley Community College.

The award was presented to Dugan and Malitzke for their development of a microcomputer - based computer-aided drafting (CAD) laboratory at the college.

Their efforts have attracted national attention and have resulted in the formation of partnerships with Autodesk, Inc., the Chicagoland Project With Industry and International Business Machines (IBM) Corporation.

The Innovator of the Year Award is given to an administrator or faculty member at the college who has successfully implemented an innovative project or idea at the college. An award established in 1983, nominations are made by staff members, and the winner is selected by a committee comprised of representatives from each division of the college.

As the nomination of Dugan and Malitzke stated, "Both Bob and J. C. have clearly established themselves as leaders in their field. They have worked countless hours each week to give Moraine Valley a premier program."

The innovator of the Year Award is offered in cooperation with the League for Innovation in the Community College, a national consortium of 20 of the most innovative community colleges from across the nation.

Matt Lamb Presents "Presentation"

Matt Lamb, Chairman of Blake-Lamb Funeral Homes, Inc. is also an increasingly recognized contemporary abstract painter. At a recent reception in his honor, held at the Beverly Art Center, his oil painting, "Presentation" was given to Sister Kathleen McIntyre, President of Little Company of Mary Hospital. The abstract painting depicts a mother cradling her child. As President McIntyre noted, "The gift is particularly appropriate since the hospital annually records more live births than any other in the area but Cook County. Mr. Lamb has put his creativity on canvas in order for us to be touched. We hope his inspiration will continue in those who view the work."

The exhibition of selected pieces by the artist may be viewed in the John H. Vanderpoel Gallery, located in the Beverly Art Center, 2153 W. 111th St., Chicago, through June 18th. Gallery hours are 1-4 p.m., Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Sundays. Lamb's work is exhibited through the courtesy of the Carl Hammer Gallery. For further information call 312-445-3838.

 TOWNSHIP DEAL

Despite denials, a deal was cut between the Republicans and Democrats to allow Joan Murphy, Thomas Gavin, and Michael Witt to become Supervisor, Clerk, and Trustee respectively. The deal was approved by Worth Township Democratic Committeeman Harry "Bus" Yourell and Republican Committeeman Robert Streit.

 REPUBLICAN RACE

Township Republicans will be fighting off a challenge from party dissidents led by Burton Odelson and Nick Ruggiero. Talk of the town is that they will back an Evergreen activist, Jeff Leihe, against committeeman Robert Streit.

 CAUGHT WITH HIS PANTS DOWN

What former local officeholder is fretting that the papers will publish the facts about his recent arrest for SOLICITING a Prostitute and driving while under the influence?

According to police reports, the recently retired figure was literally caught with his pants down. It seems that after picking up the alleged prostitute, he was stopped by Chicago's finest. When he stepped out of the car, his pants fell to the ground.
